A SLANDERER COWHIDED.

Exciting Scene at a Church Door—Defending Her Honor.

LONDON, Aug. 31.—Somewhat of a sensation was created in the vicinity of the Methodist Church of St. John's on Sunday morning, when a farmer named Wm. R. Warner, residing near that village, received a round castigation from a horsewhip in the hands of a young girl about eighteen years of age, named Priscilla Taylor. It appears that various reports not too creditable to the girl's reputation have been about in the neighborhood, and some went so far as to assert that she is in a rather interesting condition. It is stated that the girl's father chanced to meet Warner, and during the conversation that ensued, asked the latter if he believed the girl was in the condition ascribed to her. To this Warner replied in the affirmative, and subsequently Taylor told the girl, who determined to administer punishment to him. After service on Sunday morning she walked with her father and brother until Warner came out of the church when the old man told the latter that Priscilla wanted to see him. The unsuspecting farmer proceeded to where the girl was, and when he approached her she drew a raw hide from the folds of her dress and began lashing his face with it. He attempted to wrest the hide from her hands, when her father and brother rushed up and attacked him. The girl kept showering blows upon Warner until another farmer, named Jackson, interfered and took the whip from the girl. Her father immediately attacked Jackson, but was speedily overpowered. Jackson alleges that the old man threatened to put a bullet through him, and he subsequently came to the city in company with Warner and Joseph Sifton. The three proceeded to the residence of Squire Miles, where Warner swore out information against the three Taylors for assault, and Jackson against the Taylors for assault and threatening to shoot. The defendants appeared before Squire Miles in the afternoon, and after taking the evidence of the witnesses for the prosecution the magistrate enlarged the case till Friday.

THE NEW BRUNSWICK TRADING COMPANY.

The London Bulletin says:—The New Brunswick Trading Company (Limited), capital $300,000, in 10,000 preference shares of $10 each, which are to bear at 6 per cent. cumulative dividend, and 20,000 ordinary shares of $10 each, of which 3,000 are to be fully paid up, and 5,000 with $4 paid, are to be issued to the vendors in part payment of the purchase money. At present, only the preference shares are offered for subscription. This company has been organized to take over and develop the business of Messrs. Gay, Bevan & Co., and Messrs. R. A. & J. J. Stewart, of Miramichi, New Brunswick. These businesses have hitherto consisted chiefly in the purchase, manufacture, and shipment of wooden goods, at Miramichi, and the sale of them in the United Kingdom, the Continent, and the Colonies. The company proposes to acquire both businesses as joint concerns—the mills, plant stock, and materials, with their valuable freehold and selected leasehold lands, consisting of about 110,000 acres, the mortgage (which carries with it certain advantages conducive to economy in working), advances on securities of ascertained value owned by both firms, together with the business and goodwill. The price of the properties, including the plant, steam tug, scows, etc., amounts to about $250,000, subject to adjustment of fluctuating and current assets, from the 30th, April, 1885, (from which date the transfer takes place).

The prospectus anticipates that by working the two businesses to be acquired as one concern, there will be a saving of expense and a large additional profit, and that after paying the fixed dividend on the preference shares, there will remain a handsome dividend on the ordinary shares. A few points which are worthy of the consideration of intending investors are these:—First, the directors of the company are all men possessing large experience in the trade which the company is to engage, and that the amalgamation of the two businesses will cause a large saving in expenses, besides an increase of profit from the cessation of opposition. The business to be acquired is undoubtedly an old one, and the accountants' reports which accompany the prospectus point to a long course of profitable trading. The company will take over nothing but actual assets, for which the vendors are paid in shares, which they are bound to hold for five years.

A SUGGESTION.

We expressed the hope, in a previous reference to the Disraeli exemption question, that a satisfactory arrangement could be made between the Company and the Town, and we believe that if both will look at the question from a liberal standpoint, they can come to terms that will give reasonable assistance to the Company and be satisfactory to the ratepayers.

The Company state that they intend to erect buildings suitable for manufacturing purposes, but that in doing so they run a risk, and they think that, as the factories would benefit the whole town, the buildings should not be taxed as much as they are at present. The town, we believe, would not object to exempting the buildings until they are occupied, and would grant further exemption if large factories, or factories that would do an outside trade, were located in them. Why not, then, exempt buildings erected on the site for manufacturing purposes until they are occupied, with an understanding regarding what kind of manufacturing establishments would be granted exemption for a time after they were occupied? This would not meet all the views of the Company, but we believe that the present By-law is unsatisfactory to a majority, and if the company is in earnest, as they appear to be, they would doubtless be willing to compromise in order to get over the difficulty. The Company should not expect the town to guarantee exemption to factories that would not be exempted were they located on other property, yet we believe that the ratepayers would bear the Council out in stretching a point in order to get the town lined by more factories. The present By-law is unsatisfactory, and would cause trouble in the future. Some such arrangement as the one proposed would leave the Company free to put up buildings without having them taxed before they were occupied, and if manufacturers were secured that would benefit the town to such an extent that it would be in the interest of the town to give further assistance, they would do it, as they have already shown their readiness to give such assistance. Let the Company and the town work together for the benefit of both.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

TOO COMPLACENT.

More advice for the young Liberals. The Montreal Times belongs to the rest-and-be-thankful school, and serves the young men of Ontario that there are plenty of practical issues at stake already without endangering the solidarity of the party by raising new ones. The condition of the party in Quebec province is not such as to justify the "rest-and-be-thankful" policy. Either the Reform leaders have no live issues to work on, or else they do not understand their business. In either case there is room for improvement. —Toronto World (Indep. Ref.)

WANTED, A POLICY.

The demand for reform within the party, for bolder methods and a more definite policy, is the outcome of a deliberate opinion, entertained by thousands of Reformers, that if the party is to do anything for the country it must first do something for itself. —Toronto World (Indep. Ref.)

CAN REFORM NOTHING.

Members of the Machinists' Government in Canada showed themselves to "sleeve on a wheel." It was a truthful and happy figure of speech. Sir Michael Hicks-Beech, in the course of a late speech, with equal felicity adopted General Gordon's simile, and likened the Gladstone Government to "a log floating down a stream." It came to be a felicity with Reform governments that they can reform nothing and do nothing, but are like "clouds with no water, carried about of winds." —Hamilton Spectator.

NORTHWEST CROPS.

Reported to be Ripening Fast and Safe from Frost.

WINNIPEG, August 30.—Several gentlemen, including Mr. Crosby, of Toronto, have been through various parts of the province looking at the crops. They report the grain ripening fast, and the harvest very well advanced. Careful enquiries showed that the frost had done little or no damage to the wheat. Potatoes and garden stuff were injured in most places.

STRUCK WITH AN AXE.

A Drunken Man Breaks into a Widow's Home and is Warned to Withdraw.

BRILLVILLE, Aug. 31.—Martin Archibald, a farmer living in the township of Huntingdon, near Gurnee's hotel, went to bed on Saturday morning about two o'clock on Sunday morning the worse of liquor. He broke into a house occupied by Mrs. Mary Adams, a widow, who lives on the road. She told him to go home and warned him if he came in she would strike him with an axe, but he persisted and broke open the door, and seized the woman and threw her to the floor. She called to her boy, who came on and struck Archibald, who loosed his hold of Mrs. Adams. The woman got the axe and inflicted seven cuts on Archibald's head and five on the shoulders. Dr. Boulter, of Stirling, dressed the wounds, and it is not probable that he will recover. After the affray was over Mrs. Adams went to a neighbor's and said that she had killed Archibald. The injured man is about 50 years of age and has a wife and family.

A NEW PUBLIC SCHOOL.

TO BE BUILT IN THE NORTH WARD—A SCHOOL THAT IS NEEDED.

The Vote for Outside Pupils Reduced to One Dollar a Month—Communications, Accounts and Reports.

A regular meeting of the Board of Education was held on Tuesday evening. There were present: Messrs. James Stevenson, chairman, Keedry, Sowers, Dumble, Dumas, Wier, Errett and Miller. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.
Communications were read by the Secretary as follows:—

From Mr. H. Kay Coleman, principal of the public schools, submitting the attendance at the central school at the opening of the term as follows:—Mr. Coleman's room, 45; Miss Beattie's, 56; Miss Nicholls', 53; Miss Jenkins', 38; Miss Dowling's, Miss Perry's, 48; Miss Mathews', Miss Johnston's, Miss Graham's, 60; Miss Elsworth's, 44; Miss Errett's, 65. Total, 544.—Received.

From Miss Richardson, applying for the position of teacher in the public schools and enclosing testimonials.—Received.

From Dr. Tamsie (verbally) stating that the attendance at the Institute on the opening of the term was 108.—Received.

From J. H. Loeg, applying for an increase in salary.—Granted increase.

From Dr. Tamsie, stating that at the close of the term the pupils in drawing came clamouring to him saying that unless they got more instruction in drawing they would be plucked. He had taken the liberty of instructing Mr. Sabine to give extra lessons.—Received.

ACCOUNTS.
Accounts were headed in as follows:—

Mr. Sabine, extra drawing lessons $12 50
Expenses of extra examinations 25 75
Expenses of teachers' examinations 50 00

The accounts for the examination expenses were ordered to be paid, and the account of Mr. Sabine was referred to the Finance Committee.

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT.

Mr. DUMBLE read the monthly report of the Superintendent of the Public Schools, stating that instead of making an extensive report he would prefer to have certain matters which he had intended to embody in the report, referred to a committee. The new schools have entailed a change in the programme of studies. The attendance at the opening of the schools was very large. As all pupils would have to buy the new series of books, he had advised those who had not been promoted to use the old ones, and those who had been promoted to purchase new ones.—Supervision Committee, with power to act.

PAINTING UP.

Mr. SAWERS moved, seconded by Mr. DUMBLE, That the Property Committee be instructed to have the school building painted the same as the small one, if it can be done at a reasonable price, and that it be left to the Property Committee, with power to act.—Carried.

A LADY TEACHER.

Mr. DUMBLE read a communication from Miss M. E. Hunt, applying for the position of lady teacher in the Collegiate Institute, and enclosing her qualifications. The matter was referred to the Principal of the Institute, with instructions to enquire as to Miss Hunt's personal appearance, manners, etc.

THE FEE.

Mr. SAWERS moved, seconded by Mr. KERRIT, That the fee charged upon all of the pupils of the Collegiate Institute from outside the County be one dollar a month, commencing at September 1st.

Mr. KERRIT objected to lowering the fee. If the fee were lowered it would simply mean to decrease the revenue, for he did not think that a low fee brought any more pupils.

Mr. KERRIT wanted to know where they would put a large number of extra pupils even if they did come.

Mr. DUMBLE spoke in favor of lowering the fee, and to have a low fee was, in his opinion, a strong incentive for pupils to come here. He enumerated the advantages of having the school full of pupils. In regard to what Mr. Keedry had said, the only way to accommodate the extra pupils would be to move back into the North Ward, and to build a new school in the North Ward.

The motion was put and carried with Messrs. Errett and Dumas dissenting.

DRAWING LESSONS.

Mr. KERRIT brought up the question of instructing those teachers in the public schools who were under the drawing, to teach the art. At the suggestion of Mr. Stratton the matter was referred to the Committee on School Improvements.

NEW SCHOOL.

Mr. SAWERS moved, seconded by Mr. KERRIT, That this Board do take steps to build a new school in the North Ward and that the matter be referred to a special committee, composed of Messrs. Keedry, Dumas, Dumble, Wier, Wainwright and Sawyer.

Mr. KERRIT said that this school was long needed. He knew of several small children in his ward who were unable to walk so far to school, especially in the winter.

The Chairman agreed with Mr. Keedry. It was only right that the North Ward should have a school, as all the other wards had their own schools.

Mr. DUMBLE also favored building the new school.

Mr. KERRIT threw out a quiet suggestion to the effect that it would not be a bad idea to build the proposed school on the east side of the river, where the motion was put and carried and the Board adjourned.

A SOLDIER HONORED.

Col. G. A. Boulton Entertained by His Winnipeg Friends.

The following appears in the Winnipeg Free Press of Aug 13:—

Boulton's home is familiar to almost every person throughout the Dominion. The gallant commander, Colonel Boulton, who has been in the city for the past few days, could not be permitted to return home without being honored by his friends and admirers in Winnipeg. Accordingly he was entertained to an impromptu dinner at the Grand Union Hotel last evening. Owing to the cordialness with which the affair was got up, the attendance was not so large as it otherwise would have been, as it is safe to say that the dining-room of the Grand Union Hotel would not hold all who would have thronged to do the veteran soldier honor. As it was a large number of the leading citizens, together with many brave men who fought shoulder to shoulder with the Colonel in the battle field were present. Hon. C. P. Brown occupied the chair, which he filled in his usual pleasant manner. Many toasts were proposed and many able speakers talked war and courage and reviewed in eloquent language

THE CARRIAGE MAKER'S GAME.
The game of ball played in the Riverside Park on Tuesday afternoon beat the record by big odds; it was simply a wonderful game. The way in which Fitzgerald & Stanger's men could pile up scores, was, to say the least, astonishing, and the way in which their opponents could not was equally surprising.

To a casual observer, by the way in which the balls were fielded, it would seem as if the most of those composing the nine had encoined their hands in India rubber gloves. There was, however, one or two on each side fairly well up in the game. Marks, the pitcher for Lockhart & Chouvenet, distinguished himself by catching numerous fouls, and by stopping every ball that came to him, and both Sanderson and Tigue, of the winning nine, put in heavy work.

ASCATHOR.

A LETTER FROM MR. CHARLES SHAW.
The following letter from Mr. Charles Shaw to a relation in town will be of interest to many of our readers. He has certainly well merited the reputation of Peterborough with the paddle, and of Peterborough canoe builders, his canoe coming from the Ontario Canoe Company:—

We arrived here all safe and sound on Thursday last and both in fine trim for the regatta, which took place on Saturday. Our trip evidently did us a great deal of good, as we were very successful in the different races we went in for. The first race I went in on was the portage race, which I won very easily. The next on the programme was the race for the "Championship Cup," which Shawwood and I went in for and won by several lengths, beating the famous Johnston, the A. O. A. camp champion of America. The cup cost $75 each this year. They are very handsome indeed, and, it being the first time they were used for the regatta, I was given a great deal to do. The next race on the programme for me was the single paddling race, which I won after a hard paddle, by two lengths or more, beating the champion of Lake St. Louis, Geo. Auljo. The next was the lady and gentleman's race, which Miss Gregory and I went in for, and came out ahead in a grand style, beating a crew from St. Anne and one from Lachine. The next and last race for me was the heavy scurry race, which I won very easily, beating four other who started. The race was like this: We all jumped into the water at the word "go" and had to swim out to our canoe, which was anchored about 50 yards from the shore, and into them and paddle a quarter of a mile. This was a fine race for me, and I got first prize in every one. The prizes were very handsome indeed. I will send you a paper with the account of the regatta, and also one with the account of our trip in the canoe. That makes the 12th prize for me this summer, which is very good, I think.

LACROSSE.

The Checkers, of Beaverton, the champions of the Midland District, played a game with the Cyclones, of Stuyvesant, on Tuesday, which resulted in a draw, the Checkers winning the first game, the Cyclones the second, and the third being unfinished on account of the visitors having to leave for home.

BROOKING POPULAR WITH THE YANKEES.

The Clackamash Sporting and Dramatic Journal says:—
"Laplace seems to be enjoying a boom. Never before in the history of the country has so much interest been manifested in the game. Almost every paper runs a Laplace column, and in these same papers last year, not one line appeared. There is no doubt about the merits of Laplace, and a game has been seen on the spectator's waiting at baseball has no part in Laplace, abundance in chess for brilliant play, also checking, long throwing, dodging, and running it starts head and shoulders over other field games. The St. Paul, the Kingston, St. Regis Indians, and Niagara have aroused New York more fully to the highest pitch of excitement."

McNell's 35 cent Ties cannot be beat in the Dominion.

POLICE COURT.

INTERFERING WITH A RAILWAY.

WEDNESDAY, Sept. 2.—Charles Stapleton laid a charge against Henry Hooken, Isaac Hooken and Wm Hooken, for having, on Friday, Aug. 28th, interfered with him while in the discharge of his duties as bailiff.

Mr. Stapleton's evidence was taken. He went to Mr. Hooken's farm, in the township of Douro, near Curtis' brickyards, to execute a writ of replevin issued at the instance of Mr. Wm. McNairn against Wm. Hooken, to recover a three year old heifer which Mr. McNairn claimed to have bought. He went to the premises, but when he and an assistant went to take possession of the property the three Hooken's interfered, and chased the animal here and there so as to prevent him from taking her off the premises. He succeeded, however, in halting their attempts and drove the animal as far as the gate, and here the three took hold of the gate and held it shut. A few days after he took possession of the animal.

The evidence of Mr. Flaney, who assisted, corroborated Mr. Stapleton's testimony. The defence put in was to the effect that the heifer really belonged to Isaac Hooken, and that while he was absent his father had sold her below her value. He had been trying to prevent his own property from being taken off the premises.

The MAGISTRATE found all three guilty of the offence they were charged with, and fined each $5 and costs.

Mr. J. Burnham appeared for the defence, and Mr. R. E. Wood appeared for the complainant.

EDUCATIONAL.

SCHOOL LIFE SHOULD AIM at the development of character. N. thing is more essential than noble aims, readiness to work from a sense of duty, ambition for knowledge, and reverence for truth. But the aim to stand high in class, in order to excel one's neighbor, is anything but noble. That pride which possesses the mind of the gifted scholar, who can easily outstrip the less favored one, is in no sense noble.—Sup. S. T. Dutton New Haven.

WE FIND SOMEWHERE SIX RULES, which if followed at school, would help train up a generation with noble aims, readiness to work from a sense of duty, ambition for knowledge, and reverence for truth. 1. Let six hours a day be the limit of school hours and study. 2. Allow no study in the evening. 3. Make lively exercise and play in the open air to be required as regularly as the school day. 4. While the school is in progress let the child, whether boy or girl, be restrained from evening parties and public amusements that excite and keep them up late and awake where they ought to sleep.

MOST PARENTS would be horrified if their children should choose as their intimate associates the vilest and worst men and women in the city, and yet, to their children, with their active and vivid imagination, the characters in the stories which they read are as truly their associates as the actual boys and girls, and men and women, whom they meet. These young readers live amid scenes of vice and crime, until they too, imperceptibly, by a which cannot be avoided, become somewhat like the creatures of their imagination.—Sup. E. O. Wheeler, Vermont.

OVER PRESSURE.—We hear many complaints of over pressure from parents of girls in the high schools. They say that the hours of lessons cannot, as a rule, be done in the time appointed by the teachers to be sufficient for them, and that their daughters are constantly obliged to work during a great part of the afternoon and evening. The statement of the principal of the teachers:—"Then you have no business to let them. We set down the time which the lessons ought to occupy, and we request parents to see that this time is not exceeded. If you fail to comply with our request, we are to blame. This reply is scarcely conclusive. If teachers habitually set work which they must know cannot be done in anything like the time allowed, one or two things must happen. Either the pupils will become weary and bored, or else the children of conscientious parents, who insist on the observance, compete at a disadvantage with others whose parents do not trouble themselves at all in the matter.—London Jour. of Ed.

Sanitary Value of the Kitchen Fire in Summer.

In many households kerosene oil stoves take the place in the kitchen ranges during the summer for cooking and laundry uses. The absence of heat, which is one of the strongest claims made for the kerosene oil stove, is not so great an advantage as it is made to appear. No house which remains during the damp, close weather of dog days without heat from stove or grate can be a suitable or healthful dwelling place. Heat is the surest purifier of a moist and disease laden atmosphere, and in many a house the kitchen fire, which is the only one lighted from evening to fall, has been the salvation of the inmates. People will never live rationally in this variable climate, where the mercury runs up and down the tube of the thermometer with a freedom and rapidity which is constantly warning, until they learn to regulate fire and clothing, not by the month or season, but by the actual temperature and their own individual needs. There is another danger in the use of oil stoves which should be seriously considered. Unless the greatest care is taken in trimming the wicks and keeping a stove clean, it will certainly smoke, and this smoke, besides being very penetrating and disagreeable, is extremely irritating to delicate throats. For the same reason a kerosene lamp should be kept burning ritely in a sleeping room at night. If it must be used, it should be allowed to burn clearly and brightly, and a constant supply of outside air should be admitted into the room.—Martha Howe Davidson in Sanitary News.

GENES OF THOUGHT.

Soft words, warm friends; bitter words, lasting enemies.

In the adversity of our best friends we often find something that is not displeasing to us. It is more difficult to discriminate the sentiments we have than to simulate those we have not.

If you would know one of the minor secrets of happiness, but it is this: cultivate cheap pleasures.

We ought not to judge of men's merits by their qualifications, but by the use they make of them.

"GO"

Is a characteristic which a business man must possess nowadays in order to hold his own among his fellow men. He must be up with the times, and, if possible, FORGE AHEAD. The day has long gone by when a merchant can sit down and wait till trade comes to him. Profits on goods are now so small and competition so active, that one must be wide awake to maintain a leading place.

MINING DISASTER.

A Mass of Loose Rock Falls Upon a Party of Miners.

WILKESBORO, Pa., Sept. 3.—A terrible accident has just occurred at the Oakwood shaft operated by the Lehigh Valley Coal company. A cage, in which there were miners, was being lowered into the shaft, and when nearly at the bottom a mass of loose rock and coal fell from the side of the shaft down the bit, striking the cage and killing a number of the men. Two others are fatally injured and three seriously. The cage, which was made of heavy timber and iron work, was completely demolished.

AN OREGON TRAGEDY.

Mysterious Double Murder and Suicide Discovered in Mohawk Valley.

PORTLAND, Oregon, Sept. 1.—The dead body of Daniel Church, a prominent farmer of Mohawk valley, Cass county, was found in the road near his home yesterday afternoon with a bullet hole in his back. Shortly after his wife was found at the back of the house with her face masked in as if by a heavy club or blunt instrument. She was still alive, but will die. The husband of Andrew A. Bogue, a neighbor, was found near Mrs. Church, and a search party going to Bogue's ranch found him hanging to the rafters of his barn, he having committed suicide.

Hudson Bay Expedition.

The Safe Arrival of the Steamer Alert at York Factory.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 1.—A courier of the Hudson's Bay Company, who arrived to day from York factory, brings news of the arrival there three weeks ago of the steamer Alert, sent out from Halifax, some time ago, by the Canadian Government on a second exploratory expedition to ascertain the feasibility of navigation of Hudson's bay and straits. The trip was made with great despatch, and no ice was encountered along the coast of the straits until the Alert arrived at York factory.

REINFORCE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

THE CROPS.—Now that the harvest is over and the threshing machines are humming through the land, we can speak with more of a certainty regarding our crops. Excepting spring wheat there is nothing to note from my last report, but of it our worst fears have been fulfilled. From wheat, blight and rust the crop in this section will only average from 6 to 8 bushels per acre, and mostly second quality. As there is some difference of opinion regarding plums, some attributing it to different agencies, however, I have always believed, and as yet see no reason to change my belief, that the principal cause. Looking back over the past summer we find a late seed time, about three weeks later than usual, and a cold, wet spring. But a rapid growth through the summer, and the latter part of July extremely hot, and on the third day of August we were visited by a severe wind and hail storm, and on the 6th a sharp frost, causing the rusting of the wheat, assisted by a fog on the 11th. We had our first loss on the morning of the 27th, when we could skim it off the water.

TRAINED BEARS.—Four Italians with two trained bears are travelling this part of the country. Their bearships are well trained in dancing and performing a number of tricks.

Ball Works.

From the North Ontario Reformer, August 28th.

The demand for New Model Tractors, Engines and Horse Powers, is so great that the Hall Works are working over time with 140 men to meet it. The works open at half past six, a.m., and close at seven, p.m., stopping only half an hour for dinner. If it were not for the admirable system adopted by the present management, even this extra time would not meet the demand for the New Model. We are informed that orders for the New Tractor are being received by telegraph. We have no doubt but that when the great superiority of the engine is known, a still further increase on the force will be required.

Oshawa cannot but be benefited by the introduction of so very important an improvement in the use of steam power.

A JOURNEY IN THE DESERT.

A Camel Ride from El Odeh to Sarras—Notes by the Way.

The London Daily Telegraph correspondent writes:—It was not till Friday afternoon, November 14th—unlucky Friday—that I set out myself on a camel and a servant on a horse for Wady Hana. My reason for referring to myself at all in this matter is to show what a trip from El Odeh to Sarras is like, and feebly attempt to indicate what it entails. My total weight of baggage was not over thirty pounds. Moving along at a good pace through the waving dhura, on the left bank of the river, perpetually going over little mud raised aqueducts for conveying the water from the sakiyeh to the fields, my hygienic, or trotting camel, shovelled along at the rate of seven miles an hour. I met three or four men of the Royal Engineers running a second telegraph line—there was only one wire at the time into Dongola from Abou-el-Atia or just above the Third Cataract, so as to better provide for managing the transportation of men and stores up the river. Shortly afterwards, there being no moon, darkness set in, and we had to grope our way, in a readiness to abandon the river, as the darkness was so great, which were two men of the Royal Engineers, and as it was too late to cross the Nile, we slept there for the night, having travelled over thirty miles. During the night, two more of the Royal Engineers' men came wandering in. Having lost their companions, they had wandered along the borders of the river looking for them, and finding instead that Nile mud, though deep and treacherous, is "very sticky." They had had nothing to eat all day, and their appetites were ravenous, so for hours thereafter their teeth went like quarts stamp-mills, as they pounded the army biscuit, and sleep was impossible till their ration was exhausted. Next morning, having secured a little sugar I undertook to get my cattle across to Akaba. The craft was one of the commonest kinds which was built, without ribs or beams, or stem or stern, or any kind of framework. The little naggar is stuck together one plank built on top of another, as a brick wall might be built by long iron spikes, which later look the timbers from one side to the other, cut in. With much difficulty, on account of bank and boat, the horse was driven to jump aboard, nearly crippling himself in doing so. Then the camel followed, got his hind leg jammed, almost broke it, but did not come out of the hole as triumphantly as a contortionist when he unwinds himself. Poor creature, he, however, survived for a long time afterwards at his own camp. We had made an early start, getting off before sunrise, and it was nearly noon before the military station recently made at Abu Fatmah was reached. There was a lieutenant of the Royal Sudan in charge, and he had under him a number of his own men, and details of the commissariat and transport, together with about 100 natives, camel men and porters. Abu Fatmah is, like nearly all the places of the Upper Nile, the name of the district more than of a "village" or "town" for you often find that the mud huts are called by the same name, although miles apart. This makes it at times very provoking, especially when you enter upon a village which extends along the river bank for six miles. Our Abu Fatmah is at a point just above the cataract, and at a spot where the boats which have to take in stores can be easily loaded from the bank. There is a hill about one hundred feet high of rock, some covered with square building, from which rises a low square tower, giving the place the appearance of an ancient fortress. At the base of this hill are the tents of our men and an enclosure of dhura stalk, within which are placed the commissariat boxes and stores, and the grain, dhura or barley heaped in a pile upon the ground. The same description of how the stores are kept applies to nearly all the other stations along the Nile. By bank, by camel, from as remote a place as Sarras, and on men's shoulders from the bottom of the cataract, a short distance away, boxes and burdens were being carried into Abu Fatmah Station by the Sudanese, stored away, while naggars on the other hand, bound for El Odeh and Debbah, were doing their utmost to reduce the bulk of supplies thus accumulated.

LOUIS RIEL'S APPEAL.

The Case Adjourned for the Prisoner to be Produced in Court.

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 2.—There was a large attendance at the court house to-day to hear the argument in the Riel appeal case. Lemieux and Fitzpatrick, of the Quebec bar, appeared for Riel, J. S. Stewart, Q. C., of this city, being associated with Q. C. D. Robinson, Q. C., and R. E. Oiler, Q. C., of Toronto, appeared for the Crown. Counsel for prisoner contended that both Riel and the original record should be in court. After argument the court decided that the point was well taken and an adjournment was made until Friday, when Crown counsel agreed to produce the prisoner. There is great excitement in Winnipeg, and fears are entertained of a hostile demonstration on Riel's appearance.

900 Traction Engine Price.

From the Ontario Reformer, August 28th.

We are informed that the manufacturers of Traction Engines, except the proprietors of the Hall Works have declined to compete for the $100 prize offered by Capt. McMaster, Vice-President of Toronto Industrial Association, and that therefore the Association are about to withdraw the prize.

The proprietors of the Joseph Hall Machine Works promptly informed the Secretary of the Association that they would compete for the prize, and have given to very considerable expenses to do so. We cannot see the justice of withdrawing the prize. In some lines of cattle only one exhibitor has been present, and yet the prize was not withdrawn. The fact that the manufacturers of 80 called Tractors, Engines do not feel inclined to meet the New Traction is a fair comment, under the direction of competent and disinterested judges, is no reason for withdrawing the prize. The Hall Works Engines will have to be on hand at the exhibition, ready to submit to any tests that may be demanded.

Mr. Glen, M. P., General Manager of the Hall Works, informs us that they will couple a Ten Horse Power Traction Engine to any 15 Horse Power Traction Engine made in Canada, and if the 10 Horse Engine cannot draw the 15 Horse of any Canadian make backwards, they will abandon their claim to the $100 prize.

DUBLIN, Sept. 2.—Lord Carnarvon yesterday received a deputation with an address from the Gaelic Union Society, which hopes to restore the Irish language. He assured them of his conviction of the importance of his study of the Gaelic dialect, and only from a philological point of view, but because of the mental superiority conferred by logical power. The Countess of Carnarvon delighted the deputation by addressing them in a few sentences of pure Irish.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Fancy Tidings.

Geo. Gumprecht is in town. Orders left at Mr. T. Menzies' store or Messrs. Taylor & McDonald's store will be attended to.

The Weather.

The following weather notes are supplied by Mr. G. W. Morgan, druggist:

	Thermometer.	Barometer.
9 o'clock.....	59	30.17
1 o'clock.....	61	30.20
5 o'clock.....	63	30.22

Mrs. Susan Evans Peck.

As already announced, this lady will lecture in the Opera House to-night in connection with the Scott Act Campaign. Her cultured style will please friends and foes alike. In her lecture in other parts of the county this week, she has created a very favorable impression.

Famous.

For the past few days His Lordship Bishop Jacob has been suffering from a persistent headache, caused by excessive mental exertion. At first it was thought that the annoying disease would be only temporary, but it proved otherwise, and it was only after consulting with the heads of his medical attendant, Dr. O'Brien, that the bishop consented. It places us to be able to announce that the Bishop is now out of danger and that his early recovery is looked for.

Selling a Reputation.

Messrs. Porter Bros. are rapidly earning for themselves an enviable reputation as manufacturers of buggy tops. The excellence of their work brings favourable comments and orders from all quarters. During the past week shipments of different kinds of tops have been made to Kingston and other frontier towns, and there is scarcely a day but brings in orders from different parts of Canada. A special exhibit of several kinds of tops is now being manufactured to be sent to the Toronto Industrial Fair.

Starting Business.

Mr. T. Flaherty, who is going to open up in Lynch's new block, Hunter street, informs us that he will be ready to commence business in about two or three weeks. Mr. Flaherty, who has had years of experience in Napanee, Peterborough and other places, will run a first-class gent's furnishing and clothing establishment. He has engaged an experienced and reliable cutter to take charge of the tailoring department, and will be in a position to turn out good-fitting and well-made garments. Doubtless Mr. Flaherty will receive a liberal share of the public patronage.

Increasing Facilities.

Not long ago Mr. J. W. Flavelle found that owing to his increased trade it was necessary to have more room in which to do the business. Accordingly a doorway was borrowed through the wall and the shop next door was fitted up into a large and commodious store room. But again he has found that he needs increased facilities. Now that the fall trade is coming on he has determined to build another store-house facing the Market Square. The new store-house will afford considerable more accommodation and in the course of a week will be ready for occupation. Mr. D. Gamble has the contract of building it.

Disembarkment.

Testimonial from Dr. J. W. Macdonald, M. D., L. R. C. S. Eng., Vice-President Medical Association of Canada, and medical officer to the Steel Company of Canada:—

LAMONTAGNEY, N.S., Sept. 15th, 1885.
Mr. Lawrence:—
"DEAR SIR,—Since the introduction of your glasses into this Province I have had many opportunities of judging of their excellent qualities. The rapidly with which they have gained ground is a convincing proof of their superiority, and it affords me great pleasure to recommend them to all who require the assistance of a reliable aid to vision.
Yours faithfully,
"J. W. MACDONALD."

John McKee, druggist, sole agent, Peterborough.

FORTNIGHTLY RACE.

THE MEDALS WON.

The end of the series of fortnightly races held under the auspices of the Amateur Athletic Association took place on Thursday afternoon. The number of spectators was very small indeed, owing, perhaps, to the threatening weather. The first race called was the hundred yards dash. There were two entries, G. F. Orde and A. Elliott. The contest was a keen one, the two keeping almost until within about fifteen yards from the line, when Orde drew ahead and won by about a yard. The one mile bicycle race for this year's men was then called. For this event a special medal was given by Messrs. Gibson and Karch. There were three entries for this event, Messrs. E. A. Sanderson, Napanee, and F. Karch and F. J. Might, of Peterborough. On the start Sanderson took the lead, with Might second and Karch an easy third. On the second lap Karch tore the sole off his shoe, thus necessitating his retirement from the contest. Sanderson maintained the lead until the fourth lap was about half closed when Might put on a spurt and took about a twenty yards' lead. This advantage he held until nearly the end of the race. He then put on another spurt and won by about fifty yards. Orde and Morris entered for the quarter mile. Morris dropped out and Orde, who was leading, finished the race. Lawford, Orde and Morris went in for the mile race. On going out rain commenced to fall, and by the time the first lap was finished the few drops had increased to quite a heavy shower. Orde had dropped out with Lawford leading and Morris second. Morris dropped out on the completion of the third lap, and Lawford set the rain at defiance and finished the mile, bringing up the last hundred yards in splendid style. Lawford now holds the medal presented by the Association for the mile race, Orde for the one hundred yard and quarter mile races, and Gibson for the bicycle race, each of these having won the most races out of the series during the season.

LACROSSE.

POINTS.

The home twelve have decided to go to Beaverton to contest for the championship on Thursday next. It is to be hoped that each and all will turn out and put in effective practice during the intervening week.

Mr. Percy Myles left town last night for Paris, Ont., where he referees a match between the Brants, of Brantford, and the Paris club for the western championship.

THE BICYCLE.

A MATCHED RACE.

During the race for the this year's 'cyclists' in the Association grounds on Thursday Mr. F. Karch met with a misfortune in the shape of the sole being torn off one of his shoes. Although third in the contest, he was riding easily and from all appearance his chances were good. Mr. F. J. Might, the winner of the race and the medal which was presented, in order to give Mr. Karch a chance to try his speed with him, has agreed to enter into a friendly spin on the Association grounds next Thursday. No doubt the race will be interesting.

Mr. Mac, of the silver plated wheel, has not yet returned. He must have numerous pupils in the lower Province.

THE RIFLE.

GUN CLUB.

A meeting will be held at the Grand Central Hotel on Monday evening next at 8 o'clock for the purpose of forming a gun club. The object of the club will be to practice trap shooting at clay pigeons, and getting up matches with other clubs. As there are a great number of crack shots in Peterborough it is hoped there will be a large attendance.

HONOURED BY HIS TOWNSMEN.

Departure for England of Mr. Norman Von Hugel, of Port Hope.

PORT HOPE, Sept. 3.—Mr. Norman von Hugel, son of our ex-Mayor, A. V. Hugel, left Port Hope to-night for England, to take up his position as lieutenant in the Royal Engineers, stationed at Brampton. Mr. Hugel, by his brilliant studies at the Military College, Kingston, carried off high honors, being awarded the Governor General's silver medal and one of the two diplomas given by the military authorities. The officers of the late Col. Williams' regiment, the 46th Battalion, honored Mr. Hugel's departure by having the band of the regiment turn out and escorting the young officer to the railway station by torchlight. The many friends assembled wished Mr. Hugel a good voyage and success in his military career.—Mail.

At the Rifle Range.

The last of the series of monthly matches held during this season under the auspices of the County of Peterborough Rifle Association took place on Thursday. The prize for the marksmen making the highest aggregate score out of any three of the four matches which have been held is a handsome silver medal presented to the Association by the Ontario Rifle Association. Mr. D. Cameron has proved to be the lucky man, he making the highest aggregate score, viz., 143. His score for the four matches is 44, 49, 50 and 49 respectively. Mr. Wm. Stobart came second with 131. Besides the medal prize, there has been 1,000 rounds of ammunition awarded in prizes at all four of the matches. The weather was very unfavorable on Thursday, the wind blowing stiffly across the range, and it is rather surprising that the marksmen made such a creditable score as they did. The following is the score of Thursday's match:—

D. Cameron.....	43
Geo. Fitzgerald.....	38
W. H. Hill.....	37
F. Hall.....	37
Wm. Bell.....	35
Major Bell.....	29
W. G. Mathews.....	23
F. G. Haultain.....	23
W. Hunter.....	20
A. Stale.....	19
W. A. Mason.....	18

Look at McNeil's north window, and you will see Ties of every conceivable shape and colour for twenty-five cents.

WAR ON THE CHINESE.

Four Hundred Celestials Driven from Rock Springs by Miners.

CHEYENNE, W. T., Sept. 3.—The following has been received from Rock Springs, Wyoming: The Union Pacific Company recently imported a large number of Chinese to take the place of white men. Yesterday the entire force of white miners, 150 strong, organized, and armed with shot guns, marched to China town. After firing a volley into the air the men reloaded and ordered the Chinese to leave. The order was obeyed at once, the Chinese fleeing to the hills like a drove of sheep, closely pursued by the miners, who fired several volleys at the fugitives with fatal effect. The Chinese quarters were then set on fire and 30 houses owned by the company were destroyed with their contents. The miners visited the various mines in the camp, unbarred all the Chinese at work, and told them to flee for their lives. Out of 400 Chinese men yesterday morning not one remained. All are in the adjacent hills heading for the Green river. Seven were killed outright by shots fired from the miners and many wounded. It is said several of the Chinese, who were feeble and helpless from disease, perished in the flames. The sheriff arrived from Green river last evening with a posse of deputies, but too late to prevent the mob from carrying out its plans. The miners quietly dispersed after making sure of the departure of the celestials, and all is quiet now.

"GO"

Is a characteristic which a business man must possess nowadays in order to hold his own among his fellow men. He must be up with the times, and, if possible, FORGE AHEAD. The day has long gone by when a merchant can sit down and wait till trade comes to him. Profit on goods are now so small and competition so active, that one must be wide awake to maintain a leading place.

Something to be thankful for.
A simple hearted and truly devoted country preacher, who had tasted but few of the drinks of the world, took dinner with a high-toned family, where a glass of milk punch was quietly set down by each plate. In silence and happiness this new "Victor of Wakefield" quaffed his goblet, and then added "Maiden, you should daily thank God for such a good son!"—The Current.

To hand at Turnbull's, a fine of Under Cloths. Handkerchiefs, Hosiery and Undershirts well out and made on short notice.

Diligence.
The certainty that life cannot be long, and the probability that it will be much shorter than Nature all-wise, ought to awaken every man to the active prosecution of whatever he is desirous to perform. It is true that no diligence can ascertain success; death may intercept the swiftest career; but he who is cut off in the midst of an undertaking has at least the honour of falling in his rank, and has fought the battle, though he missed the victory.—Exchange.

Turnbull's Dress Goods Department is being rapidly filled with all the new Fabrics in Cloth and Trimmings.

AN OPEN BOAT VOYAGE

A Voyage from Stockholm to London in a Cockle Shell.

Considerable excitement was caused on the Thames recently by the arrival at Millwall of an exceedingly small boat, manned by a single individual, who in it had safely performed the journey from Stockholm to London. The little craft, which is named the Dolphin, is only 17 feet in length, and not more than 4 feet breadth of beam; it has an improvised fore-cabin and half-cabin, and draws only 35 inches. Its adventurous commandant is Capt. C. Svendsen, a native of Stockholm, who left port Thursday after he had started on his perilous journey from Stockholm to London. He rigged a small sail, and for some time cruised about the Norwegian coast. Encountering some bad weather, he was driven completely out of his course, and subsequently decided to make for London. On the fourth day after he started on his perilous journey a sudden squall nearly capsized his little craft in the German ocean. Capt. Svendsen was hailed by several passing vessels, the crews of some of them endeavoring to dissuade him from his hazardous enterprise, especially as there were signs of impending stormy weather. Nothing daunted, however, he continued his voyage, and arrived in London, as stated. Capt. Svendsen ran short of provisions during his journey, but succeeded in obtaining supplies from the steamship Kingston, bound for Hamburg. The adventurous Norwegian appears to have suffered more for want of sleep than exposure to the weather, as he had to keep a careful lookout at night, and in the daytime he was principally occupied in managing his little vessel. Capt. Svendsen had a very hearty reception at Millwall, the crew of a Norwegian vessel in the docks being particularly enthusiastic in their welcome. After remaining in London for a short time, Capt. Svendsen intends attempting the journey back in his little craft.

A PICTURESQUE ELOPEMENT.

Young Lovers Flee in a Sailing-boat on a Stormy Night.

Two young lovers in a cat rigged sailing-boat put out from Stamford, Ont., in the storm of Tuesday night, and scudded before a howling wind through a heavy sea straight across the Sound. They had eluded the sharp eyes of vigilant parents, escaped under cover of darkness and rain, and were a full hour on their perilous journey before the town was roused up to search for them. Edward E. Wright, 21, lives in Stamford, and became acquainted with Ella Pratt, 17, a daughter of Maj. William Pratt of the United States Army at Washington, two years ago. The girl visited an aunt, who lives near the Wright house and who had been told that the young man was a runaway. Ella acquired a fondness for and also the sailor during the summer. The next summer's visit revealed the old passion, and Wright boldly asked Mrs. Pratt for the hand of her daughter. She would not listen to him. Ella was young, so was he, and in spite of earnest pleading, he was summarily dismissed and a watch set over the pair. The visit of the young girl was abrupt. She was told that the young man was a runaway. She was told that the young man was a runaway. She was told that the young man was a runaway.

The young man, however, was never seen in each other's company, and all looked smooth to Mrs. Pratt, who had other designs for her daughter. Tuesday was a wet, dreary day, and Ella after being confined in the house all day, was allowed to spend the evening by invitation at Mrs. Wright's. She was to come back at 9 o'clock. A little before that hour the shiping party crept to the beach where the young man was waiting. The waves were rolling in great masses. But the girl had been trained in that sort of sailing, and the raging winds had no terrors for her. One could not have said the boat alone that night. The next morning they arrived safe at Cobourg Spring Harbor on Long Island, and from there they went to Huntington, where they sent a telegram to Mrs. Pratt announcing their marriage. An hour after their departure, the night before, a detective was put on the trail by the indignant parents. Now the Pratts expect to see possession of the girl, and hold her till she is 21.—Spring-Field Republican.

A Monte Carlo Victim.

PARIS, Sept. 2.—Monte Carlo is a social pest-house of Europe, but notwithstanding that every one professes a desire to see the gaming tables abolished they still exist and prosper. The Russian are inveterate gamblers, and the latest victim is Prince Michel Alexandre Gagarine, of St. Petersburg, who recently attempted to commit suicide at a small inn at Nice. He belongs to one of the most distinguished families in Russia, and possesses a fortune of three million francs, but lost it all in gambling. After his ruin at Monaco to advance him his travelling expenses to St. Petersburg, but being refused he shut himself in the hotel, inflicting a dangerous and probably fatal wound. He was taken to the hospital, where he now lies in a precarious condition. Prince Gagarine who is sixty-seven years of age, is a descendant of the famous Matthew Gagarine, once Governor of Siberia, who, in consequence of a conspiracy, was executed in the presence of his whole family. The Prince is a man of great ability, but he has allowed his passion for play to dwarf every worthy ambition.

Waiting Buffaloes.

Some of our ranchmen are embarking in the business of raising buffaloes. There are about fifty head on the ranch of the Farquhar Land and Cattle Company, and there are also some buffaloes on the Goodnight ranch. C. J. Jones, of Garden City, also has some. The Franklin Company are paying $50 a head for buffalo calves. There is a herd of 4,000 buffaloes in the western portion of the Neutral strip. When buffalo robes are worth from $15 to $20 apiece, and buffalo steak 12 1/2 cents a pound in the Dodge City market, it would seem as if there was money in buffalo raising. A dozen years ago millions of buffaloes roamed at will over these plains, and they were slaughtered for fun and for their robes. It would not be surprising if they would yet be more valuable than beef cattle.

She took One.

"Are the fall styles of wall paper in yet?" She anxiously inquired.

"Yes."

"That was at 10 o'clock in the morning. At 1 o'clock in the afternoon, after having 254 samples displayed before her on the rack, she anxiously inquired:

"Have you any more?"

"No."

"Are you sure these are the very latest fall styles?"

"Yes."

"Then—then I guess I'll take a roll—one for two children—I want to paper a trunk!"

LINDSAY.
CENTRAL EXHIBITION.—Matters connected with the Lindsay Central Fair, Sept. 23rd, 24th and 25th, are booming. The secretary is besieged with people who are making entry of their stock, produce or their handwork. The grounds are being put into perfect order, and the stables and sheds for stock repaired. The "uprising in the ring" promises to be the most attractive feature and a large number of entries are coming in for the exhibition purposes. In this connection we are pleased to notice that Mr. H. AN EXTRAORDINARY ACCIDENT.—The following letter from Warren, Pa., describes an extraordinary but fortunately not fatal accident that happened to Mr. Henry Sutton, a former resident of Lindsay, and brother of Mr. Richard Sutton:—On the 10th Aug. 1885, Henry Sutton, aged forty-two years, while assisting an oil well was injured in the following manner: Oil was escaping and in order to avoid the spray he leaped to the left side, using his right hand for the work, when the polishing rod (a piece of iron three-fourths of an inch in diameter and 21 feet long) becoming detached from the derrick, 75 feet high, and struck Mr. Sutton two and a half inches below and to the back of his right ear, passing obliquely down the neck to the left side, over the shoulder blade, striking the collar-bone where it joins the breast bone, passing under the breast bone and coming out below and to the right of nipple of left breast. Going to it in the road of destruction it entered the hip or thigh bone and over half an inch from the center to the outside, and two inches from where the thigh joins the abdomen, passing deep into the thigh and bone, at the outside about six inches from the head of the knee, five feet seven inches of the bone passed through Mr. Sutton's body. He retained consciousness from the time the rod struck him, and remembered the sensation of having it put out. This is written ten days after the injury, and except some lung complications, flight, there have been no hindrances toward complete recovery, to which he is making rapid strides.—Post.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Struggling the Dead.

Much disgust is expressed at the indecent conduct of those who have displayed around town fragments of the remains of the unfortunate men who were destroyed by the explosion near Lakeside. The dead might well be spared such indignities even by the most heartless.

Union Meeting.

A union meeting of Sunday School Teachers, and all interested in Sabbath School work, will be held in the School room of St. Paul's church on Monday evening, 7th inst., at eight o'clock, when the Rev. Burning a Reputation.

Messrs. Porter Bros. are rapidly earning for themselves an enviable reputation as manufacturers of baggy tops. The excellence of their work brings favourable comments and orders for goods from all quarters. During the past week shipments of different kinds of tops have been made to Kingston and other frontier towns, and there is scarcely a day but brings in orders from different parts of Canada. A special exhibit of several kinds of tops is now being manufactured to be sent to the Toronto Industrial Fair.

When you are in Turnbull's ask to be shown his Plain and Fancy Canton Flannels, the colors are uncommonly handsome.

The Market.

The market this morning presented a lively and business like scene. The whole square was lined with market wagons, and the buyers were out in full force. As the fall advances such markets as these may be expected regularly. Although the offer was large this morning the demand seemed to be equal to it, and all appeared to be disposing of their commodities in quick order. Butter sold at 21 cents per pound; eggs, at 12 cents per dozen; chickens, 50 cents per pair; ducks, 60 cents per pair; turkeys, at $1 each; potatoes, 70 cents per bag, and apples at from 60 cents to $1 per bag. Small fruit is unchanged in price. Wheat brought 50 cents per bushel; oats, 35 cents; peas, 60 cents, and barley from 50 to 60 cents.

ST. LUKE'S.

A New School Room to be built and the Church to be improved.

On Thursday evening a very enthusiastic meeting was held in the St. Luke's Church, A. H. Burdett, school room, the matter in hand being a consideration of the advisability of building a new school room. After considerable discussion it was unanimously decided to go on with the work, and a Building Committee consisting of Messrs. John Burnham, H. T. Strickland, R. Meade, A. Ingram, R. B. Rogers and the Rector, the Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, were instructed to select plans on which to operate.

The plans previously drawn out by Mr. Blackwell has met with the approval of the Building Committee, and it has been decided to adopt them. The old school room, which runs east and west, parallel with the church, will be torn down, and the new one a very commodious building, will be built on the same site, running north and south. The style of architecture will be similar to that of the church. The new school room will be almost as long as the church. It will be sixty-seven feet long and thirty-five feet wide. The room will be divided into two parts, one for the main school room and one for the infant class room, 17x33. The latter will occupy the south end. At the north end there will be erected a raised platform, nineteen feet long by eleven feet wide, steps leading up to it from each side. The seats will rise tier above tier and the floor will be slightly dished, so that all can see the platform. The infant class room will be divided from the school room by iron columns and folding doors, so that if necessary the whole can be thrown into one room.

There has been a special aim in providing the accommodation in this way. The evening concerts held under the auspices of the St. Luke's Church have been very successful during the last three or four winters. On several occasions it was found that there was not nearly enough seating room in the present school to accommodate the audience and any special event was held in the Town Hall. The new school room will comfortably seat about four hundred people, and it will also have the advantage of having an ample platform.

On each tier in the floor there is room for three seats, so that they may be turned the reverse way when the classes are being taught. The windows will be of tinted glass, and the ceiling will be the shape of a five sided semi-circle, and will be composed of paneled wood-work.

The chancel of the church will be deepened by ten feet, and both the altar and the ceiling of the chancel are to be raised three feet. A new organ chamber will be constructed of a size sufficient to hold an instrument of considerable dimensions. A new vestry room will be built, or rather the present one will be enlarged twice its former size, and an entrance from it will lead to the school room.

The school room will be heated by hot air, supplied by a separate furnace, and from it will lead a fine supply of registers in the chancel. The building, if built according to the present plans, will be a structure of which every parishioner of St. Luke's may justly feel proud.

No. for Oysters.

Go to Craig's on and after Saturday for Oysters in bulk or served up in any style.

Already received at Turnbull's, several cases of Flannels, in union all wool, plain and fancy. Inspection invited.

Spectacles.

Mr. B. Laurence, the eminent English optician, is now in Peterborough for a few days for the purpose of appointing agents for his firm, as he has done in every principal place on his way from Halifax, choosing business men of the highest standing, generally chemists, who will keep in stock every variety of spectacles, eye glasses, and the different appliances that the eyes demand. In fact the agent keeping his lenses will have a positive miniature optician's stock, equal in variety to that found in leading establishments in Great Britain.

This firm have in every town in the three kingdoms agents for their lenses, and the same system is being carried out in Canada. These spectacles are recommended by the Presidents, Vice Presidents, Ex-Presidents and Ex-Vice Presidents of the Medical Association of Canada; the President of the College of Physicians and Surgeons at Quebec; the Dean of the Medical Faculty of Laval University; the President and ex-Presidents of the Medical Council of Nova Scotia, &c., &c. Mr. Laurence has also received testimonials from some of the professional gentlemen of our town two of which, from Dr. Kincaid and Dr. McKee, we publish herewith. Mr. John McKee, Druggist, will be the representative of the firm in Peterborough, and his standing alone would be a sufficient guarantee. During his short stay here B. Laurence will give him the benefit of his experience and may be consulted there gratuitously, the unerring accuracy of which Dr. McKee speaks so forcibly enables him to select at once the lenses best adapted to the eyes he is fitting. This is an opportunity which should not be lost by those who require aid for their sight, and who would regret hereafter if they allowed Mr. Laurence to leave without availing themselves of his services. The following are the testimonials to which we referred above:—

PETERBOROUGH, Dec. 12, 1883.

I take very great pleasure in stating that I consider B. Laurence, Esq., one of the most skillful and practical oculists with whom I have ever met. His knowledge of the eye is such that he cannot fail to give complete satisfaction to those who patronize him.

R. KIRKLAND, M.D., &c.

PETERBOROUGH, Dec. 12, 1883.

R. Laurence, Esq.:
Sir,—I find the greatest satisfaction from the use of the glasses I procured from you this morning. I have tried them in reading print of various sizes, and can read any paper or book better with them than with any glasses I ever tried before. The unerring manner in which you select the lenses is really marvellous.

INSURANCE MEN VS. MERCHANTS.

The Insurance men, as good as their word, played the Merchants, the winners of the last week's match, in the Riverside Park on Friday afternoon. During the first two innings it looked as if the victors were going to be vanquished by their opponents, but on the third inning the Merchants made a score that lifted them from all danger of defeat. Cameron, in the box for the Merchants, made some good pitching, striking out a good many of the green batters, and the balls were very creditably taken by Collins. "Jim" Coughlin proved himself to be as efficient in the pitcher's box as filling the captainship of a game of lacrosse, by putting in to his puzzlers in good form. Several took turns in presiding behind the bat for the Merchants. The following is the score.

The merchants thus won by an innings and two runs.

SHORT STORY.
A deputation of Insurance men called on us bright and early this morning telling us in the most insinuating way that they were confident that they are capable of getting away with the merchants as easy as rolling off a log. They wished to issue a challenge to the merchants to play a return match on Friday next, the winners to be entertained to an oyster supper at the expense of the losers.

THE RIFLE.

NORWOOD VS. HASTINGS.
The above teams, captained respectively by Lieut. Brennan and Asst. Surgeon O'Gorman, fired their return match over the Norwood range on Thursday last, when Norwood was again victorious. The match was shot under military rules, standing at 200 yards, kneeling at 400 yards, any military position at 500 yards; five rounds at each range. The wind was blowing heavily from the right rear. Appended are the scores by ranges with totals:—

SAWMILL ACCIDENT.

An Employee of the Hanson Mills has his foot torn off.

A very severe accident occurred in the Hanson lumber mill this forenoon at about eleven o'clock. Mr. Theophile Beauvin, an employee of the mill, while engaged in the discharge of his duties accidentally got his right foot caught in a cog wheel. Before he could get his leg extricated from the iron jaws of the wheel his foot was crushed in a pulp, and the flesh was torn off his leg for three or four inches upward.

So severe was the accident that it was found necessary to amputate the leg about four inches below the knee. Dr. Kincaid was called to perform the operation, and he together with Dr. Bell, of Lakeside, who was passing at the time the accident occurred, successfully amputated the limb.

Which?

"Is the lady of the house?" he asked as he stood on the steps of a residence on Case avenue the other morning.

"Which lady of the house?" asked the girl who answered the ring.

"Why, are there two?"

"Sure, sah. If you want de white lady she am out. If you has business wid the cull'd lady purposed to dewlop."

A man in a lonely part of Iowa had brain fever in consequence of the death of his wife, and on recovering could not remember where he had buried her. During the interval the three persons who had assisted in the interment became scattered. Very desirous of locating the grave, the widower dug over most of a ten acre field before finding the remains.

THE DYNAMITE HORROR

THE SHOCK FELT MANY MILES DISTANT—IT IS TAKEN FOR AN EARTHQUAKE.

Campbellford, Hastings, Kenna, Warren, and other Villages. Feel the Effects of the Explosion—A Train Shaken.

The accounts of the effects of the terrible dynamite explosion continue to come in. At Hastings the shock was felt quite plainly indeed, so much did it shake one building that Mr. Wallace, harness maker, the occupant, ran out, thinking that the chimney had fallen down. One old lady, who was alone in her house, was much surprised to see the door slamming to, and the idea that at once flashed upon her mind was that the swaying of the door was effected by an earthquake. She was in a state of trepidation until she found out that no such thing had happened. Near the school several lights of glass were broken in private residences.

AT CAMPBELLFORD.
From a despatch sent from Campbellford it would appear that the shock was very severe. It is as follows:—

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 4.—An earthquake was felt in this section at 9.40 this morning. The shock was plainly felt in Hastings, Madoc, Blairton, Marmora and Frankford. In Campbellford a plate glass window was broken and buildings were shaken. Women at work in the houses heard the dishes in the buttry rattle. In Frankford the shock upset a pile of freight in the station.

EXAGGERATED REPORTS.
Some of our exchanges have rather exaggerated reports of the accident, one or two stating that three and four men were killed.

IN OTHER VILLAGES
the shock was also felt. In Newwood the effects of the explosion was also taken for that of an earthquake. The Newwood operator in the telephone office called Peterborough to ask what caused the shock. This was somewhat of a surprise to the operator here, as no effects whatever were felt in this town. About a minute afterwards, however, he learned from Lakefield what caused the shock Newwood had alighted. Kenna was slightly affected, while in Warren, which is situated about six miles from where the explosion took place, the report was so loud that some of the villagers actually thought that some one was blasting out a wall. After awaiting for a few moments to see if any pieces of stone would fly past, one of the storekeepers proceeded to investigate. He found that no one had been engaged in any such occupation, and then attributed the report to the effect of quarry operations, which are occasionally carried on about a mile from the village.

A FORTUNATE PLACE.
It is very fortunate for Peterborough that the explosion took place where it did, for had it occurred this side of the river, on elevated land, it is quite probable that the damage to property would have been very severe. The reason why no shock was felt here, although the occurrence took place only some seven or eight miles from town, is assigned to the fact that the intervening river deadened the effects. The damage to farm buildings in the vicinity is much lessened owing to the fact that the explosion took place in what may be called the next thing to a mud hole.

WHAT OUR CORRESPONDENT SAYS.
Our Lakefield correspondent says that the scene of the dynamite explosion was visited by large crowds on Sunday. One gentleman estimated the number of carriages there in the afternoon as five hundred. A few small fragments of human remains have been found, a piece of the skin of the cheek with whisker adhering, and a portion of scalp and a few other fragments, but the medical men cannot decide whether they are human or animal. The force of the explosion was felt more severely outside the village. At the Reave's residence glass was thrown off the shelves and broken. Mr. David Hillman was sorting potatoes at the time, and he was surprised to see some potatoes jump from the floor and a second or two later he heard the report. Persons living up the Young's Point road, just out of the village, say that though the report was loud and sharp, the roar of the echo afterwards was most tremendous, and lasted for several seconds. It is most fortunate that this accident occurred where it did. If it had taken place nearer the village the damage would probably have been very great.

People here are naturally much alarmed to hear that a large quantity of this explosive will have to pass through the village this summer to be used on the Trent Valley works at Berlegh, and it is to be hoped that they can be compelled to keep outside the village limits, for had this explosion occurred on our main street not a house would have been left standing, and in all probability the loss of life would have been tremendous.

MRS. HEINES' STATEMENT.
Mrs. Heines, who lives just over the hill from where the explosion took place, states that the report that the men were driving recklessly in quite untrue. She saw the load of dynamite passing her house, but, of course, did not, at that time, know what it was. She was at the door when the wagon came in sight. It was scarcely moving, and, noticing something peculiar about it, she watched it for some time. A man driving a load of grain went by just as the wagon was passing her husband's house. The wagon was carefully turned out, and when the load of grain passed it again proceeded on. After it had passed she went inside the house and shut the door. In a few minutes a strange feeling came over both herself and her child. She did not know what it was, but it lasted only a moment and then was gone. Turning around she found that the door and windows were burst in, and hearing the echoes of the report she surmised what had happened. On going to the top of the hill her fears were confirmed.

THE REMAINS.
It was enough to chill the blood of any warm hearted man to hear of the way in which the fragments of the unfortunate victims were paraded about. Many showed their degraded taste by carrying around bits of the flesh. Mr. Charles Stapleton went to the scene of the accident on Sunday, and he, together with Mr. Heines and others, succeeded in collecting a large number of the fragments of the remains. The largest piece that was found was a piece of the skin off the shoulder and part of arm. It was about a foot long, and was found hanging on a tree about three hundred feet distant from the excavation. All of these were carefully boxed in a small coffin and were sent this morning by Mr. Stapleton to the manager of the powder mills.

THE VICTIMS.
Mr. Stapleton estimates that there were fully 1,100 people at the scene of the accident on Sunday. They were from all parts of the country as far east as Warkworth.

TRAIN SHAKEN.
It is reported that the passengers on a train on the Grand Junction railway, passing between Campbellford and Peterborough, felt the shock, and that the train swayed considerably for some moments.

Ladies, if you want a neat Ulster made to order from the latest patterns leave your order at Turnbull's.

German Boats Agitated.
BRISLIT, Sept. 4.—Prices declined on the bourse yesterday owing to rumors that Russia had resumed her military activity. Russian telegrams, however, indicate nothing unusual.

The Prince of Wales Fed.
STOCKHOLM, Sept. 4.—A grand fete was given to-day in honor of the Prince of Wales. A portion of the day was devoted to a musical shooting, and in the evening the Prince witnessed a gala theatrical performance.

Archbishop Walsh.
DUBLIN, Sept. 4.—Archbishop Walsh arrived in Dublin to-day and was given an enthusiastic ovation. He received an address of welcome from the Lord Mayor and municipal authorities. The streets were crowded.

A Statue of St. Peter.
ROME, Sept. 4.—The Pope yesterday assisted at the ceremonies attending the erection of a bronze statue of St. Peter on the summit of the monument erected to the memory of the Ecumenical council of 1870, which stands in the gardens of the Vatican.

GENERAL CABLE NEWS.

THE CAROLINE ISLANDS.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—The Spanish iron clad Aragon has landed troops on Folew islands, and the Spanish admiral has been ordered to likewise occupy Yap, Rabelthap, Pongap, and other islands of the Caroline group. The German officials in those waters have been instructed not to interfere with the carrying out of the Spanish admiral's orders.

AFFAIRS IN THE SOUDAN.

CAIRO, Sept. 4.—Major Chermade telegraphs that the garrison at Kassala has not surrendered. Letters from Khartoum say that the British have invited Sheikh Sennar from Tripoli to command, or to appoint a successor to the Mahdi. In the meantime they have appointed a committee of Ulemas to take control of affairs.

THE CZAR AT COPENHAGEN.

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 6.—The Czar and Czarina and the rest of the Russian Imperial party arrived at Copenhagen to-day. Large crowds welcomed the visitors and gave them an ovation.

THE FRENCH ELECTIONS.

PARIS, Sept. 6.—M. Goblet, French Minister of Public Instruction, has issued an official circular to the French episcopate concerning the attitude the Church may adopt in the coming general elections in France. He notifies the clergy that they are perfectly free to exercise their own discretion about their own votes, but enjoins upon them a maintenance of perfect neutrality concerning the votes of their parishioners and forbids them to use any influence upon the people in favor of any party. The official press has received this circular with derision. The religious editors agree that indifference on the part of the Church in the face of two parties arrayed against each other for and against Christianity would not be neutrality, but desertion from the faith.

GROSS FRAUDS PERPETRATED.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—Letters from Egypt state that the commission which made the Egyptian awards, which were paid out of the Egyptian loan, was a fraud of the worst kind. In many cases, after giving certificates for claims, the commission was forced by evidence of fraud to cancel the awards, but in many others, where fraud was equally great, payments were made covertly. It is positively stated that a majority of the claims paid have gone into the pockets of an organized gang of financiers.

PROTECTION IN GERMANY.

BERLIN, Sept. 6.—It is rumored that Prince Bismarck intends to propose to the Reichstag a further increase of duties on cereals against all countries but Austria and Hungary.

AN ENGLISH NEWSPAPER IN ROME.

ROME, Sept. 5.—Mr. Tennant, lately member of Parliament for Leeds, will commence next November the publication in Rome of a new weekly journal in the interest of the American and English colonies there.

CHRISTIANS MASSACRED IN ANNAM.

PARIS, Sept. 5.—Gen. de Courcy, the French commander in Annam, telegraphs from Hue that serious disorders have occurred in Quin-Hon. Numerous Christians have been massacred and a number of villages burned.

PRUSSIAN SHIP CANAL.

BERLIN, Sept. 6.—Prussia has sanctioned the plan for the projected ship canal, which it is proposed to cut from Kiel, on the Baltic, to a point on the lower Elbe, near Osnabruck, in the German ocean. The entire cost of the work is placed at 128,000,000 marks, of which Prussia stands ready to contribute 60,000,000 marks. The bill for the construction of this canal will be submitted to the Bundesrath after the vacation.

TROUBLE AGAIN FEARED.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—For a fortnight the papers have been printing congratulatory notices of the settlement of the Zulu war difficulty, and England has been ostensibly celebrating triumph on the implied assurance of peace, but there has been an underlying uneasiness all the time, which the fact that the Witwatersrand has been working day and night has not tended to diminish. The publication yesterday of a detailed story in the Chronicle of Russian aggression and an Afghan war on Afghan territory, have revived all the old fears. The source is not specially reliable, but the story is too circumstantial to be merely a bazaar rumor. The action of the Governor of Herat in releasing Russian prisoners in a suspiciously well timed manner, and the fact that the British have created a bias of excitement in India. Its effect on Herat and on the Afghans can only be guessed at as yet, but there is no doubt that the Ministry here, if the story should be proved true, would take a very stiff attitude and exact high reparation and a guarantee for the future.

MILITARY RIOT NEAR PLYMOUTH.

PLYMOUTH, Sept. 6.—Thirty soldiers belonging to a Highland regiment to-day made an assault upon a dozen artillerymen at a village near Plymouth. The Scotchmen were routed, and the artillerymen carried the village by storm, when the people fled to the field. An armed picket guard subsequently captured fifteen of the rioters.

PRINCE BISMARCK'S VIEWS.

BERLIN, Sept. 6.—The Nord Deutsche Zeitung, Prince Bismarck's organ, says that the Government is annoyed over the anti-German demonstration at Madrid, but will not judge hastily. It adds, however, that the Government is not specially reliable, but the story is too circumstantial to be merely a bazaar rumor. The action of the Governor of Herat in releasing Russian prisoners in a suspiciously well timed manner, and the fact that the British have created a bias of excitement in India. Its effect on Herat and on the Afghans can only be guessed at as yet, but there is no doubt that the Ministry here, if the story should be proved true, would take a very stiff attitude and exact high reparation and a guarantee for the future.

AGAIN SUPPRESSED.

CAIRO, Sept. 5.—The Egyptian Egyptian has again been suppressed. This time France is responsible for the suppression of the paper, which had given offense by publishing articles which were deemed injurious to French interests.

THE CUBAN LOAN.

MADRID, Sept. 5.—The cabinet yesterday discussed the subject of the Cuban loan. Francisco Canales Del Castillo was not asked to grant the loan. No decision was reached.

GERMAN POLAR EXPEDITION.

LONDON, Sept. 5.—Germany is fitting out four expeditions for Arctic exploration, and recently sent a note to the British admiralty, asking for any advice upon the subject which it was willing to give. The admiralty replied fully in a candid and generous spirit, and this communication has been received and acknowledged by Germany with the greatest courtesy.

NO BETTER IN ENGLAND.

BERLIN, Sept. 5.—German papers continually warn poor Germany from emigration to England, where a state similar in distress to that prevailing throughout Germany exists.

ENCOURAGING MANUFACTURES

The meeting on Friday to discuss the Dickson Company exemption by-law, though it terminated in a far from satisfactory manner, has not been without some good results. The way has been cleared for some feasible arrangement, which we hope will be reached. The wild reports that the proposed exemption covered the Dickson estate as a whole, were shown to be without foundation. On the other hand it was generally conceded even by the friends of the Company, that the property to be affected was too vaguely indicated in the by-law, which must be repealed, and replaced by one more rigidly drawn.

As to the main point for consideration, the question of the encouragement of manufactures in our town, it was gratifying to find that there was so little difference of opinion. In a fairly representative meeting there was not a voice raised against encouraging the establishment of new industries by an exemption from increased assessment. All those who spoke, and all those who voted, unhesitatingly adopted this principle. In fact this has been the established policy of our town, which has always been willing to add the introduction of any new industry.

Where the divergence of opinion manifested itself was on the question whether this policy should be extended in the present instance so as to include the enlargement of an existing factory or the establishment of a new one in cases where the establishments thus added would be rivals and competitors of existing establishments paying taxes. The majority of the meeting, and, as far as we can ascertain, the majority of the ratepayers, are not prepared to adopt this new policy, which they consider unfair to their own townpeople. There is another point; they would be glad to see the property in question covered with factories, but they do not care to see this effected merely by the removal of existing establishments from other parts of the town, which would really be no addition. It is new industries, not competing with present establishments, that they wish to see, and that they are willing to aid.

Since the opinions of all interested are so far in unison, it ought not to be impossible or even difficult to arrive at some satisfactory conclusion. This desirable result, however, is not likely to be facilitated if Mayor Cox is to lose his temper again and insult those who cannot agree in details with him by coming them off being opposed to the industrial progress of the town, a charge utterly unwarrantable. By reasonable concessions the result that all desire may, however, be reached.

We would offer our suggestion as follows:—That the assessment of the company should not be increased for any factories they may erect or enlarge until they are occupied; that if the establishment is a new one this exemption should be withdrawn; that if it is one already existing in our town, it should remain exempt so long as it employs its goods, and does not enter into local competition, but that if it wishes to compete with existing firms, it should pay full taxes like them. This last clause would meet the case cited of the manufacture of bristles and wagons, or agricultural implements, or furniture for the Northwest, for such factories need not enter upon local trade.

Some such arrangement as we have sketched, we are sure would be accepted by the people of the town, and we think it might be accepted by the Company, for it would go a long way to meet their views. It may be that the new policy of exempting enlarged or new factories to rival old ones, if it is to be general and not exceptional, may be adopted by our townpeople, but we doubt if at present they are prepared to see to discriminate against existing manufacturing or against property owners who have tenants at present manufacturing.

The Land Question in Scotland.
London, Sept. 2.—A conference on the land question was held at Fort, on the Island of Skye to-day. Delegates from all parts of Scotland were present as well as Mr. McGregor of Ontario. A number of orations were delivered, some of them in Gaelic. The speaker advocated more generous terms, by which farmers could purchase their holdings, and disengage the landlords from alleged tyranny. They advised the tenants to stand firm in their demands and to refuse the payment of rent unless concessions suitable to the depression in agricultural districts were made by the landlords. The outcome of the conference was the formation of an organization for preventing evictions. Mr. McGregor promised the organization the sympathy of their Scottish American brethren; which, he said, would take the form of a subscription to the fund to enable them to carry out the objects of the meeting.

THE HUNTINGDON AFFRAY.

Death of Archibald—Mrs. Adams and her Son Committed.

BELLEVILLE, Sept. 4.—Mrs. Mary Adams of the township of Huntingdon, a woman of questionable character, who assaulted Martin Archibald, a well to do farmer in her neighbourhood with an axe on Sunday last, was arrested on Thursday and given a preliminary examination before Justice Haggerty and Chard, of Rawdon. The result of the examination was that the woman, together with her son Charles Adams, have been bound over for trial at the fall assizes, on the charge of assault with intent to kill. Archibald died from the effects of his wounds this morning. The prisoners have been lodged in the Hastings county goal.

WRECK OF THE HANOVERIAN.

An Allan Steamship Comes to Grief off Newfoundland.

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 2.—Very few particulars have been received here of a disaster to the Allan line steamer Hanoverian on the coast of Newfoundland this morning. Reports received state that she struck at a place known as Portuguese Cove, in Trepassy bay during a deep fog, while attempting to make Cape Race. The spot is a very rough one and she lies on the rocks in such a bad position that there is little expectation of her being removed. Passengers and crew were all landed without a loss of a single one, and are to be transported to St. John's by the warship "Fenian," which sailed from the latter port from the scene immediately on the news of the wreck reaching there. The Hanoverian arrived here from Baltimore early Saturday morning and proceeded on Monday for Liverpool via St. John's. She had on board, besides the passengers from Baltimore, one hundred and seventy-four from this place for Liverpool and forty-six for St. John's.

Among the passengers were the families of Kibbey Binnery, Lord Bishop of Nova Scotia, and Capt. Fane, commander in the English navy.

AT THE EXPERIMENTAL FARM.

Sale of Surplus Stock—Prices Quite Low and Are Disappointing.

QUEBEC, Sept. 4.—The sale of surplus stock at the Ontario experimental farm took place to-day. The morning was threatening, but towards noon the weather cleared. Proceeding commenced with a strictly temperance luncheon. It was a battle of the breeds. The shorthorns opened the ball, two both bulls making $140 and $125 respectively. Then a Booth cow made $180, and a Bates bull, calf of the Wild Eye $220. E. J. Davidson put in the next lot—a Scotch heifer—at this sum and nobody opposed him; but the champion of the Cruikshank strain had saved his favorites from taking second place. Harford brought $250, $220, $230 and $230. The Polled Angus fetched $200, $100, $340, $180, $325, $120, $300, and $325. The Holsteins made $100 and $60. The Ayrshires were quite out in the market, making $35, $38, $30, $30 and $100. The Jersey boom seemed also to have slackened considerably, three imported animals making only $100, $65 and $80. On the whole the sale must have been disappointing, and strong opinions were expressed on the advisability of the course pursued by the Department in making these expensive importations and selling at such a tremendous loss.—Toronto World.

THE $500 TROUBLES THEM.

Quite a number of reform members in the House of Commons don't exactly know what to do about the $500 extra seasonal allowance—especially since Hon. Mr. Blake headed over his "extra" to the Agricultural Society of his Riding. Hon. Mr. Mackenzie took a different stand and sent it back to the Government—and in this he showed his consistency; but there is something honor nor consistency in taking the amount and then handing it over, with a show of patriotism, to some other corporation or association to expend for local benefit. This latter method is only another way of buying votes, or "pulling wool" over the eyes of the electors. The member for North Ontario, however, devotes the extra $500 to "party purposes"—a thing he has a perfect right to do, and one which will give him more credit among reformers than double the sum expended in an endeavor to buy backhanded favors. Mr. Edgar has published a proposal to create a fund for purifying voters lists under the new Dominion Franchise Act, and has handed over his $500 to Capt. Macdonald, of Toronto, who has consented to act as Treasurer of the fund, for the purpose named. We entertain a grave suspicion, however, that our M. P. will not have a large following. The proposition favors too much of Toronto centralization, and looks too much like a huge scheme to make a draw from "the faithful" all over the country for the special advantage of needy political disciples of Blackstone hawking about the Ontario metropolis. Mr. Blake says—give the extra indemnity to agricultural societies: the M. P. for North York says—hand it over to the North-West Volunteers; the M. P. for West Ontario says—fund it for political purposes, and hand it over accordingly; Mr. Macdougall gives a part to agricultural societies, and hands on the rest; Hon. Mr. Mackenzie and Mr. Cockburn send it all back to the Dominion Treasury from whence it was taken; all the rest keep it and do as they have a mind to. What do the electors, who furnish the money, think about all this tomfoolery to make political capital? If these members should keep it; but if not, they should not have voted for the extra pay in the first place, nor taken it in the second place. This is where the mistake was made—and if the electors grow bubbling to the surface, is nothing more than a weak effort to cover the disastrous consequences of this mistake without exposing the principal actors. But we are inclined to the conviction that the effort in this direction will be fortuitous; the independent press of the country has voiced public opinion too faithfully on this question, to be mistaken, and they gave the finishing touch in the last act on which counted one subscriber less.—Toronto World (Reform).

A Scottish Deed.

A few days ago a young lady, the daughter of a clerk in the Grand Trunk Railway Company, was walking with some companions in the neighborhood of Notre Dame and Champlain streets when they met three French-Canadian women, the face of one being covered with the pustules of smallpox. The young lady and her companions stepped aside to allow them to pass, when the woman with the smallpox called out: "What! frightened? I'll let you see!" and running at the young lady she lifted her up in her arms, rubbed the pustules on her face against the young lady's cheek, and then walked away laughing, while the young lady fainted and her companions looked on in horror struck. Such was the shock to the young lady's constitution from the fright that she had to be sent into the country.—Windsor.

MR. COX EXPLAINS.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR.—The statement was made by Mr. Cox on Friday night in the Council Chamber regarding the undervaluation of my property on Hunter street, whereby he wanted to prove that the Dickson Company is in comparison overvalued. I will not accuse Mr. Cox of stating the figures falsely when he said that my residence is assessed for $8,500, but must say that the tenement house is assessed for $1,500 also, or a total of $10,000. Now let us see how much I am undervalued. Mr. Cox, no doubt with a motive in making property in Peterborough valuable, and a praiseworthy motive it is, I admit, does not bear out by facts in my case that such a valuation of $15,000, as he puts it, can be obtained. I offered the whole, including the tenement house, to the Roman Catholic congregation some time ago at the price of $18,000. The first offer I got was $10,000, which was afterwards raised to $12,000. Why, then, if the property was worth, as Mr. Cox stated, $15,000, the public would know full well that Mr. Cox would not have let an opportunity for a speculation pass unnoticed. Regarding my premises on George street, I am assessed for the store $3,300, since then I have extended it, and as my industry, by after 25 years, the only one of the kind here, should I not also have a right to be exempted for such improvements? My principle, not to exempt any property, I hold to be the only just one to the hard struggling ones for a residence.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor,

WM. LECH.

The Halls Needn't be Fumigated.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 3.—In reference to a telegram from Superintendent Bell of the foreign mail service, the Postmaster-General of Canada has replied that in his opinion the number of cases of smallpox existing in the Dominion does not warrant the adoption of measures for fumigation of the mails coming into the United States from Canada. The authorities at the marine hospital service, who were charged with the supervision of the proposed disinfection, have been notified accordingly.

PLEASURE BAR.—The Independent says the Trent Valley Navigation Co. has decided to erect a new pleasure barge for the convenience of excursion. Its name is the Paloma, the emphasis being on the o, which interpreted, is Spanish for Figure. The Company has the bar properly named, as the steamers, the E-turon, and their bar, after the two lakes, Sturgeon and Pigeon, but with excellent taste have chosen the Spanish words which are far more melodious and sound than the harsh, brittle English. The Paloma is a fine craft, built in good style, and thoroughly planned to meet the requirements and comfort of excursionists. The Company deserve all praise for having done a most judicious thing for that particular branch of the business.

ANNUAL OUTING.—There are glad tidings from little Bob. The annual outing of the mill employees, and their relatives and friends, is to take place on Saturday, the 12th. The steamer Beaumont, accompanied by the new pleasure barge, Paloma, is to convey the party to Oak Orchard. As for amusements, the last outing down the lake was one of the best days ever held on these waters, and this year's picnic is to be metaphorically, lay over the last one, and give a yard and a half margin all round. Anyone who can by any means get an invitation to this outing should jump at the chance. The girls of the village should waylay the Little Bob boys on Sunday, and make the sweetest, and say who can claim acquaintance with Superintendent Gidley should go down and take an opportunity of telling him what a boss mill he has.

HARVEST.—The harvest is turning out well. The wet weather after having destroyed a large quantity of spring wheat by rust, but in many cases the threshing is putting out more grain than was expected. The fall wheat is in good order and a large crop. Oats and wheat are heavy. Buckwheat, although the earliest, and in this neighborhood, has been killed with frost. Roots are doing well. In fact the farming prospects are first class, and there are already indications of a revival in trade.

BASS BALL.—The return game of Bass Ball between the Junior Club, and the picked nine of Jambos, was played on Tuesday, and resulted in favor of the Jambos. The Juniors considering everything played a very nice game, but the Jambos were too strong. Nothing short of the American Champions could match them. In the evening the two teams took supper at the Rockland, and enjoyed a social hour together.

SHANTIES.—Lumbering operations are being commenced in the woods. M. Boyd & Co. have sent up a number of men to their limits on the Burnt River. On Thursday a gang of 35 men from Trenton went through to Gilmour's depot in Galway. They were a respectable and orderly looking lot of men.

PARTISANS.—Some of the sports were out on Tuesday, and bagged a number of birds, they report picturesque ones but rather wild.

Holiday Making.

It is a good sign of an improved condition of society when we find so general a resolution to make holiday in the summer time, and to spend a week or two in recreation in the country. Our esteemed contemporary, the London Advertiser, has a good article on the subject. It points out that everyone needs a little recreation. To every business man and professional man a summer's holiday is invaluable. It gives the wearied muscles and tired frame time and opportunity to revive and recuperate; to do as fresh powers for the labor of life. But its best form is its simplest. Change of scenery, change of occupation, change of surroundings, plenty of idleness, freedom from restraint, and just enough activity to prevent stagnation; to do as you please, to care for nothing, to be cheerful and contented—these things are necessary elements of a successful and profitable holiday, and whether it be a few hours in some grove near home, or a day in the woods, or a week on the lake, or a month at some fashionable watering place—as a person's time or pocket may permit—wherever such a holiday can be enjoyed, there are benefits derived of incalculable value. It will pay us all to rest a while, so that we may be better fitted for work after our holiday is over.—Bobson Independent.

It is suspected that the Baron and Baroness Matre, who died suddenly within a few days of each other, were poisoned by a spiritualist and his wife, who are benighted by the will of their noble patrons. A special to the Mail says the remains of the Baron and his wife have been exhumed for medical examination.

At two recent elections the Government candidates have been elected by large majorities, yet a Reform writer has the assurance to say "the Tories enjoy neither the respect nor the confidence of the people." CENSUS taking in the United States is an expensive operation. Not one-half the result of the tenth census has yet been printed, and $5,000,000 has been spent upon the work. The reason of the immense cost is that very many special subjects were included in the enquiry, and the working plan was therefore on a very large scale.

LETTERS BEGINNING.—The steam which raised the lid off the kettle led to a philosophical mind to utilize it for man's benefit. No one dreamed that we should now be dragged along by it at the rate of sixty miles an hour. When Perry Davis made a preparation for the medical use of his family thirty years ago, neither he nor any other man imagined that it would now be sold in every land, and prove to be the Pain Killer of the world.

SALMON are plentiful in British Columbia this year. The Fraser is said to be swarming with fish of the very best quality, and the canneries are taxed to their utmost capacity. No such extensive run of salmon was ever known before in the river. To illustrate the plentifulness of the fishery Fraser is mentioned that by one boat 254 fish were captured in 35 minutes. As the canneries are only paying a cent a piece for the salmon which last year cost three cents, canned salmon should be cheap food during the coming season.

Pillbox for Paper.—An American exchange says that paper is made in France from hop vines, and it is claimed that the fibre secured is the best substitute for rags yet obtained, possessing great length, strength, flexibility and delicacy. It may be to the advantage of papermakers near hop-growing districts to investigate this matter, for the vines are now a waste product, and if they are properly adapted for fine paper, as is claimed, a valuable stock has been running to waste. Do not beat and pen vines belong to the same category?

A Future for the Buckleberry.

What a wonderful improvement there has been in the various sorts of fruits, large and small! The catalogues are filled with glowing descriptions of new apples, pears, plums, peaches, grapes, currants, raspberries, etc. Of straw berries there is no end to the new sorts, and even the lowly cranberry boasts of a dozen or more varieties; but who has ever given a thought to the improvement of the whortleberry the bilberry of some, and the buckleberry of everybody, and yet more breeds of it are annually consumed than of almost any other one fruit. Who so lost to all this that toothsome berries? Our word for it, there are some that he cannot be coaxing into a good humor with a generous piece of buckleberry pie? Will not some of our enterprising horticulturists please try the possibilities of the humble buckleberry? It has been neglected for centuries, and allowed to grow wild on its mountain sides or pine plains, annually robbed of its food of fruit, which it never fails to produce. Let us now see what selection, cultivation and the judicious raising of seedlings may do for it. Is there any reason why it should not be as good in flavor as now, and as large as the largest cherries? LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Please Tasting.

Geo. Gumprecht is in town. Orders left at Mr. T. Mansel's store or Messrs. Taylor & McDonald's store will be attended to.

Low Water.

The water in the Little Lake will be lowered for the next few days in consequence of repairs being made at the locks. Those having floating buildings or boats in the water will do well to note this fact.

An Accident.

On Saturday afternoon while Mr. Henry Marshall, an employee in the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company's works, was carrying a piece of casting from one part of the moulding shop to another, it fell and struck his ankle, injuring it considerably. Dr. Kincaid attended.

The Weather.

The following weather notes are supplied by Mr. G. W. Morgan, druggist:—

A. C. A.

Mr. F. S. Rathbone, the commodore of the American Canoe Association, has appointed the Regatta Committee for the current year as follows:—Mr. J. B. McMurrich, of Oswego, chairman, Major S. T. Fairbairn, of the Royal Military College, Kingston, and Mr. Reade W. Bailey, of Pittsburgh. This will be welcomed as an excellent selection.

A Fire.

On Saturday afternoon at about five o'clock a fire alarm was sounded. The brigade turned out and were soon on the scene, Mr. H. Drake's house, Rutledge street. Sparks were issuing through the windows and doors, but no flames were visible for some time. At length the fire broke out and burned part of the roof. Two streams of water were turned on and the flames were put out in about ten minutes. A defective fuse is to blame for the loss, which, by the way, is not great, and is fully covered by insurance at the People's Insurance Office.

Ladies, if you want a Jersey Cloth Mantle made to order, and a neat fit, leave your order at Turnbull's.

Young Men's Liberal Club.

A club under the above name was organized in Peterborough on Thursday evening, the 3rd inst. The Executive says the following officers were elected:—

HON. PRESIDENT.—W. Peterson, Jr.
PRESIDENT.—J. R. Stratton.
VICE-PRESIDENT.—James Henry.
SECOND VICE-PRESIDENT.—A. McFarlane.
SECRETARY.—R. E. Wood.
TREASURER.—J. Griffin.
EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.—J. P. Eastwood, John McGrath, Geo. Stanton, D. Ballagham, F. Higgs, Wm. Pratt, F. Weir, T. G. Gillespie, S. Clegg, W. G. Yelland, E. W. Cox, A. Moffat, M. H. Quislan.

Personal.

We regret to learn that Mr. Jas. Stewart has been confined to his bed through illness during the past few days, and will be unable to attend to business for a short time to come.

Messrs. F. Browncombe, A. Tabb, T. E. Emerson, F. E. Pratt, Harry Long, and W. Hooper, left town this morning for the back lakes, where they will reside for the next two weeks. Their special mission is to shoot everything that comes in their way, and to come back with faces well browned. They will, however, amuse themselves at times by sitting on a convenient rock to dangle their bait for the wary fish. They drove to Cherry Lake this morning, and have gone thence by canoe to Deer Bay. They will sail down to Lakeside, and return by Midland Railway.

Mr. Robt. White, son of the Hon. T. White, Minister of the Interior, and Mr. D. English, brother of Mr. Wm. English, of this place, were in town on Sunday, having stopped off here for a day while on their way to Montreal.

Mr. W. Porter, of the firm of Porter Bros. carriage makers, left town this morning for Toronto. He takes with him an exhibit of buggy and carriage tops for the Industrial Fair.

Ladies, if you want a Fashionable Mantle made to order, and a neat fit, leave your order at Turnbull's.

BASEBALL.

EXAMINER VS. REVIEW.

The employees of the Examiner and those of the Review played the long looked forward to ball match in the Riverside Park on Saturday afternoon.

Considering that the Review windpounders had been monopolizing Burnham's Point every evening for the last two weeks it was thought by those who were in the secret that the Tories would come out first best, but in the first innings when Capt. Browne won the toss, went to the field, and when the Examiner slingers went in and made twice seven, and when the REVIEWERS retired with two, the "knowing" ones commenced to shake their heads in a doubtful way. But a turn of luck came. The Review had not yet got their hand in. In the third innings the Tories did really hit a few balls, in fact they hit nearly every one that was pitched, while a bystander remarked that in his opinion the Examiner's fielders were playing a game of "chance" ball instead of baseball. At any rate the Review men got in fifteen runs and with this they seemed to be well satisfied considering that in the next innings, Browne, by his peculiar curves, struck out the first three batters in quick and consecutive order. The "knowing" ones, who had been away endeavoring to bury their grief in liquid consolation since the end of the second innings, again appeared upon the scene, and with another shake of the head, said that they knew it would be so. They even ventured to say that their favorites would make a clean 20 in the next and last innings. The Review had "only" eleven to make to tie and twelve to make to win. Four runs were scored when the first batter retired; nine when the second man was put out, and with two men on bases, and two to make to win, the excitement ran high. Everybody stood motionless; and when Haskill took his stand at the plate and sent Duncan all the spectators gulped in a great big breath and held it. He hit the ball. The men on bases leaped it. But unluckily for the Review men the hit was a nice fly. It descended gracefully into Duncan's sure mitt and the game ended amid loud cheering.

The score is as follows:—

SHORT STORIES.

Mr. P. J. Sullivan umpired the game.

At one time Mr. "Jim" Macdonald, the scorer, began to think seriously of sending for another sheet of foolscap.

Capt. Browne says that the return match has been arranged. It will be played on the same grounds on Friday after next.

McNaughton, the Examiner nine's catcher, took the balls with considerable pluck.

Who is that man that goes out on strikes every time?—no, not every time; he hit a foul once.

Crowe and Haskill, let basemen for the respective nines, both did creditable work, and Longfellow on 2nd base also put in effective play.

Did anyone ever hear of a fielder catching with his feet? The Review's left fielder actually tried it.

The Review catcher was suffering from two sore fingers, and in the first innings made some bad muffs, in fact he stopped scarcely any ball at all. In the second innings another catcher was put on, but he, too, was very shy of the ball. Capt. Browne, who pitched for the Review, is looking up new material to put behind the bat for the next match, when he hopes the result will be different.

After the match was over both nines and a few invited friends adjourned to Chamberlain's Restaurant, where a splendid spread was prepared for them.

The employees of Porter Bros. and Fitzgerald & Stanger play a game of ball in the Riverside Park to-morrow afternoon.

The merchants accept the insurance men's challenge to play a return match.

Napoleon Set in the Chair.

BERLIN, Sept. 4.—An admirer of Prince Bismarck has presented him with the chair in which Emperor Napoleon sat while conversing with the chancellor in a weaver's cottage at Domburg, the day following the battle of Sedan.

Prejudice and Frost.

A patriotic citizen of Vancouver, Cal., who detests the Chinese, recently refused to sell a native of the Celestial Empire a lot for $1,000 but sold it to an esteemed Yankee friend for $500. With an eye to business, the Yankee sold it to the headman and pocketed a profit of $500, and the original owner now has a "Chinee, washes" sign floating next door.

A Prince Edward Island Girl.

The kind of girl they grow in Rose Valley, P. E. Island, is illustrated by the following incident which took place at Bradabane last week: One of the fair maids of the valley drove in a single wagon and pulled up in front of a store occupied by a well known oat speculator. She gracefully alighted from the vehicle and inquired the price of flour. The proprietor was standing in front of the store in conversation with a number of friends. He pointed to a barrel of flour on the platform and said: "Miss —, if you put that barrel of flour in your wagon you can have it for nothing." It is known that the gentleman who made this reply is not given to charity or liberal with his fair share of the world's goods and his astonishment and his disgust may be more easily imagined than described when the fair maid of Rose Valley gripped the barrel and landed it clean over the front wheel into the body of the wagon, took her seat upon it, and thanking the merchant for his kindness, drove off amid the cheers of those who witnessed the act.

MR. GLADSTONE'S voice does not seem to have improved so much during his yachting trip to Norway as his friends hoped it would. He could not reply to a deputation which called on him the other day at Wick, Gairbairn shire, and Mrs. Gladstone said his health would not permit him to go ashore. He reached Aberdeen and visited his brother, Sir Thomas Gladstone, of Fasque.

THEIR ONLY POLICY.

In the absence of a policy the Reform papers have to betake themselves to slander and falsification. Some of the less scrupulous among them are endeavoring to break the force of the defeat sustained by their party in East Durham by repeating the exploded falsehood that the Dominion Government passed over the Registrar and the Sheriff in order to appoint the father of the Conservative candidate to the position of Returning Officer. Either they continue to utter this falsehood without the slightest effort to ascertain the truth, or they publish it maliciously, knowing it to be untrue, but caring nothing for that, so long as they can strike an unfair blow at a political opponent.

The truth is that the Dominion authorities did not pass over the Registrar, but named that official as Returning Officer in East Durham, as they had previously done in Peterborough and many other constituencies. Mr. Ward, the Returning Officer appointed, was the Registrar, and if any other man had been named, the Reform journals would have howled at the Government for passing over this official.

Then again the statement that the Government appointed the father of the Conservative candidate as Returning Officer, was a malicious slander. When the Registrar was appointed Returning Officer by virtue of his position he was not a candidate. The Conservatives had not then chosen their standard bearer, nor was it at all a matter of course who they would select. East Durham has a number of men who would be well fitted to represent it in the House of Commons, and in so wide a field it would have been impossible to anticipate where the choice would fall.

TERRACE VALLEY CANAL.

Progress of the Works at Fenelon Falls.

—Lenses Completed Ready for the Gates.
On Thursday forenoon the last stone used in the construction of the locks in this village was put in place in what is called the breast wall of the lower lock; and after it was laid the masons gathered up their tools and prepared to leave next morning for Perth, where they are to be employed on the Tay Canal, for which Messrs. Manning & Macdonald have the contract. The lock gates are yet to be put in, but that is to be done by the Government, and we can obtain no information as to when work on them is to be commenced. At the west end of the canal the water is kept out by a wall of rock nearly six feet high and containing about six hundred cubic feet; but ten or a dozen men are at work blasting it out, and at one spot they are within twenty-five feet of the river. Mr. Macdonald would double the force, but there is no forecasting at what moment a leak sufficient to put a temporary stop to the proceedings may be sprung, and even now the beams that draw away the stuff are over their fulcrums, and in some places nearly up to their knees in water. About twenty feet from the longest span in the railway bridge, on the west side, a crib 12 feet square has been sunk, and a similar crib which is partly constructed is to be sunk the same distance on the other side. These are to support the ends of the swing when it is built, and the contractors were to have erected a huge stone pier between the cribs for the swing to turn on; but they have been relieved of that part of their contract in consequence of a difficulty that has arisen between the Government and Mr. H. O. Smith about lowering the water. Finishing the entrance to the canal will be a ticklish work, as the water will rush in as soon as it can, and the object is to keep it out as long as possible; and it is therefore probable that a dam will have to be built and the dredge employed. On the south side of the upper lock there are fourteen stacks of pine timber, thirty-six feet long, one foot square and planed nearly as smooth as glass on two sides. These are to form two tiers of stop logs a few inches apart, and with an upright stick between them, just above the locks, and grooves for their reception have been cut in the masonry. They are to be used to keep out the water while the gates and the machinery that works them are put in, and at other times when circumstances may render it necessary. The temporary bridge across the locks is likely to be left for the present, although the masons are moving to have a wider one with a footpath substituted for it, as there is no probability of the permanent swing bridge being built this year. The locks now completed, with the exception of the gates, are splendid specimens of mason work, and will compare favorably with any of the same size in the Dominion. How long a time will elapse before the chain of public works in which they form a link will be finished we cannot undertake to predict. —Fenelon Falls Gazette.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

A SIMILE.
The free traders are preparing to smash the tariff again. The performance will resemble the effort of an over-ripe tomato to smash a stone fence. —Philadelphia Press.

NOT SO CONFIDENT.
It is not much to the credit of Liberal statesmen that some of the foremost of them refused to serve on the proposed Commission on the Depression of Trade. There is a suspicion that these gentlemen are either not so convinced of the blessings of free Trade as they would have us believe, or else that they dread the laying bare of the five years' rule of Mr. Gladstone. —Dublin Evening Mail.

A LARGE SUBJECT.
The Regina Leader sends us a marked article upon "the Globe's ignorance of the North-west." The subject is too extensive. We commend it to the attention of some one who has time to write a book. —Toronto World (Ind. Ref.).

THE COBIDENTES SCARED.
And why do they adopt this remarkable and repressive policy? They fear that the inquiry may tend to shake popular faith in the free trade shibboleth. They are so strongly impressed with the soundness of free trade that they will not permit it to be put upon its trial. It does not occur to their minds that if free trade is the unmitigated blessing they declare it will emerge from the ordeal strengthened. If it is sound and good and defensible it has nothing to fear; on the contrary, it will come forth purified and consolidated. But with all their pretended confidence in the Cobdentic theory they hesitate to put it on its trial. They are conscious that it may be damaged by impartial scrutiny, and therefore they prefer not to have it scrutinized at all. This is sheer cowardice. —Liverpool Courier.

WANTED A POLICY.
"Lost or stolen—the policy of the Liberal party. It was last seen in the possession of the Hon. Mr. Mackenzie, who states that he handed it to Hon. Mr. Blake when he was called to the office of Liberal leader. Mr. Blake avers that he left it at the Globe office, but, after the most thorough search in that establishment, it cannot be found. It is among the current rumors that Archbishop Lynch got hold of it and that after a conference with the Hon. Messrs. Fraser and Anglin it was suppressed and some pretty stories by Justin McCarthy and other novelists substituted in its place. In consequence of this the Liberal party is without a policy and must go the polls in a state of extreme destitution. A suitable reward will be paid to anyone who will restore the policy or state its chief topics (in confidence) to the secretary of the Young Liberals' convention. —Toronto Telegram (Indip.).

THE RIEL AFFAIR CASE.

The Prisoner's Counsel Speaks in His Behalf—The Question of Sanity Raised.

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 4.—The Riel appeal case was resumed this morning. The prisoner did not file an appearance as expected, the Crown declining to bring him to Winnipeg.

Mr. Fitzpatrick, for the prisoner, said as the papers asked for had arrived from Regina they would proceed with the argument. Mr. Lemieux, chief counsel for Riel, raised the old issue as to the informality of the trial before the Stipendiary Magistrate at Regina, and contended that the magistrate was incompetent to try the case. He laid great stress on the insanity plea.

Mr. Fitzpatrick followed, and referred to the statute of 1880, contending that if the inferior court had jurisdiction then the Superior Court could not confirm the conviction; they could simply declare that under the statute they had no power to act. He held that the treason-felony act was one of Imperial jurisdiction, and he questioned if it had delegated any power to the colonial authorities to legislate away any rights enjoyed by the subjects of the British empire. He dwelt strongly upon the insanity question, and said the jury were convinced of his insanity, hence their recommendation to mercy.

Mr. Ewart followed on behalf of the prisoner, and took exception to the manner in which the evidence was taken at the trial, and contended that the presiding judge should have taken notes. He also strongly questioned the jurisdiction of the court at Regina, and cited several authorities in support of his argument. Mr. Robinson, on behalf of the Crown, in an able address, strongly combated the idea that the Court at Regina was not legally constituted, and cited cases in support of his contention. He dwelt at length on the constitutionality of the Court, and cited a number of authorities adverse to the insanity plea.

Messrs. Oiler and Aiken followed on the same side, supplementing the argument of the previous speaker as to the constitutionality of the Court, and cited a number of authorities adverse to the insanity plea. Mr. Fitzpatrick having expressed a desire to reply to the Crown Counsel, the Court adjourned until to-morrow to admit of his doing so, when the case will conclude.

The "Panel Game."

There is nothing new under the sun. This remark is no exception to the rule. The Grit managers, who so cleverly manipulated the ballot box in the Jacques Cartier election by dropping it through a trap door or "panel" cut in the floor under a press or cupboard in which the box was temporarily located, were using a large measure of credit for the brilliant feat under the impression that it was a new and original invention, but it turns out to be not only in the application of it to a new purpose. The "panel game" is an old one in New York and other large cities. Attention has been directed to it recently in a very emphatic way. A man from Texas was negotiating with a counterfeiter named Davis for the purchase of $10,000 worth of "flimsy." In the language of old Moss it must have been "most powerful flimsy," for in fact it was genuine. On the completion of the deal Davis put the packages containing the bills into the Texan's valise and placed the valise on a counter alongside a partition, in which was a secret "panel" opening into an adjoining room in which his brother and confederate were sitting. He then endeavored to secure the attention of the Texan man while the confederate opened the panel, took in the valise, exchanged the contents for similar bundles containing brown paper, and replaced the valise. The Texan was, however, too sharp, and his eagle eye detected the trick and drawing a revolver he demanded his money. Davis refused, whereupon the revolver was promptly discharged, killing him almost instantly. Two more shots were fired through the partition with the hope of reaching the confederate, but he had escaped with the money. While the shooter will have to stand his trial for murder, it is doubtful if any jury can be found to convict him. "Serve him right" will be as likely as not the verdict of the public. When men indulge in little tricks of this kind they must take the chances and consequences of detection. The Grit managers in the interest of Mr. Lafontaine did their business much better. —Kingston News.

An Important Arrest.
The arrest of a suspicious character upon his general appearance, movements or companionship, without waiting until he has robbed a traveler, fired a house, or murdered a fellow man, is an important function of a shrewd detective. Even more important is the arrest of a disease which, if not checked, will blight and destroy a human life. The frequent cough, loss of appetite, general languor or debility, pallid skin, and bodily aches and pains, announce the approach of pulmonary consumption, which is promptly arrested and permanently cured by Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery." The Separate Schools.

The Separate Schools of Peterborough opened just one week ago yesterday with a large attendance, but during the past week the attendance has been even further increased. The attendance at the Murray street school at the reopening day was one hundred and sixty-one, but on Monday it had reached one hundred and seventy-five. Every department is now fully organized and the work is progressing very favorably. Indeed, the schools were never in a more prosperous and healthy condition in every way. This satisfactory state of affairs is owing largely to the systematic management of the Principal, Mr. J. D. McIlmoye.

Another Organ Recital.

Mr. J. B. Parker, organist of St. Paul's Church, is preparing for a "Handel" organ recital, to be given on October 2nd, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Church. The coming one promises to be even more successful than the one recently held. Negotiations are now in progress for bringing several vocal celebrities. It is probable that Miss Maggie Barr, Hamilton, soprano, Miss Swan, Woodstock, soprano, and Mr. T. McClellan, Woodstock, basso, will perform. In addition to these Mr. Parker will be present and will play several ancient solos recently brought out and modernized. No doubt the quaint old melodies will be pleasing and will be appreciated.

McNeil keeps the largest and best assortment of Gents' Furnishings in Peterborough. Call and examine his stock before making your purchase.

Sabbath School Association.

A representative meeting of the Sabbath school teachers of the town was held last evening in St. Paul's school room. The Rev. John McEwan was present and addressed the teachers on the object of the meeting—the formation of a Sabbath School Association in Peterborough. His workings were fully explained by a draft constitution, which Mr. McEwan had prepared for a similar association, after reading of which the work of formation was entered into. Mr. J. W. Flavelle was elected President and Mr. D. B. Gardner Secretary. An adjourned meeting is to be held in St. Paul's lecture room on the 29th inst. at 8 p. m., for the completion of organization. All Sunday school workers of the town and Ashburnham are requested to be present at that meeting.

Substantial Renovation.

During the past summer Mr. J. Carlisle has greatly improved the appearance of the west part of the town in the space between the extremities of Hunter and Brock streets. Last season he erected a neat, cozy, two story white brick dwelling on Donagel street, between Hunter and Brock streets, and this season he has built a red brick house of a considerably larger size next to it. On the corner of Donagel and Brock streets he has erected another white brick house—a two story one with bay windows. It is a very conveniently constructed building. The dining room and drawing room are separated by handsomely designed folding doors; the halls both up and down stairs are roomy and airy; a pretty balcony leads from the upper story. The culinary department is conveniently arranged. Next door to this house on Brock street Mr. Carlisle has built another house from the same plan, the only difference being that it is built of red brick. Mr. Carlisle is now engaged in building several houses in the north part of the town. These he will rent, he says, very cheap, his plan being to bring down house rent in Peterborough.

Barnum's Circus.

The steamer Golden Eye will run an excursion to this circus at Cobourg on Wednesday, the 9th Sept. Will leave Peterborough at 7 a. m., returning, will leave Cobourg at 5 p. m. Return tickets to Cobourg, 80 cents.

A fine range of West of England Pasting, good, just opened out at Andrew McNeil's, George street.

Barnum's Big Show.

It seems that the interest in circuses has not died out among the public, for to-day trains on the Grand Trunk Railway took hundreds of people into Belleville to see Barnum's big show. Very few went from Peterborough but from all along the line from Campbellford, southward, and from the villages on the North Hastings Junction, large numbers went to see the show.

Personal.

Mr. G. M. Roger has returned from the back lakes where he has been spending a pleasant three weeks.

Mr. W. H. Rackham left town to-day for a week's camping in the vicinity of Stony Lake. Mr. J. E. Hammond left yesterday for the same destination and for the same purpose.

Mr. H. Carver, of North Monaghan, left town this morning for San Francisco.

The Annual Exhibition.

The annual horticultural exhibitions under the auspices of the local society opened this afternoon in the Parlor Roller Rink, Water street. The exhibition, as far as entries are concerned, is the most successful ever held by the Society. Notwithstanding the rain the exhibition was fairly well attended this afternoon. The products are very neatly and tastefully arranged, and the exhibition is one which is well worth seeing.

From the Northwest.

Mr. Richard Cook has just received from his son, Mr. R. S. Cook, a magnificent pair of Wapiti antlers. They measure nine feet from point to point, and are magnificent antlers, having no less than fourteen points. Mr. Cook received from his son at the same time a pair of antelope heads, and an interesting collection of fowls. We regret to learn that Mr. R. S. Cook is still suffering from the wound he received at Batoche, the injured limb not having yet recovered its strength. He is now in Winnipeg.

Unsafe Bridges.

The attention of the Street and Bridge Inspector is called to the unsafe condition of the three bridges on Mill street, which span the flume from the raceway to the different mills. All three of the bridges are in a very unsatisfactory state. The planks are worn and rotten and several holes are covered over with loose boards. If the matter is not attended to at once it is just likely that before long the town will have to pay out in damages ten times as much as it will cost at present to put the bridges in a safe condition.

For S. S. "Titanic" from Glasgow.

Fair, Van Every & Co's importations this season are well worthy of your inspection, every department being filled with choice new goods. The Staple Department comprises a large range of Wolles, Flannels, Blankets, Cottons, White and Grey; Plain and Twilled; Cottonades, Ducks, Denims, Shirtings, Sheetings, Towels, Table Linens, &c. The Carpet Department, a full range of choice patterns in Union, All-Wool, Tapestry, Brussels, Oil Cloths, Matts, Cratons, Lambrequins, &c. The Mantle and Dress Making Department affords an elegant assortment of Dress Goods, and Mantling, in every material and shade. All orders executed on shortest notice, in most modern styles. The Millinery Department will be very attractive, showing all the Grand Novelties of French, English and American Markets. The Tailoring Department, a full line of Scotch and Canadian Tweeds, Overcoatings, Fine Wools, Furishings, &c. A first-class cutter, and a good fit guaranteed.

The Stone Foundry.

The Powell & Jones Stone Foundry has been built in a surprisingly short space of time. It is just a few days over three weeks since the first brick was laid, and to-day the main building is completed and roofed and the large moulding shop is nearly finished. Mr. J. J. Hartley, the contractor, has pushed this job along with more than his usual celerity, and considering that he is also engaged in building the large addition to the lock works, which is, by the way, almost completed, he may be credited with having accomplished a feat in building. The machinery is now being put in the foundry. The engine and boiler rooms are being fitted up, and quite a lot of the gearing in the main building is already in position. The plant is all on the ground ready to be put up and set in operation. The works will probably open in the course of a few weeks.

New Scotch and Canadian Tweeds for fall wear, just arrived at Habliment Hall. If you are in want of a Stylish Fall Suit or Overcoat, give McNeil a call.

Business Notes.

On Saturday last Mr. J. J. Sheehy opened out a fresh, new stock of dry goods in his new store, recently occupied by Messrs. Hugh Ross & Co. During the day numbers of his old friends came to see him, and until a late hour at night he seemed to be driving a thriving trade. The stock is arranged with neatness and order characteristic of the proprietor.

Mr. J. C. Turnbull has opened out his new millinery show room on Simcoe street. The new show room is an extension of his George street store, both being connected by an arch. The lower end of the store, formerly used for the display of millinery, is now shelved and covered with dry goods. The new show room will prove a valuable addition to the premises, for, in addition to affording more room, it also provides another entrance to the establishment.

Mr. Joseph Griffin on Saturday last opened out his fall stock in his new store, Lynch's block, Hunter street. The new premises are commodious, amply lighted, and neatly appointed.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

YACHTING.

THE GENESTA.

The "Genesta" is the name of the English cutter yacht which sails against the American yacht Puritan for the international trophy. Since the American schooner yacht America won the international challenge trophy, given by the Royal Yacht Club, on August 22nd, 1881, the American club have succeeded in holding it against several attempts on the part of English yachts, and one attempt on the part of the Canadian yacht Countess of Dufferin, but no contest has attracted so much attention, perhaps, as that series arranged between the English cutter yacht Genesta and the American schooner Puritan, belonging to the Boston Yacht Club. The contest will consist of a series of three races, over a triangular course in New York Bay, on Monday, Wednesday and Friday of this week. The winner of two of the series will be entitled to the cup. The Genesta was designed by Mr. Beator Webb, who is in charge of her in New York waters, and is owned by Sir Richard Francis Sutton, baronet. She is a cutter 81 feet long, 15 feet beam, and drawing 13 feet 6 inches of water. When she was on the dry dock the other day, yachtmen noted with surprise her rotund build. A well known advocate of the "skimming dish" type of yacht remarked: "Why, she is as round as a cake." A midship section of cutters most familiar to Americans has been not inaptly said to look like a V; this comparison is not applicable to the Genesta. Everybody who saw her out of water said she was a beautiful and wicked looking boat. They admired her graceful lines, the taper of her hull, and her shapely counter and long overhang. Her copper gleamed as brightly as the bottom of the pans of a New England housewife when the sailors got through polishing it. Two sheets of the metal on the port side, just below the water line, that were dented in Pollen's shipyard, were taken off and replaced by new sheets. She was floated out on Saturday, ready for Monday's contest. The Puritan is a sloop which lies on the surface of rather than down in the water, but she is an greatly modified in the direction of the cutter type of vessel that she does not merit the name of a skimming dish. She is 80 feet in length, her beam is 22 feet 6 inches, while her draught is 8 feet 6 inches.—Montreal Witness.

[The first race of the series was sailed yesterday, but owing to the race not having been sailed within the time limit (7 hours) the judges declared it off. The Puritan, however, had a decided advantage over the Genesta, making twenty miles to her eighteen. The postponed race over the same course takes place to-day.]

BINKLEY.

A THREE HOUR RACE.

An effort is being now made among several local roller skating celebrities to arrange a three hours' race. Already there are three who have expressed their intention of entering into such a contest. Mr. Brown will offer handsome first and second prizes if the arrangements for the race are made.

THE GUN.

A CLUB ORGANIZED.

A largely attended meeting was held last night at the Grand Central for the purpose of forming a gun club. Much interest was manifested and there is no doubt a first class club will be established. The following are the officers elected:

PRESIDENT—John Burnham.
VICE-PRESIDENT—R. Tivy.
SECT.—THOMAS—H. W. Kent.
The admission fee was fixed at $1.00. Those desirous of joining can give their names to the Secretary and they will be balloted for at the next meeting to be held at the Grand Central on Monday evening next at 8 o'clock.

BASEBALL.

SHORT STOPS.

The Peterboroughs go to Lindsay to-morrow to play the long looked forward to match between the two clubs. This game should have been played in Peterborough, as the Peterboroughs have visited Lindsay once already this year, but, as the Lindsay emphatically declined to play here at all unless the Peterboroughs went again to Lindsay, it was decided to go.

The team to represent the Peterboroughs is as follows: O'Neil, Sullivan, McEharril, Campbell, Dayman, Dunn, Cameron, Moore and Rogers.

The Peterboroughs play the Dawson, of Hamilton, in the Riverside Park on Thursday afternoon.

The employees of Porter Bros. and Fitzgerald & Stanger play to-day.

The employees of Baylis's planing mill challenges the winners.

Manitoba Wheat.

A considerable quantity of Manitoba and Northwest wheat is now arriving in town over the Canadian Pacific Railway for the flour mills here. Mr. H. A. Mulhearn has already imported about two thousand four hundred bushels, and other mills are making arrangements for the importation of a considerable quantity. The reason of the importation of this wheat lies in the fact that it produces a much stronger brand of flour and mixed with flour manufactured from Ontario wheat makes an excellent article for bakers and confectioners.

Forestry Congress.

The next annual meeting of the American Forestry Congress will be held in Boston, beginning Sept. 22nd, and the programme of the proceedings gives promise of an unusually interesting conference. There is now a pretty general appreciation of the importance of taking action to protect existing forests and plant new ones, and the considerations actuating the congress must appeal to a common sentiment, since every condition of life is affected much or little by them. Experience has shown that the wholesale clearing of forest clad hills and mountains seriously influences the water supply, decreasing, or making it irregular; and the immediate benefit to agricultural interests derived from properly distributed forest areas has come to be understood by every intelligent farmer. It is obvious, therefore, that the present and policy of converting forests into timber without proper selection and with no provision to replace them must ultimately seriously affect the wealth of the country.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

"GO"

Is a characteristic which a business man must possess nowadays in order to hold his own among his fellow men. He must be up with the times, and, if possible, FORGE AHEAD. The day has long gone by when a merchant can sit down and wait till trade comes to him. Profits on goods are now so small and competition so active, that one must be wide awake to maintain a leading place.

AFGHAN AGAIN.
Reports of a Russian Advance—Activity at Woolwich Arsenal.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—For a fortnight the paper has been printing congratulatory things on the settlement of the Zululor Peace difficulty, and England has been extensively felicitating herself on the implied assurance of peace, but there has been an underlying uneasiness all the time, which the fact that the Woolwich Arsenal has been working day and night has not tended to diminish. The publication yesterday of a detailed story in the Chronicle of Russian aggression and an Afghan route on Afghan territory has revived all the old fears. The source is not specially reliable, but the story is too circumstantial to be merely a base rumor. The action of the Governor of Herat in releasing Russian prisoners sits in suspiciously well with his anti-English intrigues, and the news has created a blaze of excitement in India. Its effect on Herat and on the Afghans can only be guessed at as yet, but there is no doubt that the Ministry here, if the story should be proved true, would take a very serious attitude, and exact reparation and a guarantee for the future.

Ladies who want a Mantle and have not time to leave their order will find an excellent stock of ready-made to choose from at Turnbull's.

THE PROVINCIAL EXHIBITION.
The Rainy Weather Has a Depressing Effect on the Opening.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—The opening of the Provincial Exhibition to the public has taken place under very depressing circumstances. At an early hour this morning it commenced to rain, and the steady downpour never ceased until dusk. The grounds were consequently nearly deserted except by the officers and employees of the Agricultural Association, and those in charge of the cattle and other exhibits. The secretary now finds that the total number of entries for the exhibition is 15,000, of which over nine hundred are in the horse classes.

His excellency the Governor General arrived by special train from Woodstock shortly before five o'clock. He was received by the mayor and prominent citizens, and conducted to the city hall, where the mayor, on behalf of the city council, presented him a cordial welcome, expressing loyalty and attachment to her Majesty, to which the Governor made a suitable reply.

The county council then presented an address, after replying to which the Governor General was driven to the residence of the mayor, whose guest he will be during his stay.

TRIAL OF WHITE REBELS.
Proceeding Against Them, Scott, of Prince Albert.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 8.—Thomas Scott, the alleged white rebel from Prince Albert, was arraigned at Regina this morning on the charge of treason felony. Mr. H. J. Clarke, Q. C., and Mr. Maclean, Prince Albert, defended the prisoner. The indictment charged Scott with incitement to rebellion at various meetings held in March last, and for writing a seditious letter to the half breeds in the vicinity of Batocche.

Mr. Clarke entered a demurrer on the plea that he had not been served with a copy of the charge, and that the prisoner had not had a preliminary examination. The counsel, in a long speech, urged against the jurisdiction of the court, asserting that history had repeated itself. Now, as in 1774, when the obnoxious Quebec Act was passed, men were being hung unjustly, and justice became farcical in view of law events. He cited in support of the plea for the prisoner, the report of Sir George Carter and Hon. Wm. McDougall in 1839.

The demurrer by Mr. Clarke was overruled by the judge, and the trial of Scott was fixed for 10 o'clock tomorrow.

His Honor was next arraigned, when a plea of not guilty was entered. His trial was also fixed for tomorrow.

THE PROTECTION OF FEMALES.

The English law for the protection of females as it now stands naturally falls into three divisions—(1) the protection of minors; (2) the punishment of procurers; and (3) the suppression of brothels.

THE PROTECTION OF MINORS.
Apart from crimes of violence, etc., it is a felony:

1. To take away a guarded heiress under 21 years of age with intent; also any girl who has been made a ward of court; or

2. To fraudulently decoy or entice away any child under 14 years; or

3. To harbor for an immoral purpose any girl under 13 years; or

4. To ruin any girl under 13 years. [By Canadian law a child must be three years younger to obtain this protection.]

And it is a misdemeanor—

5. To take away a guarded girl under 18 with intent [The Lords' committee recommended that this age be made 21, thereby giving protection to the guarded poor up to the same age as the guarded rich, but this amendment did not meet with ministerial favor, and the bill was introduced and passed with the limit of 18 years]; or

6. To take away any girl under 16 years from the care of her guardian; or

7. To harbor for an immoral purpose any girl under 16 years; or

8. To ruin any girl under 16 years. [In Canada this protection is only afforded to girls who are under 12 years of age.] This latter provision has three nullifying qualifications: (a) it is a good defence that the culprit had been under 21, or of a non-honour with guardian under 18, greatly limit the usefulness of the law. It has, however, been strengthened by providing (c) that the evidence of the girl shall always be taken for what it is worth, and (b) that in certain circumstances the Court may appoint a guardian for her. Taken as a whole, it is impossible that these protective enactments can be accepted as final. There is still a strong law for those who are already strong, and a weak law for those who are weak. Protection is still in inverse ratio to helplessness, and punishment in inverse ratio to crime. To merely take away with intent the rich and guarded heiress or ward of course is felony, if she be under twenty-one; to ruin the penniless orphan between twelve and fifteen years old is simple misdemeanor, while beyond sixteen she has to shift for herself.

THE PROSECUTION CLAUSES are somewhat more effective, but even they fall far short of a simple enactment making the crime itself a legal offence and the punishing all who aid or abet in it. They may be summarized as follows:—

1. Any minor under 21 years (not being a girl of known immoral character) to be ruined by another; or

2. Any woman to leave her usual reputable place of abode with intent that she may follow evil courses or become the inmate of a brothel either in the United Kingdom or abroad; or

3. Any woman (not being of known immoral character) by intimidation or fraud, or by means of drugs or drink, to be ruined either by the procurer or by another either in Britain or abroad.

Mr. Bentinck, true to his instincts, unaccountably moved that these provisions should only apply to girls under thirteen. Another amendment of his was, however, carried, to the effect that a procurer should not be convicted on the evidence only of the victim. Halting as these provisions are, they will certainly go a long way toward breaking up the Continental traffic in English girls, and towards punishing the numerous seductions of servants, shop girls and employees generally, by their masters and superiors. The brothel clauses do not call for special notice at this time.

Mothers, if you want Ready-made Suits for your boys, take them to Turnbull's, you will be surprised at the quality and style you will get at low prices.

THE EDGAR FUND.
Mr. Edgar's subscription of $404 of his additional indemnity toward the Grit election fund was intended as a sort of decoy to draw out contributions from the other Reform members of Parliament. But up to date it has only called forth a contribution from one other member—Sir Richard Cartwright. The following are the Reform statesmen who have not yet subscribed:

Allen, B.—N. Grey.
Armstrong, Jas.—S. Middlesex.
Bain, G.—N. Westworth.
Blake, E.—W. Durham.
Cameron, D. M.—W. Middlesex.
Cameron, M. C.—W. Harrow.
Campbell, R.—S. Renfrew.
Casey, S. E.—W. Elgin.
Charlton, J.—N. Norfolk.
Cockburn, A. P.—N. Ontario.
Cook, H. H.—E. Simcoe.
Fairbank, J. H.—E. Lambton.
Fleming, Jas.—Peel.
Glen, F. W.—S. Ontario.
Gunn, A.—Kingston.
Harley, A.—S. Oxford.
Innes, Jas.—S. Wellington.
Jackson, J.—S. Norfolk.
Lamberton, Geo.—S. Grey.
Lister, J. F.—W. Lambton.
Livingstone, Jas.—S. Waterloo.
McCrone, W.—Halton.
McMullen, J.—N. Wellington.
Mills, Mr. D.—Bothwell.
Mulock, W.—N. York.
Petersen, W.—S. Brant.
Platt, J. M.—Prince Edward.
Somerville, Jas.—N. Brant.
Sumerville, Jas.—W. Bruce.
Stratton, L.—S. Westworth.
Netherland, Jas.—N. Oxford.
Trow, Jas.—S. Perth.
W. J. H. M.—S. Bruce.
Wills, J. H.—E. Elgin.

How is it that these gentlemen refuse to dance when Mr. Edgar pipes? Are they honestly opposed to corruption, or have they lost faith in both, with an indistinct hope to be saved by the hero of the Mercer estate.—Mail.

That the old-fashioned word "discrepancy" is coming into vogue again and is used in Macdonald's to describe the relation of an unfortunate cashier with his account. The Massachusetts cashier of the future instead of being known as a defaulter or a thief will probably be a "discrepancy" or "discrepancies."

Ladies, if you want a Jersey Cloth Mantle made to order, and a most fit, leave your order at Turnbull's.

A REVOLUTION EXPECTED.
PARIS, Sept. 8.—The majority of the newspapers in Paris expect that the strongest anti-German feeling provoked throughout Spain by the Caroline affair will result in a revolution in that country, as the people manifest a hostile feeling towards King Alfonso and his Ministry, for their actions respecting the German occupation of Yap. A party is forming in favour of placing a four-year-old prince of the Asturias on the throne of Spain, with Gen. Salamanca as regent. The General is the most popular man in Spain.

UNFAVOURABLY VIEWED.
MADRID, Sept. 8.—Public opinion unanimously deprecates arbitration of the Caroline dispute. The commander of the Spanish man-of-war Volcano, which was expected to arrive at Yap August 28th, was under orders to regain possession of that island. News from Yap is anxiously awaited. Yesterday evening the police dispersed numerous bands of youths, who were parading the streets and deriding Germany. The municipal authorities of Barcelona have adopted resolutions denouncing the action of the German Government.

THE ABDUCTION CASE.
LONDON, Sept. 8.—The examination of Mr. Sheel and the other defendants in the Eliza Armstrong abduction case was resumed this morning. Mrs. Armstrong, mother of Eliza, testified that Mrs. Jarrett obtained her daughter from her on the plea of needing the child to assist in the business of her home. The witness scouted the idea that she knew anything of the character of Mr. Jarrett other than was represented by the prisoner herself, that she was a woman of respectability. Mrs. Armstrong denied in the most emphatic manner that she sold her daughter for immoral purposes. Eliza Armstrong was cross-examined and stated her father, mother, and six children lived in one room. She admitted that with the exception of the indignities of the medical examination referred to in her testimony of yesterday, her abductors had treated her kindly. She frequently contradicted herself, and her evidence conflicted with that of her mother. She confessed she did not go to sleep when the handkerchief saturated with chloroform was applied to her nose during what she called the momentary surprise of a medical examination. Mrs. Armstrong was cross-examined. She was bold and defiant, and vulgarly abused Mrs. Jarrett and Mr. Russell, counsel for the defence. The witness admitted that she had been three times fainted for being drunk, once for using obscene language in the streets, and that she was drunk the night Eliza departed from

THAT $500.

SIR RICHARD CARTWRIGHT has followed the example of Mr. Edgar by devoting the $500 annual allowance, which he thinks he did not earn, to a so-called "Defence Fund," a variation on the old fashioned Reform "Big Push" fund. That is, Sir R. Cartwright, thinking he has no right to the money, appropriates it for his own personal and political advantage, by contributing it to a fund for manipulating the voters' vote in the interests of his party. He does not quite descend to the inconsistency of Mr. Blake, who, believing that he had no right to the money, takes what he does not consider to be justly his own, and then hopes to palliate this impropriety, by using it to influence votes in his favour. He is still further from sinking to the lower depth of Mr. McMullen, who first took the money he owned he had not earned, then promised it to carry favour with the voters, next retained the greater part of it in his pocket and only handed over the lesser portion to the societies to which he had promised it, finally deducting from this dividend the usual amount he annually subscribed. Those Reformers who thought they had not earned their money could only relieve themselves from the responsibility by voting against the extra indemnity, or if they were prevented by illness or other obstacles from opposing the vote, they should like Mr. MacKenzie have returned the money to the public treasury.

GLOBE SLANDERS.

As is its custom at longer or shorter intervals, the Globe has an editorial abusing Sir John Macdonald and the great majority of Canadian electors who support him. Its chief illustration, however, of what it is pleased to call success through "corrupt influence," is a comparison with a great Liberal leader, in its anticipation of modern "Liberal" tactics, avowedly employed corrupt means to secure a majority. What can the leading Reform journal hope to gain by recalling to memory the fact that even in long past days a Reform leader relied upon corruption rather than upon a definite policy suited to the requirements of the country? One utterly unwarrantable assertion in this article is that Sir John has made an improper use of his judicial patronage. Will the Globe condescend to particulars and inform us what supporter has been thus rewarded "for services essentially disgraceful," or what opponent has thus been "seduced"? We would like to have the names. Lawyers belonging to the Reform party say they do not know of such cases, and that the profession acknowledges the propriety of the selections for the Bench made by the Macdonald Administration. We do not expect any reply from the Globe, which does not dare to support its vague slanders by particulars, which would be denounced as fallacious by its own political friends.

THE PROVINCIAL FAIR.

Every Prospect of the Best Show in the Organization's History.
LONDON, Sept. 7.—The 40th Provincial Exhibition opened here to-day. The outlook for a successful fair is eminently encouraging. Already the regular hotel accommodation is pretty well exhausted, but such additional accommodation has been provided as will no doubt prove fairly adequate to the wants of the crowds expected later in the week. The only thing that is thought may in any degree militate against the success of the fair is the fact that many farmers have not yet completed their harvesting. There is little fear, however, but that London will sustain her reputation as the great fair centre of the West. At the grounds exhibitors and officials were busy to-day setting the exhibits into shape. A good display is assured in every department. In live stock the fair will be one of the best ever held in Canada. The city is handsomely decorated in honor of the Governor-General's visit. A number of fine arches span the principal streets, and many flags and streamers are displayed. The weather is all that could be desired, and all the indications point to a thoroughly successful fair.

Medals for Canadians.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—The question of the advisability of granting medals to the Canadian soldiers who were engaged in the work of suppressing the Riel rebellion in the North-West, has been under consideration at the War Office for some time. There was a marked difference of opinion, not as to the bravery of the Canadian volunteers or their deserving a recognition of their services, but whether it is desirable under any circumstances to grant a medal where the strife is a civil one, and where the recollections of a conflict will by this means be perpetuated, which had better be buried. The example of the United States Government was referred to, which issued no medals after the civil war, although numerous cases of almost unparalleled bravery were conspicuous. However, those who favoured granting your citizen soldiers a distinctive mark of approbation prevailed, and the War Office recommended the issue of medals and the Queen has given the recommendation her approval.—Mail.

IN QUEER COMPANY.

Mr. Stead and his Associates Arraigned at Bow Street Police Court.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—Mr. Stead, editor of the Pall Mall Gazette, Mrs. Jarrett, Bramwell Booth, Mrs. Coombe, Mr. Jacques and Madame Maury, defendants in the Eliza Armstrong abduction case, appeared at Bow street police court to-day in answer to charges against them. Mr. Stead conducted his own case, while counsel represented the others. The excitement in the court room and in the vicinity was seldom if ever been equalled. The police were powerless to control the mob who assembled to hear the proceedings. Members of the Salvation Army were arriving all morning in cabs and were hooted and jostled by the crowd on their way into the court room. In the court there was a compact mass of people, including a number of reporters, many members of the Salvation Army and quite a sprinkling of brothel housekeepers. Mrs. Jarrett sat in the prisoner's dock while Mr. Stead and Bramwell Booth had seats in the front of the dock.

Mr. Poland, solicitor for the treasury, opened the case for the crown with a long speech, in which he gave a description of how the girl was obtained from her mother, the outrages to which she had been subjected after she was installed in Madame Maury's establishment, and the ill-treatment she had received from the time she left her mother until she was recovered and taken home.

Mrs. Jarrett during the statement sat with calm demeanor, her eyes closed and her head nodding, closely resembling Charles Dickens' character of "Sallie Brown" in "Old Curiosity Shop." Stead appeared unconcerned, smiling occasionally and at times denying Mr. Poland's allegations.

At the conclusion of the address Mr. Poland demanded the commitment of all the defendants. The child Eliza Armstrong was placed on the witness stand and identified Mrs. Jarrett as the woman who had secured her from her mother on the plea of needing her assistance to do house work. The girl then gave in detail all the circumstances connected with her abduction. She further testified that at the medical examination, immediately after she was decoyed from home, the physician tested her innocence despite her screams, and that she was despatched to France to prevent the police from getting possession of her for her mother. She wrote several letters home, but members of the Salvation Army, who had charge of her, suppressed them. This ended the girl's testimony for the day.

The defendants indicated that they would contest the accuracy of many of the girl's statements. The defendants were all released on bail. Mr. Stead and Mrs. Jarrett were hissed when they left the court room. The mob at the doors of the court house tried to overturn Gen. Booth's carriage, and molested the other members of the Salvation Army. Eliza Armstrong was cheered.

THE RESULT OF FREE TRADE.

A speaker in the Kensington Amateur Parliament recently introduced in his speech the following amusing account, which in our opinion excels for pungency Sydney Smith's famous description of far reaching British taxation. The Kensington man's speech is so plain spoken that he who runs may read:—"Yesterday morning I rose early. My hot water was brought in a Belgian ring and, as my wife and I worked half an hour in my garden with a Belgian fork and an American hoe. I then took off my French boots put on a pair of Algerian slippers, and went into breakfast, which consisted of bread made from Odessa wheat, Normandy butter, Russian chicken (grilled), American bacon, French eggs (poached), Mocha coffee and Swiss milk. Comparing my breakfast with the American one, I found it was time to set forth; so I put some American tobacco into a French pipe, and having lighted it with a Swedish match, I went to the railway station, with its Belgian iron framework, from which a German engine drew me to the city over rails made in Belgium. Here I worked for four hours with an American stylographic pen, and then went to luncheon—American wheat bread, Canadian butter, Australian mutton, Swiss cheese, Vienna beer, and knives were American and the waiter was a Swiss. I consulted myself with a Havana cigar and continued my toil. In the meantime I despatched a box to a friend, closing it down with French nails, and further securing the same with Russian cordage. My friend was advised on Belgian paper. Through stooping I found that I had lost a button, which was promptly replaced by a Dutch one. At seven I prepared for dinner by drinking half a glass of Spanish cherry with Dutch bitters. My dinner was made up of Portugal oysters and Chablis, conchoso soup, which came in a powder from France, and endives from the same country, Norwegian hare, Swedish blackcock, American beef and Belgian potatoes, Italian cheese, and French wine; a trifle of Chartreuse and a Manila cheroot followed, and a cup of East Indian coffee brightened me for my journey home. Arrived there, I entered by opening an American lock, which was on a Swedish door. To please my wife I bought her a box of Dutch confectury and a French straw bonnet, and for my little girl a German toy. Here I found my wife playing German music on a French piano, with a French shade on the lamp. I took out my Italian wine-cellar, and having applied some French resin to my new Krupps bow, played for some time with her. Abruptly breaking off, I told her my adventures during the day in much the same language as above. She grew excited, being a free trader, and assured me that, though men in my line have no experience, the case was different with women. I replied by reminding her that she got her bonnet, silk for her dress, trimmings, ribbons, lace, gloves, boots, and truss of her clothes from France, mantles from Germany, hair from Russia, and her teeth from America. We got to high words; so putting on my French boots and gloves, seizing my Malacca cane and my French felt hat, I left the house, hailed a hansom with a pair of American wheels, and spent the rest of the evening at the French plays. Going home in an American tramcar, I arrived to the clerk of the expedition and left there. I noticed a great blot of ink on my French wall paper. Ere retiring I partook of some Belgian rabbit bread, washing it down with brandy and water seasoned by French refined sugar. Finally I reposed on a bedstead of the same nationality."

Germany Pushing Trade.

The Central Geographical and Export Bank of Berlin, Germany, are fitting out an expedition, the object of which is to found commercial establishments in distant countries. A vessel is to be loaded with a complete collection of patterns and a large quantity of goods, to be a floating exhibition. The enterprise will not be confined to ascertaining in each port the special class of goods for which there is likely to be a good demand, but relations will be formed with German houses already established there, so as to exercise a constant influence on these markets, while in each port where there is no German firm, a representative will be selected from the clerks of the expedition and left there.—Canadian Manufacturer.

"I Don't want Relief But Cure," is the exclamation of thousands suffering from catarrh. To all who say, "Cure can be cured by Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy." Your danger is delay. Enclose a stamp to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

THE YOUNG LIBERALS.

It is well for the party managers to sugar-coat the pill by calling it "liberalism," but the young men will not be long in discovering that it is the same old Gritism, and will resent the attempt to entrap them into swallowing it.—Queen's Journal.

NOT MUCH HOPE.

The Hamilton Times refuses to believe that it was continued faith in the National Policy that influenced the late East Durham election. Well, the Times will admit that the result does not hold out much hope to those who believe with our esteemed contemporary that the people are likely to declare soon in favor of free trade.—Canadian Manufacturer.

A POOR EXCUSE.

Our contemporary the Waterloo Advertiser accounts for the result by saying that East Durham is a Conservative constituency. If the result of the election is to be manifested, if the Government is to be turned out the next election, a good many Conservative copies will have to become Liberal ones. Before 1878 many which were Liberal counties became Conservative. This Advertiser's excuse is a poor one.—Sherbrooke Gazette.

FOUND DEAD IN A CEMETERY.

The Vice-Chancellor of Albany University expires While Botantizing.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 7.—The vice-chancellor of the university, Geo. W. Clinton, was found dead in the rural cemetery soon after four o'clock this afternoon. His body lay in a drive way between the north and middle ridges, about a quarter of a mile from the lodge. Justice Clinton manifested a great interest in the study of botany, and it was his custom to follow his favorite study in the rural cemetery. Death probably resulted from heart disease. An autopsy will be held.

Discovery in St. Martin's Church.

The interesting Church of St. Martin's, Canterbury, which bears the reputation of being one of the oldest, if not the oldest, in England, has lately been the scene of recent discoveries of great interest to archaeologists, the latest made by Canon Routledge being that of a Norman hagioscope or "squinch." The opening is in the northwest wall of the nave at its junction with the tower. It is a Norman insertion in a wall of Roman construction, a wall which is now seen to be similar to those which form at least the lower portions of the nave and chancel. There are regular courses of Roman brick, and the surface of the original wall has been covered with the characteristic salmon-colored mortar. A coating of common plaster two or three inches thick has covered and concealed the ancient walls which have for the most part stood intact since first erected by Roman or British Christians in the third or fourth century. The Romano-British sanctuary was afterward profaned to heathen use or allowed to fall into decay, until it was, as Bede records, repaired and reconsecrated to Christian worship by Queen Bertha. The original fabric has undergone in the long course of time many changes; it was already of venerable age when the Norman builders pierced the walls to insert door or window, squint or piscina, which the still further lapse of ages once more concealed. Yet the ancient walls are there, and St. Martin's remains a memorial of Christian worship in Britain earlier by several centuries than the coming of Augustine.—London (Eng. Land) Times.

Fall Exhibitions.

The dates of the following fall fairs have been announced:—

Industrial Fair, Toronto, Sept. 7th to 19th.
Provincial Exhibition, London, Sept. 7th to 12th.
Lindsay Central Exhibition, Sept. 22nd, 23rd and 24th.
Manvers, at Bethany, Oct. 13th and 14th.
Bathurst, at Bathurst, Oct. 6th and 7th.
Manvers, at Bethany, Oct. 13th and 14th.
East Riding, Peterborough Fall Exhibition, Nov. 1st, 2nd and 3rd.
Ashted, Belmont and Dummer, Nov. 1st, 2nd and 3rd.

The Central Baptist thus happily hits off the fallacy of calculations and prophecies based on nature. "If our numbers should increase in future as in the past, then in eighty-seven years everybody would be a Baptist, but if the decrease in contributions continues, then in ninety one years nobody would give a cent to the cause of Christ." It is about time this denominational sin of "numbering the people" should hide its head.

The Sanctioned Frolic.

On Tuesday forenoon, in the Police Court, Port Hope, Ont., Williams charged Geo. Wilson, sr., editor of the Port Hope Guide, with having presented a pistol at him. After the evidence was taken, the Magistrate ruled that Mr. Wilson drew the revolver in self defence, and he therefore dismissed the case. On Tuesday afternoon the positions of the defendant and complainant were reversed in more ways than one. In the first place it was Mr. Wilson who preferred the charge against Mr. Williams, and in the next place he succeeded in getting a conviction on the charge of assault. The Magistrate ruled that Mr. Williams should have left the Guide office as soon as he was ordered out, and be justified Mr. Wilson in the course he had taken. Mr. Williams was fined $5 and costs.

Testimonial.

Testimonial from the Rev. David Mitchell, pastor of John St. Presbyterian Church, Belleville:—

BELLEVILLE, Nov. 23, 1883.

A visit to Mr. Lawrence satisfied me that he has made successfully a specialty of the study of the eye. His skill enables him to give one the glasses or spectacles that are adapted to the condition of the eye. The result is as in my own case, that I have gained a power and comfort in my study which I have not felt before.

DAVID MITCHELL.

The Architect.

Through inadvertence we omitted to mention in the description given in the REVIEW a short time ago of Mr. Roper's new house that the plans were prepared by Mr. Thomas Hamley, of Belleville. Mr. Hamley is to be complimented on an elegant design, for no one can pass the building without being impressed with its architectural beauty. Messrs. McAndrews and Noble put in the excellent system of hot water heating.

Remote Effects.

Concerning the effects of the dynamite explosion on Friday last, the Belleville Intelligencer says:—

"Residents in the third concession of Sidney think the dynamite explosion near Lakeside last Friday forenoon was felt by them, and there appears to be considerable evidence to sustain this belief. At the Gilbert school house quite a commotion was caused among the pupils by the vibratory sensations that were experienced. The teacher, too, felt the trembling motion of the building and was unprepared to account for the phenomenon. He attributed it to a thunder clap, and so dismissed the matter from his mind. At a farm house further east two women were together in the house distinctly felt the vibrations and wondered what was the cause. They made mutual remarks upon their experience at the time, as there was no indication of a thunder storm. All parties agree in giving the time when the vibrations occurred at about 10.30 a.m. This testimony is somewhat remarkable, as it does not seem possible that the effects of the dynamite explosion could be felt so far from the scene of the occurrence."

The place referred to by the Intelligencer is nearly seventy miles from where the accident occurred. Several of our friends in Apsley and other parts of the county have written to us stating that they felt the shock quite plainly.

Ladies, if you want a Stylish Ottoman Cord Coat, leave your order at Turnbull's.

THE KING OF DUKES.

After Wasting $2,000,000 he goes to the Wall.

New York, Sept. 8.—It has been a matter of talk about the clubs for some time that E. Berry Wall, who was well known among his associates and to the general public as the King of Dukes, has been financially embarrassed, and it was not until within a day or two from a check of his for $25 was allowed to go to protest that the actual state of his affairs was revealed. Wall has been in comparative seclusion for the past month at Saratoga, and his horses have been transferred to the Brookline stable. His gait was only those of a generous hearted man unaccustomed to the care of large sums of money. His grandfather was William Wall, who founded the great carriage works at Williamsburg, now carried on under the name of Wall & Sons. One of the sons died, and the father of E. Berry died, leaving him $5,000,000. This young Wall has dissipated at the rate of $100,000 annually. He was the owner of many horses, some of which were winners. He also prided himself on the possession of 500 pairs of trousers.

Mr. Wall is a man under 35 and, as a consequence, to have spent three millions at the rate of a hundred thousand annually, without income, he must have commenced when he was 5 years old.—World.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

YACHTING.

THE RACE SPOILED.

New York, Sept. 8.—The same bad luck attended the race to-day that did yesterday. There was very little wind, and a collision occurred between the yachts to add to the discomfort of the whole affair. At 10.30 a.m., the yachts were under sail, heading to the Hook from their anchorage, the wind being light and the weather hazy. At 10.30, the Genesta had passed Sandy Hook beach, the Puritan being 500 yards astern, heading for Scotland Light Ship. The wind was increasing and the excitement great, the betting being brisk. Large odds were offered for the Puritan. At 1.30 the signal was given to prepare, and the yachts manoeuvred their places to cross the line.

In luffing up the Genesta flew round in quick answer to her helm, and the Puritan at the moment happened to pay off, the Genesta rammed her bowsprit into the Puritan's main-sail. It was unavoidable, and crash went the bowsprit as it tore through the taut canvas of the Puritan. The Genesta's bowsprit then fell into the water under the how tangled in the bowsprit and running gear, the sails flapping, while the Puritan swung around with a bad hole in her main-sail.

Intense excitement and displeasure were shown on both sides. The Genesta's crew picked up the bowsprit and both yachts were soon surrounded by steamers. The Genesta was taken in tow and the Puritan came in stays and stood into the Hook, the race being declared off for the day. The accident occurred a quarter of a mile from Scotland Lightship.

The Puritan tried to cross the Genesta's bow and is to blame.

Mr. R. J. Cortis says the Genesta has not the shadow of a chance, and it is astonishing that she consents to race in September in a haze. She wants a rough sea and wind. The Genesta's keel is too heavy for light weather.

It is generally conceded that the Puritan was entirely at fault for the collision with the Genesta. The judges took that view. The committee ruled the Puritan out, and told Sir Richard Sutton he might sail over the course if he wished. The latter promptly declined to accept the offer. No one was injured. Both boats were towed to Staten Island, and will probably race on Friday.

BASE BALL.

THE LINDSAY PETERBOROUGH MATCH.

Although the weather looked threatening this morning the Peterboroughs decided to keep their engagement with the Lindseys and accordingly the nine and a few lovers of the game left at 10.25 a.m. by way of the "link" for Lindsay. At three o'clock this afternoon we received a telephone message stating that since the arrival of the nine in Lindsay it had rained constantly, and that the ball players had not then gone to the grounds. It is improbable that the match will be played to-day, but by the agreement made, the Lindseys are bound to come here next week, when the match for the supremacy will take place.

SHORT STOPS.

The employees of Messrs. Porter and Fitzgerald and Stanger did not play on Tuesday afternoon, owing to the wet weather.

LACROSSE.

THE CHAMPIONSHIP.

The twelve of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club had intended to play at Beaverton with the Checkers to-morrow for the championship of the Midland district. This morning, however, a telegram was sent from here asking as to the condition of the grounds. In reply it was stated that they were in a wholly unfit condition. Mr. Leifson wired the Checkers for another date, and to his message received the following rather surprising despatch:—

BEAVERTON, Sept. 9, 1885.

Boys away all next week! Impossible to play then. What will you do? Answer so that I can wire Haultayne.

M. C. CAMERON.

The excuse offered is a rather lame one; and one which would not be taken by any club. The Peterboroughs have waited long enough to have another chance for playing for the championship. The annoying dispute between the Orillias and the Checkers, and the length of time it took to settle it, has almost spoiled the whole season. Then the Checkers asked for a postponement for two weeks. The proposition is absurd!

The following telegram was forwarded at two o'clock this afternoon:—

PETERBOROUGH, Sept. 9th, 1885.

To Mr. C. Cameron, Secy C. L. C., Beaverton: If you cannot play Tuesday 15th, must play Friday 18th.

Irish Agrarian Outrages.

DUBLIN, Sept. 8.—Mr. Parnell is wild over the recent frequent occurrence of agrarian outrages and the wide-spread publicity that has been given to them. The cause of his anger is two-fold. He is chagrined at the inability of his lieutenants to prevent disturbances at this time, when he has good reasons for wanting Ireland represented as tranquil; and he is indignant at the avidity with which each petty quarrel or ruction is seized upon and telegraphed far and wide for effect upon the general elections. The Parnellites insist that the outrages now reported every day in the English papers are either invented altogether, or are so distorted as to wholly misrepresent the facts. They suggest as a remedy that every one of the local reporters who is found guilty of writing partial or exaggerated accounts of these occurrences shall be boycotted.

Mr. WALLACE, Druggist, of Hastings, Ontario, says:—I recommend Dr. Casson's Stomach Bitters far ahead of all other stomach medicines. It is just the right thing for Biliousness, Sour Stomach, Headache, and Dyspepsia. Large Bottles 50 cents.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain and cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind, colic, soothes the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

MAYOR COX ON EXEMPTIONS.

MAYOR COX favours the public with a long letter on the exemption question, which on account of the importance of the subject we produce.

We will say nothing further at present as to his remarks on under assessment than to observe that it is generally admitted that our assessments are faulty. Mr. Cox himself confessing in public to be assessed for only half the value of some of his property.

But the second part of his letter requires immediate consideration. Mr. Cox speaks of those who cannot quite agree with him as "defeating" a "plan for the further development of our manufacturing interests." This is an unfair charge. Mr. Cox and his friends themselves voted for a motion to repeal the by-law, which was admitted on all sides to be objectionable. What the new by-law to replace it should be, is a matter that can be easily arranged, if reasonable concessions are made by those who all agree to promote our industries, though they may differ as to the mode.

Mr. Cox further says:—"Nor is it difficult to see that an establishment of this kind would seek a Dominion, not a local, market, and would, in reality, be no competition to our present citizens, even though engaged in the same line of business."

If this is the case, Mr. Cox and his associates need only carry out this idea by assisting to the prohibition of local competition by those receiving aid, and he would quite disarm opposition. All our townsmen, with very few exceptions, are in favour of promoting the extension of our manufacturing industries, but there is a strong opposition to granting aid to additional factories to compete with those already in operation and paying taxes.

Non-competing industries would be welcomed by all, and if this does not satisfy Mr. Cox, he should put his dissatisfaction on the true ground, and not misrepresent the position of those who cannot exactly agree with his views, though equally anxious for the development of Peterborough's manufacturing interests.

VOLUNTEERS LAND GRANTS.

We have received from the author a very useful little pamphlet entitled "Volunteers' Land Grants, Scrip and Pensions," with suggestions how a grantee may realize to best advantage, by Capt. C. W. Allen, late of the Department of the Interior, author of "The Land Prospector's Manual and Field Book," &c. It is published by the Toronto News Co., and should be in the hands of all who are interested in these grants.

Capt. Allen renders the volunteers who served in the Northwest campaign the service of explaining fully and clearly to them the rights which they enjoy under the Parliamentary grant of land in their favor, and the best means of realizing the full value of the privilege they have so well earned. His hints will prevent many volunteers from sacrificing their rights to speculators for an inadequate sum.

The members of the Northwest forces are entitled to a double homestead, and may transfer their rights to a substitute. As this selection need not be made till the end of July, 1886, it is obvious that no claimant should be in a hurry to accept the alternative of scrip for $80, good as payment for Dominion lands, and then dispose of it at a discount.

But besides supplying in a convenient shape this information to the members of the Northwest force, Capt. Allen is also rendering a public service by showing how liberally the country has treated those who fought for it on this occasion.

Not only does the volunteer get a homestead double in extent of that usually allowed, but he has the further privilege of transferring his right to any substitute, which is not afforded to the ordinary homesteader. When he can then obtain for himself or his nominee a free homestead of 320 acres, it is obvious that few volunteers should be driven to the third alternative of accepting scrip for $80 in land. Yet those who wish strange wars of patriotism are continually decrying their country and all that it does, are pretending that the grant is only a nominal $80, and that even this, which should be worth nearly $80, is only to be valued at a large deduction from its face value.

Canada has treated her sons, who fought so valiantly for her, in a far more liberal spirit than is alleged by these detractors, and none of those who served in the Northwest should be induced by these falsifications into sacrificing his valuable rights for an inadequate pittance.

Warning Mr. Blake.

There are many mean men in the world, but the chief of them all is the man who will stop the local paper to spite the editor, and then sneak around and read a neighbor's copy every week. —Shakespeare Herald

THE EXEMPTION QUESTION.

Mayor Cox makes Mr. Lech an offer. The following letter from Mayor Cox we find in the Examiner:—

I notice by Mr. Lech's communication in your issue of last evening that he takes exception to my statements with regard to his assessment.

In the first place, I may explain that it was only his statement that the Dickson estate was assessed below its value, that led me to refer to his assessment, in order to show that the same remarks would apply with even greater force to himself and to many others who are opposed to the by-law.

Mr. Lech's residence and his two dwelling houses on Rutledge street are assessed for $9,700, his two fine stores on George street for $9,000, his stock in trade and personal property for $1,500, making a total of $20,200. Now, if Mr. Lech will make me a written offer of what his assessment is supposed to cover, at an advance of $10,000 on these figures, I will either find a cash purchaser for him within 24 hours, or failing that, will withdraw and apologize for the statements that I made. If he is unwilling to do that, I will only ask him to explain that there are certain cases in which he is not altogether opposed to partial exemptions, because this $10,000 which he is under assessed for is more than the value of the buildings occupied by Brodie's Woolen Mills, employing seventy-four persons.

It is only fair to Mr. Lech to say that his assessment is higher in proportion than that of a good many others who appear to be very much troubled for fear additional buildings may be erected on the Dickson property and escape taxation for ten years.

I may instance Mr. McClelland, who is another prominent opponent of exemptions, and who would no doubt be horrified at the idea of erecting another building similar to Brodie's mill on the same property, and allowing it to be occupied as a manufacturing jewelry establishment, free of taxation for ten years.

Yet I would venture to say that I would erect such building for the difference between the actual and the assessed value of the property owned and occupied by Mr. McClelland. I find that the dwelling house occupied by himself, Mr. Riddell and Mr. Sim are assessed together at $6,000—three quarters of an acre of ground, with three brick dwellings, worth at least $19,000. The assessment of his stock is $1,000 and I leave him to say how much that is below its real value. His store is at $2,200 and with the half of Mr. Moore's office up stairs, making $2,700, a good deal less than the value of the land upon which it stands, thus clearly showing an under assessment of at least $10,000 in his case also. Does Mr. McClelland think this is fair to Mr. Munro, Mr. Sanderson, Mr. Clarke, and other jewelers?

I hope the gentlemen may be able to show by the expiration of ten years the valuable service they have rendered, and the large saving they have effected for the town by their foresight, but I am very much afraid that they will not be able to show either the improvements or the revenue that have been derived from them. I shall, however, be glad to know that I am mistaken as to that, and in the meantime I shall, in common with a great many more ratepayers, be glad to have these same gentlemen propose some other and better plan for the further development of our manufacturing interests than the one that they have succeeded in defeating, and I hope they will not make too much delay in submitting their plans, because our magnificent water privilege, capable of driving the necessary machinery to employ thousands of artisans, in addition to those already employed on it, is in the meantime being utilized for floating the lumber product of our own country past our own railway sidings, to DUNDAS, there to be manufactured into doors, frames, sash, blinds, mouldings, etc., employing 180 skilled mechanics, and sent, not only to all parts of the Dominion, but also to shiploads to the markets of the old world, while some of our citizens, councillors and members of Parliament are devoting their best energies to the proper wording of the Dickson by-law so as to prevent the injustice to Mr. Baple of any such establishment being located here. I do not wish to do Mr. Baple or any other citizen any injustice, but surely it is not difficult to see that the increased rental from his dwelling, and the increased value to his property, from the location of such establishments, would far more than represent the taxes he is paying, nor is it difficult to see that an establishment of this kind would seek a Dominion not a local market, and would, in reality, be no competition to our present citizens, even though engaged in the same line of business. I remain, sir,

Yours truly,
Geo. A. Cox.

DUGAS VS SHEPPARD.

Criminal Libel Suit Against the Toronto News Proprietor.

MONTREAL, Sept. 8.—The defendant in the libel case of Major Dugas, of the Sixth-Fifth Regiment, vs. Sheppard, of the Toronto News, appeared in the Assize Court to-day and pleaded not guilty.

Mr. Macmaster, Q. C., then formally applied for a change of venue. The learned counsel based his application for a change to the district of Bedford on the eleventh section of the Criminal Procedure Act, which left it entirely to the discretion of the judge. The essence of the application must be that a fair trial could not be expected in the jurisdiction in which it was sought to change. The defendant was charged with publishing a libel on the officers and men of the 6th Battalion, whose headquarters were in Montreal. Whatever prejudice or feeling there might be in Bedford naturally is in favor of the regiment. The fact that Major Dugas, the private prosecutor, was a Police Magistrate, and closely identified with this court, would also seem to create an impression in his favor. Col. Oumes, too, the commander of the 65th, was Crown prosecutor of the court, and although he would not appear in this case, the very fact of his position might create an impression against the defendant, who, being with friends in this city, would be placed at a great disadvantage.

But there were other grave reasons. It was an elementary principle of British law that the accused should go to his trial without the public mind being prejudiced against him. Mr. Macmaster, in order to show that this could not be expected in this case, proceeded to quote articles from La Patrie of the 22nd May and 5th September, and Le Monde of the 3rd of June and 5th of September, which contained very strong expressions against the defendant, and which Mr. Macmaster claimed were deeply calculated to create such a prejudice against him that would prevent him from getting a fair trial before a tribunal in this city. The defence asked for a change of venue to the district of Bedford, not because they would be removed from the influence of which he had spoken, and because the papers containing the prejudicial articles would have been less read in the district of Bedford than in any other.

Mr. Davidson, Q. C., Crown prosecutor, resisted the application, but it was taken by Judge Baby in deliberation. —Mont.

A GHOSTLY VISITOR.

Seen Frequently on the Railroad Track. —Mr. Burr Goes After It.

A Morristown, N. J., despatch says:—What some say is a ghost is causing great excitement in this village. It has appeared at intervals along the railroad just above East Morristown. A short time ago, as the fast train came dashing along, the fireman noticed something white just ahead of the train. It was thought that the train had run over a man. It was stopped, but no man could be found. The fireman insisted that the white object he had seen on the track was a man in his shirt sleeves.

A Mrs. Cassidy and her sister met the same white object a few nights later. Since then it has been seen many times. Aaron Burr, the town constable, armed himself with a pistol and went after the ghost one dark night. He saw something, and fired at it. He says what appeared to be a tall black figure was suddenly transformed into what looked like a white dog, which vanished in the darkness.

Tom Cassidy, Louis Certain, Tom Morang, and Wm. Budd concluded to ferret out the mystery. On Friday night, after coming from their work on the railroad, they visited the haunted spot. Tom Cassidy described the meeting with the ghost thus:

"We were walking along the road, not thinking of the ghost just then, when a tall, thin form, too large to be a man, stood in front of us. It wore something on its legs that looked like boots, and its arms were outstretched to the houghs of trees when the wind blows through them, and there was a similar noise. Louis Certain yelled: 'It's that ghost!' Then Bill Budd drew his revolver, and he ran forward. He could not see the figure, but he saw it, and when he thought he was gaining on it, the figure suddenly disappeared in the weeds. The strangest part of the affair was that the ghost ran along the sandy road, and when we afterwards examined the road not a track or trace of a foot print could be found."

Large crowds have gathered to see it, but it generally appears when only three or four are present. Some of the citizens say that just two years ago a similar apparition, clothed in white, was seen at the same place. It manifested itself to a great many in the community, and some think it but a reappearance of the ghost clothed in black.

A VILLAGE SWEEP AWAY.

Terrible Cyclone in an Ohio Village. —Probably Thirty People Killed.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Sept. 9.—A terrible cyclone struck Washington, C. H., a village of 400 inhabitants, 25 miles west of here, at 8 o'clock last evening, almost literally sweeping it from the earth. The tornado whirled up C street, the main business thoroughfare, and ruined almost every business block on it, at least 40 or 50 in all. Hardly a private residence in the town escaped, fully 400 buildings going down. So far 15 bodies have been recovered from the debris of the various ruined buildings. Probably as many more will be found.

The King and His Cabinet.

MADRID, Sept. 8.—The authorized report published that at the Cabinet Council Senor Canovas del Castillo told King Alfonso that unless he trusted the Ministry he would summon Senor Sagasta, whose enegery would probably bring about a rupture with Germany and increase the popularity of King Alfonso. At the same time he deprecated such a course until diplomacy had been exhausted. The King, without hesitation, decided he had confidence in Senor Canovas' Cabinet, and it would be maintained in preference to popularity with the people at the expense of bloodshed. His Majesty was convinced Emperor William would meet him half way in his desire for peace. King Alfonso telegraphed Count Benomar, the Spanish ambassador at Berlin, accordingly. The court and official circles are confident that either by means of arbiter or negotiations Spain will retain possession of the Caroline Islands.

"Orillia, Aug. 27, 1885.

"We neglected in the press of other duties to acknowledge the receipt of bound volumes of 'Picturesque Canada' from your office, in excellent binding. It compares favorably with the work done in Toronto.

"As there are several here with their copies still unbound, you may, if you have any enquiries, refer them to our copy for specimen. One gentleman who has seen our books said he preferred your binding to the Toronto work.

JOY.

Take joy home,
And make a place in thy great heart for her,
And give her time to grow, and cherish her;
Then will she come, and all will be as it
When thou art working in the furrows; ay,
Or weeding in the sacred hour of dawn.
It is a country nation to be glad;
Joy is the grace we say to God.

There is a rest remaining. Hast thou dreamed?
There is a sacrifice. Lift up thy head;
The lovely world and the over-world alike
Ring with a song eternal, a happy rede.
"Thy Father loves thee."
—Tom Angell.

BEYOND RECALL.

Could I call back the days I've spent in vain,
Or lend to error's path a single step;
As the great sun recalls the rushing tide,
To lift and freshen for its flow again—
Should I, like him, with vision of heart and pain,
Glean from my life the stains which now Abide—
Too deep for interposing veils to hide—
As it flows swiftly to the shoreless main?

I question and I doubt; now would I dare
To say the sun's path part on my past hours,
And mould their vapours breath to fresh
Young days,
Only to run, perhaps, more foul than fair.
Let their one flow suffice, and heavenly Powers
Distill and cleanse them to my Maker's praise.
—W. C. Richards in Harper's Magazine.

SNOZING.

The Clothes Pin Theory Exploded—The Virtue in Castile Soap.

It is not generally known, but it is asserted to be a fact, that the nose has absolutely no share in the production of a snore. Indeed, most people snore with their mouths open and their noses temporarily inactive. Hence, the proposal to fasten a clothes pin to the nose of a snorer is a positive aid to snoring. The person whose nose is closed with a clothes pin must open his mouth in order to breathe, and this action is the precise attitude most favorable to snoring. Neither would it be of the slightest use to say to the snorer "don't snore." No snorer snores voluntarily. The snorer is ashamed of his offense, and when taxed with it generally denies it stoutly.

There is precisely one cure for snoring, and it is to Sir Humphrey Davy that we owe its discovery. That eminent scientific person ascertained that snoring is due to an abnormal vibration of the cords of the larynx, and that this vibration only occurs when the cords of the larynx have become dry. A man who sleeps with his mouth open, until his larynx has become dry by contact with the atmosphere, is sure to snore. Sir Humphrey saw at once that, in order to cure the snorer, his larynx must be kept moistened or relaxed. He found, by a series of experiments upon a person of unusual snoring powers, that a piece of Castile soap inserted in the open mouth of the snorer effected an instant cure. He was not, however, any further attracted of snoring for at least 24 hours.

Repeated applications of soap broke up the habit of snoring and thus effected a permanent cure. According to Sir Humphrey Davy, Castile soap is decomposed the moment it comes in contact with the human tongue, and has a wonderful affinity for oxygen. The olive oil, being thus set free, lubricates and relaxes the larynx, while the soda is forcibly expelled in the shape of strong alkaline language by the snorer. It is only at the moment of the decomposition of the soap begins. It is seldom necessary to administer the Castile soap more than three or four times, and the most obstinate case of snoring known to medical men was cured with it. It is only to be remarked that almost any variety of soap can be used with benefit as a remedy for snoring. Castile soap is, nevertheless, much more rapid in its action than any other variety, with the solitary exception of soft soap.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES.

Horses in Missouri are selling lower than at any other time in the last year, and an effort is being made to establish protective societies for their benefit, after the model of the one under charge of Rev. Mr. Nugee, provost of St. Austin's Priory, New Kent Road.

KEEP YOUR HOUSE GUARDED.—Keep your house guarded against sudden attacks of Cholera, Cramps, Diarrhoea, Dementia and Cholera infantum. They are liable to come when least expected. The safest, best and reliable remedy is Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

Two prominent better supporters in Montreal allege that they have been defrauded to the extent of nearly four thousand dollars each by a Liverpool butter merchant, who passed off on them for creamy butter, for which he received nineteen and a half cents a pound, stuff not worth four cents.

A WANT OF ACTIVITY.—Much of the ill condition of chronic invalids is due to want of activity in a sluggish liver. Burdock Blood Bitters restores a healthy action of the liver to secure pure bile, and thus make pure blood which gives perfect health.

SHOULD BE ATTENDED TO.—Much suffering is the result of neglected constipation there is no better regulator of the bowels than Burdock Blood Bitters by its prompt attention on the liver all tendency to irregularity is removed and one chief source of ill health prevented.

THE ADJOURNED INQUEST on the body of Lady Easterton was resumed and concluded on Tuesday in the village of Eppingham, the jury returning a verdict of wilful murder against Alexander Easterton, husband of the murdered woman, and John Easterton, the prisoner, who was taken to Welland gaol to await his trial.

THE CHOLERA.—Possibly the Cholera may not reach our locality this season. Nevertheless, we should take every precaution against it. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is a sure cure for Cholera Morbus, Cholera, Cramp Diarrhoea and Dysentery.

A STRANGE DISEASE.—There is scarcely a symptom belonging to chronic complaints but that is common to the poor dyspeptic, and he often feels as if he had every disease in the catalogue. Burdock Blood Bitters cures the worst form of Chronic Dyspepsia.

IN MURRAY & LAMMAN'S FLORIDA WATER the most debilitated and nervous can find relief. Used freely in the water of the bath, its effect is almost marvellous, so strengthening and bracing, and withal so exquisitely agreeable.

An interesting discovery has recently been made in Palestine, near the place called Zorah, where the Bible tells us, was the home of Samson's father, Manah, and where presumably Samson, afterward Judge of Israel, was born. It is a rock altar, with steps behind, and weather worn. It bears evidence of being very old, and it is conjectured that it may have been one of the high places where the Hebrews worshipped their gods than Jehovah. It was probably a secret place long before the foundation of Solomon's temple was laid.

LITTLE BROWNING.—The steam which raised the lid of the kettle led a philosophic mind to utilize it for man's benefit. No one dreamed that we should now be dragged along by it at the rate of sixty miles an hour. When Perry Davis made a preparation for the medicinal use of his family thirty years ago, neither he nor any other man imagined that it would now be used in every land, and prove to be the Pain Killer of the world.

EPPINGHAM TRAGEDY.

John Easterton Fenced Guilty of Wilful Murder and Committed for Trial.

St. CATHARINES, Ont., Sept. 8.—The inquest on the body of Lady E. Esterbe, found murdered at Eppingham, was continued at that village today before Cresser Commis.

Alberta McClintock said that last spring Wm. Burke came to her place and said: "I have heard bad news. Your (wife's) sister was killed. Some one had seen Mr. Chase that day and told him they heard Lady was murdered, and they were going to make a search for the body. Her sister Lady told her she and her husband lived very discreetly together, that he (Alex) slept with a revolver under his pillow for three nights. She did not know who he was, she thought he was her husband, but she went to Lady's house last spring to make a search for her body. The prisoner John helped them in digging. He remarked while digging that they might find an old coat."

Howard Easterton, brother of Alexander, said: "John told me that he (John) helped to bury Lady, then Alex. shot himself. John said he had held his hand over Lady's mouth to keep her from screaming. This was about two o'clock at night. Alex. is in the pit of the stomach, then wrapped her up in a quilt and threw her in a hole they had dug. Alex. said he felt a fainting, and for a few minutes, as he thought he heard some one in the house. They then covered the body up. John threatened if I told of this I would be laid alongside of my brother Alexander."

The jury, after not more than forty minutes' deliberation, brought in the following verdict: "That the deceased, Lady Easterton, came to her death about October or November, 1884, near the village of Eppingham, by the hands of her husband, Alexander Easterton, and John Easterton, and that the said John Easterton and Alexander Easterton, are guilty of wilful murder."

The prisoner John was removed to the Welland gaol. His trial will likely come off at the court which is to be held the end of the present month.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Entertainment.
We learn that preparations are being made for a musical entertainment in connection with St. John's church to be held on Wednesday, Sept. 23rd.

Lawn Social.
There will be a lawn social, followed by a sale of fancy work, at Hazelbrae, Barnardo Home, on Friday, Sept. 11th, beginning at 7 o'clock. The Fire brigade Band will be in attendance. Admission, 10 cents.

Dog Lost and Found.
We learn that great distress was felt by the owners of a valuable and favorite dog when they discovered it to be missing. Fortunately they were consoled by learning that it was safe in charge of a friend, and has not even been on account of its short absence from home, though one of its paws was slightly injured.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh winds, mostly east and north, clearing weather, stationary or slightly higher temperature; fine to-morrow with higher temperatures.

Mass Meeting To-night.
The enthusiasm in connection with the Scott Act is on the increase, and the mass meeting to be held to-night in the Opera House is likely to be a large one. Mr. J. A. Nicholls is to be the chief speaker. Campaign songs are printed and will be sung to-night. Mayor Cox will take the chair if in town.

Good coat makers wanted, apply to Andrew McNeil, Tailor and Gents' Furnisher, George street.

Testimonial.
Testimonial from Chief Justice James Macdonald, N.S., late Minister of Justice:—
HALIFAX, N.S., Jan. 13, 1883.

To Mr. B. Laurance:
DEAR SIR,—I beg to say that I have used the spectacles and eye glasses which you fitted me a sufficient time to test them thoroughly, and I am pleased to say they have given me the highest satisfaction in every way.
Yours truly,
JAS. MACDONALD.

Sound for Quebec.
Three cars containing a hundred or more of Italy's swarthy sons drew up at the Grand Trunk station at half past eight o'clock on Wednesday night. The sombre, meditative men separated into squads and pairs and "did" the town through the drizzling rain. After spending an hour or so promenading they again repaired to their cars, where they were quartered for the night. They left this morning for Quebec to work for Mr. H. J. Boomer on the construction of the Lake St. John Railway.

Locks.
I am now receiving Door Locks made in Peterborough, and have to mention in saying that they are equal to the goods made by the best makers in the United States. As I intend to keep only these goods in stock in future, I am selling at reductions in price of 20 to 30 per cent. all the American Locks, Knobs and Door Trimmings that I have on hand to make room for a full line of our home made goods. There are some very fine lines, especially in Mortice Locks, among them, and I would respectfully ask your inspection. Cut Nails and Door Hinges are very low in price just now.
GEORGE STRETHAM.

Personal.
Mr. Jas. R. McNeil, of Preston, Lancashire, England, is in Peterborough visiting his brother, Mr. Andrew McNeil, merchant tailor. Mr. McNeil is favorably impressed with the general appearance of the town.

Mr. E. S. Soper, Inspector of Mounted Police has arrived at Calgary.
Mr. John Maloney, Reeve, of Douro, was in town to-day. He was within three miles of the place where the ton of dynamite exploded at the time of the explosion and felt the shock pretty strongly. He thinks that there should be legislation to prevent the passage of explosive through thickly populated districts and says that no more dynamite will pass through Douro if he can prevent it.

Mr. Hugh Ross, of Messrs. Paisley & Ross, Montreal, formerly of this town, has been here for the past few days. He takes his family with him tomorrow to their own home in Quebec's big city.

McNeil keeps the largest and best assortment of Gents' Furnishings in Peterborough. Call and examine his stock before making your purchases.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

The wet weather of the past few days has considerably dampened the ardour of those connected with the different local sporting organizations. The employees of each of the two carriage factories who were to have met in the Riverside Park for a game of ball lay the blame on the weather for the loss of a victory. At Lindsay on Wednesday, the home team endeavored to persuade the Peterboroughs to take their positions on the field in oilcloth, but the burghers pointed out that the "beanties" and "fine points" of the game would be lost if the match was played in the rain, and, declining the proposition of the Lindsay, and making the acquaintance of three certain Toronto gentlemen, the Peterboroughs whiled the slow hours away at their hotel until the first train left for the burgh.

On account of the rain the championship match at Beaverton between the Checkers and Peterborough Lacrosse Clubs was to have been postponed. But the Beavertons wanted to have it postponed for two weeks, and asked the Peterboroughs to choose between the 22nd of Sept. and the 10th. Although the grounds will doubtless be unfit to play on to-day, yet the home club preferred to play it out at all hazards to-day rather than to wait until the end of the season. Accordingly the twelve and quite a number of their admirers left by way of the Grand Trunk Railway this morning.

RINKERS.

AN INTERESTING BACKWARD RACE.
Notwithstanding the inclement weather, there was a fairly large attendance at the Lansdowne rink on Wednesday evening. At nine o'clock the skaters left the floor in response to the gong. Mr. Brown, the manager of the rink, apologized for the absence of the band, stating on account of the rain it was impossible for the members to be present. The backward race for juniors was called, but their being only one entry the race was postponed. There were three entries for the backward race for seniors: McFarlane, Kerr and Shevlin. On the start Kerr ran backward on his skates for several yards, and by this artifice passed the first corner almost before the other two had got under way. Shevlin came next, but he did not hold second place very long. He was passed on the first lap by McFarlane, and on the second lap Kerr was forced to give up first place to McFarlane. But the fun was yet to come. McFarlane had gained nearly a lap on Shevlin, and that adept in the art, seemingly not at all desirous of being too badly outstripped by the boy, made frantic exertions to maintain his position. Several times he clipped the corners to a hairbreadth, placing the occupants of the chairs at the four corners in danger of being unceremoniously deposited on the hard, hard floor. Shevlin was still ahead by a few yards. He swept around the southern end, and all at once moved down number one. A laugh for the spectators ensued, as the "chairman" picked himself up. But the skater sped along and, to all appearance wrapped up with the idea of serving all alike, proceeded to deal destruction to the occupants of the northern end chairs. Another unfortunate dropped on the maple planks, and to cap the casualties the skater himself collided with a post. Thus satisfied, he retired from the race amid uproarious laughter, and McFarlane, then a lap ahead, finished the race. Kerr retired on the sixth lap.

LACROSSE.

POINTS.
The Crotes have agreed to play the Riverdales and the date has been fixed for Thursday next, one week from to-day. The Crotes want it to be understood, however, that they are to play the genuine Riverdales, and not the second twelve of the Peterboroughs.

HARVEST RACE.

Another disappointment for the Peterboroughs to-day. A match with the Dawson was billed for last Thursday, but a card was received from the secretary implying that they had made a mistake of a week, and that the Dawson would be here on Thursday, Sept. 10th. But no Dawson put in an appearance to-day, and consequently the match fell through.

A match is being arranged with the Lindsay. It will probably be played on Thursday, Sept. 17th.

* KEEPE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

SOOTY ACT OBSERVATION.—About a dozen persons met in the Town Hall, Keene, on Thursday last week to organize for the election. Mrs. Peck and Mr. Nicholls have been lecturing both on week nights and on Sunday in favor of the act.

CHAPTER OF ACCIDENTS.—Friday was an unlucky day. First Mr. Hoffman, of Alnwick, who is using the old Presbyterian church, fractured a couple of ribs. Mrs. J. E. Dickson jumped out of a window and fractured her right arm. A little girl of Mrs. John Renwick fell out of a tree and sprained her wrist. All are doing well.

PANDIT.—Your correspondent was indicted with a piece of poetry, reflecting very seriously on one of our neighbors. We would thank the sender of them to leave us out next time, as we do not like the idea of having fly sheets printed and circulated in an unbecoming manner.

HARVEST HOME FESTIVAL.—On Tuesday last the harvest home festival was held. It was very rainy. The decorations were fine, both in the Town Hall and in the church. There were plenty of professions, and good music was furnished by the V. B. Band. Speeches were made by the Rev. Messrs. Macdonald, Wallace and Johnston. All present enjoyed a good time. The receipts were nearly $50.00.

HORSE STOLEN.—A young fellow cleared out on Wednesday with a horse, buggy and three sets of harness.

A Bad Sign.

The American people are fast giving up the habit of going to church, and are, as a natural consequence, growing irreligious. There are regions in the heart of New England where there have been no churches for a long time. In many villages close to great cities the church going habit has almost disappeared, and in great cities like Chicago, where there is certainly no lack of those attractions which worldly people regard as necessary to bring the young to the sanctuary, the decadence even in the most conservative and religious regions is alarming. This evil is, we are told, beginning to show itself in Canada. In the country the farmer sends his son to the church factory in the morning, and then has little to say if his son takes the buggy for a drive with a young lady in the afternoon. We ask our readers how far this is the case in this country, and what they think to be the cause. Our own suspicion is that the idea of worship is not sufficiently isolated on. Lacking that incentive, there is nothing left but the benefit and the pleasure to be derived from the service. The sermon fights a losing battle with the newspaper with perhaps a sermon in it by Talmage or Spurgeon, or, in the case of the more cultured, with the magazine article on the philosophy of religion. The music stands a poor chance against the song of the birds and the ripple of the river and the sweet companionship of dear ones. It is possible that too much has been demanded of ordinary people since the Sunday school made three services imperative on the Lord's Day. There results a lack of repose and of time for personal and family devotion. People who begin by neglecting one service go on to be indifferent to both. This also is a question on which we would like to have the opinion of our thoughtful readers.—

SMALLPOX.

Heavy Death Rate in Montreal.—It Appears at Ottawa.
MONTREAL, Sept. 9.—Besides 23 deaths from smallpox in the city there were also ten deaths in St. Jean Baptiste village, two in St. Cuthbert, one in St. Henri, one in Cote St. Louis, and one in Maisonneuve.

OTTAWA, Sept. 9.—There are now two cases of smallpox in the contagious disease hospital here. One patient is a young woman who walked into the city yesterday from Hartwell's locks, and was found walking along the street. She was taken to the hospital by Dr. Robillard, medical health officer. The other smallpox patient is young man named Leeson, who was driven into the city from the village of Rockland, about 26 miles down the river. He says there is no smallpox near his home or at Rockland, and as he passed through Montreal without stopping he is puzzled to account for his contracting the disease. It is not improbable that he caught it on board the cars.

RICHMOND, Vt. Sept. 9.—Smallpox has reached Sutton, Quebec, eight miles from here, and fears are entertained that it will reach Richmond.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1886.

REBALS FOR THE NORTH-WEST.

Lord Lansdowne having expressed in public the pleasure he felt in recommending that the forces engaged in the North-west campaign should receive an Imperial medal, and his conviction of the value that would be attached to this mark of Her Majesty's approval, the Globe seizes the opportunity of showing its disloyalty by attacking both His Excellency and our Government.

Whether the Governor-General was acting in his capacity of an Imperial officer making a recommendation in a matter of Imperial interest to the Monarch, or in his other capacity of Viceroy of this Dominion was acting as the mouthpiece of the constitutional authorities of Canada, we are confident that his action will meet with the approval of the great majority of the people of Canada. In whatever manner the Queen was moved to this bestowal of a mark of royal favour, this exercise of her authority as the fountain of honor and of her prerogative to reward her forces, will, we are sure, be loyally received and welcomed. Those who took part so valiantly in the North-west campaign will not accept the Globe's suggestion to throw back this well-deserved badge of honor in the face of their sovereign.

In its anger at the success of the Canadian authorities, so long as that authority is entrusted by the people of Canada to Conservatives, the Globe displays either gross ignorance or great recklessness. Its assertion that it is an unheard of thing that victory in a "civil war" should be commemorated by the striking of a medal, is absurdly untrue. There are many precedents for such action. We will name as cases of a very similar nature the New Zealand and South African medals. They were given to reward services in what were quite as much "civil wars" as the North-west rebellion. Sir F. Middleton wears with pride the New Zealand medal, and we are sure that he will be equally gratified to add this new medal to his well-earned decorations. Those who served under his command in the North-west will, no doubt, share his feelings.

RIEL.

The Manitoba Court of Queen's Bench has confirmed the conviction of Riel and has sustained the jurisdiction of the court that tried him. Any pretence that the trial was not fair or legal is thus set at rest.

The Globe takes advantage of this event to announce that "The decision of Riel's fate is entirely in his (Sir John Macdonald's) hands." We have an idea that Riel is in the hands of the law. But on the supposition that with Sir John's vote the decision, we should be glad to have the Globe's opinion as to whether Riel should be hung or should not be hung. The leading Reform journals and its echoes will carefully avoid making a reply, in order that they may reserve the right of saying if Riel is hung that Sir John did wrong to hang him, or if Riel is not hung that Sir John did wrong not to hang him. The life or death of a human being is nothing to them in comparison with their desire to utilize either to attack a successful political opponent. They will not express an opinion, because their only opinion is that whatever Sir John does they will attack him.

THE HUNTINGDON TRAGEDY.

A Verdict of Murder—Mother and Son Committed for Trial.

The coroner's jury in the case of the death of Martin Archibald, found the following verdict:—"Whereas Martin Archibald received wounds at the hands of Mary Adams and her son Charles Adams, made by an axe, on the 30th day of August, 1885, from which wounds the said Martin Archibald languished until the 3rd day of September, when he died by the wounds inflicted by Mary Adams and her son Charles Adams, that therefore the said Mary Adams and Charles Adams did feloniously, wilfully, and with malice aforethought, kill and murder the said Martin Archibald." Mrs. Adams and Charles Adams were committed for trial and taken to goal in Belleville.

Marie Henriette Wrecked.

New York, Sept. 10.—The ship John Mann, which arrived yesterday from Havre, reports that while in lat. 39° 43' long. 80° she sighted a vessel showing signals of distress, which proved to be the schooner Marie Henriette, Captain Loubet, from Barbados for Montreal, disabled and sinking. She took off the captain, six of the crew and one passenger, and brought them here. The wreck of the Marie Henriette was not on fire.

THE EXEMPTION QUESTION.

MR. LECH ON MAYOR COX'S OFFER.

As we published Mayor Cox's letter to the Examiner, on the question of exemptions, we give Mr. Lech's reply:—

Sir,—When the meeting was called for the consideration of the by-law exempting the Dickson Company from taxation, I had not the least idea that the same would end in such a disgraceful manner. I do not think that anything I forwarded against the by-law should have offended Mr. Cox, as I have on all occasions held the same views as sound in principle. Any business shirking to bear the burden of taxation, to make business profitable to them, seems, to my mind, as beginning in a crippled condition. The Auburn Woollen Mills serves as an illustration in its time of failure. But to show Mr. Cox as well as the public that I am not acting as an obstructionist in furthering the interests of the town, rate payers will recall the time when the building of the carworks was up for discussion. Mr. Cox offered to take stock for $20,000 on condition of a bonus and exemption from taxation, later on, this sum Mr. Cox reduced to $10,000 stock. When Mr. Law with his stock bought a call on me, I although I debated against the bonus and exemption, subscribed $1,000 stock, which, according to my resources, I could ill afford to spare; and what about those who had been so noisy about having business and exemption from taxes granted—in what way did they further the prosperity of the town?—not in taking stock—oh no!

I hold it very questionable whether Mr. Cox should personally take the course he did to advocate interests of his own in the position as the presiding officer over our Council, and furthermore, if Mr. Cox was aware of such flagrant cases of undervaluation of taxable property, he has neglected his duty in not unearthing those any sooner, and nobody will thank him for doing it now to serve his purpose.

I was rather taken back by the onslaught Mr. Cox made on the several assessments when he charged the taxpayers as having perjured themselves. What about his own? Is that all sound? Mr. Cox mentions my two stores as being assessed at $9,700. Well, I only occupy one for which I am assessed, not for $4,500 as Mr. Cox showed up at the meeting, but for $5,300, and I think it is a fair valuation. With the other store I have as much to do as Mr. Cox with his stores he has tenants in. As for the offer of Mr. Cox to find a man to buy me out, it is as ridiculous as it is unreasonable and insulting, and the public will take it for what it is worth, as a bluff of the coarsest kind, as he fully well knows me to be a too active man to relinquish and alter my course of life in so doing. Personally, I would take Mr. Cox at his word, but there are other interests involved in my business more weighty than money considerations, which prevent me from accepting Mr. Cox's kind offer. My two sons, who have actively assisted in the business from the time of their leaving school, have learned the trade, and now Mr. Cox wants me to turn them out as a recognition of their services. Thank you, Mr. Cox, for your kind offer, none of all your piles of money can buy me out. The business I have since the last twenty-five years built up under the most trying circumstances, I have done with an aim, not of turning my sons out, but for them to do business after me. Mr. Cox should remember that Frederick the Great was not able as a king to buy a poor miller out who held the mill as heirloom from his forefathers, so is it in this case with buying out a fair business. If otherwise Mr. Cox is not satisfied, and he thinks I am undervalued in my stock, I am ready at any time to show by sufficient proof that it would astonish not only Mr. Cox, but the public, to know how it has been possible to build up a business, which I venture to say not one in a hundred in this trade could have done.

As for Mr. Cox's invitation to devise a scheme to have the Dickson Company's estate utilized for manufacturing, I don't think myself under such an obligation. If Mr. Cox is afraid of investing his money when with a tariff high enough to exclude foreign competition entirely, if then, competition in our Dominion is so great, and the market so glutted, as for instance the case has been and always will be with the cotton mill, then such factories are not wanted. I have, or any other manufacturer has, also, to contend with competition, and who thinks of competing up from the States? The rule used to be that those less favored with worldly goods went to the richer ones calling for favour, now this rule seems to be reversed. Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I remain, Yours etc., W. LECH.

THE EXEMPTION QUESTION.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—In your editorial of last evening on exemptions you make the following quotation from my letter:—

"Nor is it difficult to see that an establishment of this kind would seek a Dominion, not a local market, and would, in reality, be no competition to our citizens, even though engaged in the same line of business."

And I think you will agree with me that that would practically be the result with such establishments as we would hope to get located here, but you add "Why not carry out this idea by assenting to a prohibition of local competition." I will endeavor to answer that question by the following illustrations. Suppose that Mr. Yelland instead of buying his hats, spades, felloes and such like articles at Hamilton, St. Catharines or Strathroy, where a large number of persons are employed in making them, decided to manufacture them himself, and in doing so make his operations sufficiently large to supply other towns and cities, and applied for power and buildings on the Dickson property to do so, they would immediately be told you cannot rent to Mr. Yelland, because he is in the retail trade, and it would be unfair to Lockhart & Chown and others with whom he is in competition.

Suppose that Douglas & Logan, instead of bringing their springs, axles and gearings from Hamilton, or other articles of furniture from St. Catharines, or felloes or galls, decided to manufacture for themselves and for shipment elsewhere, and they also applied for accommodation, the same difficulty would arise—local competition with Porter Bros., or some other dealer.

Suppose that Mr. Bellegum, instead of bringing in, as he now does, from Bowmanville, Toronto and London, car loads of cane and wood saw chairs, and other articles of furniture that he has not sufficient power and room to manufacture, decided to take more commodious premises, and more efficient power, on the Dickson property, and reverse the order of things, by entering into competition for a Dominion trade with the men who are now supplying him—and why should he not do so? All the material they use can be laid down in Peterborough as cheaply as at any of those points and in some cases cheaper, because of good proportion of the lumber they use is taken from our own county. Again, we would be told that cannot be allowed, because Mr. Bellegum is in the retail trade, and it is unfair to others in the same line.

I might give a good many more similar illustrations to show that in nearly every case some objection could be urged.

The most liberal opponents of the present by-law, only go so far as to say to the Dickson Company: "Go on and put up your buildings. We won't tax them until they are rented, and when you have an opportunity of rating, if it is a new industry, worthy of encouragement, and one that does not interfere with local dealers, we will grant you exemption." In view of the objection that could be urged against almost every applicant, I think you will agree with me that there is not very much encouragement to erect buildings for manufacturing purposes, under such circumstances, and take the chance of renting them.

While the By-law is condemned as being too broad and too sweeping I submit that your suggestion, Mr. Editor, is not broad enough to meet the case. Apologizing for the space I have occupied, and promising not to enter into any further correspondence or controversy upon this subject, I will leave some other person to work out the improvements that I have desired, but failed to accomplish.

I am, sir, Yours truly, GEO. A. COX.

Peterborough, Sept. 11th, 1886.
[We will be very happy to give Mr. Cox the amplest space he may require for the full discussion of this very important question.—Ed. Review.]

The Weather.

The following weather notes are supplied by Mr. G. W. Morgan, druggist:—

	Thermometer.	Barometer.
9 o'clock.....	50	29.40
1 o'clock.....	55	29.40
3 o'clock.....	64	29.30

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty four hours commencing from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate winds, mostly north-east and south-east, fine weather, slightly higher temperatures.

A Narrow Escape.

During the progress of a quail match at the Farmers' Picnic on Thursday a lad named Tagney narrowly escaped serious injury. Just as a quail left a player's hand the lad ran between the pegs. The quail struck him on the head and knocked him down. He was picked up, and after the mud had been washed off it was found to be only a scratch, the quail having by good fortune glanced off the top of his head.

A fine range of West of England Pasting' good, just opened out at Andrew McNeil's, George street.

The Young Liberals.

The Port Hope Times says:—
The Young Liberals of Peterborough are no exception to others of the same name in different sections of Ontario. The numbers are few, as shown by the meeting held lately to boom the "Grand" Convention to be held at Toronto. At the meeting in Peterborough on Thursday evening the Young Liberals reminded one of the nursery poem of the poor orphans "We are only seven," as there were only seven persons present at the meeting, beside the proprietor and reporter of the Reform paper, who don't count at public meetings.

Myscenal.

The marriage of Mr. Chas. C. Hampshire, the able organist and choirman of St. John's Church, Peterborough, which has been solemnized in Christ Church Cathedral, Montreal, will call forth the congratulations of the congregation, and of his other friends in this town. We understand that Mr. Hampshire has made arrangements for an organ recital in St. John's Church, on Sept. 22nd, when no doubt there will be a large attendance both to enjoy the music and to welcome the organist's accession to the holy estate.

An Attraction.

To judge from the numbers who stopped to take a peep in the window of Mr. J. J. Sheehy's dry goods store to-day there must be something peculiarly attractive. There is. It is the Gildersleeve Cup, which the Lacrosse Club won at Kingston four years ago, and which was never taken from them. There is something in it equally pretty. It is the bouquet which Mr. LeBrun's fair admirers presented to him at the Grand Trunk station on Thursday evening. The Central Championship Medal is also there, and the trio of attractions nestle comfortably among the graceful folds of Mr. Sheehy's woollens, calicos, silks, etc.

Personal.

Mr. Chas. J. Leonard, who was formerly a student in the law office of Messrs. Scott & Edwards, and also in Mr. D. W. Dumble's office, has opened a legal office in Belleville in company with Mr. S. O'Brien. Mr. Leonard is a clever young man, and will no doubt succeed, even in a city so well supplied with members of the legal profession as the City of the Bay is. The Ontario, in noticing the establishment of the new firm, says:—"Mr. O'Brien is favorably known throughout the city and county, and had a most successful career as a student; and from his well known abilities and the experience of Mr. Leonard in his practice as a member of the firm of Jones, McKenzie & Leonard, of Toronto, we predict for the new firm a prosperous business."

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

LACROSSE.

THE PETERBOROUGHS THE CHAMPIONS.
It is just three years ago to-day since the first match for the medal presented by the National Amateur Lacrosse Association for the championship of Central Ontario was played. At the end of a long and hard struggle with the Orillias the home team found themselves the champions of the Midland District. Three years have rolled in and out and still the Peterboroughs stand at the head of the numerous lacrosse clubs of the district. But the championship medal has not always remained in Peterborough, although it has not been away from its natural home for any long period. The Peterboroughs, during 1883 and 1884 successfully withstood a number of fierce onslaughts for the coveted trophy, but on the 23rd of June of this year they were wiped out in short order by their old time antagonists, the Checkers, of Beaverton. The admirers of the Peterboroughs were rather more than surprised at the result of the contest, but if we for a moment reflect on the cause it will be at once decided that the result of the contest on the 23rd of June could scarcely go any other way. In the first place the grounds were from their low situation, too soft to play on until well on to June, and in the next place when they were fit for practice the members of the twelve seemed to be lax in putting in the necessary work. Added to this two of the best men were doing service for their country in the Northwest Territory. The Beavertons came here in first-class condition, fresh from weeks of vigorous training, and the result was that they carried off the championship by three straight games.

But the very train that carried the few hours champions away also carried a challenge from the Peterboroughs. The Orillias, however, had a challenge in first, and the Checkers had first to dispose of that match. The two teams met at Beaverton and the match, after much dispute, ended in the decision being referred to the Council. A large amount of evidence was taken, printed, forwarded to the Council, and after a considerable delay the decision was given in favor of the Checkers. All was now plain sailing. The only course open to the Peterboroughs was to play. They did play; and they won back the championship in even shorter time than when it was taken from them.

At 8.30 o'clock on Thursday morning the twelve and several of their friends took the train for the north. There was not one of the twelve who doubted that on a good ground and in their present condition they could hold their own against any team in the district. The time was merrily whiled away by the boys with listening to the pungent puns of "Jimmy," the joker of the party, and by joining in several of the old time choruses. At shortly after eleven o'clock the northern town was reached, and like true knights of the stick one and all at once set out to quell the wailings of the inner man. The Ontario House was the place where they feasted, and after a good dinner, and adorned with tooth picks manufactured from the most fragrant Havana, a tour of inspection of the town was made. After a critical look at the principal blocks they decided not to buy out the place, and again repairing to their hotel commenced to prepare for their impending contest. At about half past three o'clock everybody was ready, big crowd and all, and the teams took their positions as follows:—

Messrs. C. Campbell, of Woodville, and Geo. Thompson, of Orillia, were the umpires, and Mr. J. C. Ballantyne, of Brampton, was the referee.
Sheehy and Kennedy knelt in the centre to open the contest. Sheehy lost it, and a straight shot on goal made it look as if the Checkers were again going to carry all before them. But the formation of the Peterborough defence was somewhat different from that of the last Peterborough-Checker match. The rubber rebounded from the points, and during the rest of the eleven minutes' play the Peterborough goal was not once in danger. At the end of eleven minutes Henderson put the ball through the Checker goal.

The second game was the best of the three. It was a hot one from beginning to end, and was distinguished for close play on both sides. Sheehy pulled out the ball the time and it went towards the Checkers' goal for the time being. But twice during this game it was all but lost to the Peterboroughs. The Beavertons forced it twice to within a few feet of the goal, but the defence rallied and relieved the goal from danger. During this game Mr. Henderson fell over a stone and had his head badly cut. After ten minutes' intermission, however, the game was proceeded with. It was just half an hour from the start when the second game for the Peterboroughs was scored by Henderson. The third was short, but lively, the Checkers chiefly playing on the defence. At the end of 54 minutes, however, Kelly dropped it through. The usual friendly demonstrations were made on the part of the victors and the vanquished, and the champions started on the return trip. A telegram had been sent telling how the game went, and immediately on its receipt preparations for a reception were made. The City Band was engaged and every available torch was brought into requisition. When the evening train arrived bringing the team back with the ornamental C. M. D. attached to the club, there were hundreds at the station. A shower of rickets were sent up as they, all in a bunch, stepped off the train. Mr. LeBrun, the President, was handed a large and beautiful bouquet by Mr. Giroux, Secretary of the club, who acted in this capacity at the request of the donors, the young ladies employed in Mr.

LeBrun's store. A procession was formed, headed by the City Band, and, amid illumination of torches and fireworks, the victorious dozen marched up town. They stopped at the City Hotel, and after a few minutes' stay marched on to the lacrosse headquarters, the Little Windsor. Afterwards Mr. LeBrun was escorted to the Oriental by scores of torch bearers and hundreds of people.

BASE BALL.

PORTER BROS. WIN.

A very interesting game of ball was played in the Riverside Park on Thursday afternoon between the employees of the carriage shops of Messrs. Porter Bros. and Fitzgerald & Stanger. Considering that the latter got away with Lockhart & Chown's men so easily their stock was in the ascendant before the commencement of the game. But when at the end of the first innings the score stood 11-4 in favour of Porter Bros' men, the thing commenced to look somewhat different from what was expected. The game proceeded, Porter Bros' men continually leading until at last when they left the bat for the ninth time they were 24 ahead. Through carelessness, as they say their opponents got in 11, leaving a balance in their favour of 13. Porter Bros. ball players distinguished themselves by their heavy batting, the head of the firm, Mr. Charles Porter, making a home run on a magnificent hit, and others making frequent two and three baggers. Messrs. Fitzgerald and Lyle, on first and second bags, played in good form. For Messrs. Fitzgerald & Stanger, Chas. Sanderson, catcher, and J. Tighe, pitcher, both put in good work. The score is as follows:—

A Child Buried to Death.

BELLEVILLE, Sept. 10.—On Wednesday afternoon the four year old daughter of R. Gauthier set fire to its clothing with some matches it had secured to play with during its mother's temporary absence. The right side of the child from the hip to the crown of its head was burned deep into the flesh before the clothing could be stripped from its body. The little sufferer died this afternoon after great suffering.

KIDNAPPED BY DETECTIVES.

A Bank Defaulter. Recently Abducted from Winnipeg.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 10.—The kidnapping of Lawrence Brainerd, the absconding American bank president, is the sensation of the day. Brainerd, after robbing the St. Albans savings bank a year ago and ruining scores of farmers and others, went to Denver. He came here with his wife about four months ago, and concealed his identity by registering as Mr. Jackson. He lived quietly at the Winnipeg hotel, and at first went out but little. He was occasionally seen at horse races and other sporting events. He told certain people that he was an American speculator interested in mica mining, and he frequently exhibited specimens.

CARRIED OFF BY FORCE.

Two months ago two Boston detectives came here, and one became acquainted with Brainerd. Last Saturday afternoon one of the detectives and Brainerd started south on a duck shooting expedition. Several miles from the city, in a lonely place, they were joined by the other detective and a friend. Brainerd was informed that they knew who he was, and wanted him to go quietly with them across the border to avoid the expense of legal proceedings. Brainerd refused, and the detective overpowered him, bound him hand and foot, threw him into a wagon, and started for the boundary in hot haste. It is alleged that in order to prevent detection while passing through country villages, they

DRUGGED BRAINERD WITH LACIANUM.

As Brainerd did not return, his wife became alarmed, and communicated with the police and a law firm. The police, who knew the detectives were after Brainerd, started for the boundary with all speed to intercept the kidnappers. On the way to St. Vincent a collision occurred, and the police had a narrow escape. Sunday another special train was chartered, and the police reached the boundary line, where the detectives with Brainerd in custody, were found. The detectives refused to give their captives up, and while the police were searching for authorities to arrest the detectives, the latter put Brainerd in a wagon and drove off at railroad speed. This was the last seen of them, and they are now safe in Minnesota or Dakota. The Winnipeg police returned disgusted.

BOINED BY SPECULATION.

Lawrence Brainerd is sixty years old, and was for years a prominent man in Vermont. His father was once president of the Vermont Central Railroad. He is a brother-in-law of ex-Governor Smith, president of the Central Vermont Railroad, and was himself once president of the Lamoy Valley Railway, the St. Albans saving bank, and other concerns. He was thought to be immensely rich, was honoured highly, and was active in church and Sunday school work. He speculated with the funds of his bank and wrecked it, together with many business men and farmers in Vermont.

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1886.

ADING INDUSTRIES.

In his letter to us in reference to some editorial remarks in the REVIEW on the exemption question, Mr. Cox objects to the suggestion that industries should not be exempt which compete with local establishments paying taxes.

His illustrations do not clearly bear upon the point at issue between those who desire to exempt any industry that may be established on the Durham river, and those who, while willing thus to aid new branches of industry, are unwilling to discriminate in favor of factories that would compete with existing establishments not freed from taxation. If Mr. Cox means that there would be any objection to Mr. Yelland or Messrs. Lockhart & O'Brien, to Porter Bros., or Messrs. Douglas & Logan, opening a factory on the Durham river for the manufacture of parts of vehicles which are now imported from other localities, we think he is mistaken as to the views held by those who object to a sweeping by-law. Any addition to our industries would be welcomed by all, as has been evidenced by the general approval of the by-laws in favor of the Lock Works and of the Stone Works, and we believe there is no disposition to raise a cry when competition with local trade is only incidental and of trifling importance.

If on the other hand Mr. Cox means that one of these firms might not only establish the suggested new branch of business, but also remove their present workshops to the Durham river, we believe that many would object to granting exemption from taxation on several grounds. In the first place they think it would be unfair to other firms in the same business paying taxes, to subject them to the competition of a firm not paying taxes. In the second place, they think it would be unfair to other property owners to place them at such a disadvantage as compared with the Durham Company in securing manufacturing tenants. In the third place, they think it would be unfair to the general body of ratepayers, that by the mere removal of an existing industry to the Durham river, the taxes in both places should be lost to the town treasury, and would consequently have to be made up by those not exempt.

To throw more light upon this point we will give two illustrations, not suppositions, but actual occurrences. We have in two cases recently been asked for advice as to whether Peterborough would be a suitable place for the establishment of particular industries. One request was from a gentleman wishing to establish a saw factory. We advised him to come at once to make arrangements, pointing out the great advantages our town would afford. The other was from a gentleman proposing to manufacture furniture. We advised him to the same effect if he contemplated a wholesale business, but declined to undertake the responsibility of recommending him to enter upon a retail trade in a town already so well supplied with furniture establishments. Now, to take these cases, we think the saw factory and the wholesale furniture factory might well be encouraged by exemption from taxes, but that it would be very unfair to grant such aid to the retail furniture establishment that would compete with the taxed firms now in the business. And as far as we can learn this is the view that is held by the great majority of our townsmen.

There is a general agreement in the desire to see the industries of Peterborough developed and increased. This being the case we do not despair of seeing some plan adopted to attain this end, which is desired by all, though they may differ at present as to the means. Such an agreement, however, can only be effected by fair discussion and reasonable concessions, not by shows or threats.

To Room Voters of Coal.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 10.—A national convention of coal miners began its session here yesterday. The reports presented indicate that in the mines in West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois and Iowa the miners are in a deplorable condition. The prices for workers are lower than ever before known. The purpose of the convention is to form a national organization with the object of raising rates and bettering the condition of miners generally.

NOT THE PASSWORD.

"And so, my dear," said Mr. Billings, as he glanced over the morning paper, "you ladies have at last established a lodge of your own."

"Yes, indeed we have, and we will show you lords of creation that we can run such an institution and keep our secrets just as well as you men can," said Mrs. B.

"I suppose you have a password and grip, and all that sort of thing. It would be too funny for anything if some of you should forget and give the whole thing away. I know, of course, you would not do it, but you could not object to telling your husband the password; you surely could trust me that far," and Mr. B. held his paper before his face to hide the smile he could not suppress.

"Well, hubby," said Mrs. B. (and she too, looked very smiling) "if you put it in that light I shall have to tell you, but you must never tell it to a stranger and you look me in."

"But isn't that rather a strange password?" said Mr. B.

"Well, it may be, but then everything about our society is strange," answered Mrs. B.

The next Wednesday was lodge meeting, and Mr. Billings said he guessed he would not go down town that night, as he was feeling poorly, but would stay at home and read his paper. So Mrs. B. left him cozily reading, and went to the lodge. But no sooner was she gone than he began rummaging through the closets and drawers, and in the course of half an hour had changed himself to what might be taken for quite a respectable female. As he was a very small man (in more than one sense of the word) his wife's clothes were not a bad fit. Laughing at the anticipated fun he was about to have at the lodge, and giving the password, was ushered in. But he was scarcely inside the door ere he was seized, blindfolded and rushed up a plank, then tilted the end, lighting on something decidedly moist. Before he could regain his feet, some one thrust a lump of ice down his back, and at the same moment the bird spot on his head was deluged with water, then, after mopping him around the floor two or three times, he was thrust out the door with the advice: "There you pray old head, if anyone asks you what your password is, you say to him, 'I was a stranger and ye took me in.'"

But he had hardly reached the street before a policeman, from his dishevelled appearance, taking him for a female tramp, promptly took him to the lockup. Mrs. B. says she guesses Billy will begin to make up his mind that she can keep a secret, and that she isn't as green as she looks. But if you want to see just how wicked a man can be, say to Mr. B., "I was a stranger and ye took me in."

How Princesses Make Love.

How princesses make love is told in the Reminiscences of the Marquis Curtini, which have just appeared in Paris. When the Czar Nicholas was 17 years old he spent two days in Berlin, where he saw the Princess Charlotte, two years younger, and of a delicate beauty which at once attracted him. She, however, showed no signs of reciprocating his affection. On the evening before his departure he met her at the princess's dinner. "I shall leave to-morrow," he suddenly remarked. She did not show any surprise, but quickly answered: "We shall all be sorry that you leave us so soon. Cannot your departure be delayed?" "That depends on you," "How so?" asked the princess. The prince now declared his love, somewhat to her embarrassment, as she thought they would be overheard. As a pledge of her love he asked for the ring she wore, suggesting that no one would notice it if she took it off and pressing it into a piece of bread pushed it toward his plate. The ring, however, was not hers, but belonged to her governess, who had received it of the Empress of Russia. And in taking it off to give to the prince she read for the first time on the inside the inscription, "Empress of Russia."

Again in Operation.

The Flint & Holton saw mill resumed operations yesterday morning. It will be remembered that their mill and planing factory were consumed by fire last February. As soon as the weather would permit, the work of reconstruction began and has resulted in the saw mill being erected on the old site, which will have increased power and capacity over the mill consumed. The boilers, which did service before the fire, were found in good condition and are still doing service. A fine 120 horse power engine, from the Hamilton Manufacturing Co., Peterborough, furnishes the power. The stone walls and the boiler are all there in a ruined one of the old mill; all the other furnishings are new throughout. Owing to the lateness of the season, it is not probable that the planing mill will rebuild until next season. This mill, instead of occupying a wing, as before the fire, will be in the part of the building formerly occupied by the elevator. The heavy losses sustained by this well known firm, and the phoenix like manner in which they survived these difficulties, command them to the patronage they so long and deservedly received before the fire.—Belleville Intelligencer.

Iceberg Boat.

One of the most interesting facts contributed by Prof. Fordanford to Popular Science is contained in his account of his examination—when about 80° north latitude, before reaching Parry's island, to northwest of Spitzbergen—of the snow which covered the icebergs, and which had come from a still higher latitude. He found it strewn with a multitude of minute black particles, spread over the surface or situated at the bottom of little pits, a great number of which were to be seen on the outward layer of snow. Many of such particles were also lodged in the inferior strata. This dust, which became gray on drying, the professor found to contain a large proportion of metallic particles attracted by the magnet, and capable of decomposing sulphate of copper. An observation made a little later upon other icebergs proved the presence of similar dust in a layer of granulated crystalline snow situated beneath a stratum of light, fresh snow, and another of hardened snow. Upon analysis the professor found this matter to be composed of varying proportions of metallic iron, phosphorus, cobalt and fragments of disintegrated—New York Sun.

CHEESE MARKET.—Wednesday's market was another dull one, no sales having taken place. There was a large number of boxes of July and August make offered. Buyers made an offer for the latter, but sellers refused to part with it, holding on for better prices. The highest offer was 7½ cents. There was no disposition on the part of buyers to offer for the July cheese.—Herald.

The Canadian Pacific Railway.

Rails have been laid on the western end to a point sixty miles west of the Columbia river. On the eastern end of the track is laid within forty miles of the Columbia (second crossing). The gap has, therefore, been reduced to 100 miles, and in that gap a great part of the road-bed is ready for the rails. All the grading up to within eighteen miles of the Columbia on this side will be finished by the middle of September all the rails on this side will be laid. It is said that there are not rails enough at Port Moody to complete the track to the Columbia, and that rails will be brought over the road from the east. Track is laid at the rate of about one mile per day at each end, and it is not expected there will be any serious interruption. The last spike will be driven about the end of October. Upon that occasion it is expected a large number of notables will come over from the east, although it is not likely there will be any public excursion. After the track has been joined there will remain a great deal of work before the road will be fairly ready for traffic, and it will probably not be really opened until some time next spring. In the meantime the extension and branch at this end, and the necessary terminal buildings and wharves, will be going on so as to be ready for through traffic, by that time it is expected that arrangements will have been completed for putting teamships on the various routes on the Pacific coast.—British Columbian.

Worth The V.C.

An accident that might have had a serious termination occurred on the grounds about four o'clock. The three-year old carriage class was being judged, and amongst them was a 16.3 gelding, the property of T. C. Patterson, who was shown in a Surgery cart, driven by Mr. Patterson's groom. The colt becoming unruly and humped over the shaft and bolted the wrong way of the ring, and in a minute there would have been a terrible "mix," in which men and horses might have been fatally injured. But in the nick of time Mr. Roddy Pringle, of Cobourg, rushed at the horse's head, and with admirable courage held him till the frightened animal was overpowered by numbers, and with a coat of shirt fell on his side, breaking the shaft. Two or three people sat on his head, and he was cut out of harness without more than a few scratches. He was fine and calm, and was adjudged first prize. His Excellency, who was standing by, remarked that if there was a Victoria Cross for brave actions, not on the field of battle, Mr. Pringle would certainly have earned it.—London Free Press.

Will visit the following places again:—

LINDSAY.—Benson House, October 9th, 10th, and 11th.

PETERBOROUGH.—The Grand Centre Hotel, October 12th, 13th and 14th.

Prof. Hotchin's treatment is practical, rational and successful. His object is to remove the cause and cure the effect. It is based on scientific principles and is not a mere quack remedy. It is the only one that has been demonstrated to the satisfaction of every intelligent person, that a truss without steel springs or hard substance, having lateral ligaments and Umbilical as well as Verrucous, at the advanced age respectively of from 65 to 85 years, may and will stand the test of all spring trusses to children as well as adults.

Prof. H. having had 30 years' experience has become master of his profession, and DEFEATS the Herculite band which has been so successful in their proper place. Go and see for yourself.

The lawn social given on Friday evening at Hazelton, under the auspices of several lady friends of the Home, was a very successful one. The grounds were very prettily illuminated. Chinese lanterns were hung by the dozens in the trees on the hillside, giving the grounds, as viewed from George street, the appearance of a hill of fire with so many open, glowing furnace doors. From the gate up the sidewalk, the railing was adorned with a row of oil torches. The evening was pleasant, but just cool enough to make the genial warmth of the coal fire in the reception room grate appreciable by the visitors. The dining room was all the scene of floral beauty. A long table was covered with a profuse array of many beautiful bouquets. The business carried on in the school room by the good ladies had much the appearance of a bazaar. This room was well filled throughout the evening by numerous persons who wished to buy anything from a bunch of grapes to a doll. The members of the Fire Brigade Band took up their position in the front of the Home, at about eight o'clock, and during the successive two hours gave a very pleasing open air concert.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.LACROSSE.

NORWOOD VS. KEENE.

A lacrosse match was played at Norwood on Thursday between the Norwood and Keene lacrosse clubs. The match was well contested throughout, the Norwoods, which are of several years standing, showing some really good lacrosse, while their opponents played well, considering that they are a newly organized club. At length, after an hour and a quarter's play, the Norwoods were declared the winners by three straight games. The match was a very pleasant one, their being no rough play on either side. The Norwood band was in attendance.

BEAVERTON PLEASED.

The Beaver-ton Express of Sept. 11th says:—"A lacrosse match was played here yesterday between the Checkers and the Peterboroughs of the central district. The game was closely contested and we beg to acknowledge the defeat of our boys in three straight games. We are pleased to know that the medal has been won by gentlemen, the game being well played and in the most friendly spirit."

RIFFLES.

The two hours' race which is to take place in the Lansdowne roller rink on Monday evening next, is causing considerable excitement among the local roller skaters. Several members of the lacrosse club, it is rumoured, are confident that they have the "wind" and are going to enter, and at present it looks as if a dozen or so are to toe the chalk line. A clerk in a prominent dry goods store, it is understood, is going to give all local competitors a half lap of a start.

The Parlor rink re-opened on Thursday with every appointment as complete as assiduous care and attention could make them. The skates have been overhauled and put in first-class shape, and the floor planed and sand-papered, is now perfectly smooth and even.

THE BICYCLE.

AN INTERESTING RUN.

At the last of the series of fortnightly sports given under the auspices of the Amateur Athletic Association, in their grounds, three competitors entered for the first year men's bicycle race. Fred. Might took first place, and Frank Karch, though third, was riding easily not ten yards behind. At the finish of the first lap Karch had the misfortune to have the sole of his shoe torn off, and his chances of winning were lost. On Thursday evening, however, with guarded secrecy, each determined to see which was best. The race was arranged very quietly, and other than the two or three cricketers, who were practicing in the association grounds, none had the good fortune of seeing what is pronounced to be the best mile race on the bike that has ever been rode in Peterborough. Everything was ready and a start was made. Might got the best of the start by about ten feet, but he didn't increase his advantage an inch. Lap after lap was made, with Karch slowly shortening the gap, until at the close of the mile, when each made a final spurt, two feet measured the distance between the two wheels. Such is the account furnished to us by an eyewitness.

FOOTBALL.

COMMENCING PRACTICE.

The Football Club commence practice on Monday afternoon at five o'clock. Practice will be continued regularly three times a week until the match with the Kingston Club, which takes place early in October.

BASE BALL.

THE RETURN MATCH.

The Merchants and Insurance men "had it out" in the Riverside Park on Friday afternoon. This match was looked forward to with considerable interest by the friends of both sides. Last week the Insurance men were badly worsted by the Mercantile nine, but still it ran vaguely through Capt. Wilson's mind that there were underwriter ball players in the county to come out at the big end of the horn on the return match. Accordingly communication was at once opened up with unknowns of Ennismore, Down, and other places. Capt. Gironx's detectives, however, were on the trail, and when the dice were cast such operations were being carried on reached headquarters, the commotion was intense and shadows of doubt began to flit across the minds of the leaders. A council of war was at once held in the loiterers back parlor. It was resolved to send out a squad in skirmishing order under the command of Capt. Gironx to recruit. When the two nines were mustered in the field of battle the chances of victory were seemingly about even. But the deadly volleys from the Merchants battery produced great havoc and consternation (at least, so Capt. Gironx says) among the Insurance men. At any rate it resulted in the Insurance men being defeated by a score of 30 to 17.

The score is as follows:—

MERCHANTS.		INSURANCE.
Gironx M. p.	1	Dickson W. T. b.	3

SHORT STOPS.

It is probable that insurance rates will go down.

Ah! Alice, you did it up gracefully in centre field. But why didn't you hit the ball?

That man behind the bat for the insurance men caught remarkably well for his "first attempt."

Green is a good fielder. He made particularly good catching on Friday.

"Well, I don't see how it was done," is what Capt. Wilson says.

"It was my curves that did it."—Captain Gironx.

Frank Mercer took first base for the merchants and only made one error.

Why did Salisbury fill his pipe and have a smoke on third base?

Because he knew that that they couldn't hit Mossey's twisters.

And now the bankers come forward and say that they want to play the merchants next week.

And likewise the painters' nine want to try their strength with Porter Bros' heavy men.

And Ed. Brown says that he can put a merchants nine into the field that can defeat any other nine, barring the Peterboroughs, in town. This is meant for Sam Fitzgerald, the champion of the mechanics' nine.

The date for the Lindsay-Peterborough match is not yet settled, but it will in all probability take place in the Riverside Park on Thursday next.

VACATING.

THE GREAT RACE.

The third trial of the Genesta and Puritan for the American cup was made on Friday, but owing to the course not being made within the time limit, the race was again postponed.

"GO"

Is a characteristic which a business man must possess nowadays in order to hold his own among his fellow men. He must be up with the times, and, if possible, FORGE AHEAD. The day has long gone by when a merchant can sit down and wait till trade comes to him. Profits on goods are now so small and competition so active, that one must be wide awake to maintain a leading place.

THE HORTICULTURAL SHOW.
TO THE Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR, Since the appearance of my letter in your issue of the 10th inst. respecting the removal of my melons from the exhibition tables, on the previous day, I have ascertained that these melons were actually stolen, and I have also discovered the name of the young man—not by who was guilty of that act of blackguardism.

I desire now to inform that person, through your columns, that I had not been acquainted with those who were actually stolen, and I would have appeared before the Police Magistrate this morning to answer to the charge I should have preferred against him.

Peterborough, Sept. 14th, 1885.

Diphtheria.
MONTREAL, Sept. 12.—During the last few months an epidemic of diphtheria is reported to have existed in the parish of St. Polycarpe, Saguenay county, Quebec, no less than 100 children being reported to have died from the disease during the summer months. In one family alone eight children died. The epidemic now, however, is decreasing, and during the last few days only three cases have been reported.

A Thirty Years' Law suit.
BERLIN, Sept. 11.—A curious lawsuit has reached a conclusion in Lippe Detmold, after nearly thirty years' duration. This little principality of 445 square miles, has a population of 120,246 souls, and a revenue of about $48,000, which is considerably less than the annual expenditure. It is ruled over by Prince Waldecker, whose civil list of £10,000 proving insufficient for the expenses of his court, he sold Lippe Detmold, a part of his territory, to Prussia in 1807 for a sum of £1,250. It was an old custom of the principality that whenever a princess of the reigning house or of the collateral branches was about to marry, the sum of £75,000 was raised as a marriage gift for the princess by a tax on all persons liable to the taxation. In 1857 the Countess von Hamsingen, born Countess of Lippe Weissenfeld, commenced a suit against the Government and Chambers of the Principality for the marriage gift to her daughter, the Countess, who had married into the family of the Countess, she had signed her name to a decree of the Imperial Supreme Appeal Court of the Empire. The Countess was one of the most important of Lippe Detmold owing to the amount involved and the extreme poverty of the Principality.

A Timely Warning.
Mr. J. Clinton Collins, in writing the Witness under date of Sept. 3rd, says:—

"Since I left Montreal, nearly three years ago, I have travelled very extensively amongst the crannies and crevices of the North Western States, and therefore am, I think, able to say a word about the above subject. The real reason why Canadian cheese is preferred in the English market to that made in the United States is simply because the Canadian has the reputation of being invariably full cream, while it is equally known that fully one half of the cheese factories of Illinois, Wisconsin, and Iowa sell their milk more or less. This is not all. Notwithstanding the exposure by the press a few years ago of the substitution of lard and other oils for the cream previously skimmed off, by the cheese makers of Wisconsin, the product of such a mixture is still not unknown in our markets, as many an unwary purchaser knows to his cost. It is therefore not natural, even when goods are of a seemingly equal quality, that in the home markets advantage in price should be given to the product of a country like Canada, which has never been known to produce or export a pound of adulterated cheese, while the practice of 'skimming' is almost unknown? The English cheese consumers know what they are about, and, as a mark of their detestation of dishonesty, are willing to pay a premium upon goods the purity of which they can depend upon. Let the dairy interest of Canada beware lest they lose their present advantage, as several unscrupulous parties have made shipments of cheese from this city branded as to appear Canadian. This should be exposed, or in time Canadian cheese will not stand so high as it does at present."

BURNED TO DEATH IN BED
An Actress Falls Asleep While Smoking a Cigarette and Dies in Agency.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Miss Marion Norwood, aged 29 years, an actress, well known by her play "Kiss Me," in "Uncle Tom's Cabin," died Wednesday morning in the Bellevue Hospital. Last Tuesday night she returned to her room at 34 Clinton Place, after indulging in a wine supper with some friends. After dozing, she lay on her bed reading and smoking cigarettes. She had been in the room about half an hour when the household was startled by agonized shrieks. A number of the boarders rushed to Miss Norwood's room, where they found her writhing upon the floor wrapped in flames while the bed was just beginning to blaze. A blanket was thrown about the unfortunate and the flames quenched, but her injuries were so severe that she could not even cry out. The flesh on the limbs, breast and part of the abdomen was completely burned off, while her upper lip was completely burned to a cinder and fell off when the ambulance surgeon took the body. Miss Norwood was removed to the hospital and quinine administered. She died unconscious. It is supposed she fell asleep while smoking, and that the cigarette set fire to her night dress and the bed. Miss Norwood was married three times, but had no husband when she died. The actress' friend will bury the body.

BIG BEAR GUILTY.
The Jury Recommended Henry—Sentenced for Three Years.

WINNIPEG, September 12.—In Big Bear's trial, Stanley Simpson, of Fort Pitt, was the only important witness of the prosecution. He was one of the prisoners of this band at one time. He claimed to have seen Big Bear cut off a piece of tobacco and heard him tell the Indians around him at the time that he wanted to see the heads of the whites cut off in the same way. Big Bear, he said, also wanted to see the man who commanded the police killed. He did not see Big Bear taking part in the fight at Frenchman's Butte, but said he had heard him say the Indians had killed about twenty soldiers and had done well. Subsequently the witness, knowledge of the facts in the case was tested by questions put to him by the court interpreter, which he failed to understand, making out only an occasional word.

One of the witnesses for the defence swore that he had heard Stanley Simpson say he thought Big Bear should be hung and was surprised to see a white man giving evidence in his defence.

The evidence put in by the defence was directly contradictory to the charges and the effect that Big Bear was the only good Indian in the whole band and used all the time he had for good and in behalf of the whites.

The Judge said that nothing short of fear of instant death was sufficient excuse for Big Bear's remaining with the band.

When the jury retired, Mr. Robertson stated to the Court that he considered the above statement was too strong.

After the point had been discussed the jury was recalled and the law again laid down to them. Retiring again they returned in about a quarter of an hour with a verdict of "guilty" qualified by a recommendation for mercy.

The Judge delayed sentence and discharged the jury.

Mr. McLean and others proposed getting up a petition to present to the Court praying that Big Bear in 7 be allowed to go with the understanding that he may be called upon at any time to receive sentence.

LATER—Big Bear was today sentenced to three years at Stony Mountain Penitentiary.

RIOT AT A RACE.
Fight at the Races for the Kilrush and Clare Plates.

KILKURSHON-SHANNON, County Clare, Ireland, September 12.—There was a great riot yesterday afternoon at the races for the Kilrush and Clare plates. For several days bitter complaints have been made against obnoxious landlords, who devote themselves to horse racing. Yesterday the following notice was posted in the streets and on the fences for mile about:—

"Mind of Clare, are you going to allow those vile instruments of landlord tyranny, Tim Sheldy and Charley Martin, who have carried their death route as to so many of our brethren, to rally to Mrs. McInerney, who perished after her execution, to run their horses back and forth, to fill the people's eyes? If so, you share in their infamy. Show yourselves men and be there to prevent it, as a scoreless are doing you. God save Ireland."

Thousands of people who had been at the Kilrush races had arrived to witness the sport. The race course was lined by women and children, yelling and brandishing shillies.

Everybody felt that a big fight was to come off. The owners of horses resorted to a stratagem by which to avoid the vengeance of the populace. Martin attempted to disguise his filly by painting her brown, but the jockey, Lynch, was recognized by the crowd, and was lashed with terms of abuse, horse and jockey. A few huts around Lynch was knocked off the horse and dragged about on the ground, where the people jumped on him. He narrowly escaped with his life. All the jockeys were torn off their horses and kicked and dragged about. Hundreds of heads were smashed, but nobody was killed.

Ladies, if you want a Jersey Cloth
Mantle made to order, and a neat fit, leave your order at Tarnabell's.

BURNED TO DEATH IN BED
An Actress Falls Asleep While Smoking a Cigarette and Dies in Agency.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Miss Marion Norwood, aged 29 years, an actress, well known by her play "Kiss Me," in "Uncle Tom's Cabin," died Wednesday morning in the Bellevue Hospital. Last Tuesday night she returned to her room at 34 Clinton Place, after indulging in a wine supper with some friends. After dozing, she lay on her bed reading and smoking cigarettes. She had been in the room about half an hour when the household was startled by agonized shrieks. A number of the boarders rushed to Miss Norwood's room, where they found her writhing upon the floor wrapped in flames while the bed was just beginning to blaze. A blanket was thrown about the unfortunate and the flames quenched, but her injuries were so severe that she could not even cry out. The flesh on the limbs, breast and part of the abdomen was completely burned off, while her upper lip was completely burned to a cinder and fell off when the ambulance surgeon took the body. Miss Norwood was removed to the hospital and quinine administered. She died unconscious. It is supposed she fell asleep while smoking, and that the cigarette set fire to her night dress and the bed. Miss Norwood was married three times, but had no husband when she died. The actress' friend will bury the body.

INDEPENDENCE.

The Montreal Star is one of the few journals published in Canada that favor the severance of our connection with the British Empire, and it believes that it sees evidence of the movement growing so rapidly that independence may soon become a fact in all elections. The Young Liberals have been advised by organs of the party to lay down independence as a plank in their platform, and other Reform papers are advocating commercial union with the United States, and other changes that would be opposed to the interests of the Empire. But the Star should not attach too much importance to these discontented murmurings of a few disappointed journals and politicians. The people of Ontario are loyal to the Empire. They love the land of their birth or of their ancestors and the traditions and flag of their country, and their material interests are not antagonistic to their sentimental leanings. The country would be a sad one in which all sentiment was crushed or talked out of its people, and in which gross materialism was supreme, but there is little danger of such a condition of affairs being brought about in Canada by the ill-considered prating of Disappointment. The majority of the young men of Canada love their country. Young people are prone to be enthusiastic, but their very love for Canada would lead them to object to a political change that would be certain to lead the absorption of Canada into the United States of America. The Reform leaders have failed to propound a policy that would recommend itself to the people of the Dominion, and many of their followers are dissatisfied and even desperate. A few of these, counting on the enthusiasm of youth, have tempted them to demand independence, but they will, we feel sure, find that even Young Liberals have heads too old to be deluded by the glitter of a bauble. It is true that many adherents and leaders of the Reform party in Quebec have spoken in favor of independence, but if their influence and other causes should lead the Reform party to make the question of independence a factor in the election, they will find that they have added a more serious blunder than usual to their long list of mistakes. Nothing short of the most powerful reasons would cause the people of Canada to withdraw their allegiance from the throne; trifles and doubtful expectations will have little effect.

No greater misfortune could befall the country at the present time than to seek to create new issues and to wholly divert public attention from the disasters resulting from the misadministration of public affairs. London Advertiser.

It looks as though the Advertiser fears the result of the Young Liberal convention, and would rather have the party remain without a policy, depending upon carping at small things and misrepresentation for success.

The Picton Times (Reform) says that the Senate must not be abolished. Those Reformers who have been advocating its abolition will please now carry away that proposed plank of the Reform platform and bury it with Mr. Blake's celebrated Aurora speech.

The Governor General.
OTTAWA, Sept. 11.—His Excellency the Governor General returned to the capital yesterday. He leaves to-day en route for Manitoba and the North West Territories via the Canadian Pacific railway. While in the North West Territories his Excellency will drive the first spike in the new line of railway from Lethbridge to Danmore. A silver hammer has been manufactured for the ceremony by Messrs. Savage & Lyman, of Montreal. It bears the inscription, "Presented to his Excellency the Marquis of Lansdowne by Sir A. T. Galt." The plate of the silver case in which the hammer is enclosed bears the inscription, "Souvenir of the opening of the railway from Lethbridge to Danmore by his Excellency the Marquis of Lansdowne, Sept. 10, 1885."

WELL DOING.

The Chief Attribute to a Christian Life—What Principal Cavan Says.

At both the morning and evening services at St. Paul's Church, Principal Cavan, of Knox College, Toronto, occupied the pulpit. The subject of his remarks in the evening was the ninth verse of the sixth chapter of the Epistle to the Galatians:

"And let us not be weary in well doing: for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not." He commenced his discourse by pointing out that whatever was put in the ground at seed time, whether wheat, rye or oats, the same kind of grain would be reaped at harvest, and by applying the statement to the spiritual world. Our present state was the seed time; what kind of seed we here sow the same shall we reap in the harvest of the world to come. Suppose a man led an inglorious, immoral life; it would be useless for him to expect blessedness in the eternal world. On the other hand, if a man lived a life of godliness, holiness and self-denial, he would be certain of being rewarded in the world to come. Then Christians should not be weary of well doing, when such an explicit promise of reward was given. This promise was given with a purpose to encourage Christians to steadfastness, energy and zeal in the service of Christ, and to cause them to become, if possible, more abundant in the work of the Lord.

But the first attribute to a Christian life was well doing. What was our conception of well doing? The phrase primarily referred to kindness to fellow men; to aid them in bettering their bodily condition. It meant to be of service to those who were in need of help. But in the Gospel had said, it had a spiritual significance. It meant to instruct the ignorant; to reclaim those who were out of the way. The duties of a painstaking Sabbath school teacher or the work of the faithful pastor was well doing. In truth, the true meaning of well doing was the sowing in the sowing of the seed of the Kingdom of God, as well as that of the body. But still, even with this promise of future reward, Christians often wearied in well doing. Why was this the case? It was because people were not aware of the dangers that were besetting them; they did not realize that they were encamped in the country of an enemy, where it was absolutely necessary to keep unceasing and vigilant watch. The people did not possess enough energy. They would rather sit than stand, and they would rather ride than walk. Some persons had an inexhaustible supply of energy, but the many preferred to take things easily and quietly. That was where the danger crept in. All about the continually exercising in stimulating, earnest work. But there were special reasons why the people wearied of well doing. The work oftentimes does not seem to be at all productive of good, and the worker tires. The Sabbath school teacher, after much labour, finds it difficult to get a hearing, and frequently, even when sacred things were being spoken of, it is found hard to suppress levity. It is instances of other minor cases. It should be borne in mind, however, that much was to be saved through Christ alone, but still the connection between this present life and the future life was just as certain as if this were not the case. And Christian workers should not get wearied because of the seeming barrenness of their work. He was confident that every moral act and good work had its effect. We were told that physical energy was never lost, and it had been proven that when a stone was dropped in a pool of water the effects would go on to infinity, and that, so far as we knew, every atom composing the universe was effected by the vibration. He felt that this was as true in the spiritual and moral world as it was in the physical world. Workers should not be wearied on account of their good work in the present, but being chronicled in the daily newspaper. Every good act was chronicled; the account was kept in God's great book. Then it was said that in due season we should be rewarded. How impatient were we? We were like to our children who planted their garden in the morning and expected the buds to burst forth by evening. The husbandman sows the seed in May and after months of care and watching reaps in August. But how different it is with us; we expect immediate fruit of our sowing. But the time would come when the seed and the tree would be rewarded to the fullness. When the soul was absent from the body and present with the Lord, then would we reap as we have sown. He exhorted his hearers to be always abundant in the work of the Lord, inasmuch as they labored not in vain. Notwithstanding the difficulties and discouragements that were round about them, they who labored in this life for the spiritual uplifting of both themselves and their fellow men, would rest from their labor in heaven.

RESCUED FROM A WRECK.

Two days in the Water Clinging to Planks Four Men Saved.

GLASGOW, Sept. 11.—John de Winter, master of the barque Stanhope, gives the following story of the loss of the Norwegian barque Hoga, and of the rescue of the four survivors: "I sailed from Hookland on August 2nd, for Clyde. About 9 o'clock in the evening of the 12th, we ran into a lot of wreckage and fell foul of the top of a ship's hull. Two hours later we were startled by the cries of several men. We shouted back and hove to, expecting to see a boat. None appeared, but the cries continued. At last we heard a feeble voice, begging for God's sake to send help. We launched a boat which pulled in the direction from which the cries came. After a short time the boat returned with Svend Holmgren, the second mate, and the Rogaland, the seaman Hendrickson, and a boy named Nelson who had been picked up in the last state of exhaustion floating on a raft built of deals. They reported that they formed part of the crew of the Hoga, and with the exception of the steward, Knudt Nelson, whom we picked up after an anxious search on the following morning, also floating on some deals, were the only survivors. Holmgren said the Rogaland had capsized in a fearful gale on the 10th. The captain and several of the crew clung to the keel of the boat, but the sea soon swept them off. Holmgren and Nelson were sinking, when, with a last effort, they clung to a plank that was drifting by and hanging to it managed to keep their heads above water until several planks and a bit of rope floated in their way. In the morning Hendrickson succeeded in joining them and the steward, who had also escaped, followed their example and made a second raft. All suffered much from hunger and thirst. On the 11th they sighted a steamer, but she passed by without heeding their signals.

Agriculture and Arts.

The annual meeting of the Agricultural and Arts association was held on Wednesday evening in London. An interesting feature of the meeting was the awarding of prizes in the farm competition and for essays on agricultural subjects. A resolution was also adopted pledging the association to do all in his power towards securing a good display at the Colonial and Indian Exhibition in London next year.

HE FOUND HIS LOST BOY.

Five Days in the Bottom of a Mine Hole His First Deep.

LEBANON, Sept. 10.—Clayton Klick, and his father, Henry Klick, of Jonestown, this country, went to the hills on Wednesday morning in search of mountain tea. They became separated in the afternoon, and when evening came the father called his son, but could not find him. Every effort by the father and the neighbors to find the boy was in vain. The mountain was well sprinkled with deep and dangerous air shafts of old and abandoned mines, and it was almost a certainty that the boy had fallen into one of them. Next day the father and friends searched but found no trace of the boy. Friday, Saturday and Sunday he explored hundreds of holes, but in vain. All gave up except the devoted father who again went out on Monday. He had given up all hope of finding the boy alive, but he thought he might discover his dead body. All of Monday he vigorously hunted high and low. He hailed, "Clayton, Clayton," as loud as he could in the deep holes.

Monday evening came, and as the father was about giving up in despair, he saw one more hole near the edge of the hill, and he resolved to make a last effort. He knelt and hallowed down the hole and listened as he had listened hundreds of times during the past five days. Then he became startled as he heard a groan. Then he called again and listened to hear the faint words of his son answering, "Father, I am down here." The old man around the neighbors, who lowered a rope 150 feet long to the bottom of the hole. The boy was just strong enough to tie the rope to his body, and the men drew him up. He was nearly dead. His feet and lower limbs were swollen and he could not walk. He said that he had tumbled down the air vent, which, being zigzagged, broke his fall and saved his life. Although he was horribly bruised, he thought he would have to start to death. His joy at hearing his father's voice was great. The doctors hope the boy's feet will not have to be amputated. Hundreds of excited neighbors followed the strong men as they carried the sufferer three miles on a litter home.

THE REAL SIR ROGER.

Another Tiebhorne claimant turns up in California.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—There is a new Tiebhorne claimant. He lives in California, served in the Federal army and navy during the late war, and has filed an application in the pension office for a pension on account of wounds received while in the army. He has a friend in town who says that with the money which he hopes to obtain as arrears of pension, if he should be granted a pension—some two thousand or twenty five hundred dollars—he hopes to establish the fact that he is Sir Roger Tiebhorne. At the request of this friend the claimant's present name and address are withheld.

THE CLAIMANT'S STORY.

The story the claimant tells is that on his way to Australia after he left home was shipwrecked on an island, from which a passing ship took him and his companions to San Francisco. Thence he drifted to New York, but did not attempt to go to England, being half unwilling, half ashamed to go home. At the breaking out of the war he enlisted under an assumed name. As a man of intelligence and unusual refinement he was well regarded by all the officers, except the captain of his ship. The latter treated him so badly that he deserted. He then a respectable but uneducated girl of the lower class. Feeling still more estranged from his home he again enlisted, this time in the army, and under another assumed name, which he still bears. He was twice wounded. Once all the fingers of his left hand were shot away and again he was shot in the body. The result of his wounds was a temporary aberration of mind, during which he wandered about to New York, and the war was over before he could return to his regiment, so he stands a technical deserter from the army. After the war he took his wife and went to California. There he hired out as a day labourer on the ranches in Southern California, and there he has been ever since.

MARRIED IN NEW YORK CITY.

HE IS NOW A LABOURER.

but has charge of the work on a certain ranch. He told nobody his story. He had given up all idea of ever returning to England. His health was shaken; his habits had changed; his wife and his poverty were obstacles. But a few months ago a lady visiting at the ranch learned his secret and urged him to go to England and try to establish his identity. He said that even if no other reason prevented him his poverty was a barrier. Then she asked whether he had ever procured a pension, and when he learned that he had not, urged him to do so, and to use the money to establish his claim to the Tiebhorne title. This he said he would do.

A PRIMITIVE SORT OF PEOPLE.

The Poverty and Ignorance of Kentucky Mountaineers.

These mountaineers are a singular people. They have not the slightest idea of law and order as it is understood and practiced in other portions of the country. Every individual resents an injury with knife, pistol or gun, provided he has the requisite courage to do so, or, if not, waylays and shoots down his enemy whenever he can be caught off his guard. Like their prototypes who live in the mountains of Georgia, North Carolina, and Tennessee, the Kentucky mountaineers are a peculiar set of people, differing in every way from the good inhabitants of these states. They are densely ignorant, and are utterly unable to avail themselves of the proper process of the law. Their poverty and ignorance is pitiable in the extreme; they know nothing whatever of the habits of the civilized world, and many have never been beyond the confines of their own counties. Their houses are made of logs and mud, and in some sections the eight of a pane of glass would cause a sensation.

The virtues they possess are purely primitive, suggesting the savages in many respects. They are strictly honest as to rights of property, they do not steal, outrages are uncommon. With such a condition of things surrounding them, it is easy for a few bold, resolute, and reckless men to dominate a whole country. Those who are not killed die from disease peculiar to people who do not comprehend that cleanliness is next to godliness. The term "husband" or "wife" is never heard. It is "my man" or "my woman." Nine tenths of these mountaineers were in the Union army, and fought with a courage and heroism that swept everything before them. The country where they live abounds in the richest of blue forests, full of walnuts, white pine, poplar, oak, hickory, and other desirable timber. Their hills are full of the finest cast-iron ore known in the world, and the coal lands are pronounced by Professor Shaler, of Harvard college, to be superior of any in America. Lumber and Harlan counties in Kentucky are full of the finest iron ore. When railroads are built through these mountains civilization will reach the present inhabitants, and the example of thrift and consequent profits will no doubt play its full part in inspiring a desire to indulge in habits of industry, until then there is little chance of their improvement. —New York Times.

A Smart Scheme.

Two darkies had to carry a large desk to the house of Dr. Blister, who had bought it at a furniture store. When they arrived with the desk he was in and directed them to put it. The darkies objected to get a quarter each as least for their extra trouble, but also the doctor did not give them anything at all. He forgot all about their services in carrying the heavy desk up two flights of stairs.

They consulted together for a moment in the hall, and then they began to fight and pound each other, calling each other all manner of vile names. No such uproar had been heard since the adjournment of the Legislature.

Dr. Blister hearing the noise, came out and wanted to know the cause of the disturbance. "Oh, these niggers kept for himself the money what you put him in for, for taking the desk up the stairs," said Sam.

"You is a liar. Do doctor didn't give me no money. You got the money and kept it," retorted Jim.

"You are both wrong, boys," said Dr. Blister. "I didn't give either of you anything, but I'll make it all right. Don't fight any more," and taking out his pocket book he gave them a quarter each.

Those who assert the colored man has no executive ability should ponder over this item. —Texas Siftings.

A Complete Cure-Away.

Mrs. Paterly was making a neighborly call on Mrs. Simons. While they were chatting together little Mame Simons was seen coming towards the house with a package in her hand.

"Mame is such a smart child, she is too smart for her age. I often send her to the corner with a twenty dollar bill, and she always brings back the right change."

Enter Mame, who runs to her mother and says:—

"I got the coffee from the grocery, but the clerk says if you don't pay last month's bill you can't get anything more on credit." —Texas Siftings.

FARM AND GARDEN.

PEARS should not be allowed to ripen fully upon the tree.

A GRAPEVINE growing at Orlando, Fla., is fifty two inches in circumference.

Cut oaks before they are fully ripe; they will shell out less and the straw will be more valuable.

POTASH should be applied to all kinds of fruit trees, especially to the peach and other stone fruits.

A GREAT many farmers would be richer every year, if they thought as much about ways of doing their work as they do about excuses for not doing it.

One of the greatest horticulturists of the present day says, "If I had a small peach or plum on my tree, I should take this for my text—'Sir the Soil.'"

LATE cabbage is often planted in gardens between rows of potatoes, where it is an object to have space. Some fancy that the cabbage is better preserved in this way from the cabbage fly.

The tropical gooseberry, which is cultivated in Florida, grows on a handsome tree from 10 to 15 feet in height. The fruit is rather smaller than the European crab apple, and the shape a flattened globe. It contains one hard seed. The fruit is only moderately valuable, but the tree is ornamental.

THIS is the month, says the American Agriculturist, for sowing those crops which are to start, and remain all winter, for early spring growth, such as cabbage, cauliflower, lettuce, and onion. In accordance of the variable weather it is well to sow twice, five or six days apart.

The young plants are afterwards set out in cold frames, to pass the winter. Sometimes they are thinned in the row, and covered with straw.

HINTS TO HOUSEKEEPERS.

NIXON use water from a stone reservoir for cooking purposes.

MIST for chapping should always be carefully dried before using; it loses half its fragrance if cut up when wet.

NEVER keep vinegar or yeast in stone crocks or jars; their acid attacks the glass, which is said to be poisonous. Glass for either is better.

NEVER use water which has stood in a lead pipe over night. Not less than a bucket of water should be allowed to run before any is taken for use.

UNRIPE plums, such as are taken out for thinning, make excellent pies and preserves; they should be well stewed with a good quantity of sugar as they are very sour. In making jam of them an equal amount of sugar with the fruit is not too much.

PREPARING FLOWERS.—Fruit and flowers may be preserved from decay and fading by immersing them in a solution of gum arabic and water two or three times, which is a sufficient time between each immersion to allow the gum to dry. This process covers the surface of the fruit with a thin coat of the gum, which is entirely impervious to the air, and thus prevents the decay of the fruit or the withering of the flowers. Roses thus preserved have all the beauty of freshly plucked ones, though they have been picked several months. It is reliable, and something all may try.

HICKLEBERRY CAKE.—Stir one cup of butter and two cups of sugar to a cream and add the beaten yolks of five eggs; then a cup of sweet milk, three cups of flour and a teaspoonful each of baking and cinnamon, the whole of five eggs whipped stiff, and a teaspoonful of soda dissolved in hot water. At last stir in a quart of ripe, fresh huckleberries, thickly dredged with flour, with a wooden spoon or spade, so as not to bruise them. Bake in a moderate hot steady oven, until a skewer comes out clean from the thickest part. This cake is delicious.

CABLE NEWS.

"Cable."

The oldest and most reliable brand of cigars in the market. Free from all chemicals and artificial flavoring.

"El Padre" Cigars.

Universally acknowledged to be the finest 10c cigar manufactured. Don't be persuaded to take other brands. No chemicals or artificial flavoring used.

S. Davis & Sons have moved into their new mammoth factory, the finest of its kind in America. They are the only cigar manufacturers in Canada who manufacture their own cigar boxes and packing cases, which industry gives employment to sixty hands.

Smokers!

Beware of cigars artificially flavored for the purpose of hiding the poor quality of tobacco used in flavored cigars. Insist upon having the old reliable brands—"Cable" and "El Padre."

A trial will convince the most skeptical that S. Davis & Sons' manufacture of cigars are superior in every respect to any in Canada.

Price medals against the world were awarded to S. Davis & Sons, of Montreal, for their manufacture of cigars, at Paris, 1867, Centennial, 1876, Montreal, 1883 &c.

A WANT OF ACTIVITY.—Much of the ill condition of chronic invalids is due to want of activity in a sluggish liver. Burdock Blood Bitters arouses a healthy action of the liver to secrete pure bile, and thus make pure blood which gives perfect health.

THE CHOLERA.—Possibly the Cholera may not reach our locality this season. Nevertheless, we should take every precaution against it. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is a sure cure for Cholera Morbus, Colic, Cramp, Diarrhoea and Dysentery.

A STRANGE DISEASE.—There is scarcely a symptom belonging to chronic complaints but is common to the poor dyspeptic, and he often feels as if he had every disease in the catalogue. Burdock Blood Bitters cures the worst form of Chronic Dyspepsia.

IN MURRAY & LARSEN'S FLORIDA WATER the most debilitated and nervous can find relief. Used freely in the water of the bath, its effect is almost marvellous, so strengthening, and bracing, and withal so exquisitely agreeable.

LITTLE BEGINNINGS.—The steam which raised the lid off the kettle led a philosophic mind to utilize it for man's benefit. No one dreamed that we should be dragged along by it at the rate of sixty miles an hour. When Perry Davis made a preparation for the medicinal use of his family thirty years ago, neither he nor any other man imagined that it would now be the rate of sixty miles an hour. It is the Pain Killer of the world.

Strange freaks.

John O'Brien, a young man whose parents reside in Ashburnham, was arrested for lunacy about four years ago and was sent to the Toronto asylum. He had not been long there when he was, to all appearance, sound in mind, and he was allowed to go. For the past few months he has been working at Mr. Geo. Lipsett's hotel, Ashburnham. He has worked steadily along and did not betray any signs of returning insanity until Friday last. Mr. Lipsett sent him to wash a buggy in the afternoon. O'Brien hitched the horse to the buggy and drove down to the Ottonabee River. But instead of remaining close to the shore to wash the vehicle he adopted a somewhat original process. Remaining in the boat he forced the horse into the river, and, although in the swift current just above the Ashburnham bridge, compelled the animal to swim across. Gaining the Peterborough shore he stripped off his coat and vest and placed them on the horse. On Saturday O'Brien seemed to have got over his fit. He worked around as usual during the day. On Saturday night, however, he arose in the middle of the night, and, arrayed in no other dress than a sheet, made a visit to several of the residents in the vicinity. He came back to the hotel and proceeded to wake every one in the house. On Sunday morning he did several very strange things. On Sunday forenoon his relatives caused a warrant to be issued for his arrest and he was conveyed to the goal.

During his lecture he made several scientific experiments. Mr. Dumble occupied the chair, and the Rev. F. H. Wallace conducted the devotional exercises.

Chit-chat.

—Bright again.
—Merchants and manufacturers are already preparing for the Central Exhibition.
—Who'll win the two hours' race at the Lansdowne to-night?
—Shevlin, probably—if he doesn't give three or four laps of a start.
—The new building on the Dickson race is looming up.
—And again the Lindseys are trying to quibble out of the match on Thursday.
—They are sustaining their reputation admirably.
—Building operations still continue to boom.
—Who was that individual that was playing the organ in the window of the Ball Opera office on Saturday night?
—To judge from the crowd that hung round to listen to the strains he must have been a musical prodigy.

The leaves have begun to turn—no, the look of the Leafs has begun to turn. They downed the Toronto on Saturday by 6 to 5. It was a fine match, and about fifteen hundred Torontonians turned out to see it. The present nine is said to be as strong as any in the league.

Sam. Fitzgerald thinks that Ed. Brown is a little off his "base" in regard to the mechanics' merchants' match. He says that Ed. talks wild and without authority. However, if the merchants do want a match, he is confident that he can bring a mechanics' nine into the field that can come out first best.

Ladies, if you want a Polaroid Mantle made to order and a neat fit, leave your order at Turnbull's.

The Goal.

Apart from serving as a home for the decrepit and diseased, it seems that the county goal is being turned into a lunatic asylum. There are no fewer than four prisoners committed on charge of lunacy in the goal at the present time. The cases are quiet, however, and there needs very little trouble to be taken with them to keep them in order. There are now thirteen persons in all in the goal. Most of them are drunks, sent up for ten days.

Spectacles.

Testimonial from the Rev. Father Bolduc, Secretary to the Archbishop of Quebec:—

ARCHBISHOP'S PALACE, Aug. 11, 1885.
Mr. B. Lawrence:—I have made use of the excellent spectacles which you have sent me, with great ease, to suit my sight. I find them superior to any I have made use of for a great many years. Several of my friends have visited your office and have admired, like myself, the great variety and perfection of your glasses.
Your obedient servant,
F. B. Z. BOLDUC.

Locks.

I am now receiving Door Locks made in Peterborough, and have no hesitation in saying that they are equal to the goods made by the best makers in the United States. As I intend to sell only these goods in stock in future, I am selling at reductions in price of 20 to 30 per cent. all the American Locks, Knobs and Door Trimmings that I have on hand to make room for a full line of our home made goods. There are some very fine lines, especially in Mortice Locks, among them, and I would respectfully ask your inspection. Cut Nails and Dune Hangings are very low in price just now.

Myrtletons Harder of a Canadian.

Boston, Sept. 13.—About 10.30 o'clock last night Louis Fontaine, a French Canadian 30 years of age, employed by the Bay State Brick Company, in Cambridge, rushed into his boarding house, and with a knife pressed upon his abdomen, exclaimed, "That last blow has killed me." He fell at once to the floor and soon expired. Fontaine is said to have been of temperate habits, and the prevailing theory is that he was assaulted for the purpose of robbery. There are evidences of a struggle beside the railroad track a short distance from the boarding house.

POLICE COURT.DRUNK.

MONDAY, Sept. 14.—Alfred Baffery was charged by Chief Johnston with having been drunk on the 12th of September. Evidence was taken and the prisoner was discharged.

ASSAULT.

Alfred Baffery charged Thomas McGrath with having committed an assault upon him on Saturday, the 13th of September. The defendant admitted being a little rough with the complainant, but did not think that the treatment amounted to an assault. The complainant stated that Mr. McGrath had kicked him and used him very roughly. The defendant was fined $5.

INJURY TO PROPERTY.

Alfred Baffery was charged with having been guilty of malicious injury to property by having broken a window in the shop belonging to T. McGrath. He acknowledged that the window was broken, but laid the blame on Mr. McGrath, who, he asserted, was hitting him at the time. He was fined $2 or ten days in goal, and assessed $1 in compensation to Mr. McGrath. He went to goal.

I hereby certify that I have been using a pair of Mr. Lawrence's spectacles for the last 18 years with great satisfaction and benefit to my eyes.

Charged into a Train.
An accident of a most curious kind happened near Ashburnham on Saturday afternoon. Mr. Wm. Healy, a farmer, was driving quietly along in his buggy on the southern outskirts of the village. He heard the whistle of a train on the Grand Junction Railway, but so did the old white horse he was driving. The train was rapidly nearing. All at once, to Mr. Healy's surprise, the gates of the bridge opened up, and after a series of the approaching engine and coach, made a dash directly on them. Mr. Healy, looking himself at the moment, was to restrain the animal. The horse sped on, and, colliding with the train, was quickly knocked down, the buggy smashed by being wedged between the train and a fence, and Mr. Healy was thrown from the buggy. He was not dangerously hurt, but was considerably shaken up, receiving among other injuries, a rather severe wrist bruise. The horse was slightly cut in several places, but not hurt to any extent.

The Campaign.
A public meeting was held in the Town Hall, Douro, on Monday night, under the auspices of the National Liberal Temperance Union. Mr. John Moloney, Reeve, occupied the chair. Prof. Richardson spoke for the Union, claiming that from the scientific point of view alcohol should not be prohibited. It was a food, and in the form of wine and beer was beneficial to the community. He held that prohibition was a failure, instancing the working of prohibitory laws in Iowa, Vermont, Massachusetts and Maine. He claimed that the passage of this Act would in a measure destroy the revenue; produce communism; and that it would interfere with the personal rights for which our forefathers had bled. Mr. John E. Nicholls followed and held that if alcohol was a food it was a dangerous one and could be dispensed with. He quoted statistics showing that the prohibition law worked well in the states mentioned, and refuted Prof. Richardson's arguments on the revenue question. He answered the argument regarding communism by stating that there were no such conditions in Maine, but in Chicago, with its free rum, was the headquarters for them. Mr. H. O'Connell made a short address, arguing that the proper mode in which to suppress intemperance was to stop the manufacture of intoxicants. If liquors were manufactured they would be sold, and the Scott Act would only throw the trade from the licensed taverns into the hands of illicit dealers. It encouraged the sale of whiskey while it shut out the sale of beer.

New Scotch and Canadian Tweeds for fall wear, just arrived at Habington Hall. If you are in want of a Stylish Fall Suit or Overcoat, give McNeill a call.

Mourning Goods.
Fair, VanEvery & Co. have imported this season a most complete assortment of Mourning Goods, ranging from the New Crepe Epingle, Jet Cashmere, French Silk Crapes, &c., to the more artistic Black Crepe Bonnets, Caps, &c.

Military.
The Peterborough troop of cavalry and the members of the right division of the Durham Field Battery left this morning on the 7 o'clock Grand Trunk train for the military camp at Kingston.

Coming Again.
See Prof. Hotchkiss' Springless Truss and Supporter advertisement in another column of this paper. Go and see him. He defies the horns he cannot hold. Will be at the Grand Central Hotel Oct. 12, 13 and 14.

Brownies.
The Manitoulin Reporter of September 12th says:—
"Martin Dulle, an ex-employee of the Michael's Bay Lumber Co., was drowned from a small boat about three weeks since off Alpena. His people are believed to live near Peterborough."

For Gentlemen.
Gentlemen will find at the Golden Lion a choice stock of Scotch and Canadian Tweeds, Warrants, Over Coatings, Rubber Coats, Furnishings, Underwear, &c. Tailoring a specialty, and a first class Cutter at your command.

Rifles.
Referring to the several items in our daily papers about the sale of a Colt's rifle, I would say that I have Colt's Magazine Rifles as well as Winchester Rifles in stock, price $30. Cartridges to suit, 65 cents per box. Discount for quantities as usual. Cartridge Cases, Wads, Shot, Powder and Caps at very low prices.

Locks.
I am now receiving Door Locks made in Peterborough, and have no hesitation in saying that they are equal to the locks made by the best makers in the United States. As I intend to keep only these goods in stock in future, I am selling at reductions in price of 20 to 30 per cent. all the American Locks, Knobs and Door Trimmings that I have on hand to make room for a full line of our home made goods. There are some very fine lines, especially in Mortice Locks, among them, and I would respectfully ask your inspection. Cut Nails and Door Hinges are very low in price just now.

Immunization.
Dr. Clarke, the Medical Health Officer, inaugurated free vaccination in the Town Hall, Ashburnham, on Monday afternoon, between the hours of four and five o'clock. The hall was filled, and the number who presented themselves to be given this only safeguard against the dread smallpox was quite large. Considering that Peterborough is so closely connected with Montreal, where the disease is now raging, commercially and otherwise, it would be a wise precaution on the part of the Town Council to order the Medical Health Officer to hold one hour free vaccination operations daily.

The Stove Factory.
The following Government notice is published in Saturday's Ontario Gazette:—
"Public notice is hereby given that, under the 'Ontario Joint Stock Companies' Letters Patent Act,' Letters Patent have been issued under the Great Seal of the Province of Ontario, bearing date the 2nd day of September, 1886, incorporating William Manley Powell and Thomas Jones, of the Town of Smith's Falls, in the County of Lanark and Province of Ontario, Stove Manufacturers; James Stevenson, George Albertus Cox and David William Dunbar, of the Town of Peterborough, in the County of Peterborough, and Province aforesaid, Requirers, for the purposes following, that is to say:—The manufacturing of stoves, furnaces, tinware, registers, and other wares of iron or part iron and other materials, by the name of 'The Powell and Jones Company, of Peterborough, (Limited),' with a total capital stock of two hundred thousand dollars, divided into two thousand shares of one hundred dollars each."
"Dated at the Office of the Provincial Secretary of Ontario, this 10th day of September, 1886."

"ARTHUR S. HARDY,"
"Provincial Secretary."

Personal.
We learn from the Owen Sound Times that Mr. Cuthbert Charles Grant, who was formerly in the Bank of Toronto here, died at Owen Sound on August 27th in his 35th year.

Bishop Cleary leaves Kingston for Peterborough to-day.

Mr. Wm. Finlayson, of Finlayson & Auld, Glasgow, agents for Great Britain of the Peterborough Real Estate Investment Company, is in Peterborough on a visit. During his week's stay he will be the guest of Mr. A. P. Post-ville.

Mr. Wm. Sauter, Inspector for the London, Liverpool and Globe Insurance Company, is in town to-day.

Mr. E. Rogers assumes the management of Mr. S. Young's grocery establishment during the absence of Mr. Young on a short visit out of town.

SKATEING.
THE TWO HOURS CONTEST.

The two hours skating contest, which came off at the Lansdowne Roller Rink on Monday night, was the most successful race ever held in the rink. There were six entries; Shevlin, Scott, Burdette, McFarlane, Courney, and Corcoran. All toed the chalk line at ten minutes after eight o'clock, and on the signal for the start Shevlin took first place, McFarlane second, and Courney third, and Corcoran fourth. Burdette and Scott both took it easy. At 8.24 Shevlin, who from the start had frequently relapsed into second place, giving McFarlane the lead, made a spurt and gained half a lap. At 8.30 he had gained a lap on McFarlane and Courney, who had, in the twenty minutes skate, gained a lap on the other skaters. At ten minutes to nine Scott and Shevlin had a lively spurt together, at the end of which, Shevlin found himself nearly two laps ahead of McFarlane and Courney, who had kept together from the commencement of the contest. At the end of the first hour Shevlin led by three laps, with McFarlane second, Courney third, and Corcoran and Scott even on the fourth. Burdette was several laps in the rear and at 9.10 dropped out of the race. McFarlane made about half a dozen laps on the second hour and then retired, seen to be followed by Courney. Shevlin was about five laps ahead of Scott and Corcoran, and from the easy form of his skating it was plain to be seen that the race was his. From 9.15 to 9.45 Corcoran skated his best, and within twenty minutes of the close had gained four laps on Scott. He then weakened, and Scott, who had taken things easily from the start, took second place without much effort. During the first hour Shevlin made 11 miles and 13 laps, Corcoran and Scott, 10 and 11 laps each. At the close of the contest their distances stood as follows:—

	Miles.	Laps.
Shevlin.....	22	15
Scott.....	21	7
Corcoran.....	21	13

REFILES.
During the second hour Scott fell and while fixing his skates lost several laps.

With a pair of racing skates it is thought by some that Scott can make it a hot race for Shevlin.

It is likely that another two hours' contest will take place in the course of a couple of weeks.

McFarlane seems to be quite a favorite at the rink. He did well during the first hour and for any temporary advantage he gained he was well applauded. But the race was to long for the boy.

LACROSSE.
FOURTH.

A meeting of the Lacrosse Club was held at the Little Windsor Hotel on Monday evening. After some discussion it was decided to accept the challenge of the Cammingstons. The match will be played here for the Midland District Championship on Sept. 22nd.

Mr. H. LeBrun is now making arrangements to hold what, if he is successful, will prove to be the most important lacrosse tournament ever held in this town. It is the bringing together of the four clubs who now hold the championships of Western Ontario, Northern Ontario, Central Ontario and Eastern Ontario, respectively, to play here for the championship of the Province. If the four clubs are brought together it will be necessary to play three matches. The teams will be drawn against each other, and the winners of the first matches will finally play off. The general committee of the National Lacrosse Association have the right of naming the place where the contest shall take place. The committee is composed of five members, two from Toronto, two from Montreal, and one from Peterborough. Mr. LeBrun being the representative from this town. It is needless to say that so far as grounds and central location is concerned, Peterborough is the place, and we have no doubt that if the contest takes place here they will draw big crowds.

BASE BALL.
LINDSAY'S COMING.

The Lindseys are coming at last. At three o'clock this afternoon Mr. W. Salisbury, Secretary of the Peterborough Baseball Club, received the following telegram:—

LINDSAY, Sept. 15.
W. Salisbury:
Advertise match for 1.30 o'clock, so as to call game at two sharp.

W. H. GRAHAM,
Sec. Lindsay.

The match will be played on Thursday afternoon, and a determined struggle for the supremacy will doubtless take place.

POLICE COURT.
DISTURBING THE PEACE.

TUESDAY, Sept. 15.—Michael Lavery, Mrs. Michael Lavery and Thomas Sanderson were charged by P. C. Fidgeon with having committed a breach of the peace by fighting in a public place.

Michael, who has been interviewed by the Police Magistrate on several previous occasions, pleaded that he was looking out for a man who owed him money. By some inexplicable way, during his skirmish for sinners, he had succumbed to the effects of liquor, and when his wife and Sanderson found him in a lane off Aylmer street and tried to take him home, by acknowledged having had a little scuffle with them. Sanderson thought that he was simply conferring a favor on his friend Lavery by trying to get him home, and by giving him a few punches on the nose to keep him quiet. Lavery was fined $3 and the others were discharged.

THE CHARM OF REPOSE.

And thro' a mist of pleasantly confounded sensations, Edelrah, he each time viewed Cordelia's white image thus surrounded.

Was more and more delightfully subdued by the repose with which his charm surrounded.

She sat, like one whose customary mood is less to think than listen, her calm face a little stooped with an attentive grace.

Her body leaning backward in a chair: And her arms folded over her chest. She took in all the conversation round her there. More by the animation of her look than by her utterance, which was brief and rare.

A part that, written down into a book, would have seemed nothing, and yet was the soul.

The living source, and essence of the whole.

New, welcoming with just a glance or tone of instantaneous subtle recognition.

Some touching word, too timid all alone to utter, yet expressed by her own intuition, giving the sweetness and solidity.

That rose at once in her responsive eye.

Now, with a graceful movement of the head, waiting approval to some passing truth which, in its passage, also had fallen dead.

And all the while about her mobile mouth that subtle curve continually played.

Whose magic neither beauty nor yet youth can to the beautiful and young impart.

Without a mystic mandate from the heart.

Of all the gifts of genius none so rare as that by genius to such listeners given. Olney the most effective talkers are, compared to him.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1885.

READY TO SCOLD.

As we anticipated, the Globe refuses to answer our enquiry whether, on the supposition that Sir John Macdonald is responsible for Riel's fate, Riel ought to be hung or not hung. The Globe is very plain spoken in the expression of its opinion that Sir John is responsible, but it quibbles and evades the question as to the manner in which Sir John should exercise that responsibility. It simply, as the Reform Montreal Witness points out, holds itself ready to scold whatever may be done. The life or death of a human being is a solemn alternative, but the Globe only regards it as an opportunity of scolding a political opponent, right or wrong, and of stirring up sectional feelings.

GLOBE ADVICE TO MR. MOWAT.

The leading Reform journal of Ontario says:—
"The infamous Gerry-mander Act, by which 55 Ontario constituencies were out and carved for partisan purposes, must also be repealed."
We will see whether the Globe has sufficient influence with Mr. Mowat and his colleagues and supporters to induce them to repeal the Gerry-mander Act (there were two of them) by which they cut and carved so many constituencies for partisan purposes, and without any necessity for interfering with the constituencies as then constituted. We fear Mr. Mowat will turn a deaf ear to the Globe's remonstrance, and that the Globe will not press it upon Mr. Mowat.

OWLISS GRIP.

The comic Reform organ makes another display of its antipathy to the Dominion Administration and at the same time of its astounding ignorance of the questions of the day. Alluding to the visit of Chang, the Chinese giant, Grip takes the opportunity to represent Sir John Macdonald as doing nothing to check an influx of Chinese into Canada. Surely Grip must know that a few months ago the Parliament of Canada, at the invitation of the Macdonald Administration, passed a measure to exact a poll tax of $50 from every Chinaman entering Canada. Such a tax is certainly prohibitory of an influx of cheap Mongolian labour.

The proposition to gather a fund to pay the Reform members for their "fight for freedom" was not carried out, but all the members received pay for extra time spent in Parliament. Mr. Edgar thinks that the Reform members should donate that extra pay to an election fund. If the Globe's plan of passing the hat had been carried out, would the money have been devoted to the same purpose? It looks as though it was merely a scheme to provide the funds for a "big push."

The Globe now formally announces that it favours manhood suffrage for Ontario. This is a sudden conversion. A few months ago in the Legislative Assembly of Ontario Mr. Meredith and his supporters moved in favour of manhood suffrage, but Mr. Mowat and his followers voted down this proposition. We have no recollection that the Globe at that time pronounced Mr. Meredith and the Conservatives to be in the right, or Mr. Mowat and the Reformers to be in the wrong.

AN INHUMAN MOTHER.

She Cuts the Throat of Her Three Children With a Pair of Scissors.

TORONTO, Sept. 15.—A fearful tragedy was enacted in Brown's lane shortly after eight o'clock this morning. A woman named Sarah Airey slashed the throats of her three young children terribly with a pair of scissors. The wounds inflicted on the two eldest boys are not necessarily fatal, but it is feared the younger one will die. The inhuman mother cut the little one's neck several times, inflicting fearful wounds, and then, as if not satisfied with her handiwork, thrust the points of the scissors into the jugular vein. Mrs. Airey was placed under arrest and the children were removed to the hospital in an ambulance.

SETTLED AT LAST.

The Town Council Accepts the Proposition of Mrs. Nicholls in Regard to the Hospital.

A special meeting of the Town Council was held on Tuesday evening. There were present: His Worship the Mayor, and Councillors O'Hill, Davidson, McNaughton, Kelly, Menzies, Kendry and Green. On motion the reading of the minutes of the last meeting was dispensed with.

The Mayor explained that the object of the meeting was to take into consideration a fresh proposal from Mrs. Nicholls in regard to the Nicholls hospital.

The Clerk read the following communication from Mrs. Nicholls:—

PETERBOROUGH, Sept. 14, 1885.

Mrs. Nicholls, on further consideration, and in view of the difficulties which appear to surround the acceptance of the Nicholls hospital by the town and county jointly, I have determined to withdraw my original offer and to submit the following in its place: I now propose to transfer the hospital to trustees to be named by me, together with an endowment of $15,000 for the exclusive benefit of Protestants of the town of Peterborough, to be supported and controlled by the Protestants of the town, and it is my desire that if necessary legislation should be obtained for the purpose of enabling your body to impose a special tax for this object, I would suggest that in any legislation obtained, provision be made for the village of Amherstham to the benefit of the hospital upon like terms. The hospital is now in order, ready for the reception of patients and an efficient body superintendent and staff of servants are already in charge, and I hope that there will be no little delay as possible in placing the hospital in such a position that it may be made available to those who are in need of it.

I am, Sir, very respectfully,

Your Obedient Servant,
CHARLOTTE J. NICHOLLS.

Councillor MENZIES moved, seconded by Councillor KENDRY, That the proposition of Mrs. Nicholls be accepted upon the basis proposed by her and that she name the trustees to manage the institution, and that the thanks of the Council be tendered to her for her handsome offer.

An account amounting to $3.25, for scrubbing out the Council chamber, was passed and the Council adjourned.

AN INSULTING POSTER.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I observe on the various bill boards and telegraph poles in this town a poster signed by Geo. A. Cox, Esq., as President of the County of Peterborough Scott Act Association, which reads as follows:—"A $25 reward for the conviction of any person selling or giving away intoxicating liquor in this County on polling day, Sept. 24th, 1885, $50 for the conviction of any person who shall purchase any votes or take any false oath in any matter wherein any oath is required. $50 for the conviction of any one who, having voted once, applies again to any polling station in this County for a ballot paper." Now, sir, it occurred to me on reading the above, that a gentleman who was so generous in offering his wealth could not be considered to appear before the municipal authority of this town (of which he has the honor of being the head), and ask that authority to impose upon the rest of the community his share of the municipal burden of any enterprise with which his name was identified. It also occurred to me that it was a pity his mandate had not been issued some time previous to the time he had the honor of being elected to a seat in Parliament for this county, and was afterwards so ignominiously unseated, and barely escaped personal disqualification. But his name did not go forth at that time, and the legislative halls of this country have ever since been deprived of his commanding voice and great legislative abilities. I had the honor to give an evening of attending a Scott Act meeting in the Opera House, which was addressed by a renowned gentleman from Toronto, and an imported gentleman, I think from the city of New York. It occurred to me that the Scott Act committee must be very hard pressed for exponents of Christian morality when they have to apply to either of the above named cities for their talent, particularly the city of New York, which has the unenviable reputation of being the most immoral city in the world, for its population. Surely the citizens of the town and county of Peterborough are not so ignorant of their duty as Christians as to warrant such exercise on the part of the Scott Act committee in the town and county of Peterborough, and as such should be left to them to decide. From the reports we get from the several counties where the Scott Act is in force, we find that legitimate trade is obstructed and illegitimate trade takes its place. Whiskey is easily obtainable by any person who wants it, excepting a suspicious looking customer, such as a Scott Act decy, the revenue derived from licenses out of and no good accomplished, therefore, I think it is a serious question for our ratepayers to consider, whether they should upset the present order of things for one of chaos and confusion. There is one feature of the Act that I would like to draw Mr. Cox's attention to, and that is the reward he offers for conviction of false swearing, his sense of justice must be very fine on that point, and that is where they charge a man with violation of the Act, and compel the accused to give evidence against himself. Does he not offer the accused a bonus to take a false oath, and, on the other hand, does he not convict and punish the man who has the honesty to stand up and tell the truth? There is an old adage which says that a man who will tell a deliberate lie will swear to it, and I for one believe that to be true in nineteen cases out of twenty. I claim, sir, that the above clause is a standing disgrace to our boasted free constitution. When Mr. Cox and his friends start at the source of the evil and advocate the curtailment in the manufacture and import of strong liquors, then will we have the same sense and sympathy of the true temperate man of this county, and not tell them "You never hear Mr. Cox or any of the so-called temperance speakers say one word against Messrs. Gordonham & Worts, with whom I believe Mr. Cox has intimate business relations, for the reason, I presume, that they are a huge monopoly (such as Mr. Cox one day aspires to be) who manufacture and sell their whiskey all over the country, and still continue to do so notwithstanding the Scott Act. Would it not be more mainly to try and compel these men to stop the manufacturing of this article than to try to impose upon the people a law which will do no good, and which, as I said before, is a bonus to the untruthful to commit crime?"

Yours truly,
OBSERVER.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

A PLEA FOR ORDINARY CARE.

Why should loaded revolvers be left about in closets and cupboards open to women and children? If a revolver is considered necessary for protection (although it is, in fact, about the least useful of weapons), there is no need to keep it loaded nor even to leave it complete with its revolving chamber. The chamber could just as well be taken out, to be slipped in place in a moment if the revolver should be wanted for legitimate use. But all modern arms are so easily and quickly loaded and unloaded that there is no excuse for leaving them in a condition to be accidentally or carelessly set off.—Philadelphia Ledger

HIS OWN ACCUSER.

We don't think any sane person charges Mr. Blake with "taking a paltry $500 improperly." It is Mr. Blake who, by his treatment of the $500, accuses himself. He weakly yielded to the clamor started in certain quarters among his supporters, and has thus left the impression that he did wrong to take the $500. Giving the money, which he dared not longer keep, to an agricultural society in his riding makes the matter no better, but rather worse for him. A few years ago such an act, if done by a Tory, would have led Mr. Blake to describe it as an attempt to corrupt the constituency. The weakness and vacillation displayed by Mr. Blake in connection with this incident leads us to doubt his capacity for leadership.—Montreal Herald (Indep.)

CONVENIENT CANADA.

One of the members of the Ontario commission of prison reform, now visiting in this city, said to a Commercial Gazette reporter he did not think that he could take home many suggestions of prison improvement from this country, because we are not severe enough with our criminals. He may be altogether correct. But, if Canada were not quite so convenient, we might now be treating some of our non est criminals to such poor system as we have attained to.—Pittsburg Commercial Gazette

DISCREDITABLE CONDUCT.

We cannot recall an instance more glaring of party folly and party spite than the attitude of the Globe, the Hamilton Times and the Woodstock Sentinel Review, which have been shouting, "that Riel will not hang." How can the government be expected to enforce the law if the organs of one party try their best to scare them off from doing their duty, and at the same time hold out hopes to the French Canadians that if they will only kick up a big enough row Riel will get off.—Toronto World (Indep.)

NORTH-WEST COUNCIL.

An election for the North-West Council is pending. When it is over there will be sixteen elected members and eight official members. As the population increases the elected members will be more numerous and the official members decline. South the members will all be elected, when the North-West will have a Legislative Assembly.—Toronto Mail

Springless Truss and Supporters

PROF. G. W. HOTCHIN

Will visit the following places again:—

LINDAY—Benson House, October 9th, 10th, and 11th.

PETERBOROUGH—The Grand Central Hotel, October 12th, 13th and 14th.

Prof. Hotchin's treatment is practical, rational and economical. His object is immediate relief and eventual cure. It is based on scientific principles and is easily demonstrated to the comprehension of every intelligent person, that a truss without steel springs or hard substances, having banded ligamental and Umbilical as well as Vertebral, at the advanced ages respectively of from 65 to 80 years, must and will stand the test against all Spring Trusses to children as well as adults.

Prof. H. having had 30 years' experience has become master of his profession, and DEFEATS the Rivals he cannot hold in the place. Prof. H. has invented an apparatus to hold the FILLED in their proper place, which has been as successful as his other inventions. Go and see for yourselves.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Winds mostly north west and north, fine slightly cooler weather.

Organ Recital.

We are glad to learn that Mr. Chas. C. Hampshire, the organist of St. John's Church, will give an organ recital on Tuesday, Sept. 22. He will be assisted by the excellent choir of the church and by a few friends. His excellent programme has been arranged, and the choir is preparing to do full justice to it.

Ladies, if you want a stylish Ottoman Card Coat, leave your order at Turnbull's.

Eggs for Boston.

A day or two ago Messrs. Ostrom & Ostrom made another shipment of eggs to the American Hub, the good old town of Boston. The shipment consisted of one car, carrying two hundred and forty five cases with forty nine dozen to the case. The shipment will therefore consist of twelve thousand and five eggs.

A Widened Reputation.
A correspondent writing from Tweed to the Post in reference to the Roman Catholic picnic at Tweed says:

"A spacious dancing platform was in the centre of the grounds and dancing was indulged in the entire day to the music of the City Band Orchestra of Peterborough, under the able leadership of Prof. Reynolds, of Peterborough. The reputation of this band is becoming widespread, and all the members of it are finished musicians."

Journalistic.

The latest addition to our exchange list is the Burk's Falls Arrow, which has just made its first appearance. It is a very creditable first issue, being typographically far in advance of most village journals, and it has a good budget of local news, with well selected miscellaneous matter. The advertising patronage must be most satisfactory to the enterprising proprietors, Messrs. Kelsey & Armstrong, and no doubt they will in return do much to aid in building up the evidently flourishing village of Burk's Falls, which should become a place of importance on the early completion of the Northern and Pacific Junction Railway, on which it is situated. We wish our new contemporary success.

Futile Attacks.

An anonymous slanderer has been attacking the member for West Peterborough in the Provincial Legislature, and accusing him of being opposed to the industrial development of Peterborough, though Mr. Carnegie has done at least as much to promote local industries as some who make louder pretensions. Another charge made against Mr. Carnegie that he has chosen to spend money on improved stock is altogether absurd, for agriculture is the most extensive industry in Canada, and live stock is not its least important department. Our farmers will be surprised to learn that in a facility in an Ontario representative to encourage improvement in farming and stock raising.

New Scotch and Canadian Tweeds for fall wear, just arrived at Habbington Hall. If you are in want of a stylish Fall Suit or Overcoat, give McNell a call.

A Runaway.

On Saturday evening Mr. James Bowie, the well known Scottish songster of Smith, was driving home the two daughters of Mr. Thomas Young, his employer. Mr. Mann, of Bridgeport, was also in the carriage. The part of the axle which holds the tongue broke while they were going down a hill, and the vehicle running against the horses, started them off at a rapid pace. The carriage was upset and the occupants were thrown to the ground. Mr. Bowie's shoulder was dislocated. Mr. Mann received such a shock that he was insensible for some time, while the two young ladies happily escaped with no other injuries than some rather severe bruises. The horses and the rig were not much damaged.

Turnbull is showing Black Finish for Mantles, never goods than Scotland. It is the right house to leave your order for a Mantle.

THE NICHOLLS HOSPITALTHE WELL APPOINTED INSTITUTION ALL BUT OPENED TO THE PUBLIC.

Through the munificence of Mrs. Robert Nicholls, Peterborough is given what it has long needed, a fully equipped hospital.

For many years the want of a properly fitted hospital has been sadly felt in Peterborough. In addition to its being employed as a home for the aged and weak, a prison house for criminals, an asylum for the insane, the county jail has, on many occasions during the past few years, been made to serve the purpose of a hospital, and is a matter of doubt whether some of those unfortunates who have met with serious accidents and who have GONE DOWN TO THE GRAVE, might now be alive and well if they had been tenderly nursed and furnished with the comforts that a sick person requires.

But through the liberality of Mrs. Nicholls the want has been supplied and within a few days the Nicholls Hospital will be opened to the public. By reference to the report of the Town Council proceedings in another column the reader will find upon what condition the hospital is given: Mrs. Nicholls made her modified offer to the Town Council on Tuesday evening, and it was accepted without a dissenting voice. She reserves the endowment to $15,000 and reserves the right to appoint trustees. The hospital is situated in the township of North Monaghan, just beyond the western limit of the town. It is the OLD MOIRA HALL, the residence of the late Mrs. Cottingham, remodelled and divided so as to suit the requirements of such a place. The building, which is a large one, built of red brick, is pleasantly situated on a gentle slope, so that from the upper windows a view of a considerable portion of the town is obtained. The grounds are ample, containing in all some two acres. The emerald green grass that covers it is closely cropped, shaded at intervals with different kinds of fruit trees.

ITS EVENING IS BROKEN here and there by flower beds and a winding gravelled drive leads in at one entrance gate around to the front of the hospital and out of the other. So thick are the balsams, the drooping willows and the clumps of spruces at the edge of the grove next the road that only a glimpse of the building can be obtained.

The main entrance to the hospital is gained by passing up a broad, short flight of steps, heavily railed on either side. To the right and to the left flights half the size, of the same design, lead to the bay windows. At the main entrance a vestibule is passed through, and we are ushered into the front hall. Confronting us is a broad oak staircase with heavy balustrades. Through the tinted glass windows, facing west from the landing SHINES THROUGH THE MANY RUED LIGHT. From the landing leads up to the right and to the left the divided stairs. To the right, after passing through the main entrance, is the reception room and office. It is a cheery apartment, carpeted in red, furnished with a marble cold grate, and among other furniture has a folding walnut secretary. The consultation and operating room is situated directly across the hall. This room is plainly furnished with furniture of a requisite kind for such a place. Crossing the hall again, entering an apartment just in the rear of the reception room, and we are in the dining room.

AT AN EASY PLACE, PRETTILY PAPERED, amply lighted by windows facing the road, and possessing an alcove just large enough for the sideboard which nestles in it. The culinary department is situated in the rear of the dining room, and it is very complete and convenient, fitted with sinks, into which hot or cold water may be pumped, a good range and all necessary requirements. Further in the rear we find the laundry. Coming back to the kitchen we ascend a narrow flight of stairs, which brings us to a narrow hall, running east and west. On the north side of this hall is the servants' rooms, the clothes rooms, etc.

Passing along the hall, up a few steps at the eastern end, through a doorway, and we come to the main building again. Off the large main hall are the Men's and Women's Wards.

Each is fitted up with sturdy bedsteads, washstands, etc. The rooms are scrupulously clean and well arranged. Between the men's and women's wards is a room for any acute case, such as blood poisoning, or for any patients whose sickness will render it necessary for them to be kept isolated. The windows in these rooms all face the east. A private patient's room faces the north. It is a large one, plainly, but comfortably furnished. The lady superintendent's room is situated just at the head of the stairs and faces the south. It is a comfortable looking apartment. Every room in the building which is not furnished with a coal grate is furnished with a hot air grate. The hot air apparatus which was in the house at the time of its sale, has been and put in a good condition. Several of the rooms are connected with call bells. But before we leave let us take a look at the patients' room, which faces the south and is situated on the first floor. This apartment is intended for the convalescent. It is pleasantly fitted up, warmed by a coal grate, and supplied with an ample library. The hospital will at present accommodate between fifteen and twenty patients.

Miss Hannah Dalby, the Lady Superintendent, is now taking a short holiday trip. She will soon be back and then the hospital will be formally opened. We have referred to her and her high qualifications in previous issues, and it is needless therefore to say anything further.

In conclusion we join with the community in thanking Mrs. Nicholls for her munificent gift, and we are sure that she has disposed of part of her large worldly store in a way that she will never regret.

I am now receiving Door Locks made in Peterborough, and have no hesitation in saying that they are equal to the goods made by the best makers in the United States. As I intend to keep only these goods in stock in future, I am selling at reductions in price of 20 to 30 per cent. all the American Locks, Knobs and Door Trimmings that I have on hand to make room for a full line of our home made goods. There are some very fine lines, especially in Morris Locks, among them, and I would respectfully ask your inspection. Cut Nails and Door Hangers are very low in price just now.

The Fair Grounds.

Our reporter, together with Mr. Collins, paid a visit to the new grounds of the West Riding Agricultural Society on Tuesday, and was somewhat surprised to find that it had been so much improved within the last month. A long extent of cattle and horse stalls now enclose two entire sides of the grounds. There is now plenty of room for stalling two hundred and twelve horses and cattle. The cattle stalls number eighty, and are situated on the east side of the grounds. The horse stalls, forty double ones and fifty-two small ones, are in one long row along the south side. The doors of the stalls are particularly handsomely designed. They are divided into two parts. The upper part is raised in the form of an awning, while the lower part swings open like an ordinary door. At ten o'clock each day of the exhibition these awnings, as they may be termed, must be raised, so that spectators may see the stock. This rule will find favor among the spectators, for it is not unfrequently occurs at exhibitions that the spectators, till well on in the day, can see nothing but padlocked doors. The stalls are well levelled off inside, and a staff of men is now engaged in cleaning up the grounds. An entrance to the Driving Park has been made through the fence along the west side of the grounds, and during the exhibition the Park will be used for showing and spreading the horses. The north side has also been fenced in and two entrance gates built. At the north east corner is the Treasurer's, Secretary's and ticket seller's offices. It is expected that the show of farm produce will be made under canvas.

McNell keeps the largest and best assortment of Gents' Furnishings in Peterborough. Call and examine his stock before making your purchases.

Stock shipment.

Mr. Wm. Denoon shipped another carload of choice stock to Montreal on Tuesday over the Grand Trunk Railway. The car contained twenty-four cattle.

A Partridge Hunt.

Just as P.C. Adams was going off duty this morning he happened to see in the market square what he thought to be a partridge. On second thought, however, he concluded that no partridge could find its way into such a place. He proceeded to investigate. He "traced" the bird, when he saw that it was a real partridge and no mistake. He gave chase, and those who are of opinion that Hub is not a sprinter should just have seen that race. The bird flew into the arcade and H. H. after it. He captured it in among some old barrels, and after satisfying himself that there was nothing wrong with his eyesight, and that he had really captured the bird of the bush, he presented it to Mr. Dumbie, the Police Magistrate, who was going by at the time, returning from the railway station.

BRITISH TRADE POLICY.

The reported utterance of the Earl of Carnarvon at Belfast that "It was time to reject sentiment, and institute an impartial and searching enquiry into the relative values of free trade and protection," is another of the numerous signs of late of the change of opinion in the Mother Country as to their tariff policy. That the Earl of Carnarvon should publicly announce that he considers the alternative of free trade or protection to be again an open question, ripe for solution, is indeed a striking instance of the trend of public opinion in this important subject. He is no rash or hasty politician, ready to grasp without due consideration at anything that might offer the prospect of a party advantage, but he is notoriously a careful, thoughtful statesman, who would not express an opinion until he had thoroughly considered it and the consequences of its utterance.

According to the wholesome practice in the old country, when the constitutional representatives of the people adopted the policy of free trade, the politicians of all schools and indeed the whole people resolved to give it a fair trial. This has been done so loyally, so thoroughly, that for many years the question has been treated as no longer open, but as to be accepted without cavil or discussion.

There is obviously now a growing opinion that this fair and patient trial has lasted long enough to ascertain the result of this policy. More and more widely is the conviction spreading that the policy has been a failure. The anticipations of the Cobden school have not been realized in regard to other nations, which have not accepted their doctrine nor adopted their practice. By a policy of protection similar to that by which Great Britain built up its manufacturing industries, foreign nations are now developing theirs, until their competition is being felt severely in the industrial centres of the old country. This changed situation and the complete failure of the Cobdenites to convert the civilized world to their views after so long and fair a trial, has occasioned many thinking men that the time has come for a reconsideration of the tariff policy, and that the question should again be treated as one open for discussion.

That the Cobden Club should so vehemently oppose the reopening of the question and should be so anxious to have it considered as a matter decided for all time, goes far to show that they have not much confidence in their own case, and that they dread enquiry or a manifestation of public opinion.

The Fort Hope Guide thinks that the Northwest rebellion was only "a very small affair," and that Gen. Middleton mismanaged the campaign. When Queen Victoria sees the opinion of this high military authority she will no doubt hasten to withdraw the honor of knighthood which she conferred on Sir Fred. Middleton. But perhaps the Guide is so accustomed to firearms, from having a revolver always in the editor's right hand drawer, that it thinks nothing of powder and bullets.

If a man repairs a structure that is very little damaged he requires far less material than he would if he had to build a new structure. If the Reform party set about and succeeded in building a platform, lumber dealers may expect a boom in the price of the lower grades of lumber.

A HORRIBLE DISCOVERY.

Chinese in San Francisco Selling and Scouring Corpses.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept. 15.—A horrible discovery was made in Chinatown today. Information was given the city coroner that a frigid stretch was being smelted from a cellar on Pacific street. He went to the cellar and found the floor covered with human skulls and bones, partially covered with flesh in the last stage of decomposition. In an inner room he found a number of Chinese engaged in boiling down the remains of other bodies, while several other Chinamen were engaged scraping, boiling bones and packing them in boxes for shipment to China. It is estimated that the cellar contained over 300 dead bodies, which having been taken recently from various cemeteries throughout the state. As an instance of Chinese ingenuity it is stated that those in charge of these operations feared the stench would be so great as to attract attention outside had procured two living skunks so that the odor of the latter might overcome that of the former.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

CANADIAN RAILWAY TRAFFIC.

Much excitement prevails among the officials of the roads in the Northwestern Traffic Association over the announcement of the consummation of a pooling agreement between the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway and the Canadian Pacific Railway, which virtually shuts out the roads between Chicago and St. Paul from participating in the traffic from Canadian points to Manitoba points, placing that business, both freight and passenger, into the hands of the Canadian Pacific. The Manitoba strikes a blow at its American connections and agrees to charge such rates as to prevent business for Manitoba from Canada going through the United States, a very curious position for a road entirely within the territory of the United States to take. —Chicago Tribune.

YOUNG LIBERALS.

The delegates to the convention of Young Liberals who are the objects of the Globe's bulldozing tactics must be left to vindicate their own integrity, but the general public has arrived at the natural conclusion that there must be trouble in the camp when such tactics are deemed necessary. The real traitor to the Reform party is the paper that denies the right of members of the organization to freedom of thought and speech. The real spy upon the movements of the Young Liberals is the party journalist who discounts their intentions, and who proclaims in advance that they are disloyal to their party and not to be trusted. If the Globe's charges are well founded there is no occasion to be reproved in the convention; if false, a wicked libel has been uttered in general terms against a number of the Young Liberals. —Toronto World (Indep. Ref.).

A SCANDAL SPOILED.

Mr. Dewdney is a great corruptionist. The Free Press has said so, and it must be so, the latest "plundering" has been in connection with the fat contract said to have been employed by the B-I Farming Company in the late rebellion. He is a part owner in this firm, and therefore the company got these so-called things, and Mr. Dewdney was enriched. We don't know just what the profits of the company were. But if the Free Press knows, and would like to know what "booties" Mr. Dewdney thus secured, it can satisfy itself by dividing them by the one eighth then-and-there, which is the Lieut. Governor's interest in the concern. —Winnipeg Manitoban.

REVERSIBLE ANGER.

The Toronto Globe is quite as angry about the attitude of the media to the volunteers as it is in the rebellion campaign, as it would have been had the authorities refused to give the boys medals. —Hamilton Spectator.

WHAT DO THEY SAY?

What do the young Liberals think of the school book monopoly? For instance, is the Minister of Education justified in arranging with one publishing firm to enter a 40 per cent share for school books than they can be published for at a fair profit? As the young Liberals profess to be progressive let them pass an intelligent opinion on this matter, which comes home to the pockets of every father of a family in the Province. —London Free Press.

RIEL AND REFORMERS.

The Opposition press, without advising Sir John Macdonald, lays great stress upon his personal responsibility in the present, keeping the way open to woe him whatever he does. —Montreal Witness (Reform.).

PINING FOR A PLANK.

The London Advertiser is out in a leader, this week, in favour of and elective Senate and the restraint of the power of vetoing provincial measures, as political planks in future policy of the reform party; but it does not say anything about the hardword plank called "decentralization" power now exercised by the local Government. We wish it had. —Newmarket Era (Ref.).

THEIR OPINION OF RIEL.

There are five Grit daily papers in the Maritime Provinces. All of them have discussed the fate of Riel. All of them have said that the question is one of the most important that has come up for a long time. Not one of them has ventured to give an opinion as to the duty of the Government in the case. By and by, when Riel's case is settled, five Grit dailies in the Maritime Provinces will say that the Government have done a great wrong. No matter what is done, this will be the Grit verdict. —Halifax Herald.

THE "YOUNG" LIBERALS.

Bless the boys! May they all get home safe and happy, and with plenty of city presents for their grandchildren. No young man of spirit forgets to buy something for his grandchildren when he comes to town. —Toronto World (Indep. Ref.).

IN THE TOLLS.

As there was only too much reason to fear from the first, the Grit wire pullers have virtually succeeded in capturing the Young Liberal organization, and tying it triumphantly to the tail of the party kite. —Toronto News (Indep.).

Attended by strikers.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Sept. 15.—This morning Wallace Kenerson, foreman of the galvanizing department of the Cleveland Rolling Mill Co., plate mill, was driving down Wire street on his way to work. When near the Canadian railroad track a crowd of nearly 100 Poles and Bohemians surrounded Kenerson's buggy and began making hostile demonstrations. Crying "Rockin'ay," a strike, struck Kenerson on the arm with a club. Kenerson immediately drew a revolver and began firing into the crowd. He fired three shots, one of which took effect in the right arm of Rockin'ay. The police shortly appeared and arrested Rockin'ay and Kenerson, and dispersed the crowd.

St. John's S.S. School.
At the entertainment to be given in St. John's Sunday School on Wednesday, Sept. 23rd, the piano to be used is one of Heintzman's best instruments, kindly lent by Mr. E. J. Hartley. An excellent programme has been arranged.

Y.M.C.A. Annual Meeting.
The Young Men's Christian Association hold their annual business meeting in their hall to-night, when reports of the past year's work will be presented, and the officers for the ensuing year will be elected. There should be a large attendance of members.

The Harvest Festival at St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, will be held this evening at 8 o'clock. The Rev. J. W. Burke, Rector of Belleville, will preach. The collection will be for the new school building fund. All are invited; seats free.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Winds mostly moderate to fresh southeast and southwest, fine weather, stationary or slightly higher temperatures.

Rigs for Races and Contests.
Friends of the Scott Act, either in town or in the country, who are willing to lend their teams or rigs on polling day, are asked to kindly send their names to the Secretary of the Scott Act Association. The vehicles should be at the Headquarters, Hunter Street, as soon after 8 o'clock as possible.

New Scotch and Canadian Tweeds for fall wear, just arrived at Hablument Hall. If you are in want of a stylish Fall Suit or Overcoat, give McNeil's call.

Getting Down to Work.
Both Shevlin and Scott were at the Lansdowne last night getting into trim for the race to-morrow night. Scott has received his new large roller skates, and says that he is well satisfied with them. They work well, and he feels it much easier to get around. Shevlin appears to be in first class condition. No doubt the race will be the most exciting that has ever been skated in Peterborough.

Creditable.
We congratulate Messrs. Porter Bros., carriage manufacturers and makers of buggy tops, on their having secured second prize for their buggy tops at the Toronto Industrial Fair. This is a very creditable standing for the tops to have taken, considering that transhipment rendered them less attractive than those of the Toronto competitors, though the goods were of equally high finish and good material.

Obituary.
The Fort Hope Times says:—
"We regret to have to chronicle the death of Mr. John Cheer, which event took place rather suddenly at his son's residence on Sunday. The deceased was a resident of this town for several years, and was held in high esteem and respect by the numerous friends. He had been ailing for some time past, but was able to keep about, and his friends thought his life was due principally to aid age. Deceased was a native of England, and came to Canada some thirty years ago. He first settled in Peterborough, where he lived till about eight years ago. He then removed to Fort Hope, and resided with his son, Mr. John A. Cheer, proprietor of the Midland division of the G. T. R. Smith street, until his death. Deceased was eighty two years and eight months old, and leaves a widow, who is over eighty two and two sons and a daughter to mourn his loss. The funeral, which was largely attended by relatives and friends, took place on Tuesday afternoon."

"PETERBOROUGH, Sept. 14, 1885.

"Sir,—In view of the conviction in the minds of the people generally, that this is an important era in the history of the town, and one that calls for prompt action in determining the course to be pursued, in order most effectually to secure the continued prosperity of the town, by offering increased encouragement to manufacturing industries, you are requested to meet on Friday next, at 3 p.m., at the Council Chamber, to confer with others as to the conditions of proposed By-laws to be submitted to the Council.

"Your obedient servant,"

Nearly every minister in the county will preach with special reference to the Scott Act next Sunday, and local meetings have been arranged for in every section, between now and polling day.

Direct from Japan.

The Metropolitan grocery has made another advance in the commercial relations of Peterborough by obtaining an importation of tea direct from Japan, by the steamer City of Peking to San Francisco, and thence overland by rail. Such enterprise is another mark of progress, which is a subject for congratulation. Beside the directness of this importation it has other advantages. The "Purity" tea, shipped by the Japan Tea Syndicate, of Yokohama, is especially prepared so as to preserve the fragrance and prevent injury. The leaf, contrary to the usual practice, is dried in closed cylinders, so that none of the aroma is dissipated, and by packing immediately in the "perfection tea can," closed by pressure without solder, there is no danger of lead poisoning, while the aromatic properties of the leaf can neither escape nor be contaminated, being hermetically enclosed until the moment of use. As the City of Peking has arrived at San Francisco, these directly imported teas may be expected to arrive before long. With the completion of the Canada Pacific Railway we may look for still further progress, and arrivals of tea from Japan by way of a Canadian port and Canadian railways. This commerce with the east can be developed.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.BASE BALL NOTES.*EXAMINER VS. REVIEW.

The ball players of the above offices have been unable to practice any since their last match, and in consequence, have decided to indefinitely postpone the game that was to have been played on the Riverside Park to-morrow afternoon. It is doubtful, now that the season is so late, whether the game will be played this year. Next season the two offices will put up in the field that will in no way be discordant to them, and we may expect to hear great things about the ball playing newspaper men before next season closes.

LINDSEY VS. PETERBOROUGH.

The much talked of base ball match between the Lindsey and Peterborough clubs is being played in the Riverside Park this afternoon. The Lindsey arrived at noon to-day, and as we go to press the match is in progress.

ANOTHER SCOTT ACT MEETING.The Rev. W. A. McKay Gives His Opinion of the Measure.

Another largely attended Scott Act meeting was held in the Opera House on Wednesday evening. The chair was occupied by the Rev. Wm. Bennett. The meeting was opened by singing, Miss Stephens presiding at the piano, and prayer by the Rev. F. H. Wallace, B. D. The CHAIRMAN called for a collection, and in doing so, urged the importance of liberal contributions.

Mr. OEO. A. Cox thought that the Chairman had put the monetary question too strongly, and explained that, while contributions would be welcome and would assist them, money would be forthcoming in any event to carry on the campaign and to enforce the Act were it adopted in the county. An inspector would be engaged who would devote his whole time to the enforcement of the Act, and he pledged his word that if the Act was carried every effort would be made to have it enforced. While on his feet he referred to a letter which had appeared in the Review regarding a poster signed by himself as President and by the Secretary of the Association. It had been usual in Scott Act contests to offer cash rewards, and the same thing had been done here. As to the personal reference in the letter, which he characterized as scurrilous, they were not worth noticing. He would say, however, that he did not say anything against Messrs. Chamberlain & Wolfe, or any other persons engaged in the liquor trade, but he did denounce the liquor traffic, no matter who was engaged in it.

The CHAIRMAN, after a few remarks on the liquor traffic, introduced the Rev. W. A. McKay, B.A., of Woodstock. Mr. McKay delivered an earnest address. He devoted the first portion of it to the liquor traffic generally, instancing what he considered its chief evils, and quoting as illustrations recent tragedies reported in the papers. In Canada, he said, according to the Government returns, $77,000,000 a year was expended on the traffic, or $6 per head for every man, woman and child in the Dominion. That was six times as much as was expended on the purchase of bread, eight times as much as was devoted to maintaining public schools, and forty-nine times as much as was contributed to home and foreign missions. There were three ways in which the traffic might be dealt with, namely, to allow any person to sell it, to regulate it by license laws or to prohibit it. He did not dwell long on the first or second, as he said it had few advocates. The second he considered wrong in principle and inadequate in application. Mr. O'Keefe, a leading brewer, had said that liquor was sold in 1,000 unlicensed places in Toronto, which showed that the license law—the much praised Cretak Act—was a failure. He would vote for the Scott Act even if it did not decrease drinking, because he believed it to be wrong, in principle, to sell it at all. He challenged anyone to show one redeeming feature in the Cretak Act, and if any person would show such a feature in it he would never again speak in relation to the traffic. He argued that the Scott Act had been a success. It had been successful at the polls, as the aggregate majority in favor was over 50,000. In Charlottetown and Prince George, P. E. I., and in West-Island, where it had been tried for three years, the people were so well satisfied with it that they refused to repeal it, and in Halifax County, after a three years' trial, the majority in its favor on the repeal vote was double what it was in the first year. The people who had tried it were the ones who should know whether it had been a success. The Scott Act had been declared by the Canadian Parliament and by the highest court in the realm to be in accordance with the British constitution and British liberty. He read testimonials from the Mayor of Woodstock, the Police Magistrate of Woodstock, the Mayor of Saginaw and others to show that the Act had decreased drinking in those places and had not injured business. He concluded by urging all to vote for the adoption of the Act on Sept. 24th.

An invitation had been given for opponents of the Act to address the meeting, but no one accepted it, and at the conclusion of the address an opportunity was given to ask questions but none were asked.

Another campaign song was sung, and the Rev. E. F. Toner, M.A., pronounced the benediction.

PROHIBITION.

The following letter from the Rev. D. J. Macdonnell, formerly minister of St. Andrew's (Presbyterian) Church, Peterborough, appears in the Globe. The opinions of Mr. Macdonnell will be read with interest and respect even by those who do not agree with his views:—

Sir,—Now the "prohibition" is in the air, and in the newspapers, and in many circles, in editorial commentators, I crave liberty to put in a plea for the true use of the words in the discussion of the subject. In the course of discussion during the past half century it has come to pass that the virtue of "temperance" as en joined by St. Paul and St. Peter, and practised by the Lord Jesus Christ, has come to be looked at askance by large numbers of good men, and even condemned by not a few of them as a sin, and that language has been misused to such an extent that in the minds of hundreds of persons accustomed to hear denunciations not merely of drunkenness, but of drinking, "temperance" means not moderation but total abstinence.

A similar fate seems to threaten the word "prohibition." Where I find a hard headed Presbyterian minister lecturing a catechism in memory, but I give the substance correctly. "Where is prohibition found in the Bible?" And answered thus:—"In Prov. xxiii, 31. Look not upon the wine when it is red," etc., and when I find a clear headed man as Dr. Fots preaching a stirring sermon in which the deals with three phases of so called "prohibition," viz. (1) "personal prohibition," meaning voluntary abstinence; (2) "domestic prohibition," and (3) "legal prohibition," I feel constrained to ask brethren to be more exact in their choice of words. "Prohibition" has a well defined meaning. The text "Look not upon the wine," etc., has no more to do with "prohibition" than the other one, "Let no man therefore judge you in meat or in drink." Voluntary abstinence from whiskey has no more to do with "prohibition" than voluntary abstinence from green tea or orange fruit has to do with the passing of a law prohibiting the importation of any sort of tea or the raising of any sort of fruit. The exercise of parental authority in the banishing of wine from the table has no more to do with "prohibition" than a father's injunction, "My boy, don't get your feet wet," has to do with a statute prohibiting all citizens from going out of doors on a wet day.

I do not, of course, for a moment suspect my friend, Dr. Fots, whose return to Toronto was of the Church Catholic hall with satisfaction, has any intention of playing fast and loose with words; but not all his hearers, and not all your readers, are so clear headed as he is, and when he talks to them of "prohibition" as including voluntary abstinence and the exercise of authority in the home in regard to strong drink, many hundreds will, I suspect, be found saying, "I vote for prohibition," who could not say so with so great readiness if the true issue, viz.—"legal prohibition," and that alone were put before them. Scores of men in this community are voluntary abstainers who will never be prohibitionists.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

The Fort Hope Guide has the following editorial remarks as to the Trent Valley Canal: "The recent explosion of a ton of dynamite, at Lakefield, was a loss of that still destined for Burleigh Falls, where operations are being carried on in the construction of the Trent Valley Canal. It would appear that the Dominion Government are still pretending to go on with the force of making that work, for it can be regarded only as a farce, being farcical in its conception, in its prospective advantages if ever made, and farcical in the attempt of making, because it is not an honest attempt and is only set on foot as an electioneering dodge, in which a few thousand dollars will be spent and a few blow-ups take place, and the whole thing will be relegated to the realms of the future. Some people want the canal made, others want jobs and contracts, and in order to quiet them the work is tardily operated."

The Guide follows the Reform leaders in thus belittling this important work. Fortunately, however, the people of Canada have entrusted the administration of their affairs to Conservative statesmen, who are more alive to the requirements of the country and more zealous in the development of its resources. The assertions of the Guide that the work is "farcical in its conception and in its advantages if ever made," mean simply that it costs nothing for the benefit to the country, and secures this improvement because it is undertaken by its political opponents. Its advantages have been very fully shown and have been admitted by all who have impartially considered the subject.

The charge that there is only a pretence of continuing the work is equally unwarrantable. Already the workmen at Burleigh Falls and Buckhorn are on the eve of completion and the contract at Burleigh Falls is earnestly pushing on the work in that locality. His advertisement for men and the terrible explosion to which the Guide refers in such a heartless manner, are two indications that the work is not being allowed to rest, and a visit to Burleigh Falls would show what activity is being manifested. The work is proceeding without any pretence, whatever its antagonists may say.

We look forward to a further appropriation for another section of the canal, in spite of all that can be done by partisan opponents to hinder this great improvement.

The Globe claims that there were 500 delegates present at the Young Liberals' Convention and a little further on gives the figure of a division on the important subject of manhood suffrage as 50 to 48, that being the vote by which the franchise was refused to women. The Globe's figures seem slightly contradictory.

Hammond's New Season Opera.

A Berlin newspaper publishes a private letter of Anton Rubinstein, giving some curious particulars as to his new work, "Moses," on the composition of which he is at present engaged. He writes: "My 'Moses' is the least practical work that a composer can undertake; but I have given all my strength to it, and shall not rest till it is finished. The work, the performance of which will last four hours, is too theatrical for the concert room, and too much like an oratorio for the theatre; it is, in fact, the perfect type of the 'sacred opera' that I have dreamed of for years. What will come of it I do not know, and I do not think the work can be performed entire. As it contains eight distinct parts. One or two may from time to time be given, either in a concert or on the stage. I am half through the work, which I hope to have finished by the end of September. I am speaking of the sketch; for completing the score I shall require a whole summer, so that the work will not in any case be ready to appear before September, 1886."

The North Shore Road.

It is announced that the final arrangements for the transfer of the North Shore railway to the Canadian Pacific have been finally completed on the terms provided at the last session of Parliament, and that the change of ownership will shortly take place. The city of Quebec will thus be made the summer terminus of our great transcontinental railway, a boon to our people have long been clamoring for. It remains now to be seen whether they will exhibit the needed energy to reap the full advantage of their position. We can sincerely express the hope that their anticipations will be realized, for the development of the vast Northwest will yield ample traffic for the exercise of the business energy of the inhabitants of both cities.—Montreal Gazette

THE YOUNGER LIBERALS

A Modified Independence—The Older Liberals Show Their Hand.

The Young Liberals' Convention is over. Among the resolutions carried by them were: manhood suffrage; abolition of the veto power exercised by the Dominion Government; right to make our own treaties; right to amend our own constitution; to make the Senate elective; general reciprocity with the United States; a plebiscite on prohibition; abolition of Dominion subsidies to the provinces; provincial control of the electoral lists; provincial judges to be chosen by the provinces.

The question of Canadian independence was the burning issue of the meeting. It was discussed for three hours on Wednesday, the speaker being limited to five minutes. Many excellent speeches for and against a straight union, that independence is the natural and logical result of our constitutional development. The great majority of the meeting was in favour of independence; but time after time some one would rise and say that though he believed in it yet it might embarrass the party, and so at last the meeting carried an amendment asserting that the material interests of the people are bound up in the questions of taxation, administration and expenditure, admission of the right of members of the convention to discuss speculative politics and that while these questions press for settlement it would be unwise to commit the young liberals of Ontario to such a radical departure as the severance of the colonial connection with Great Britain. The vote was 78 for this amendment; 49 for straight independence. A resolution for annexation got 6 votes; imperial federation a vote. The independence men claimed that the motion of Mr. Dewar was drawn by one of the leaders of the Liberal party and put in his hands, and it was feared the straight declaration would hurt the party. The interest in the convention fell off after the vote.

In the evening Shaftesbury hall was open to a mass meeting in connection with the convention. The place was fairly well filled. Among the elder lights invited to the platform during the evening were Hon. Messrs. Hardy, Ross, (G. W.), Ross, (A. M.), T. W. Anglin, John Charlton, M.P., G. W. Badgerow, M.P.—Toronto World.

HARVEY.

From Our Own Correspondent.

SOCIAL.—A social and literary entertainment was held in the Presbyterian church, Lakehurst, on Friday evening last, Sept. 11th, prior to the departure of Mr. J. E. Duclos, B.A., the divinity student who has been laboring in this mission field during the past college vacation. It was a decided success, and was acknowledged as having been the best held in this section. The well arranged programme was well carried out by those who took part in the entertaining. A large audience congregated, and left well satisfied with what was presented them. The singing was tendered by those who had taken lessons under Mr. Duclos' teaching, and they acquitted themselves with due credit to him. The chair was filled by Mr. James Hicks, our worthy Reeve, who expressed his appreciation of being honored to preside over such a meeting. But the inner man was gnawing within him, forcing him to give vent to his feeling of disappointment at not being allowed to partake of a good social repast with his friends. We must not, however, impose on the kindness of the young of the fair sex, who had devoted a great deal of their time in preparing to carry out the programme with such success as was manifested on the evening. There is no doubt but that if we had presented them in this respect they would have yielded to our request. We will insert a part of the programme, which consisted of songs, readings etc. Five girls favoured us with a reading entitled "The Last March," and Miss Chase delivered "The Greenwood Shrift." "Where is my Boy To-night," was sung by Mr. Duclos with tender pathos. A musical rebuke was given by the class, who showed to great advantage their talent for music acquired this summer. But the most prominent feature of the entertainment was a tableaux vivants, representing the execution of Mary Queen of Scots. Miss Lizzie Chase personated the unfortunate queen. In the second scene she displayed therein in the attitude of prayer such grace as to attract the admiration of the audience. Her position, though painful, was maintained throughout the whole scene without a motion, and she deserves the praise due to a professional. Mr. Duclos delivered an address appropriate to the occasion, dwelling on the social benefits derived from entertainment. A universal feeling would be united among the people as they were drawn together to converse with and entertain each other. He was high in his eulogies of the ladies, who more fully appreciated his services by their attendance than who adapted themselves more readily to the musical art than young men. "If freedom is given to both man and woman, the woman can compete with him. Give her as fair opportunities as are given men and she will act her part beside the man. Towards the end of the entertainment Mr. Duclos was pleasantly surprised in being made the recipient of a beautiful album, presented him by the singing class. The following is a copy of the address which accompanied the gift:—

To Mr. J. E. Duclos:—We, the friends and pupils of the Lakehurst Presbyterian prayer meeting and singing class, over which you have presided as teacher, take the opportunity of expressing our appreciation of your services in the arduous and self-denying duties, which you have at all times so cheerfully performed in the interest of the young people of this community. We feel that the order, discipline, and general progress of the meeting, in a temporal as well as in a spiritual sense, have been in a great measure due to the zealous efforts and strict Christian character which you have manifested in connection therewith. In looking back on the six months during which you have acted as teacher, we can recall with pleasure the cheerful greeting and many words of encouragement and counsel which you have given us; also the kind and charitable manner in which you have forgiven our many acts of neglect of duty, which must have caused you much annoyance and anxiety. But we trust you will forgive our many shortcomings, and that the friendly relations that have hitherto existed between us may continue to exist in the future. We would now ask you to accept the accompanying gift as a slight token of our appreciation of your labors, and we desire to thank you most heartily for the deep interest you have ever shown for our moral and spiritual welfare. Our earnest prayer is that you may be long spared to work for the cause of the Master, and when your life in this world is ended may your reward be that of those who turn many to righteousness. May you be as the stars in the firmament that shall shine forever and ever. Signed on behalf of the class,

MAGGIE BRESKIN.

Mr. Duclos was so taken by surprise that words could not express his feelings at the time. But afterwards he replied in suitable words. The doxology was then sung, the benediction pronounced, and thus ended an evening well enjoyed by all.

CAMPBELLFORD.

FOR THE EASTERN MARKETS.—Another car load of mixed stock, consisting of 130 lambs, and a number of cattle and hogs, was shipped from this station to the Eastern markets on Saturday. The animals were purchased by our local buyer, Mr. R. B. Bennett, for Mr. W. Denoon, of Peterborough. All but 46 lambs were picked up in Seymour township.

THE CHIEF MARKET.—There was very disagreeable weather for chesmen on Wednesday of last week, rain having fallen every hour of the day. Active buyers and sellers made their appearance, however, but there were no sales. For July, August and September make, 8 cents, 9 cents and 10 cents respectively were offered, but refused. Prices have strengthened since, and the 5-penny and October make will command good figures.

KICKED BY A HORSE.—A little seven-year-old son of Mr. E. M. Frederick was kicked in the face by a horse, near the family residence, on Thursday. He was leading a horse behind a horse which an elder brother was riding, and in a moment of play the animal he was following threw up its heels and kicked the child. He was insensible for a few moments, and considerable blood flowed from his nose, but he recovered from the effects of the kick an hour afterwards. Fortunately there was no shoe on the hoof that gave the blow.

NEW CHURCHES IN THE NORTH.—There are two new churches in course of erection back at Havelock, between the corners bearing the name of the famous general, and the C. P. Railway station, which must eventually take the name itself. One is a Presbyterian church and the other a church for the Methodists. The congregation of the former have the pleasure of viewing their new place of worship standing forth in its full dimensions, but not in its completed state. Work in its interior is being proceeded with, and very shortly, the minister will stand in its pulpit and the people occupy the pews. The other church is yet in its infant state, but it will grow speedily as the busy carpenters lay their hands to the work. Several small dwelling houses are being put up near the station and in the neighborhood.—Herald.

"Consumption Cure" would be a truthful name to give to Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery," the most efficacious medicine yet discovered for arresting the early development of pulmonary disease. But "consumption cure" would not so fully indicate the scope of its influence and usefulness. In all the many diseases which spring from a derangement of the liver and blood the "Discovery" is a safe and sure specific. Of all drugs.

WHAT THE MOTHER SAYS.

Yes, I know that there are stains on my carpet.
The traces of small muddy boots;
And I see your fair little feet
And spots with blossoms and fruit!

And I know that my walls are discolored
With prints of small fingers and hands;
And that your own household most truly
Is immaculate purity stands.

And I know that my parlor is littered
With many old treasures and toys;
While your own is in dainty order,
Unharmful by the presence of boys!

And I know that my room is invaded
Quite boldly all hours of the day;
While you sit in your own room,
And dream the soft quiet away!

Yes, I know there are four little beddies
Where I must stand watchful each night;
While you go out in your carriage,
And flash in your dresses so bright.

Now, I think I'm a neat little woman;
I like my house orderly, too;
And I'm fond of all dainty belongings;
Yet would not change places with you.

No! keep your fair home with its order,
Its freedom from bother and noise;
And keep your own faithful leave,
But give me my four splendid boys!

FURNISHED BY WOLVES.

County Constable Swett's Life in Danger in Limerick.

BANCROFT, Sept. 15.—On Tuesday night at B. H. Sweet, county constable, was returning home from the summons from the county of Limerick, and when in the neighborhood of Egan's Creek, on the Hastings road, his attention was drawn to the sound of wolves not far distant. His horse seemed to take in the situation at once, and started off on the run, becoming almost unmanageable. The wolves however soon made up the distance and Mr. Sweet could see them not far distant, whining and snapping, no doubt uncertain as to the next best step to take. Sweet tried to draw his revolver, but the wolves of his stead hindered him until he drew up to the camp of a party of hunters, the arrival of the horse and buggy and the noise made by the wolves soon put the hunters on the qui vive, who seeing their rifles started off as once on a second expedition to ascertain the intentions of the enemy, who however now drew off their forces without giving them the chance of a shot. Such an occurrence in the back country is not common, although it has taken place before where persons have been followed and some tried by wolves.—Cor. Belvidere Ontario.

LOG TRANSPORTATION.

Almost innumerable methods have been devised by lumbermen for the transportation of logs. Vessels have been built with the supposed special adaptation for the purpose named. Log cribs innumerable have also been devised and patent boats without number have been brought out, and patents secured on most of them.

The question of the log towing successfully is one of the most important for mill men which has ever been agitated, but to none more so than those on the Saginaw river, where there are at present millions of dollars invested in mill property, while the pine hitherto considered tributary thereto is nearing the end and will soon be practically exhausted, except in the case of a few men who have taken time to forelock and secured a supply for the future. In order therefore to keep this vast outlay of money on the Saginaw river remunerative, it becomes necessary to devise some method by which these vast industries may be kept in motion, because to remove them involves an outlay equal in extent to their almost entire value. Already the Georgian bay country and the upper peninsula are looked to as sources of supply for the future, but the question finally resolves itself into and is dependent on the success or failure of log towing. If a reasonably safe method of transporting logs can be devised, the Saginaw river will remain the leading lumber manufacturing center of the country, as it has been for the past quarter of a century.

Chebogan, Alpena, Oscoda and other points along the Huron shore, are also beginning to look about anxiously for log supply for the future, and some of the lumbermen have invested extensively in pine lands in the Georgian bay country. With a view of insuring this supply of pine for his mill Mr. Gilchrist, of Alpena, has had a large rebate for the purpose of log towing, a description of which is given in the Argus as follows:

Cilchrist's new barge, the Michigan, is well worth visiting. She is one of the largest crafts on the lakes. During the summer she has been raised, a new deck and deck beams put on, and when completed she promises to be a staunch craft. She is about 315 feet long and over 40 feet beam, has five hatches which extend the entire width of the deck and are carried forward. Near the stern is a large boiler, big enough to furnish steam for a good sized steam boat. It was formerly used by propeller East Saginaw, and is to be used to drive the propeller for hauling logs. The hatches are big enough to allow a large log to be lowered into the hold. To cover the hatch requires 2,700 feet of lumber. The Michigan would probably carry from one to one and a half million feet of lumber. The barge will be fitted with a sort of endless chain arrangement for hauling logs from the water on to the vessel, and it is the intention, we believe, to use her to carry logs from the Georgian bay region to this city, and we sincerely trust she may prove successful and give her enterprising owners profits on their outlay. This bringing of logs from Georgian Bay to be manufactured in the Alpena mills will prove of great benefit to the people of this city and county. The barge is in Gilchrist's boom, being completed.—Lumberman's Gazette.

A King's Bed.

A beautiful glass bedstead, which was exhibited at the Calcutta exhibition, and purchased for the King of Burma, seems to have raised a desire in the mind of another native millionaire in this country to become possessed of a similarly beautiful article. There has been on view the latest specimen of a work of art in the manufacture of glass beds which has been completed in Birmingham. While following in the greatest extent the pattern of the bed in the exhibition, several improvements have been introduced in the present bed that give it a more effective appearance by the introduction of ruby glass in several places, helping by its contrast to display the beautiful work of the purer crystal. The legs and pillars which carry the canopy, the head rail and foot rail are all of solid glass of faultless brilliancy, most richly cut and ingeniously fitted together without the aid of any metal supports, which insures the brilliancy of the pure crystal being shown to the best advantage. The canopy is surrounded with ruby-colored velvet hangings, ornamented with stars and crescents placed alternately, the four corners being finished off with terminals of ruby and cut glass. Of course no bed is complete without a mattress and pillow, which in this case are made of ruby-colored silk velvet.—Calcutta Englishman.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES.

Fourteen head of cattle under a tree near Edwardsburg, Mich., were killed by one stroke of lightning.

Skin cheese, high coloring and faulty coloring are the obstacles to success in American dairying.

The Michigan Farmer mentions a 30 acre field of wheat which the owner says was ruined by sparrows.

A house at Dayton, Ohio, was struck by lightning despite a three pointed lightning rod. The electric fluid preferred a tin spout and porch post.

The Choctaw Indians have a law against cruelty to animals, the penalty being a fine of thirty lashes.

Dr. Thomas Meehan is of opinion that where enough plant food is supplied for both crops "the grass clothed orchard will always be the best."

To items from other parts of the country noting unusually fine flowering of potatoes this year, Dr. Trelease adds that the same fact was observed in the vicinity of Madison, Wis.

Mr. Slater Brown, an Ohio fruit grower, fully agrees with the man who declared that the "Kaiser" was a "bad" as a "worship." And the latter is much more easily produced.

The price, $3,500, paid for a half interest in the new rose, Bennett, was a good investment. The buyer sold $17,000 worth last spring. One grower bought $6,000 worth of plants.

Mr. L. B. Pierce writes the The Prairie Farmer that during an extended ride through Wisconsin he saw only a single orchard in which the greater part of the trees were not in a dying condition.

There seems to have been this year rather a larger crop than usual of accidents from use, because of the use of more and heavier ladders and feet lopped away, and in several instances life itself lost.

Mr. B. F. Wheeler, Amherst, N. H., sold last season $700 worth of small fruit from four acres of land, most of which six years ago was overgrown with bushes and every stone. Most of the work is done by himself, wife and daughter.

The good word comes from Southington, Conn., that farmers thereabout "are each year planting less and less tobacco." And speaking for its own vicinity the Newtown Bee says: "The tobacco-growers are just now the most discouraged, disgusted set of men that can be found."

Mr. A. S. Fuller reports many persons as now regretting having expended considerable money in preparing ponds for German carps, since they say this fish is "almost worthless as food," and when we have native species, adapted to similar water, "far superior for the table."

With the appearance of frosty nights the cow enjoys the comfort of a stable, and with it begins hand feeding. A cow is not unlike other folks, in that she prefers a variety of food. This is well shown by the fact that no matter how plenty the green food she relishes a bite of hay.

Worms often destroy children, but Freeman's Worm Powders destroy Worms, and expel them from the system.

Mr. GLAISTON'S health is now fully restored. The expulsion of Poles from Galicia and Austria from Warsaw still continues.

AN extensive hatchery for the breeding of whitefish is to be built at Owen Sound, and is expected to be completed in time to be stocked this fall.

LITTLE BROTHERHOOD.—The steam which raised the lid of the kettle led a phreatic mind to utilize it for man's benefit. No one dreamed that we should now be dragged along by it as the rate of sixty miles an hour. When Perry Davis made a preparation for the medicinal use of his family thirty years ago, neither he nor any other man imagined that it would now be sold in every land, and prove to be the Pain Killer of the world.

A STRANGE DISASTER.—There is scarcely a symptom belonging to chronic complaint but that is common to the poor dyspeptic, and he often feels as if he had every disease in the catalogue. Burdock Blood Bitters cures the worst form of Chronic Dyspepsia.

CABLE NEWS.

"Cable." The oldest and most reliable brand of cigars in the market. Free from all chemicals and artificial flavorings.

"El Padre" Cigars. Universally acknowledged to be the finest clear manufactured. Don't be persuaded to take other brands. No chemicals or artificial flavorings used.

S. Davis & Sons have moved into their new mammoth factory, the finest of its kind in America. They are the only cigar manufacturer in Canada who manufacture their own cigar boxes and packing cases, which industry gives employment to sixty hands.

Beware of cigars artificially flavored for the purpose of hiding the poor quality of tobacco used in flavored cigars. Insist upon having the old reliable brands—"Cable" and "El Padre."

A trial will convince the most skeptical that S. Davis & Sons' cigars are of a quality superior in every respect to any in Canada.

Prize medals against the world were awarded to S. Davis & Sons, of Montreal, for their manufacture of cigars, at Paris, 1887, Centennial, 1876, Montreal, 1868-68.

A Credit to the Town.
The Norwood Register contains the following paragraph:—
"The Peterborough Central Exhibition will be held in Peterborough on Sept. 29th and 30th, and Oct. 1st. Mr. E. C. Hill, of Peterborough, was in town last week posting bills and distributing printed matter. The large posters were printed at the Peterborough Review office and are a credit to the office and the town."

Personal.
Mr. William Reynolds, the well known railroad conductor, is in town to-day. Mr. Reynolds is now running on the C.P.R., and we are pleased to learn that he is to once more take up his residence in Peterborough. The C.P.R. is securing the services of "Bill" has done well, as his experience in railroading is extensive, and besides, he is very popular with the travelling public and others.

Good coat makers wanted, apply to Andrew McNeil, Tailor and Gents' Furnisher, George street.

Spectacles.
We learn from Mr. McKee, chemist and druggist, and agent for Mr. B. Laurence's celebrated spectacles and eye glasses, that Mr. P. H. Morris (lat. of the firm of Lazarus and Morris) will be in town and at his store to represent Mr. Laurence, for three days, on the 29th and 30th of September, and Oct. 1st. His visit will afford those needing spectacles an opportunity of being well fitted with Laurence's glasses by a skillful optician, as Mr. Morris is. His advice will be exceedingly valuable on the important subject of selecting suitable aid to sight. Remember the dates for the three days—during the Central Exhibition.

St. Luke's Festival.
The annual Harvest Festival of St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, was held on Thursday evening. Tea was served in the Town Hall from 5 o'clock to 8 o'clock, and a large number partook of the sumptuous repast prepared. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers, fruit and grain. In the windows the fruit was displayed, and grain was twined gracefully around the gas standards. The pulpit and chancel were beautifully decorated with flowers. In the church full evening service was conducted by the pastor, the Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, and an eloquent sermon was preached by the Rev. J. W. Burke, of St. Thomas' Church, Belleville. A collection was taken up in aid of the Sunday School Building Fund.

Chamberlain's Parlor Dining Room.
Suppers, Luncheons, etc., will be served in carte at all hours.

A Good Business.
Great activity prevails in the Mantle and Dress Making Department at Fair, VanEvery & Co.'s. Ladies will appreciate the large assortment of handsome materials from which rich and elegant Mantles and Dresses are being turned out daily.

Free Vaccination.
On Thursday afternoon Dr. Clarke vaccinated a number of people in Ashburnham. He was to go there again this afternoon for the same purpose, but his stock of vaccine was exhausted. He has sent for more, however, and will visit Ashburnham on Monday afternoon. The people of Lakeside are arming themselves against attacks of smallpox in the same manner, but the work is temporarily suspended from the same cause.

Locks.
I am now receiving Door Locks made in Peterborough, and have no hesitation in saying that they are equal to the goods made by the best makers in the United States. As I intend to keep only these goods in stock in future, I am selling at reductions in price of 30 to 30 per cent. all the American Locks, Knobs and Door Trimmings that I have on hand to make room for a full line of our home made goods. There are some very fine lines, especially in Mortise Locks, among them, and I would respectfully ask your inspection. Cut Nails and Door Hangers are very low in price just now.

GEORGE STRETH.

Chit-Chat.
—The dog days are over, but a dog had a day at the Police Court this morning.

—Fine weather to-day. Is it because the famous weather prophet, "Moses Oates," is in town?

—When is the next Lindsay-Peterborough base ball match to be played?

—Who'll win the matched race at the Lansdowne rink to-night?

—Scott stands a good chance. He skates on big rollers to-night.

—But Shevlin will make it hot.

—Are the anti Scott speakers all professors? There is Prof. Goldwin Smith, Prof. Richardson and since Mr. J. Gordon Mowat entered the meteorological observatory he is also dubbed "professor."

—But Prof. Richardson says that it is the reporters who have made him a professor.

—Scott is a well known name just now. Thomas Scott who was murdered in 1870 is frequently mentioned; Thomas Scott was acquitted of treason-felony recently; the Scott Act is talked of incessantly, and now Walter Scott races with Shevlin at the Lansdowne! Great Scott!

"Slow, Steady, Slow"
There are not many of our good citizens aware of the fact that on Wednesday night, when they were all comfortably tucked up in warm beds, some half a dozen Peterboroughians were plunging the raging waters of the Ottawa in a vain effort to reach the locks. A party of gentlemen on pleasure bent decided to charter a steam yacht and enjoy a pleasant trip on the waters of the Ottawa. This was accomplished in due form, and the merry party embarked about four o'clock p.m. and set sail for Faucher's Park, some nine miles down the river. On the way down the sailors little thought in the midst of their fun that they were destined to undergo all the hardships and trials of a Nile voyage as they reached home again. The Park was reached in good time, and the downward sail very much enjoyed. After partaking of tea, the excursionists sat down to a friendly game of cards, and passed a couple of pleasant hours in this way. The homeward trip was started and so was the trouble. The night being very dark, it was difficult to follow the channel of the river, and before they had proceeded far on their homeward journey, the boat got stuck in a bed of weeds, and the complaints of the error of the wheelmen were numerous. He then told them to run the boat as best they could, for he would not undertake to steer her in the dark. They then constituted themselves into a committee on ways and means, and the result of their deliberations was, that the Hardware King took the helm. All was plain sailing for a time, and the rest of the party settled down to their cards and pipes. But alas, for human knowledge! This pilot bold declared that he knew every stone in the river, and that there would be no danger while "their father was at the helm." Notwithstanding all this gentleman's professedly good qualities as a seaman, he managed to successfully run the party, and of course the boat, high and dry on land before they had made many miles. Well, to say that there was a general uproar of laughter would be putting it mild. The happy man of the crowd, whom we will call "Bob" for short, laughed himself hoarse, and made all sorts of comments on the novelty of the whole trip. Another caucus was then held. Various suggestions were made, a great many more than there was any need for, when Mac volunteered to take them safely home after the boat was again afloat. At this juncture of the proceedings there arose a chorus of voices, all giving instructions as to the course the channel took, and each one anxious to take the wheel. Mac, however, held his post, and to his credit, he it said, brought them safely to the locks. After looking through, he steered a direct course for the Little lake, and came around the Cemetery point in grand style. But here comes in the most laughable part of the whole affair. The little lake is a large sheet of water, and Burnham's point is equally large, but nevertheless it was destined that the party were to once more have trouble, and in order to successfully accomplish this end, the boat was run plump into Burnham's point. Becoming disgusted with their seamanship, the party here disembarked and parted for their several homes at four o'clock in the morning. The boat was successfully got off the same morning.

A fine range of West of England Painting goods, just opened out at Andrew McNeil's, George street.

The Annual Business Meeting of the Peterborough Association.

The Peterborough Young Men's Christian Association held their annual business meeting in their hall on Thursday evening. The chair was occupied by the Acting President, Mr. D. B. Gardner. After devotional exercises reports of the various branches of the work for the past year were given.

The Devotional Committee's report, prepared by its chairman, Mr. I. Richardson, showed that during the year 267 meetings had been held in connection with the Association, with a total attendance of 6,396. Comments were made on the various meetings, which include a Young Men's Bible Class, two Young Men's Meetings, Training Class, Boys' Meeting, Song Service and a service at Auburn mills.

Dr. Fife, Chairman of the Lecture and Entertainment Committee, read his report, which showed that nine lectures, three members' socials, and a New Year's Day reception had been the extent of the work in that department during the year. The new committee were recommended to work along the same line.

The secretary of the Boys' Branch, Master F. Ratcliff, prepared the report of the branch, which showed that this part of the work had been quite successful during the past year. The weekly meetings had been well sustained, three good entertainments given by the boys, a football club organized and the membership increased from 38 to 62.

Mr. D. B. Gardner, as Chairman of the Finance Committee, read the Treasurer's account of receipts and disbursements, the former amounting to $929.95, and the latter to $877.65. There were unpaid accounts to the amount of $487.32, and good uncollected subscriptions of $482.85, leaving a balance at credit of the Association of $15.53. As there was a deficit of $200 at the beginning of the year, it will be seen that the Association is in a much stronger position financially.

The General Secretary's report was presented by that officer, Mr. G. E. Williams, giving details of each part of the work and instances of good accomplished. The membership was reported to be 165, after the addition of 74 new members and the loss of 27. A large amount of personal work had been done, especially among strangers.

A ballot was then taken for the new officers and committees, with the following result:—

PRESIDENT—Mr. J. W. Flavelle.
1st VICE PRESIDENT—Dr. Fife.
2nd VICE PRESIDENT—Mr. W. W. Johnston.
TREASURER—Mr. J. C. Turnbull.
GENERAL SECRETARY—Mr. Geo. E. Williams.

POLICE COURT.

A VICIOUS DOG.

FRIDAY, Sept. 18.—Kate Hanlan charged Sidney Blade with keeping a vicious dog. Mr. G. M. Rogers appeared for the defendant and pleaded not guilty.

It appeared from the evidence that Kate Hanlan's child and other children were playing in Mr. Blade's yard. The child went into a shed where the dog was chained and came out crying and bleeding.

Mrs. BARRY also testified that once when she was passing Blade's dog jumped at her and bit her, but Mrs. Blade said that the dog did not jump at her until she flourished a hoe and did not bite her.

SIDNEY BLADE did not consider the dog a vicious animal, but said it would bark at people.

The MAGISTRATE said that a dog that ran out and barked at people ought to be killed.

Mr. ROGERS—But there is no law for doing so, unfortunately.

The MAGISTRATE said he had no doubt that the dog was a vicious one, but after some discussion with counsel he reserved judgment until Monday, remarking that he had heard lately of several persons having been bitten by dogs, and that he intended to deal with the matter if he could.

A HIDDEN POLICY.

In reply to a request to be enlightened as to the policy of the Reform party, the London Advertiser has a long editorial which may be epitomized as a declaration that the policy at present is to ensure the Conservatives till the Reformers are returned to power and then to promulgate another policy. The people of Canada are hardly likely to turn out the statesmen they have placed at their head, in order to satisfy their curiosity as to the hidden policy of the aspirants to office.

THE NORTHWEST REBELS.

Consistent in its policy of supporting the rebels in the Northwest and their sympathizers, the Globe is very inconsistent in its treatment of the case of Poundmaker and Scott.

It urges that Poundmaker should be released because it doubts his guilt, though he was convicted after a fair trial.

It urges that Scott should be compensated because he was acquitted through the jury scrupulously giving him the benefit of the doubt.

If the verdict, though amounting in fact only to "not proven," is to be considered as a complete exoneration in the one case, why should the decision of the jury be held of no value in the other case?

The only consistency in the Globe's course is, as we have already said, that it is consistent in espousing the cause of the rebels and their sympathizers.

THE YOUNG LIBERALS.

The convention of Young Liberals would have been a very important event in Canadian politics, but for the very evident fact that the meeting was controlled by the old party whippersnappers. The great concern of some of the manipulators seemed to be, not to obtain an expression of opinion of the Young Liberals, but to draw up such a platform as would not embarrass the old Reform party.

Some of the resolutions passed were of undoubted importance, but they lost much of their weight when it is considered that they were in some cases carried by only small majorities, so that the wire-pulling element to which we have alluded might easily have brought about the result arrived at. In such circumstances the resolutions, as carried, cannot be looked upon as an authoritative expression of the views of the Young Liberals as a body, or of the Reform party, though they may be held as an indication. They cannot be supposed to be binding upon anyone beyond those who voted for them.

One conclusion to be drawn from the proceedings by onlookers is that at least a section of the Reform party is somewhat disposed to drop that title and to adopt that of "Liberals." It seems to have forced itself upon their minds that there is an absurdity in their continuing to call themselves Reformers, when they do not propose any reform. The name of Liberal is still less appropriate to many very liberal members of the party.

AIDING INDUSTRIES.

The resolution which was passed by the meeting, of which a report is given in another column, marks the adoption of a new policy in regard to encouraging manufacturing industries, so far as concerns those who made the recommendation to the Town Council. Of course it by no means binds the community as a whole, as it was a meeting by invitation, only a hundred of which, as we were told, were present, and was not necessarily representative of public opinion.

Hitherto the policy of our town has been to grant aid to new industries introduced among us, but to refuse aid to such as would compete with local establishments already existing, and not thus favored. This is the first instance, though Mr. Hamill seems unable to see the point raised, when any application has been made in favor of giving aid to any industry left free to compete with previous establishments paying taxes.

Whether this new policy is to be adopted is certainly a question that will be further discussed. If it is adopted it must obviously be made general, and not applicable to only one case. The suggested by-law is undoubtedly preferable to that now condemned even by the friends of the Dickens Company, inasmuch as it is more general, and does not discriminate quite so much in favor of some property holders as against others. It still, however, discriminates in favor of some establishments against rivals in the same line—in favor of new comers as against old residents. We believe there is a very strong and wide spread objection among our people to what they consider the injustice of taxing an old resident in order to aid a business rival to come and compete against him.

All are in favor of the industrial development of the town, but as yet there is far from being an agreement as to the best means of effecting the end desired.

THE HALFBREED COMPLAINTS.

The following is abstracted from the official report of Father Andre's evidence at the trial. It clearly shows that the present Dominion Government had not been regardless of the complaints of the halfbreeds, but had settled the most of them:

Q. What were the claims of the halfbreeds? A. Since when? you must distinguish.

Q. From 1841 till the time of the rebellion? A. Since the arrival of the prisoner in the country?

Q. Yes? A. It would be difficult to tell that. They changed from time to time since arrival of the prisoner.

Q. Before his arrival? A. They demanded patents for their land, demanded frontage on the river, and the abolition of the taxes on the wood and the rights for those who did not have a crop in Manitoba.

Q. Will you state if since the arrival of the prisoner in the country, up to the time of the rebellion, the Government have made any favorable answer to the demands and claims of the halfbreeds? A. Yes. I know they have acceded to certain demands in regard to those who did not have any script in Manitoba. A telegram was sent on the 4th of March last granting the script.

Q. Before that time? A. Yes. Regarding the alteration of the survey of lots along the river, there was an answer from the Government saying they would grant it, and that was an important question.

Q. What was the question which then remained to be settled? A. The question of patents. That has also been settled in a certain way, because Mr. Duck was sent, and I went with him as interpreter.

Q. What other question remained? A. Only the question of wood—timber.—Winnipeg, Manitoba.

THE LIBERAL MANIFESTO.

Mr. Gladstone Formulates the Liberal Platform.

LONDON, Sept. 17.—Mr. Gladstone's manifesto, which has been awaited with such extreme interest, will be issued in the form of an address to his constituents in Midlothian tomorrow. The manifesto consists of twenty sections. It shows a distinct recognition of the radical advance. It begins with a request for the renewal of his constituents' personal trust in him. He regards the future with cheerfulness. He says the arrears of legislation are due to Tory obstruction. He claims credit for the Afghan settlement, says he found Afghanistan broken to pieces and left it friendly. By yielding the Transvaal he averted a war of the English and European races in South Africa. He challenges a contrary verdict. He traces all the trouble in Egypt to the policy of foreign intervention, of which he has never ceased since 1876 to point out the danger. He advocates a withdrawal from Egypt at the earliest moment that honor permits, saying: "I will admit that we committed serious errors of judgment at a great cost of treasure and precious lives in the Sudan. For none of these were we rebuked by the Opposition. The responsibility for our mistakes cannot be questioned. They were the proper and certain consequence of undertakings against nature and that lie beyond the scope of the one man's aid or care dealing freely with the transfer of land, the registration of titles, land taxation during the life of the holder, and after his death he opposes primogeniture and entails. He indicates that the current is already setting in the direction of decentralization, but believes the vitality of the church equal to her needs even at this crisis. He is averse to pressing the question of primary education bill. On the Irish question he says: "I cannot believe that the political genius of the nation illustrates history will prove inadequate to a solution of the problem, or permit embittered civil strife. If such a strife should arise, the one may cast blame on the other, but the verdict of the civilized world, I am convinced, will alike condemn both." Evidently alluding to Mr. Parnell he says: "I believe history and posterity will condemn to disgrace the one and the memory of every man on whichever side of the channel he dwells who, having power to promote peace and friendship, uses it for strife and enmity." He says no progress is possible with reform of the legislative instrument. On the question of the house of lords he says: "I cannot deny that there is a case sufficient to justify an important change in the character of the house of lords, but I true a reasonable share of power may be all-way under wise conditions to the principal of birth. Concluding he says: "Much of what I have written refers to the future, which, according to all expectations, lies beyond my reach."

LINDSAY.

A MEDAL.—Dr. Burrows on his recent visit to Ottawa became possessor of a silver medal with which a very interesting history is associated as connected with eminent persons and the early history of Bytown, now the city of Ottawa. This medal was presented by His Holiness Pope Pius IX to the late reverend prelate Dr. O'Connor on the occasion of his visit to Rome. It was by Bishop O'Connor given to his sister, wife of H. J. Free, first mayor of the city of Ottawa, and by her given to Mrs. Johnston, relict of the late Jas. Johnston, M.P. for the old Dalhousie district, and given to Mrs. John Burrows, oldest surviving resident of Bytown and mother of the present owner. Dr. Burrows also brought with him a tea cup and saucer, part of the service of the Government house, Ottawa, a special rafter brought in dinner and tea service expressly for Rideau Hall, and used on all state occasions.—Post.

The Boon of Thoughtless Boys.

HAGERVILLE, Ont., Sept. 18.—Yesterday afternoon as some children were going home from school one of the boys set fire to some waste material that they found lying on the Michigan Central railroad track. It was soon in a blaze and caught on the clothes of a little girl named McDonald, between eight and nine years of age, daughter of a section boss. She was burned so badly that she only lived a short time.

SELF-SACRIFICING WOMAN.

Their Friends of Mercy to the Smallpox Patients—Many New Cases.

MONTREAL, Sept. 18.—The official return at the health office this morning shows that there were 29 deaths from smallpox yesterday.

In view of the prevalence of smallpox, the authorities of McGill university have taken special precautions with regard to students' lodging houses, making it imperative for medical certificates to provide that the houses are in a perfectly sanitary condition. They also require students to be vaccinated. The classes open next week.

The assistance of the nurse has been asked to perform a home-to-home visitation in the infected districts, discover hidden cases, distribute relief, supply attendance, put in practice isolation, counsel vaccination and induce removal to the hospital when feasible. There are some hundred cases in St. Ursula's and several in Griffintown. The Grey Nuns, in their ordinary visitations, have discovered over fifty cases in the last four or five days. These ladies have now a number of their nuns set apart for the care of smallpox patients. Cases discovered by the others are reported to these, who then visit and nurse the afflicted families. These nuns live apart in a separate house, and every care is taken to prevent contagion through them. Other nuns say there are a number of unreported cases in the western district. It was decided for the present to have optional isolation, and if not found to work well to proceed to establish a system of compulsory vaccination.

There are now 107 patients in the civil hospital, of whom 90 are doing well. A case of smallpox has occurred at Lambert, outside the city, and also at Outremont.

THE REV. GEO. H. TRAYER, of Barbours Ind., says: "Both myself and wife owe our lives to SHILOAH'S CONSUMPTION CURE." For sale by Ormrod & Walsh, druggists, Peterborough.

PROF. G. W. HOTCHIN

Will visit the following places again:—

LINDSAY—Benson House, October 9th, 10th and 11th.

PETERBOROUGH—The Grand Centre Hotel, October 12th, 13th and 14th.

Prof. Hotchin's treatment is a practical, rational and economical. Its object is immediate relief and eventual cure. It is based on scientific principles and easily demonstrated to the comprehension of every intelligent person, that a truss without steel springs or hard substance, having healed inguinal and umbilical as well as Ventral, at the advanced ages respectively from 65 to 95 years, must and will stand the test again as all Spring Trusses to children as well as adults.

Prof. H. having had 30 years' experience has become master of his profession, and DEFEATS the Hernia he cannot hold in the place. Prof. H. has invented an apparatus to hold the FILLS in their proper place, which has been as successful as his other inventions. Go and see for yourself.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Light to moderate variable winds, fine warm weather.

Personal.
Mr. A. V. Hugel, ex-Mayor of Port Hope, was in town to-day.

Mrs. Pidgeon, wife of Constable Richard Pidgeon, is very ill and is not expected to recover.

Good coat makers wanted, apply to Andrew McNeil, Tailor and Gents' Furnisher, George street.

Music by Moonlight.
The moonlight was not allowed to sleep in the Horticultural Gardens on Friday evening. The Fire Brigade Band gave a free concert, which was attended by a large number, who thoroughly appreciated the good programme the band had prepared.

Ladies who want a Mantle and have not time to leave their order will find an excellent stock of ready made to choose from at Turnbull's.

The Y. M. C. A. Meetings.
The Young Men's Meeting will be held this evening as usual. All young men will be welcome. The Song Service will be held after the church services on Sunday evening as is customary. These meetings are well appreciated and are growing in number.

Important Notice.
St. Luke's Sunday school will be held in the Town Hall, Ashburnham, to-morrow at 3 o'clock. This is owing to the pulling down of the old building in which the Sunday school was formerly held, and to the building of a new room. Scholars and teachers are requested to pay heed to this notice.

A Keene Meeting.
A meeting was held on Friday evening at Keene under the auspices of the Liberal Temperance Union. Messrs. J. Gordon Mowat and O. Gordon Richardson represented the Union and spoke in opposition to the Scott Act. The Rev. B. B. Keefe and Mr. J. A. Nicholls advocated the adoption of the Act.

Ladies, if you want a neat Ulster made to order from the latest patterns leave your order at Turnbull's.

To-morrow's Services.
The pulpit of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church will be occupied by the Rev. W. A. McKay of Westwood, both morning and evening. Mr. Torrance will preach at Westwood and Newwood, in connection with the Temperance agitation.

The Rev. B. B. Keefe, of Toronto will preach in Charlotte Street Methodist Church to-morrow morning, and in the Ashburnham Methodist Church in the evening.

A Fish Twice Hooked.
Messrs. J. J. and W. R. Lundy on Friday went to Chemung Lake for a day's sport. When they returned they carried in their buggy a fish which weighed sixteen pounds. They exhibited it with the just pride of successful sportsmen on their return, and then started for Ashburnham. Before they had gone far, however, their attention was called to the fact that the fish was gone, and they realized that their luck had been "hooked" again. Returning to where they had last exhibited their prize, after some joking on the part of the sports who had taken charge of it, they again secured possession of their fish.

Ladies, if you want a Polarism Mantle made to order and a neat fit, leave your order at Turnbull's.

Cheap Excursions to the West.
The Canadian Pacific Railway will run an excursion from Peterborough to points west on the 25th and 26th Sept. Fare from Peterborough to Chicago, Cincinnati, and Milwaukee and return, $12; Grand Rapids and return $10; Saginaw City, Bay City and return, $9; Detroit and return, $6. This is the shortest and most comfortable route, as the company's cars are all new and the very latest design. Passengers leaving in the morning arrive in Detroit the same afternoon, crossing the line in daylight arrive in Chicago next morning. For reliable information apply to Alex. Elliott, C.P.R. ticket agent, who can supply you with through coupon tickets.

Chamberlain's Parlor Dining Room.
Suppers, Lunches, etc., will be served a la carte at all hours.

Town Committee.
A special meeting of the Scott Act Town Committee will be held at the committee rooms this evening.

An Accident.
John Armour, an employee in Messrs. Douglas & Logan's wagon shop, cut the top of his thumb this forenoon with a saw he was using. Dr. Kincaid dressed the wound.

Special Meeting.
All the ward committees met at the Scott Act headquarters, Hunter street, to-night. Every Scott Act supporter is urged to be present.

See the handsome new designs in bedroom furniture at A. Clegg's.

A Good Business.
Great activity prevails in the Mantle and Dress Making Department at Fair, VanEvery & Co.'s. Ladies will appreciate the large assortment of handsome materials from which rich and elegant Mantles and Dresses are being turned out daily.

The Market.
There was a large attendance at the market this morning, buyers and sellers of produce thronging the square. Potatoes sold at 50 cts a bushel, butter 20 cts, eggs 14 cts, and vegetables at unchanged prices. There was a large quantity of fruit offered. On the grain market barley brought from 40 to 62 cts, wheat from 63 to 82 cts, oats 31 cts, peas 60 and rye 50 cts.

See the new dining room and Hall furniture, A. Clegg's.

Carwell Monday.
The Opera House will be crowded Monday evening, the occasion of Edward Carwell, the Canadian Gough's visit in the interests of the Scott Act. His humor and pathos are famous through Canada and the States, and nowhere ranks his popularity higher than in this vicinity. Mr. Carwell's lecture will be a treat for young and old. The doors will be open at 7.30. A rush for seats and a crush inside the hall may be anticipated. The lecture will be free to all.

Locks.
I am now receiving Door Locks made in Peterborough, and have no hesitation in saying that they are equal to the goods made by the best makers in the United States. As I intend to keep only these goods in stock in future, I am selling at reductions in prices of 20 to 30 per cent. all the American Locks, Knobs and Door Trimmings that I have on hand to make room for a full line of our home made goods. There are some very fine lines, especially in Morris Locks, among them, and I would respectfully ask your inspection. Cut Nails and Door Hinges are very low in price just now.

Toronto Exhibition.
At the Toronto Industrial Exhibition Mr. Joseph Redmond won the first prize for Durham bull calf under 1 year, the amount of the prize being $20. Messrs. Mossom Boyd & Co., of Bobcaygeon, won seven prizes for Follies Angus cattle, the aggregate amount being $88, besides a bronze medal. They also obtained a prize for a fat cow.

Cornice Poles, Curtains, Painted Window Shades, Curtain Chair, Spring Beds, Mattresses and Feather Pillows at A. Clegg's.

Notice of Visit.
I have the pleasure of announcing to the residents of Peterborough and vicinity that Mr. P. H. Morris, formerly of the firm of Lazarus & Morris, and now from the establishment of B. Laurance, of Montreal, and London, England, will be at my store during the three days on which our Central Exhibition is held, viz., Tuesday and Wednesday, the 20th and 21st Sept., and on Thursday, the 1st of Oct., for the purpose of adjusting the B. Laurance genuine jangle and other spectacles and eye-glasses for every requirement of the eye. He is especially qualified by his long experience and thorough knowledge of his profession, to give just such spectacles, &c., as are best suited in each case, however difficult, and afford relief where relief is possible. This, added to the acknowledged superiority of the B. Laurance jangle spectacles and eye-glasses, assures to wearers and others needing aids to sight great advantages not otherwise attainable. Remember dates of visit to my store. JOHN MCKEE, chemist and druggist.

The Ten Gallon Order-in-Council and the Scott Act.

This Order-in-Council has been misunderstood by a good many persons, and editorial articles in several journals, notably the Globe and Christian Guardian, whose writers seemed to have shared in the general misunderstanding, misled many more into believing that the Order-in-Council would totally destroy the usefulness of the Scott Act. The order makes no change in any clause, section, or sub-section of the Act. It simply changes a regulation regarding bonded spirits by reducing the quantity which can be taken out of bond by the distiller from forty to ten gallons. Under the former state of affairs a purchaser of ten gallons of liquor would be compelled to give his order to a wholesale dealer who, in his turn purchased the larger quantity from the distiller. Now the ten gallon purchaser can go to the distiller direct. In Scott Act countries the sale of liquor is under the same stringent regulations as before. It must be borne in mind that there is no change whatever in the law affecting the bringing of liquor into or selling liquor in Scott Act countries, the Act is absolutely unimpaired by the new regulations.

A fine range of West of England Pottery good, just opened out at Andrew McNeil's, George street.

LACROSSE.

A MEETING.
A meeting of the Lacrosse Club was held last evening, but no business of a public nature—or, at least, that they wish made public at present—was transacted.

SKINKETS.SCOTT AND SHEVLIN.

The watched race between Scott and Shevlin which took place at the Lansdowne Roller Rink on Friday proved without doubt to be the most interesting contest of the kind ever held in Peterborough. Considering that Shevlin had vanquished thus far all those who were pitted against him he was the favorite by odds of two to one. But all agreed that the race would be a close one, and so it was. At five minutes past eight Scott took the floor attired in black knickerbockers and white shirt. He was soon followed by Shevlin, who wore a Jersey blue suit. At ten minutes after eight o'clock the two men prepared for the start. The signal was given and Shevlin, by springing forward, gained a slight advantage. He was overpowered by his opponent, however, before he had gone around the first corner. The race then continued for the whole hour, with not more than half a lap between the skaters at any one time. At twenty minutes to nine Shevlin, who leading put on a desperate spurt, probably with the intention of playing his old time dodge of gaining a lap and holding it, but his opponent this time was of different metal. Scott followed up close and when Shevlin relaxed he took first place, and for quite a while held it. The cheering and applause was loud at this point. Shevlin made strenuous efforts to gain first place by cutting the corners, an art that he has down to a nicety, but Scott showed himself also to be an adept at it and skinned them to an inch. Within five minutes of the hour Scott was leading, with Shevlin at his heels. When they were informed that they had five minutes to go, both put on a final spurt. Scott got up a little too much speed and on going around the north end corner, went off his feet. This gave Shevlin an advantage which it was impossible to win back, but although Shevlin was leading by half a lap Scott went resolutely in to retrieve his loss. Both put on magnificent work for the last three minutes and the most enthusiastic applause from the spectators. Shouts of "Go in, Scott," "Keep it up, Shevlin," were heard on all hands. Scott was gradually gaining as at one minute from the hour was only three yards behind. The excitement here became intense. The crowd rushed out on the floor and made the rink re-echo with their lusty cheers. But the loss was too great to gain back. When the signal was given Shevlin led by about three feet. Each contestant was warmly congratulated and followed to the dressing room by his admirers. Six miles and one lap was covered in the first half hour and six miles and nine laps in the second, making together thirteen miles all but six laps; a full mile more than was skated in the hour at the race held last week. Scott's friends are not yet satisfied with the result, and another match will probably be arranged in the course of a week.

SATURDAY, Sept. 19.—Nicholas Clark appeared in a charge of having been drunk, preferred against him by Chief Johnston. On promising to leave town at once he was discharged.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 21, 1885.

A CARELESS CRITIC.

The London Advertiser quotes from a recent article in the Review our suggestions as to exempting new industries from increased assessment, and proceeds to criticize us as follows:—

"Now, it does not require very much reflection to perceive that municipal and general taxation is a burden upon the rate, and that the community is likely to be the most prosperous that imposes its burdens fairly upon all property holders, each bearing his fair proportion. If the doctrine that were put forward by the Review and other N. P. organs were sound—that the imposition of taxation is a source of prosperity—it is difficult to see why those who have been preaching this doctrine should want to be exempt from the blessing of taxation, especially those who are seeking to establish new industries, when it is said the higher taxation the cheaper the article becomes in the market."

If the Advertiser would condescend to acquaint itself with a subject about which it expresses opinions, it would have seen that we were arguing in favor of the community imposing its burdens fairly, in suggesting modifications of the original proposals of those who seemed to us not to attach quite enough importance to this fairness.

If the Advertiser had any honesty in discussion it would not falsely accuse the Review of asserting "that the imposition of taxation is a source of prosperity," or that "the higher taxation the cheaper the article becomes in the market." We never made such absurd assertions or any of a similar nature. We know, if the Advertiser does not, the difference between the imposition of customs duties and taxation. If the duties are not paid there is no taxation, a distinction which the Advertiser and its friends systematically ignore. We have maintained, and continue to maintain, that manufactured articles, when protected against foreign competition, are cheapened by domestic competition, being warranted in so maintaining by the experience of this and other countries.

We would advise the Advertiser, if it wishes to refute an opponent, to endeavor to do so without misrepresentation, and to acquaint itself with the subject it is discussing. We will leave to the Advertiser's free trade friends the task of reconciling their opinions with their advocacy of aid for industrial establishments.

EARNING ITS PAY.

The comic organ of the rebels, has for its principal cartoon a design for a medal in honor of Riel, and in disparagement of the Canadian forces and the Canadian constitutional authorities. To keep up its shallow pretence of impartiality, Grip has another cartoon representing Mr. Blake hustled on by the young Liberals, but this is only done in the interest of Mr. Mowat, Grip's very liberal paymaster, who is being steadily boomed by his personal organs at the expense of the Reform leader.

THAT DESCENDING DOVE

Details of the Recent Beautiful Incident in a Connecticut Church.

A New Haven, Conn., despatch says:—

"While the Rev. Mr. Clark was preaching in East Haven Congregational church, and had finished the prayer preceding the sermon, a dove alighted upon the centre gallery, in full view of the congregation, and began cooing. When he had finished his prayer the dove perched on the gallery railing opposite the pulpit. When heard the first chapter of St. John's Gospel at the thirty-second verse—'I saw the spirit descending from heaven like a dove, and it abode upon him.'—he dove flew to the desk and perched upon the open page of the Bible. The pastor's text was from the fourth verse. It then settled upon the platform below the pulpit during the sermon. At the conclusion the pastor engaged in sacramental service and closed the Bible. The bird thrice alighted on the book and on again, and nestled by its side. When he had concluded the pastor referred to the interruption and coincidence, and said that the winged visitor might be taken as a symbol of the spirit in the church. Then the bird perched upon the pastor's head. The effect was electrical, and many ladies were in tears. The pastor took the dove and held it to his breast and gave the benediction. It was Stephen Bradley's pet dove which had followed his sister to church. The rest of the family had tried to drive the little thing back, but it followed the young lady in, and flew by the way of the gallery stairs. Much comment is made in East Haven, and it is regarded as almost miraculous."

RIDING TO DEATH.

A Railway Railroad Train Rucking at the Rate of Eighty Miles an Hour.

W. H. Edwards was on the wild train and witnessed all the horrors attending the killing and wounding of seven men. After leaving the C. and O. railroad a long stretch of level track is had, leaving which a heavy incline is had within a short distance of the mines. It frequently occurs that the loaded cars are sent down the incline without the aid of a locomotive, competent brakemen being placed on the trains. Shortly before 1 o'clock on the day the accident occurred, two loaded cars were detached from the engine at the head of the incline in charge of the brakemen. On the cars were Superintendent Sayton S. Oakford, Mr. Toman, superintendent of the Coal Valley Coal Co.; Mr. Amos Mitchell, single boss at Oakburg; Mr. Hudson, a coal dealer of Lewisburg; Mr. Peacock and Mr. Hall, miners of Oakburg; Conductor Epperly and Mr. Edwards. The cars, each containing eighteen tons of coal were started down the incline by detaching them from the engine.

Mr. Oakford occupied a position on the rear bumper of the last car, standing on the right side. On the left stood Mr. Toman and Peacock. Mitchell and Edwards, Hall and Hudson were on the rear bumper of the first car. Just as the car moved off Mr. Epperly placed a hickory bar in the wheels of the rear car brake, using it as an extra lever on any further force to the brakes. He then ran over the front car and used the same means on tightening the brake on that car. By this time the momentum of the cars had increased greatly, causing another turn to be had on the brakes, but in a few seconds it became apparent to all on the train that the brakes were failing to perform their work. Consternation seized every one, and preparations were made to abandon the train as speedily as possible, but before any determination could be arrived at it was plain that to jump was to meet death in a horrible form. Each second increased the velocity of the cars. A car as if a long express running at the rate of 60 miles an hour was dashing by, convulsed the men on the wild cars that they were being whirled along at least 30 miles in 30 minutes, and then the fearful thought of being hurled to death flashed upon their minds. Suddenly Mr. Oakford raised himself from between the cars, waved his hand to the men in the rear car and disappeared, the supposition being that he would be killed if he remained on the cars, he jumped off after waving his hand.

Mr. Edwards says: At this juncture, I saw nothing of the other men now; the coal in the cars was bubbling and boiling; a thick cloud of dust followed the lurching cars, and the noise was awful. I threw away my hat, but could my coat, and prepared myself to jump. To make the leap at that time would have been to meet with instant death, and my chance of life was to spring when the final crash came, which I saw was not far distant. My senses almost left me; the rapidity with which the train was moving had lost its terrors; a peculiar fascination for the wheels seemed to possess me, and my senses appeared to centre in holding fast to the rim of the coal bumper. Suddenly I felt a jarring of the car, and then I knew we had left the track. The next instant I sprang from my position on the bumper, that leap I shall never forget. Instantly my past life was photographed before my eyes, and my only thought was a short prayer, not spoken, but flashed through my brain with mysterious rapidity. The next thing I remember by me was running among the grass and weeds, far away from the wreck. The rear car had turned over, and coal, wheels and springs were flying thick in the air. In jumping I struck upon my feet in marshy ground, turned around and plunged my head into the mud, then, springing to my feet, ran a short distance. I turned about and found Peacock upon his back lying on the tie and of the track. He had fallen off the wreck and lay just where he had been; the blood was flowing from his mouth, nose and ears, and his skull seemed broken and badly smashed. He died in about two hours.

"I found Mr. Oakford dead. He had tried to drop himself from the train that he might strike on an open space, but stuck pile, but the projecting platform at the storehouse caught him. The force of the collision tore off the ends of two heavy oak planks from the platform, twisted the spikes which held them, and tore off the top one of his shoes, pushed a terrible wound in his side and tossed him in the air, flinging him to the ground with broken arms and fractured skull. He never spoke.

"Just above the store, in the bed of the brook, I found Mr. Toman lying upon his back, terribly injured. His right leg was broken, his shoulder blade smashed to atoms, and he received other injuries on his head and body. He died next morning. A quarter of a mile away up the track Mr. Mitchell's body was found lying by the road, with his skull shattered and his brains scattered along the track for many yards. The wreck of the rear car broke the connecting pin which held the two cars together, and the front or forward car sprang loose and ran about a half mile further on down the track and upset, flinging Mr. Hudson out on the hillside, seriously, but not fatally, injuring him. He had a rib or two broken, his head was badly contused, but he was able to walk up the track and help move the body of Mr. Hall, who had fallen off the car above the second wreck and had been instantly killed.

"The time occupied, as well as I can judge, from the moment we started down the incline to the final wreck was probably not longer than two minutes, and the distance travelled was about three miles."—Charleston Star.

BALE FOR HER SORROW.

An Interesting Story of Promise Case Heard at the Napanee Assizes.

At the Napanee assizes on Tuesday a breach of promise case was heard. The parties to the suit was Miss McGuire and Mr. Mowbray, of Sheffield township. The plaintiff, about forty years of age, is a plain, matter-of-fact person. Mowbray is about fifty years of age and the possessor of considerable property. The suit was brought to recover $1,000 damages for alleged seductions. Mowbray having married another woman. There were no letters produced, not the manner in which Miss McGuire left the matrimonial life with the way she was very interesting. She told how Mowbray "piped the question." It ran something like this:—

"How do you like me?" required the lover, as he won, he big hat in a circle and bitched up his chair as to the main line.

"Very well," she replied, beaming benignly upon Mowbray.

"Then I guess we'll get married," said the emboldened farmer after a mighty effort to speak.

She assented and the arrangements were made, and it was decided that the minister at Camden should tie the knot. The cost of the trip was figured up at $15, and Mowbray thought they could walk through that expense. Then they read the service and Mowbray unintentionally, of course, called his "betrotted" attention to the word "obey." Miss McGuire, in happy anticipation of her marriage, secured a trousseau at a cost of $15 or $19. Afterward Mowbray deserted her, hence the action. The defence set up that the woman was not all he thought she was, but the jury gallantly awarded her $500 and costs. Afterwards Miss McGuire, looking at Mowbray, said, "I guess I haven't lost much."—Kingsford Whig.

Federation.
In the New Zealand House of Commons Mr. McAndrew has given notice that that efforts be made to unite the whole of the English speaking portions of the world in one great federation, for the maintenance of peace and mutual defence in time of war. He suggests that a conference be held in London or Washington to consider the matter.

The Toronto Exhibition.
The Toronto Industrial exhibition closed on Friday night, having been a most pronounced success. The total receipts for the nine days were $24,135, only a slight decrease under those of the ten days last year, which will be more made up of the receipts from the various sources. There were two hundred more individual exhibitors than at last year's exhibition.

A Museum Trick.
"Can't you tell me, sir, where I might find a situation?" asked a young man of a Chicago citizen. "I am a stranger here." "What at it?" was the reply. "Oh, anything at all: I am not afraid to work. 'Got any recommendations?' "Well, no; but I am industrious, I am honest, I go to church regularly, and I don't drink. I don't chew, I don't smoke, I don't lie." "Ah, I see. Just apply around the corner at a dime museum."—Chicago Living Church.

A Vaccine Farm.
Two well-qualified Montreal physicians are about to establish a vaccine farm in the immediate neighborhood of Montreal. The necessity for an abundant supply of fresh and pure vaccine lymph is evident. There is reason to fear that some of the lymph recently used has been infected, or in many cases vaccination has failed to produce any effect. The bad results of vaccination feared by mis-informed people have not appeared, but many people are complaining that their vaccine is the "n-t" take. If fresh lymph is used there will be fewer failures.—Montreal Star.

An Ocean Telephone.
LONDON, Sept. 17.—The Press Association furnishes a lengthy account of an alleged discovery whereby telephonic communication across the Atlantic is made possible. The inventor of the new instrument, it is said, is a native of Texas, and has a scientific reputation. He employs as an instrument of enormous power. It is also alleged that a certain company, whose name are exhausted, had acquired the right to use the instrument, and that a well-known millionaire had given entire carte blanche to perfect the invention, which will cost $200,000. The new instrument, it is asserted, has been successfully tested with the cable of Mexico. The story lacks scientific data, and has the appearance of being a hoax.

Canine Kindness.
Dog stories are always in order, provided they are true. A gentleman in one of the suburban wards owned a fine specimen of the spaniel breed, which is very fond of children, and when a little one visits his master's house constitutes himself their companion, playmate and guardian. A few days ago a lady with an infant visited the gentleman, and in the course of the day the child was laid on a pillow to amuse itself for a time. The dog took its place near the child, as usual. The day was hot and the flies bad, and they made the baby the target of frequent attacks. This rendered her restless. Dignity watched her a few moments, and then, walking close up, with his nose or paw drove away every fly as soon as it lit on the baby's face, and in a few minutes, too, as not to disturb her in the least. The dog's action drew the attention of the mother and others, who were filled with astonishment at his thoughtful kindness. This story has the merit of truth.—Port Hope Guide.

A STRANGE CASE.
A Large Number of Needles Removed from a Young Lady's Body.

A despatch from Kittanning, Pa., says:—

Considerable interest is manifested by the medical fraternity in the case of Miss Weaver, who lives with her parents on the lake between this place and Indiana, about three miles distant. About a year ago the young lady was seized with acute pain in several portions of her body, and a physician was called in. An examination was made and a number of needles were discovered imbedded in the flesh underneath the skin. These being removed, the patient rapidly recovered and remained in good health for a few weeks, when she was again attacked with pains similar to those which caused her previous trouble.

The family physician, Dr. C. J. Jesop, of this place, was again called in, and it was discovered that there was the same cause for her illness, and a number of needles were taken from her body. Since that time she was attacked in a similar way, and on each occasion a number of needles have been removed before relief could be obtained. A day or two ago was the time of her last attack, and at that time Dr. Jesop being called in, removed several cantharides needles entire, as well as several broken pieces, which had found lodgment in her body in some mysterious way.

The prevalent belief in this neighborhood is that the young woman has been bewitched, and that the needles have been inserted in her body by the supernatural agency of some one allied with the power of darkness. Strange as this may seem, nearly every one in this section seems to be imbued with this idea. Several of the more intelligent neighbors advise that the young woman drive the needles into her body with the point of a pin, and that she acknowledge, 'at other claim that it would hardly be probable that such a painful method of procuring relief could be adopted. The witchcraft theory finds many more supporters.

THE POWER OF DISCIPLINE.

Frederick the Great of Prussia was at his palace at Potsdam, when some of his orders by their excessive severity caused great discontent among the Prussian troops; so the soldiers then in garrison resolved to avail themselves of that ease and frailty which Frederick could at all times be approached by them; and thus a deputation of the grenadiers of Ogilvie marched deliberately from their barracks across the great square which lies before the palace and halted at the porch. An officer in waiting—afterwards the great Field-Marshal Keith, who was killed in battle by the Austrians at Hochkirchen—acquainted the King of their arrival, adding, "Shall I order them in barracks, sire, or place them under arrest?" "Do neither; they have come to see me and see me they shall; good soldiers have nothing to fear from me, and the regiment of Ogilvie is one of the finest in Prussia. I shall try on them the power of discipline!" Frederick hastily put on his shabby old uniform, his long jack boots which had never known blacking, his order of knighthood, his cocked hat, sword and scabbard. "Sire," urged Keith, "will there not be an inconvenience in all this?" "To whom?" "To you, sire," "How comest thou, boy?" "Discussion will lead to other depositions, and every order your Majesty may issue will be dissected and cavilled at in turn in every guard room and beer-hall in Prussia." "No matter," answered the King, "I will try to be the power of discipline!" In they came accordingly, twenty tall, thin fellows, all after Frederick's own heart; but the appearance of the King, dressed as if for parade, awed them into total silence. "Attention!" (cried the King, drawing his sword, "to the right two—front to the left face—front!" The two commands the deputation, who were formed in line, obeyed in perfect silence, and wondering what was to follow a reception and a very heavy cross-fallen expression. "The right aboutface, to your barracks, quick march!" Then, as he never gave the word "halt," they felt compelled to march off, and the Field-Marshal Keith laughed heartily at the baffled deputation disappeared within the barracks yard, where their expectant comrades gathered round them, to hear the report of how Frederick had received the complaint. "We have never opened our lips," said the oldest grenadier, with a very heavy cross-fallen expression. "The King! did not you see the King?" cried they. "We have just left him!" "Blockheads! and why did you not follow our instructions?" "It was impossible," "Impossible—and why?" "When we saw the King Frederick in his fighting coat and dirty boots, and heard his voice of command, our hearts failed us, and—the power of discipline proved too great."

STONEWALL JACKSON'S DEVICE.

On the night of the battle of Fredericksburg, when Burnside was trying to get his army back to the Stafford side of the river over the one penton bridge that was left, Lee called a council of war. Jackson had been holding a position some three miles down the river from Mary's Heights, where the fiercest fighting had taken place, but had moved his command up closer later in the afternoon. The night was fearful dark, and a drizzling rain had set in. Jackson came into the council, saluted the officers present and took a seat off in the corner. General Lee stated the purpose of which the council had been called, and asked one of the senior officers for his opinion; and then another, and another, until all had spoken. Stonewall Jackson, who had turned and asked his opinion, but received no response. All turned to hear what he would say, and there saw Jackson, but upright in his chair, fast asleep. "Why, bless me," said Lee, "the old fellow is asleep, and going to him, he shook his arm and called his name, which awoke him. 'General Jackson, will you give us your opinion as to what could be done?' 'Gentlemen,' he said, 'I am sorry that I have not heard of the battle of the night. The plan is, if the council will agree to it, to go back to my corps and march it into Fredericksburg at once. The enemy has met with a severe reverse and is, in all probability, demoralized. They have only one bridge over which to escape. One corps is sufficient to do this work—to destroy what remains of that army on this side of the river; and that being done the campaign will be over.' 'But, General,' said Lee, 'consider the fact that these men have only the one bridge over which to escape; they will fight desperately.' 'What if they do? My corps is accustomed to desperate fighting. But the very fact that they have only one avenue of escape, in their demoralized condition, will cause them to make every effort to use the bridge. They will not fight so desperately as you think.' 'But consider the darkness of the night. The men will not be able to distinguish their own comrades.' 'I have thought of all that. I will have my men pull their shirts tails out and march in. They will know each other then.' 'General Lee walked back and forth for some time, deeply engaged in thought. Finally he said, 'General Jackson, I cannot agree to your proposition; the slaughter would be horrible, and my conscience cannot approve of it.' 'My conscience approves of it thoroughly,' said Jackson. 'War is war; the slaughter today has been horrible, and would have been worse had the enemy gained those heights. The enemy is in a trap, and we ought to take advantage of it. If the tables were turned they would march in on us.' 'And at this very time,' said a Union officer to me last April, 'we were setting out of that place as fast as men could be got over our bridges. We were looking every minute for the Confederate troops to rush in upon us, and if they had done so we should have been utterly routed. Peter's army, when Jackson cut behind him, was as a plume compared to our situation that night.' And when I told him of Jackson's plan for enabling his troops to know their comrades, he said, 'Faber Maximus is the only other man who ever lived who would have thought of such a thing, and his soldiers didn't have the materials.'

A Cheering Anecdote.

Artemus Ward, in describing his journey from California, says:—
"The driver with whom I sat outside as we rolled down the fearful mountain road, which looks down on either side into an appalling ravine, informed me that he had met accidents in his time which cost the California Stage Company a great deal of money. 'Because,' said he, 'I was in a trap, and I was sure to be killed. But it will never be so again, not with me, you bet! How is that?' I said, 'It was frightfully dark. It was snowing, withal; and, notwithstanding the brakes were broken, the coach slid wildly, often fairly touching the brink of the black precipice. How is that?' I said, 'Why, you see, he replied, 'that corpse never was for damages, but maimed people do. And the next time I have an overturn, I shall go round and cheerfully examine the passengers. Then as it died, I shall let alone; but them as is maimed I shall finish with the king-bolt! Dead folks don't sue. They ain't no it.' Thus, with anecdote, did this driver cheer me up."

A Dog Story.

A resident of the western part of the city has a dog who is in the habit of setting up a doleful howling every Saturday night when the bells ring at 10 o'clock for the Wellington Ward Market to close. As the same dog pays not the slightest attention to the daily ringing of school bells, its master was somewhat puzzled to account for its actions on Saturday nights. He discovered, however, that the dog is in the habit of howling about the market every day in order to pick up little unconsidered trifles in the way of scraps of meat, and came to the conclusion that the dog's lamentable howling is caused by regret that he will be unable to enter the market until Monday morning.—Ottawa Citizen.

Have only one bridge over which to escape. One corps is sufficient to do this work—to destroy what remains of that army on this side of the river; and that being done the campaign will be over.

"But, General," said Lee, "consider the fact that these men have only the one bridge over which to escape; they will fight desperately."

"What if they do? My corps is accustomed to desperate fighting. But the very fact that they have only one avenue of escape, in their demoralized condition, will cause them to make every effort to use the bridge. They will not fight so desperately as you think."

"But consider the darkness of the night. The men will not be able to distinguish their own comrades."

"I have thought of all that. I will have my men pull their shirts tails out and march in. They will know each other then."

General Lee walked back and forth for some time, deeply engaged in thought. Finally he said, "General Jackson, I cannot agree to your proposition; the slaughter would be horrible, and my conscience cannot approve of it."

"My conscience approves of it thoroughly," said Jackson. "War is war; the slaughter today has been horrible, and would have been worse had the enemy gained those heights. The enemy is in a trap, and we ought to take advantage of it. If the tables were turned they would march in on us."

"And at this very time," said a Union officer to me last April, "we were setting out of that place as fast as men could be got over our bridges. We were looking every minute for the Confederate troops to rush in upon us, and if they had done so we should have been utterly routed. Peter's army, when Jackson cut behind him, was as a plume compared to our situation that night."

And when I told him of Jackson's plan for enabling his troops to know their comrades, he said, "Faber Maximus is the only other man who ever lived who would have thought of such a thing, and his soldiers didn't have the materials."

A COMMITTEE was appointed on Friday, at a meeting of four merchants of Montreal, to wait on the railway managers and request a reduction on what are claimed to be excessive prices on flour.

LITTLE BRONCHITIS.—The wheezing which raised the lid off the kettle led to a pleurisy which cost the life of a man's son. No one dreamed that he should now be dragged along by it at the rate of sixty miles an hour. When Perry Davis made a preparation for the medical use of his family thirty years ago, never was our any other man imagined that it would now be sold in every land, and prove to be the Pain Killer of the world.

A STRANGE DISEASE.—There is scarcely a symptom belonging to chronic complaints but that is common to the poor dyspeptic, and he often feels as if he had every disease in the catalogue. Burdock Blood Bitters cures the worst form of Chronic Dyspepsia.

Annual Rifle Matches.

The annual matches of the County of Peterborough Rifle Association will be held on the Association ranges on Tuesday and Wednesday, October 6th and 7th. A good prize list is being prepared, and no doubt the best shots in the county will compete.

Personal.

Dr. S. P. Ford, of Norwood, Returning Officer for the Scott Act vote, was in town to-day, making arrangements for the voting on Thursday.

The Rev. A. H. Munro, pastor of the Baptist Church, has returned from his holiday tour and occupied the pulpit of his church on Sunday.

Mr. Hill on the Road.

The Ottawa Free Press of Thursday says:—"The Central Canadian Exhibition of Arts and Agriculture is advertised to be held in Peterborough on Sept. 29th, 30th, and October 1st. The local committee are springing to pains to make their fall show a grand success. Two thousand dollars are put up for prizes, and the proceedings are elaborately displayed in a mammoth three-story pavilion in four colors, from the Ravine office. In order to have the public the oughty posted with regard to the carrying out of the details of the show, they have placed the advertisement in the hands of Mr. E. C. Hill the Peterborough advertising agent, and supplied him with the necessary ammunition to go forth and do the work, and they have the satisfaction of knowing it is done."

A Warlike Family.

The Kingston Whig, in its notes on the military camp, says:—"The Rogers in the camp are evidently a warlike family. Lieut.-Col. R. Z. Rogers, 40th Bat., and Lieut.-Col. H. C. Rogers, 10th Cavalry, are brothers. Another brother commands the 57th Bat."

The Whig has fallen into one error. The commander of the 57th, Col. J. Z. Rogers, is a cousin of the other Rogers. And it might have added that a brother of Col. J. Z. Rogers, namely, Capt. R. B. Rogers, is in command of No. 3 company of the 57th, having succeeded his deceased brother, Capt. G. C. Rogers, to it at position, and another brother, Corp. A. B. Rogers, is a non-commissioned officer of No. 3 company, and was with the Midland Battalion in the Northwest. Military spirit has in fact been hereditary in the family for many generations.

Ladies who want a Mantle and have not time to leave their order will find an excellent stock of ready made to choose from at Turnbull's.

U. consenting to the Rev. B. B. Keefe occupying one hour at the meeting in the skating rink that evening.

Testimonial from Edward J. Stobo, Pastor of the Baptist Church, Belleville:—

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Nov. 24th, 1883. Mr. B. Laurence has succeeded admirably in editing Mrs. Stobo and myself with spectacles adapted to the state of the vision organs, and we have every reason to believe him a skilful optician, and worthy of public patronage.

A Revolver Accident.

A boy named Edward Tighe handled a revolver in a somewhat careless manner on Sunday and a sore hand was the result. He was extracting a cartridge from a chamber of the revolver when the weapon caught in his coat and was accidentally discharged. The bullet struck him on the forefinger of his right hand, splitting the digit, and struck his mother on the foot. Neither of the wounds, though sore, were serious.

Locks.

I am now receiving Door Locks made in Peterborough, and have no hesitation in saying that they are equal to the made made by the best makers in the United States. As I intend to keep only these goods in stock in future, I am selling at reductions in price of 20 to 30 per cent. all the American Locks, Knobs and Door Trimmings that I have on hand to make room for a full line of our home made goods. There are some very fine lines, especially in Mortice Locks, among them, and I would respectfully ask your inspection. Cut Nails and Door Hinges are very low in price just now.

GEORGE STEPHEN.

It is imperative that all the members of the Scott Act work committees shall meet at the Headquarters, Hunter street, this evening. Let nothing prevent your attendance. Town Scrutineers are also requested to be present.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.BASE BALL.*IRON AND WOOL.

On Saturday afternoon a match was played on the Rivers de Park by sides chosen from the employees of the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company, and the Auburn Woollen Company. Wm. Reynolds was umpire, and the teams were composed as follows:—

HAMILTONS.	AUBURN.
Hickey	Pitcher
Callaghan	Catcher
McFarlane	1st base
Gailey	2nd base
Hawkins	3rd base
Doyle	Short stop
Reeves	Centre field
McQuiggle	Right field
	Steward

The match was a very friendly one, and was played with the best of good feeling. It was, besides, well played, and many clever moves were made by both sides. Last year the employees of these establishments played a match, when the men of iron came out ahead, but on Saturday the Auburn men came out victors by a majority of seven runs. In the Hamilton nine Callaghan, McFarlane, Hickey, Reeves and others did some good playing, and Billings, Dann, Moran and others did very creditable work for the Auburn side. The following is the score by innings:—
Auburn.....0 0 3 4 4 6 2 5—22
Hamiltons.....1 5 0 0 2 5 0 3—18
Majority for Auburn.....7

LACROSE.THE CHAMPIONSHIP MATCH.

Interest is growing in the Lacrosse match to be played on Wednesday between the Peterborough and Cannington clubs, for the Central District championship. The Canningtons intend to make a determined effort to capture the medal, but the Peterboroughs, although they did lose the medal once this year, will put forth every effort to retain it and will put a good team in the field. A very interesting exposition of lacrosse may be expected. The match will commence at 2.30 o'clock in the Association Grounds, Ashburnham.

THE CANADIAN LEAGUE.

On Saturday the Clippers defeated the Toronto by 8 runs to 2, and the Londona won a victory from the Maple Leafs by 12 to 5.

CHEQUET.THE ENGLISHMEN DEFEATED.

The eleven Gentlemen of England played a match with the Gentlemen of Philadelphia, which was continued during three days. The result was that the Englishmen were defeated by 109 runs.

Chit-Chat.

—Partly cloudy, as the proverb would say.

—The police cells were without tenants on Saturday night and last night.

—A large number of people took advantage of the fine weather on Sunday to visit the Little Lake Cemetery and to enjoy the freshness and beauty of the Horticultural Gardens.

—A meeting of the local Board of Health will be held this evening to consult in regard to vaccination.

—The river in the vicinity of Goose Island, above Hall's dam, is full of logs.

—An anti-Socialist speaker giving expression to his views in a church on Sunday may be a novelty, but such a thing occurred in the Methodist Church in Ashburnham on Sunday evening. Mr. J. Gordon Mowat was the man.

—The meetings at which the most interest in the Scott Act question will be manifested will be held on Thursday evening.

—"What is that perfume coming from afar? Is it the breath of balmy spring, when trees bud forth and birds do sing?" "Now, greeny, 'tis a pulling p of tar."

—Young wife—"Are you unwell, dear?" Husband—"Yes, my head is bad." Young wife (anxiously)—"Are you really, really ill?" Husband—"Very, I feel as if I might die." Young wife (very anxiously)—"And will I get the insurance money then?" She'll not get it. He recovered quickly and cancelled the policy.

The Scott Act in the Churches.

On Sunday sermons having reference to the Scott Act were preached in several of the churches. In the George Street Methodist Church at the evening service the Rev. I. Tovey preached on that subject, and at the close of the sermon addresses were delivered by Mr. D. W. Dumble, Police Magistrate, and Mr. Geo. Hilliard, M.P. In the Charlotte Street Methodist Church the Rev. B. B. Keefe preached in the morning. At the evening service the Rev. F. H. Wallace, B.D., took for his text the words, "Am I my brother's keeper?" He took the ground that there was no inherent wrong in drinking a glass of wine or beer, but that all should abstain because drinking caused many to sin, and they should do nothing that might cause another to offend. While the Government could not make a moral law by legislative enactments, they should, he argued, make the surroundings as favorable as possible for living a moral life. At the conclusion of the service a temperance prayer meeting was held, and short speeches were made by Messrs. Geo. A. Cox, J. L. Hughes and Buntell Sawy. In the Ashburnham Methodist Church the Rev. B. B. Keefe preached in the evening, and Mr. J. Gordon Mowat spoke in opposition to the Act. The Rev. W. A. McKee, B.A., of Woodstock, a Scott Act advocate, occupied the pulpit in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church at the morning and evening services.

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 22, 1886.

IS IT COWARDICE?
To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—In your issue of last evening I find that Mr. J. Gordon Mowat has published the correspondence that passed between him and the Scott Act Association with reference to the meeting on Wednesday night. In what he calls a "protest" attached, he states that instead of withdrawing our meeting we have simply shifted it to Tuesday night, and in consequence he feels himself relieved of his obligation to allow an hour at his meeting to a Scott Act advocate. I place the plain facts of the case before the public in denial of his insinuation of unfair tactics on our part. On Friday last, after full discussion at any of our meetings had been invited through press, platform and posters, and they had persistently refused to appear, we sent a letter to Messrs. Mowat and Richardson, offering to withdraw our meeting on Wednesday if they would allow us an hour at their. On Sunday evening, after five o'clock, we received Mr. Mowat's reply, stating that if he were allowed half an hour after church service that evening in one of several churches named by him, he would accept our side an hour at his Wednesday night meeting. To his unbounded surprise, this privilege was accorded him, and, quelling from your remarks following his letter yesterday, "in accordance with this arrangement Mr. Mowat spoke in the Mark Street Methodist Church on Wednesday night. Now, feeling an after discussion of the question, as the representatives of his views have always done, he is in a very unmanly and dishonorable way, tries to escape from fulfilling his part of the contract by the unscrupulous back down which has called forth this reply. In any case, had we "morally shifted" our meeting from Wednesday to Tuesday evening it would not reflect the position, as he made no stipulation in his letter about our withdrawing our meeting. But we have done so shifting. We had intended from the first having meetings on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, as the National Liberal Temperance Union found some time ago when they tried to engage the Opera House. Our meetings for last night and to-night were arranged for days ago. Now, sir, we will claim our right to an hour at all, friends and foes alike, to attend the meeting and hear the Scott Act discussed, if not fully, at any rate to the extent possible within the hour allotted to our side of the question. And we also demand that the National Liberal Temperance Union in their honor see to the fulfilling of their part of the contract made through their secretary.

I am, yours obediently,
GEO. E. WILLIAMS,
Secy. Peterborough Co. Scott Act Ass'n.

Encounter with a Washbowl.

Mr. J. B. Flint, P.M., accompanied a party to Hay Bay for mackerel fishing. While alone yesterday in a small boat, Mr. Flint became fast to a very large fish. In the act of being struck the fish buried himself into the air, jumping clear of the water by two or three feet. After playing him for some time, Mr. Flint safely landed him in the boat and threw him on the bank, and here the fight came to an end. The fish proved too powerful to be kept in the boat and only fought for freedom. Six of the broods were lost in the fish's mouth, and six in Mr. Flint's clothing. By a powerful effort the fish threw himself clear of the boat, to the great relief of Mr. Flint, who was then able to begin rapidly to fill, with one arm in the water. Mr. Flint would have been dragged into the water and the boat overturned, but at this instant the mackerel was so large that the fish, leaping with the back and part of the water, leaping the remaining six broods fast in Mr. Flint's clothing. Mr. Flint describes the fish as one of the largest he had seen, and says it was far stronger than himself. Had not the wire broken, Mr. Flint would undoubtedly have been forced into the water and drowned, as he was so entangled with hooks, line and fish that he could not have escaped. As it was, an exhausting war the boat that he did not yet over the effects for hours. (Owing to heavy under-think he escaped laceration by the hooks, but as General Davies, of the U. S. Army, who was fishing close at hand and witnessed the struggle, said, he was "badly wrecked," his clothing being very much torn. Believe me, gentlemen.

Harvest Festival.

The annual harvest festival of St. Mark's Church, Oshawa, will take place on Wednesday, Sept. 23rd. There will be a tea meeting in the Grange Hall from three o'clock in the afternoon, followed by a service in the church at half past seven. The Rev. John Gibson, of Norwood, will preach.

The Central Exhibition.

The directors are making arrangements with Prof. Reid to give a grand exhibition of swordsmanship, mounted and dismounted, including the following feats, viz:—Cutting lemon on a person's bare neck, cutting bar of lead suspended in paper loops on sharp razors, cutting stick between wire glasses, slicing egg on head, Japanese balancing feat, sword trapeze and claymore manual, and several other astounding feats with rare edged swords. On Tuesday afternoon next—the first day of the exhibition.

Arrested for Forgery.

Toronto, September 19.—A few days ago forgeries were committed by a bookkeeper of Wm. Kyle & Company, wholesale grocers. T-day Kyle was arrested at the instance of the Merchants Bank, which was victimized by the forgeries. Kyle is a prominent citizen and a very active opponent of the Scott Act. He protests that the forgeries were committed during his absence in Winnipeg and that he knew nothing about them.

NEWBOLD'S FAITHFUL WIFE.

She Writes a Letter to the Advocate who Defended the Bigamist.

A despatch from Toledo, Ohio, dated Sept. 17th, says:—The career of George Robert Newbold, the greatest bigamist of the times, is recalled to day by a letter from one of his wives in Peterborough, Ont., to Attorney J. H. Southard, who defended Newbold, or Neville on his trial here. The writer is known in Detroit as the woman who stuck steadfastly to him, and who used her spare means to secure him a fair trial. In the letter she enclosed slips from the Detroit papers of Aug. 3, which spoke of a woman he brought from Canada and lived with in Detroit, representing her to be his wife. The letter is as follows:—

PETERBOROUGH, Ont., Sept. 12.
Mr. J. Southard:

Sir,—I suppose you are aware that my husband is dead. I would be obliged to you if you would return me all those divorce papers accorded to me by the court. They were of some use in future days. I had his body buried here, which cost me considerable over $100, but it is the best. He is gone to meet his judge, one who will judge him with mercy. I hope he is at rest. He was a beautiful resting place. I know one can say he is thrown into a prison yard as many of his enemies would like to have. I have had some newspapers sent from Detroit. They don't know that his body was brought here. I wish they did. Please send me the papers and oblige.

(Signed) Mrs. G. R. Newbold.

P.S.—I wish you would say a word in my behalf to one of the newspapers. This is one thing they speak of. My husband brought a woman from Canada and introduced her as his wife, as much as to say the Whitney family did not know he was a married man. I will send you the pieces out of the papers and you can let them know that I am that woman. I am the one that the word-narrated to and I had his body brought here. I will pay you for this as soon as you tell me what it costs you. G. R. Newbold was born November 21, 1843, at New Castle upon Tyne, Northumberland, England.

WITNESS VS. GLOBE.

There are journals so destitute of either heart or conscience as to be able to treat a question of life or death to a human being simply and solely as an opportunity for the manufacture of political capital. These journals, believing the Government of the day, to which they are politically opposed, to be between the horns of a dilemma with regard to the execution of Riel, are anxious only to keep themselves free to impeach the Government upon whichever horn its action may throw. Their plan is to embarrass the Government and to force upon its attention those considerations of political expediency which it is the Government's first duty to leave out of the question in making its decision. If the question of Riel's execution was one of conscience or of heart with them, they would be found either stopping or advocating commutation. The only alternative for a conscientious journal is to seek to leave the Government at free from embarrassment as possible in order that its decision may be made on the highest grounds. They choose none of these courses. One day they will show that the Government is as much, if not more, to blame than Riel for the insurrection in the North-West, and that it had confessed as much by its action. The next day they will dwell upon how richly Riel deserves death, in having rendered the sacrifice of the lives of so many young Canadian men necessary, and they will declare that the Government will, out of fear of their French supporters of this province, not dare to hang him. Whichever course the Government chooses, that course they will be free to maintain was wrong, and they will declare the choice was made from wrong considerations, though the very considerations they will condemn are the ones they are present upon the Government.

These journals are naturally very ready to set up an independent journal, which, while not afraid to express its own opinions upon the subject, is determined not to embarrass the Government.—Montreal Witness.

Encounter with a Washbowl.

Mr. J. B. Flint, P.M., accompanied a party to Hay Bay for mackerel fishing. While alone yesterday in a small boat, Mr. Flint became fast to a very large fish. In the act of being struck the fish buried himself into the air, jumping clear of the water by two or three feet. After playing him for some time, Mr. Flint safely landed him in the boat and threw him on the bank, and here the fight came to an end. The fish proved too powerful to be kept in the boat and only fought for freedom. Six of the broods were lost in the fish's mouth, and six in Mr. Flint's clothing. By a powerful effort the fish threw himself clear of the boat, to the great relief of Mr. Flint, who was then able to begin rapidly to fill, with one arm in the water. Mr. Flint would have been dragged into the water and the boat overturned, but at this instant the mackerel was so large that the fish, leaping with the back and part of the water, leaping the remaining six broods fast in Mr. Flint's clothing. Mr. Flint describes the fish as one of the largest he had seen, and says it was far stronger than himself. Had not the wire broken, Mr. Flint would undoubtedly have been forced into the water and drowned, as he was so entangled with hooks, line and fish that he could not have escaped. As it was, an exhausting war the boat that he did not yet over the effects for hours. (Owing to heavy under-think he escaped laceration by the hooks, but as General Davies, of the U. S. Army, who was fishing close at hand and witnessed the struggle, said, he was "badly wrecked," his clothing being very much torn. Believe me, gentlemen.

Arrested for Forgery.

Toronto, September 19.—A few days ago forgeries were committed by a bookkeeper of Wm. Kyle & Company, wholesale grocers. T-day Kyle was arrested at the instance of the Merchants Bank, which was victimized by the forgeries. Kyle is a prominent citizen and a very active opponent of the Scott Act. He protests that the forgeries were committed during his absence in Winnipeg and that he knew nothing about them.

CHOLERA PANIC IN PALERMO.
Rome, Sept. 21.—A cholera panic exists at Palermo. Many of the inhabitants have fled to the interior of the island where there have been in many villages riots against the new arrivals. The people are beginning in some places to tear up the rails to prevent Palermo travellers from coming. At Trapani a mob of fanatics and artisans burned the railway station yesterday.

WAITING FOR ENGLAND.
Paris, Sept. 21.—The French diplomats hope that the outbreak in Roumelia will reunite England and France. In view of the rising being an apparent scheme for the partition of Turkey, the French newspapers urge that France should act cautiously in dealing with the matter and await a declaration of Lord Salisbury's policy.

ALEXANDER'S PROCLAMATION.
Philippopolis, Sept. 21.—Prince Alexander has issued a proclamation announcing that in accordance with the wishes of the entire population, he assumes sovereignty over the two provinces of north and south Bulgaria. Measures will be taken to preserve the peace, and all who oppose the new Government will be severely punished. The Prince expresses the hope that the people will defend the union at any sacrifice. The proclamation was received here by telegraph and was read publicly amid the greatest enthusiasm. Prince Alexander is expected here hourly. Perfect order prevails. The populace are armed with lances. The deposed Governor, Gabriel Pashin, is under guard. He is well treated in accordance with his rank. The Turkish and Greek portions of the inhabitants have thanked the Government here for having taken measures for their defence, and have offered their services in resisting a Turkish invasion.

SHIRKING THE QUESTION.
In spite of all cross-questioning the Globe still declines to give a categorical answer to a very simple and straightforward question, "What, in your opinion, should be done with Riel?" Like a crooked witness on the witness stand it either remains mute of malice or gives roundabout and evasive reply. The Peterborough Review recently put the question straight, and the Globe yesterday assumes to answer. More than half of its reply is a criticism of the form of the question, and the whole is a reference to a paragraph in its issue of August 15th, which it quotes as follows:—

"No one who has read the evidence can doubt that Riel richly deserves death; nevertheless, to have him executed by a Government which sat supinely while the insurrection was breaking, being all the time in full possession of the facts, and knowing that Riel had been sent for to head a rebellion, and which, on the insurrection breaking out, admitted the justice of the native claims by sending out a truce with instructions to satisfy them, would send a thrill of horror, even to the bravest."

Having quoted as above, it abruptly stops and dismisses the subject from its thoughts. Now, we defy anyone to make out from the sentence quoted, what the Globe would advise to be done. Stripped of its verbiage, it expresses two ideas: (1) that he deserves death, (2) for the present Government to execute him would send a thrill of horror, even to the bravest. In view of the above, it is hardly to be expected that Riel should be executed. Yet that is, in its own judgment, out of all its utterances on the subject, the best and least ambiguous opinion it has expressed. The sentence is intended to be worded cunningly, so that when the event transpires, it will be free to take the opposite course, whatever it may be. The Globe was honest and straightforward, it could have answered the question put by the Review in one of three lines. Why did it not do so, but resort to the stale trick so familiar to readers, but not over-reputable witnesses?—Kingston News.

A Powerful New Explosive.

Some of the French papers speak of the new explosive called miners powder as much preferable in some respects to the nitro-glycerine compounds. It resembles ordinary gunpowder, but with the difference that chloride of potash is used as the oxidizing agent instead of saltpetre. Carbon is supplied in an organic form, and the preparation is very simple. A given weight of chloride of potash is dissolved in water, and a quantity of sawdust or bran equal in weight to the chloride of potash is stirred into the liquid, the mass being then allowed to dry. The sawdust powder, however, though cheap, is too safe to prepare and handle than that made of bran, as resin, which is very likely to be present in small quantities in the sawdust, forms, with the chloride of potash a compound which detonates on being unduly disturbed. This new powder possesses, weight for weight, about twice the power of ordinary gunpowder.—New York Sun.

A QUEER PROGRAMME.

The following is the platform of the Young Liberals' Association of Ontario, as epitomized by the Globe:

1. Provincial control of the franchise.
2. Mankind suffrage for Ontario.
3. Repeal of the Dominion Franchise Act.
4. C. Municipal Independence for Canada.
5. Taxation to be only for the requirements of economical government.
6. An elective Senate.
7. No Civil Service superannuations or pensions.
8. Civil Service reform.
9. Canada's right to amend its own Constitution.
10. No assisted immigration.
11. Decreased taxation.
12. Abolition of Federal veto.
13. Abolition of Provincial subsidies.
14. Reciprocity.
15. Northwest representation.
16. Provincial appointment of judges in Provincial Courts.
17. A plebiscite on Prohibition.
18. Blake and Mowat for leaders.

We have numbered the planks in this platform for convenience of reference.

The inconsistency of this platform is very striking. The 18th plank advocates Mr. Mowat as a leader. Yet Mr. Mowat obstinately refused to accept the second plank, "Mankind suffrage for Ontario," when it was proposed by the Conservatives. He showed a similar disregard for the 13th plank, "The abolition of Provincial subsidies," by countenancing a demand for an increased subsidy as the only means of meeting his increasing deficit. Mr. Mowat's leadership is evidently not to be implicitly followed. So, too, Mr. Blake is advocated as a leader, but with as little display of confidence in him. When he was in power at Ottawa he made free use of the power of appointment to the Senate and to the Provincial Bench, of the Federal veto, of Civil Service superannuations and pensions, and of assisted immigration, while he and his colleagues steadily thwarted the Civil Service reformers, thus showing no regard for planks 6, 7, 8, 10, 12 and 16. If Mr. Blake is to be leader he must certainly change the direction of his lead to suit these followers.

Another obvious deduction from this programme is that its framers are by no means contented with the Constitution of the Dominion of Canada, but wish to change it considerably. Planks 1, 6, 9, 12, 13 and 16 all suggest important changes in our Constitution. We would observe that if not the Young Liberals, at least those old Reformers who so largely controlled the convention, have been in the habit of accusing the Conservative party of being opposed to our constitution, but it now appears that it is this Young Liberal-Old Reform combination that finds it necessary to remodel the constitution that was so carefully and thoughtfully framed for our country by the leaders of both parties.

The demands for "Reciprocity" and "North-west Representation" in Nos. 14 and 15, are quite unobjectionable except as being altogether unnecessary, as they are already embodied in statutes, awaiting the acceptance of the United States in the one case, and the growth of the population in the Northwest to the stipulated number in the other case.

The planks as to Independence, taxation, and prohibition are not descriptive of a definite policy in any of these respects, but are merely compromises or postponements of a decision, showing that this convention of Young Liberals with Old Reform guidance is unprepared at present to take a firm stand on these very important questions.

Some of the planks are good, being borrowed from the Conservatives, some are harmless, and others certainly would not receive the approval of the majority of the people of Canada. They are far from forming a consistent policy.

Probably the Young Liberals have framed a more intelligible platform without the intervention of the Reform politicians.

THE DICKSON BY-LAW.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR.—Having been practically absent from town for the fortnight following the meeting called by the Council to consider the by-law exempting the Dickson company for ten years from any advance on their present assessment of $50,000. I presume that I am not yet too late to offer a few observations upon that by-law, and what transpired at that and Mr. Dumble's meetings, and the issues raised in the letters of Messrs. Lech and Cox.

For the purpose of practical and profitable discussion the issues which have been raised, it appears to me, may be classified and dealt with under three distinct heads, viz.: 1st, The Dickson by-law and what should be done with it; 2nd, the advisability of wholesale vs. retail exemptions, and third, the justice of present assessments.

Before proceeding, however, to discuss these three points, I would venture to suggest that even the wisest of us have sometimes been wrong in the past, and that none of us have as yet attained to the wisdom which enables us to predict the consequences of any present action ten years hence, and to remind those who are finding fault with myself and those who agree with me for being "over cautious about conditions" that this same "over-caution-ness" has been the means of saving the ratepayers of this town a great many dollars, without any serious detriment to its progress. For instance, had it not been for this same "over-caution-ness" we should undoubtedly have had our taxes increased by the sum of $3,500 per annum for the Cobourg road without having a road to Cobourg any more than we have it now; or had it not been for the same kind of "over-caution-ness" we should also have had the taxes on the Grand Junction or Missing Link, or both, while the result would have been just what it is to-day, as far as these roads are concerned—a riveting of the Grand Junction from which our liberty was to be relieved; and even in the case of the Toronto and Ottawa how much reason have we to be thankful that a majority of the ratepayers had, by that time, become so over cautious about conditions, that it been otherwise, it needs now no act to see that our $150,000 would have gone to aid the Grand Trunk in killing off the very competition our money was voted to secure.

As to the amended rather than openly asserted (Pur) doctrine (of, I believe, a century or more ago) that a man's voice in municipal matters should be proportionate to the property he holds therein, I would remind those incautious it that the Municipal Act is based upon the principle that the little man's little is of quite as much importance to him as the big man's pile is to him, and that it does not, as yet, recognize the faculty of adding lot to lot and house to house as the sole proof of a man's fitness to rule in municipal matters, although if public sentiment is properly voiced in the frequency with which the Legislature over-rides the decisions of municipal ratepayers, at the instance of a settlement of influence, it cannot be said that the wind is not blowing in that direction. Here is our Municipal Act based upon the joint stock plan, which gives to each share a vote and enables the corner of shares to play Plink, Vandalism, or Gouge with the company, despite the protests of his co-stockholders and their unquestionable interest. Indeed there would be little difficulty in pointing out instances in which, in the history of municipal government, the interests of even very large property owners have not prevented them from pursuing a course and becoming parties to projects whose object was indisputably opposed to the interests of the municipality in which they were deeply interested. Coming now to the Dickson by-law, I should have deemed even a brief reference to it unnecessary, after the almost unanimous condemnation which it received at the public meeting, had it not been that the manner in which Mr. Haultain at Mr. Dumble's meeting, answered the question: Whether the Company would or would not assent to the repeal of this by-law, and the demand of those interested that the by-law should not be repealed, but simply amended, leaves little doubt in my mind that the Dickson Company propose to "hold fast" to all that they can under this by-law. Whether they can hold much or little depends upon whether the by-law is a legal one or not. If legal there is no use denying that the Dickson company have got the town pretty tight, and that those who engineered and carried it through the Council in such a hasty manner have assumed a no enviable responsibility. But even if illegal, it will not do for those who disapprove of it to rest on their arms. Under the municipal law the legality of any by-law or resolution cannot be questioned after it is a twelve months old—to leave this by-law untouched for twelve months would therefore materially strengthen it and the claims which may arise under its provisions. Again another section renders the municipality liable for any damage suffered by reason of even an illegal by-law. That being the case, every day that is allowed to elapse without its either being repealed, or moved against in the courts increases our responsibility thereunder, and may ultimately be used as a reason why the Legislature should be called upon to repeal this peculiar by-law valid and binding upon the same. Sir, delays are dangerous.

Whether this by-law is legal or illegal, is not at all a question as to which the will of the majority of opinion, but I am inclined to think that it is illegal, and not such a by-law as the Act contemplates. In the first place the section under which such a by-law can alone be passed limits the exemption to "any manufacturing establishment, or any water works or water company." Pray what manufacturing establishment (remember it is not establishments) does the Dickson by-law exempt? What are the trades and branches which this "establishment" is to cover? How is this by-law to be carried out? And lastly, what is the quid pro quo which this contract gives the town in return for what it gives the Dickson Company? Why, even on the plea that no value is given or received to one of the parties to this contract, much might be said in favor of its abrogation.

I shall have to leave the question of wholesale vs. retail exemptions, and the assessment question, to a future time.

Yours,
JOHN CARNEGIE.
Peterborough, Sept. 21, 1885.

THE DICKSON COMPANY BY-LAW.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR.—The people of the town are just now greatly exercised over the question of houses and exemptions, produced, in a great measure, by the hasty and illegal action of the Council in reference thereto. Some of the councillors appear to think that their authority is supreme and that the Council is as much power in regard to municipal legislation as the Ontario Parliament is in regard to provincial affairs. They may be presumed to be entirely ignorant of the fact that municipal councils are the creation of the legislature, established for certain purposes, and given certain powers, and that they are not as powerful to act as would be any man whom you meet upon the street. And they don't appear to know that when they regard these powers they not only act illegally, and that their acts are void, but that the court has the right, not only to set aside their acts, but to make them pay the costs. Now, in the case of the recent by-law in reference to the exemption of the Dickson property, not only providing that all improvements made thereon should be exempted from taxation, but that the whole property itself shall, for the next ten years, be assessed not higher than it is to-day, this council must have known when they passed that by-law that they were exceeding their powers and were acting illegally, and not only this, but they knew perfectly well that they were acting unjustly to all the other property owners and ratepayers of the town, and that they were discriminating in regard to assessment and taxation between the Dickson Company and the other people of the town. They surely know that they cannot do this; that they cannot direct that the assessment of the property of A shall not be increased, while the property of B may, at the discretion of the assessment committee, and they must see at once the injustice of doing anything of the kind. The Council has the power, when a specific case arises, and a particular industry is about to be established in the town, to direct that that industry shall go free of taxation for a certain number of years, but they cannot anticipate the establishment of certain manufactures and, in advance of their establishment or of their pre-arrangement, to say that certain property shall go free of taxes because some time or other manufactures may be established there. The present by-law is illegal and void. It is a fraud upon other property owners. The by-law can, and will be set aside, if the Council do not at once repeal it, and it set aside, in view of the circumstances, the court can, and no doubt will impose the judgment of all costs, not upon the poor ratepayers, who are not to blame, but upon the individual councillors themselves. It is even open to question whether the councilors, if they do not repeal the by-law, may not be indicted for their wilful wrong doing.

Peterborough, September 22nd, 1885.

THE THIRTEEN CLUB.

Victor Hugo's Only Superstition—Analyzing the Chances of Death.

Victor Hugo confessed to the possession of only one superstition. Nothing could induce him to form one of thirteen at table. Whenever a thirteen arrived at a last moment it was M. Lesclapart's business to pick up his hat and depart. The vitality of this heavy superstition, which no doubt, originally grew out of the story of the Last Supper and of the tragic events which so quickly followed it, is remarkable. Any one who takes the trouble to go to the unlucky tables may see for himself what is really the expectation of human life. It will be found that in order to obtain a mathematical probability that one out of a given thirteen healthy persons will expire during the following twelve months, the average of the thirteen must, in default of the presence of one or two on the verge of centennarianism, be very great indeed. It must, in fact, be about 80 years; and it is scarcely necessary to say that, in practice, the united years of a festive party of thirteen never amount to the requisite 1,144. The annual rate of mortality amongst males and females of all ages is only one in forty-one; and forty-one, instead of thirteen, should be held to be the unlucky number. This has been demonstrated over and over again; yet the number thirteen still remains ominous to thousands of excellent people in all classes of life.

In Paris there are streets where 12 is the duty instead of 13; and the householders who thus ingeniously sought to circumvent fate would not for the world let the proper number be pointed out by their doors. Some years ago Prince Napoleon tried to laugh his countrymen out of the superstition; but his efforts did not benefit his cause, for with characteristic perversity, he used to invite twelve friends to carouse with him on Good Friday, whereby he gravely scandalized right-feeling people, whatever their theological views.

In America similar but less aggressive attempts have been made to correct popular error, and numerous thirteen clubs have been established, the members pledging themselves to dine-thirteen at a table on every opportunity. In France, too, there is a thirteen club the headquarters of which are at St. Denis; and even here in England there is a little club of thirteen men who dine together monthly at a house numbered thirteen, and pay thirteen shillings each for their dinner and thirteen pence each to the waiter. Yet still the superstition is as lively as of yore, and in Europe and America, and probably it will continue to flourish and to make people uncomfortable until the end of time. There are, in all likelihood, men and women who are even now undergoing twelve months' vague nervous prostration, the present year of grace, 1885, happened to be a multiple of 13. English Paper.

A Reformed Life.

The following incident occurred in the township of Bruce, three-quarters of a mile from Glanville:—"A certain well known young man has a sweetheart, and he spends two evenings every week in her society. A few nights ago he stayed until the usual hour, and as he passed out the front door he discovered that it was cloudy and dark. He did not relish the idea of driving alone in the gloomy night, and hinted about a good deal to get an invitation to remain, but it was not forthcoming. But the young man was equal to the emergency. Going down the steps he artfully contrived to step and fall to the ground. Thereupon he set up a tremendous groaning. The air screamed, the men folk jumped out of bed and carried the young man into the house. He was put up and he was assisted to undress and deposited in the spare chamber. He had hardly begun to chuckle over the success of his stratagem when the girl's mother, but in an appearance, armed with a mustard plaster a foot square and a tumbler drawing power. This she immediately proceeded to slap on the front of the young man's back, where he had incautiously located the damage to his frame. For two mortal hours that woman sat by the bed, and was not satisfied till she beheld with her own eyes a blister an inch deep. The young man is now a reformed life."—Corrie's Fictive.

Bismarck, Dak., Sept. 20.—News has been received here of a meeting of Knights of Labor at Butte, Mont., at which it was decided to drive the Chinamen from the place. They were given till Oct. 1st to leave. If they do not leave then the workmen say they will drive them out by violence. The Celestials were also ordered to leave Anaconda and they immediately obeyed. There are a number of Chinamen in Butte, which is one of the greatest mining points of the West. If they do not leave there will be trouble.

TWO THOUSAND CASES.

Increase of smallpox in Montreal—Fifteen hundred cases in the city.

MONTREAL, Sept. 19.—The number of new cases of smallpox reported to-day was 113, while the number of deaths, from thirty-six. This brings the increase in mortality up to over 100 more than for the week preceding. From the most reliable figures obtainable the number of cases at present in the city is set down at 1,500, while there are fully 500 cases in outside municipalities. The deaths in the municipal hospitals for the week ending to-night are reported at 106. The alarm is general among citizens of the city. Many of the who can afford it are leaving. The epidemic has shown itself in the best families and on the leading streets of the city during the past few days.

It is said that a case on Mansfield street was ordered to be removed to the civil hospital, but upon arrival there the case was refused and the patient sent back to the place brought from because the hospital was full. The sick person being the servant girl, the family left her alone in the house and went to the country. She remained alone in the house until this morning, when she was discovered dead in bed.

The report from the smallpox hospital for yesterday shows the following case:—Admitted 3, died 3, remaining in the hospital 101, of whom 80 are doing well. There were 33 deaths in the city yesterday, bringing the total for this week up to Friday night to 147. There were three deaths in St. Jean Baptiste, three in Cote St. Louis, three in Ste. Cécile and one in St. Henri.

The new wing of the hospital will be ready on Monday, and another in the course of a week. The nurse, who have been making a house-to-house visitation, have discovered 160 new cases. A new hospital with 50 beds is to be provided for Hochelaga ward.

REVOLUTION IN ROUMANIA.

Grave fears that the Peace of Europe will be disturbed.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—The populace of Philadelphia, the capital of Eastern Roumelia, almost to a man rose in rebellion yesterday, seized the Governor-General, deposed the government and proclaimed a union with Bulgaria. The revolt was so well planned that no disorder or bloodshed occurred, everybody being in sympathy with the movement except the government officials. Immediately after the organization of the provisional government the militia were sworn in, taking the oath of allegiance to Prince Alexander of Bulgaria. It is generally believed in diplomatic circles that Russia arranged the programme of the rising and suggested the union with Bulgaria. Eastern Roumelia was created by the Congress of Berlin in 1878, and was given an autonomous government, though forming an integral part of the Turkish Empire. The Governor-General was appointed by the Porte, subject to the approval of the treaty powers.

The Bulgarian army has been mobilized, and a corps has been sent to the Roumelian frontier. Prince Alexander has proceeded to Philadelphia and has appointed M. Stankov as commander. M. Stankov is now president of the provisional government.

It is stated that Prince Alexander of Bulgaria has been assured of the support of Russia, Germany and Austria. He will send an army to Roumelia and will defy the Turks. The Sultan of Turkey has appealed to the powers to enforce the treaty of Berlin. It is not believed that Lord Salisbury will interfere with the Roumelian revolution.

It is feared in Paris that the Roumelian trouble will lead to a general European imbroglio. The East is most inflammable and serious results are anticipated.

Advice from Berlin and Vienna favor the opinion that peace will be maintained on the ground that the revolution was concocted in St. Petersburg with the assent of Austria, under an agreement made at the Vienna conference according to the terms of which Austria is at liberty to annex Bosnia and Herzegovina. If the Porte should threaten to adopt violent measures, it is believed, will intervene in favor of Roumelia.

DANGEROUS ROCKS AT SEA.

Capt. Williams of the Beethoven. Reports an Important Discovery.

A most important discovery was made by Captain A. R. Williams, master of the British ship Beethoven, which arrived at this port recently from Antwerp. He reports that on July 25, between latitude 43.45 and 43.38 and longitude 32 and 51.28, he sighted three dangerous rocks and immediately called all the officers and crew of the ship to get into the rigging and assist in locating them. They could be distinctly seen from the deck of the ship, but observations were taken only in order that their size could be better measured. The sea was seen breaking over them with terrific fury, accompanied with huge breakers. Sea birds were also seen hovering about in numbers in search of fish common to shoal water. The obstacles were dangerous to navigation. He gave a direction running from north to north-east to south-south-west, the south-south-west lying close together. After spending some time at work, a heavy sea coming up, with the appearance of a gale, the ship's course was changed toward her destination.

Lieutenants Wyckoff and Barrell, of the Philadelphia Branch Hydrographic Office, who have been in charge of United States vessels as navigators, believe in the existence of these rocks and think that they have been the cause of the loss of many vessels which have never been heard from after leaving port. Captain McDonald, of the British ship Winifred, says that he has seen several floating in that vicinity, having frequently caught it in his log. His views are endorsed by many competent navigators.

W. C. Bartlett, the chief of the hydrographic office at Washington, has made application to the Secretary of the Navy for permission to send a war vessel to search for these rocks, heretofore unknown to navigators, but which are supposed to have been the cause of the loss of many trans-Atlantic steamers. These rocks are termed pinnacle rocks, and are from three to five feet high at low water, and are exceedingly difficult to find. —Philadelphia Times.

The Bug Disease in Essex.

He says it is a cholera, but having fever. The horse keep on drive by him in daily. J. S. Patton of Amherstburg, has lost $200 worth and St. Peter's herd of 150 are dying off while Deputy-ranger Clark of Andover, has lost all his. The Ontario government's man—Prof. Greenidge—says it is bug cholera pure and simple, of a very bad type. Dr. Wilson says it is lung fever.

STRANGE RETURN TO LIFE.

A Man Taken from his Grave and then Found to be Alive.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 19.—A remarkable story comes from a small Ohio town near Toledo. It is in substance that thirteen years ago Thomas Hubbell, then a prosperous farmer, died and was buried in the village graveyard. He left a wife, who has since married, and an estate which was divided among eight children. Hubbell was nearly forgotten when a few years ago his wife received a letter from a Michigan asylum signed in the dead man's name, but no notice was taken of it, his friends supposing it was the freak of a lunatic. This week another letter was received, and to quiet suspicions of doubt the grave was opened, when to the surprise of all, the cadaver was there, but empty.

It has caused great excitement since then. Brothers of Hubbell have been following up the clue in Michigan, and now believe the solution of the mystery is that when Hubbell was buried the body was stolen by robbers for the Ann Arbor medical college. It is supposed that life returning on the disintering table—Hubbell had been afflicted with disease of the head—the terrible shock awoke him, and, proving to be a lunatic, he was placed in an asylum.

LITTLE BEGINNING.—The steam which raised the lid of the kettle led a phibic mind to utilize it for man's benefit. No one dreamed that we should now be dragged along by it at the rate of sixty miles an hour. When Perry Davis made a preparation for the medicinal use of his family thirty years ago, neither he nor any other man imagined that it would now be used in every land, and prove to be the Pain Killer of the world.

CABLE NEWS.

"Cable." The oldest and most reliable brand of cigars in the market. Free from all chemicals and artificial flavorings.

"El Padre" Cigars. Universally acknowledged to be the finest local cigar manufactured. Don't be persuaded to take other brands. No chemicals or artificial flavorings used.

S. Davis & Sons have moved into their new mammoth factory, the finest of its kind in America. They are the only cigar manufacturers in Canada who manufacture their own cigar boxes and packing cases, which industry gives employment to sixty hands.

Beware of cheap cigars! Officially favored for the purpose of hiding the poor quality of tobacco used in flavored cigars. Insist upon having the reliable brands—"Cable" and "El Padre."

A trial will convince the most skeptical that S. Davis & Sons' manufacture of cigars are superior in every respect to any in Canada. Prize medals against the world were awarded to S. Davis & Sons, of Montreal, for their manufacture of cigars, at Paris, 1887, Centennial, 1876, Montreal, 1863-64.

A Commercial Carriage.

Messrs. Porter Bros. have completed and sent to Messrs. Garlick & Bottom, Bayborough, a very handsome commercial wagon. It was made in superior style and very handsomely painted. The Messrs. A Good Business.

Great activity prevails in the Mantle and Dress Making Department at Fair, VanEvery & Co.'s. Ladies will appreciate the large assortment of handsome materials from which rich and elegant Mantles and Dresses are being turned out daily.

Waterproof Paint.

As an instance of the superiority of Allen's Waterproof Paint, the Ottawa Free Press says that a pasteboard box coated inside with it was filled with coal oil and left on their counter for twenty-four hours without one drop escaping. As will be seen, an agent for this valuable paint has been appointed for Peterborough. The numerous testimonials that Mr. Allen can show speak volumes in favor of his paint.

Forgot Her Pocketbook.

A lady from Campbellford went into Mr. English's canoe factory this afternoon to get out of the heavy rain, and when she proceeded to the station to take the afternoon Grand Junction train she left her hand satchel, containing her purse and other articles, lying on a bench. She did not notice the satchel until the train was about to start, when she sent a boy for it. It had been left in perfectly honest hands, however, and the boy handed her the satchel, money and all just as the train moved off.

OTTAWA, June 18, 1885.

To Whom it May Concern,—Mr. Levi G. Allen has repaired old tin, also old shingle roofs for me on Sussex street. It appears to be just the thing for repairing, etc., and I think it will be lasting. I feel great pleasure in recommending Mr. Allen's paint to those having leaky roofs. ALEX. BURRITT, Registrar, City of Ottawa.

Struck by Lightning.

During the thunder storm this afternoon a house on Knapridge street, near the Canadian Pacific Railway, owned by Mr. Hugh Ragan, was struck by lightning. The lightning struck the chimney at the east or front end of the house, shattering it, and passed down the roof, tearing up the shingles. When it reached the wall at the north side it appears to have passed along the top of the wall to the rear of the house, as several bricks were knocked out at the edge and the end wall at the rear was cracked. The bricks above one of the front windows were blown down, and the wall was shifted from its position. The window frame was blackened but did not ignite. That was all the damage that could be seen from the outside, but as Mr. and Mrs. Ragan, who were married about a month ago, were away from home and the doors locked, it is not known whether any further damage was done inside.

PASTORAL VISITATION.

The Bishop of Peterborough's Visit to Ennismore—Large Congregations.

His Lordship the Bishop of Peterborough, who has just returned from his pastoral visitation of Ennismore. He arrived there on Friday last, accompanied by Fathers Keilly and O'Brien. The people met him in large numbers at the Ardara and escorted him to the church. The Rev. Mr. Wm. Crouch, on the part of the people, congratulated His Lordship on his visitation to health, and expressed a hope that he would live long to rule over them.

On Sunday His Lordship administered the Sacrament of Confirmation to 82 persons. On Monday morning 360 persons received the Sacraments of Penance and the Eucharist at the hands of His Lordship and Fathers Connolly, McEvoy and Keilly.

His Lordship addressed very large congregations on Sunday morning and evening, exhorting the people to live soberly, justly and piously.

On Monday afternoon he left Ennismore and was accompanied as far as the Bridge by a large concourse of people. Our old friend, Mr. McCarthy, in the name of the people, wished His Lordship a safe journey to Rome (whither report says His Lordship intends shortly to go) and asked him when there and praying at the tomb of the Apostles St. Peter and St. Paul to kindly remember the people of Ennismore.

His Lordship wished the people an affectionate good-bye, and then started for Peterborough, accompanied by Father Keilly.

PRESENTATION.

Mr. W. A. Sanderson Addressed by Members of the Lacrosse Club.

On Monday evening Mr. W. A. Sanderson was surprised by a visit of Mr. H. L. Brun, President, and about 25 members of the Lacrosse Club to his rooms. That being the eve of Mr. Sanderson's marriage, they visited him to present him with an address and a very handsome china tea set. The address, which was read by Mr. J. J. Sheehy, was as follows:—

DEAR SIR, Since, in the course of human events, you have come to a recognition, and are on the eve of a realization, of the fact that in the game of life, as well as in the game of lacrosse, “team play” is the most effective, your fellow members who have long enjoyed the pleasure of delightful association in lacrosse circles, desire on the occasion of your marriage to recognize in a formal manner the pleasure they have derived from such associations, and the profit and advantage the club has gained from your active connection with it. As a pioneer member you were concerned in its organization, and through all its changes and changes, all its triumphs and reverses, you have been its staunchest friend and one of its most active members.

We all remember and recall with a deeper feeling than mere gratification the manner in which you have been the team of the club in its struggle for the Alderlee Cup, and how earnestly you assisted in defending its possession. We help you give the club in winning, retaining and regaining the Central District Championship medal. And when the requirements of growing business demanded your closer attention, and you were compelled to sever your connection as an active participant in the game, you have never lost your interest in the success of the club, and we feel sure that a triumph of the club to-day after your heart as deeply as when you were a member of the team to victory.

As a recognition of these valuable services, as a reminder of pleasant associations, as a pledge of further friendship, and as a token of the good wishes every member of the club will offer towards you and yours, we ask your acceptance of this tea set. May it beautify a happy home, reflect the light of domestic happiness, and be a perpetual reminder of the fervent wishes for happiness that follow you in your home life and relations from every member of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club.

H. LEBRUN, President.

R. H. FORTY, Vice President.

Mr. SANDERSON, to whom the presentation was entirely unexpected, replied in a brief but neat speech. He referred to the many years during which he had been connected with the club, and the pleasant associations maintained. He felt thankful to every member of the club for the good wishes expressed in the address, and hoped that the change he was about to make would not prevent him from still taking an interest in the national game.

Mr. Sanderson then invited the party to Chamberlain's saloon, where they were entertained to an oyster supper. After a fine full justice to the splendid repast, Mr. H. Lebrun, who was in the chair, called on Mr. J. J. Sheehy.

Mr. SHEEHY said that he heartily agreed with the sentiments expressed in the address which he had read. Long before he had personally known Mr. Sanderson, he was acquainted with the interest he took in lacrosse. Mr. Sanderson had long assisted in upholding the honor of the club, and he deserved their thanks for what he had done on its behalf.

Toasts followed, and speeches were made or songs sung by Messrs. H. Lebrun, H. Phelan, A. McNeill, R. H. Forty, W. Dolan, P. Henry, R. S. Kelly, R. Begley and others. A very enjoyable evening was spent, and at about 1.30 o'clock the party joined hands and sang “Auld Lang Syne.” After individually wishing Mr. Sanderson a long, prosperous and happy life, they separated.

CARSWELL.

A Humorous Lecture on Temperance in Connection With the Scott Act.

One of the largest if not the largest meeting yet held in connection with the Scott Act contest in this county was held on Monday evening in the Opera House, when Mr. E. Carswell, the well-known temperance speaker, delivered a lecture. The hall was occupied by Mr. D. W. Dumble, and the Rev. A. H. Munro and the Rev. I. T. Russell occupied seats on the platform. The meeting was opened by the singing of a campaign song and prayer by the Rev. A. H. Munro.

The CHAIRMAN briefly introduced the lecturer, referring to his previous visits to Peterborough. Mr. CARSWELL then entered upon his subject, which he handled in a humorous manner. The lecture consisted chiefly of humorous stories and anecdotes, told to illustrate the ideas he wished to convey. He said that he would rather come to Peterborough to a temperance meeting than to other places in the Dominion. He knew that the Dunkin Bill was defective, but the campaign had not been without good results. The faith of a few had brought about all great moral reforms. The temperance cause never died, although the people in some places might lose heart. No man ever regretted having voted for the right, whether it carried or not. He criticized those who argued that alcohol was a food and that prohibition was contrary to Biblical principles. Excessive drinking led to every thing that was bad, and moderation led to excess. He criticized the Crooks Act, and said that the present law punished the innocent. If every man would think that the Scott Act would be a failure would be liberal enough to give up their drink the Act would be a brilliant success. Each one could do something to assist the cause, and he appealed to them to do it. The audience was kept in an almost continuous roar of laughter during the delivery of the lecture.

The CHAIRMAN referred to a letter which had appeared in the Examiner signed “One Who Supported the Dunkin Act,” and said that it contained false statements. He also urged them to support the Scott Act.

Another campaign song was sung and the Rev. I. T. Russell dismissed the audience with the benediction.

He was ably assisted by members of the choir and others. Prof. Parker, of St. Paul's church also contributed an organ solo, and accompanied in a masterly manner the choir in their rendition of two anthems. The opening chorus was the Gloria from Mozart's Twelfth Mass, and the way in which it was rendered seemed to give the select audience an idea of the high art music that was to follow. The second number was an organ solo by Mr. Hampshire, grand offertory, D Major, Ballade. In this, as in other difficult musical selections that followed, Mr. Hampshire proved himself to be a thorough master of the organ. This is the first time the citizens have had an opportunity of hearing him, and his performance on Tuesday evening could not do otherwise than cause them to form a favorable impression of his musical ability. Miss A. Errett's solo, aria, "O, Rest in the Lord," Elijah, Mendelssohn, was given in a very pretty style. This young lady shows steady signs of improvement. She is possessed of a full clear soprano, and careful attention to training will bring her voice out to good advantage. The fourth number on the programme was "Hymn of Nuns," Lefebvre-Wely, and "Festival March," Houston Clarke, both of which were excellently well rendered on the organ by Mr. Hampshire. Mr. S. D. Craven followed with a solo, "O, Come Let Us Worship" (2nd Psalm), Mendelssohn. This, as well as the last song in a later number, was appreciated by the audience. Barcarolle, "Fourth Concerto," Sterndale Bennett, brought the first part of the programme to a close. Part two was opened by a beautiful overture, "Post and Peasant," Suppe, on the organ, and was followed by Rossini's grand anthem, "To Thee Great Lord," by the choir, in which solos were taken by Miss Errett and Messrs. Craven and T. Dunn. The arrangement of this selection is of such a first quality character, that it is alike appreciated by vocalists and audience, the former irresistibly entering into the spirit of the composition with an earnestness and feeling such as the great composer intended, while the latter listened with abated breath for each different passage until the close. The third number in the second part was Spark's fantasia, "Jerusalem the Golden," by Prof. Parker, who acquitted himself admirably. This was followed by the anthem, "Lord, for Thy Tender Mercies Sake," Farant. Then came F. H. Torrance's beautiful composition of "Abide With Me," by Mr. A. D. Brown, which he sang with his usual good taste and feeling, doing ample justice to the piece, after which the concluding number was given by Mr. Hampshire, it being "Gavotte Mignon," Thomas, and an "Offertoire," H-w-e-t. This brought to a close a pleasing and much appreciated evening's enjoyment; and it is to be hoped that during the coming winter the music loving citizens of Peterborough will have many such musical treats.

THE SCOTT ACT.
A Meeting of the Promoters of the Act in the Opera House.

The Scott Act meeting in the Opera House on Tuesday evening was not so largely attended as was anticipated. Mr. Geo. Billard, M. P., took the chair, and Messrs. A. F. Wood, M. P., of Hastings, Geo. A. Cox, and Revs. I. Tovell, Wallace, and Munro, occupied seats on the platform. The meeting was opened by singing a campaign song, followed by prayer by the Rev. I. Tovell. The CHAIRMAN briefly addressed the audience in reference to the coming contest and then called upon Mr. Cox, who refuted some statements made in a letter appearing in Monday's issue of the Examiner. He briefly dealt with the increased taxation question, and set forth the good which he believed would be accomplished by the passage of the Scott Act. Another song was then sung, followed by an address from Mr. Wood, M. P. P. He was in town on business and was asked to address the meeting this evening. He was not, therefore, prepared to fully discuss this question. He said, however, that wherever he went he was not ashamed of his temperance principles. The speaker gave an account of the Scott Act work in Hastings county, and discussed the moral question and license law arguments of those opposed to the Scott Act. In conclusion, he hoped every ratepayer would vote as his own conscience dictated to him to be right. The meeting closed with the benediction. Continual annoyance was caused to both speakers and audience by people both entering and leaving the hall in no very orderly manner.

THE DICKSON CO. EXEMPTION BY-LAW.
An Appeal to the Councils if the Councils Have Not Regretted.

On Tuesday evening a meeting of property holders opposed to the Dickson Co. Exemption by-law was held in the Town Council chamber. Mr. C. E. Starr was called to the chair and after the matter had been discussed the following resolutions were passed:—

"That in the opinion of this meeting, should the Town Council refuse at its next meeting, on Friday evening, to repeal the Dickson by-law, steps should be taken to have the by-law quashed by the proper court."

"That the chairman, and Messrs. Denno, Edmon, Phelan, Lundy, Rowe and Carnegie be a committee to carry out the resolution if necessary."

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Felling Returns

will be made at Ed. Carwell's lecture to-night in the Opera House. A running time is anticipated.

Removed.

Moore, Stone & Mason, barrister etc., have removed their office to the Commercial College building, Hunter street, opposite Mr. Sprague's studio.

Housing Goods.

Fair, VanEvery & Co. have imported this season a most complete assortment of Mourning Goods, ranging from the New Crepe Eplingle, Jet Cashmere, French Silk Gowns, etc., to the more artistic Black Crap, Bonnets, Caps, etc.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Fresh west and south winds, fair, warmer weather.

Lecture on Laughing.

The humorist and mimic, Edward Carwell, will give his lecture on the above topic to-night at the Opera House. Admission only 25 cents to all part of the house. Come early to avoid the rush and get seats. Returns from the polls will be made.

The Fire Brigade Band.

Owing to the band's engagement at Springfield to-morrow they will be unable to give the usual organ concert at the Horticultural Gardens to-morrow evening. A full attendance of the members is requested for this evening at the rooms.

Special Prices for the Central.

The Empire Horse and Cattle Fair Co., through their agent, Mr. John McKee, offer as special prizes at the Central Exhibition 100 lbs. of food for the four best two-year old Durham heifer (owned by one man), also 50 lbs. of food for the four best spring calves (owned by one man), and 50 lbs. of food for the best yearling cow, all to have been fed on Empire Horse and Cattle food.

Saving Life.

The Montreal Star of Sept. 21st has the following paragraph:—

"While Messrs. Mullock and Stewart were out paddling in their canoe yesterday at Lechmere the former was seized with a severe cramp in the leg, causing the canoe to capsize. They were rescued by Messrs. Shaw and Sherwood, little thanks for their unexpected immersion."

The Mr. Shaw referred to is Mr. Charles S. Shaw, so well known in Peterborough, and Mr. Sherwood accompanied him on his last visit to his friends here. They recently distinguished themselves at the Lechmere regatta, and now to their medals and flags they can add the still greater trophy of life saved.

A Concert.

A concert was held in the school room of St. John's Church on Wednesday evening and was largely attended. The concert was opened by a well-rendered duet by Miss Gilmour and Miss Roper, "The Huguenot." Miss Cunningham sang "The Maid and the Miller" in a manner that called forth loud applause. Mr. W. H. Budden followed with a song, "Conquer or Die," which was very well received. Mr. Thomas Dunn sang "Not a Sparrow Felleth," and received a well deserved recall. The second part was opened by an instrumental solo by Miss Annie Delaney, and she was rapturously cheered. Mrs. Chambers sang "When the Sparrows Build," in her usual pleasing way. A comic song by Mr. J. E. Hammond caused much merriment. Miss Tate gave a piano solo, "Paeonade," (Gottschalk) in an able manner. Mr. Dunn sang "True to the Last," and in response to an emphatic recall, "I'll Wait My Love." Miss Annie Delaney, by special request, played the "Batonche Polka," a fine piece of music of her own composition. The programme was an exceedingly good one and all who took part did credit to themselves. In spite of unfavorable circumstances the concert was a success, financially and otherwise, and much credit is due to Mrs. Dunn and Miss Wright, who had charge of the arrangements, for the manner in which they did the work. Mrs. Dunn also played the accompaniments in a very creditable manner.

As a young man named Thomas Lindsay, from Smith, was driving down George street this afternoon a brace on the pole broke and the draw bolt of the wheel fell loose. He was dragged a short distance by the horses before they were stopped, but, fortunately, was not injured much.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

LACROQUE.

THE CHAMPIONSHIP BETAINED.

PETERBOROUGH VS. CANNINGTON—A DRAW IN FACTO AND A VICTORY DE JURE.

A match on the Cant 1 District championship was played on Wednesday afternoon by the Peterborough club and the "Shamrocks" of Cannington. The weather was cold and the attendance of spectators was not large. The City Band was present and entertained a lively match by their music. Mr. F. H. Brennan, of Newwood, was chosen referee, and Mr. A. McNeil, Peterborough, and Mr. J. Urquhart, Cannington, were appointed umpires. The teams were composed as follows:—

PETERBOROUGH.	CANNINGTON.
P. Traynor	Goal
J. Joyal	Point
P. Myles	Cover point
R. Hall	Defence field
M. Halpin	do
R. H. Fortye	do
J. J. Sheehy	Centre field
H. S. Kelly	Home field
J. Canning	do
C. Rutherford	do
W. J. Scott	2nd Home
G. H. Groux	1st Home
M. McDonald	Field Captain

At twenty-five minutes after three the teams faced each other on the field, and two minutes later Sheehy and Sproule knelt on the turf. After three false passes, Sheehy drew the ball and Kelly seized it. Kelly ran down the field and gave it to Rutherford, who made a drop shot, but the rubber was returned. Fortye made a good run down the field, and Rutherford again placed the Cannington goal in jeopardy. Back came the ball again (the Canningtons had a good defense.) Sheehy and Halpin did some neat playing together, but, being crowded, Sheehy ran around the guard fence and fell in trying to get over it. A face of course, followed. The ball then went to the vicinity of the Peterborough goal, where there was a lively scuffle, but Joyal smothered with the sphere, and by a long throw sent it down the field. The ball was kept during this game continuously near the Cannington goal, although it sometimes visited the other side of the field, and one very close call was made on the Peterborough goal. The Peterboroughs lost the game in the same way as they have lost many games. The defense men were all out on the field, when the ball went near the goal. It was thrown on the stakes and Traynor stopped it. Traynor and McIntyre both struck at it, but McIntyre was the quicker, and the game was won for Cannington. Time, including many stops, 25 minutes.

The second game was a brisker and a livelier one. Peterborough still had the advantage, and after eight minutes play the ball was put through by Rutherford.

The third game was also a short one. The play was more even than in the other two. Finally McIntyre made a shot on the goal and although the ball went over the stakes the umpire, J. Urquhart, allowed the game. Time, six minutes. Some confusion followed, and the P. to-broughs protested against U. Urquhart's ruling to act as umpire. He was replaced by Mr. W. Daly.

The fourth game commenced amid considerable excitement, as Cannington had two to their credit. It was stubbornly contested, but finally Kelly, who had done splendid work all through, by a beautiful shot won the game for Peterborough. Time, 12 minutes.

The Cannington players wished to go home on the evening train and refused to play any longer. The match was therefore practically a draw, but, according to the rules of lacrosse, the referee awarded the match to the Peterboroughs. (There were given for each team and for the referee, and the teams returned to town.)

DOOR SHOWS.

The Cannington men went home on the 5.15 Grand Trunk train.

Some persons expressed the opinion that if the Cannington players were very eager for the medal they would have played the fifth game, though it would have compelled them to stay over night.

The boys say, and their hands and shins prove it, that the easier path is a hard thing to fall on.

Mr. Brennan makes a good and an impartial referee.

The Peterborough boys thought they had put the ball through in the first game, but Mr. McNeil, who always had his eyes open, said that it did not pass between the stakes. It was a close call.

BASEBALL.

MERCHANTS AND BANKERS. Another match is being arranged between the merchants and bankers to be played in the Riverside Park to-morrow afternoon.

'Tis Deceit.

Dr. Clarke on Wednesday paid his last visit, for the purpose of free vaccination, to Ashburnham, and on that afternoon he completed the task of arming against smallpox those who came to him for that purpose. A large majority of those vaccinated were children, and in all 250 persons were inoculated.

Locks.

I am now receiving Door Locks made in Peterborough, and have no hesitation in saying that they are equal to the goods made by the best makers in the United States. As I intend to keep only these goods in stock in future, I am selling at reductions in price of 20 to 30 per cent. all the American Locks, Knobs and Door Trimmings that I have on hand to make room for a full line of our home made goods. There are some very fine lines, especially in Mortice Locks, among them, and I would respectfully ask your inspection. Cut Nails and Door Hinges are very low in price just now.

THE STOVE MANUFACTORY.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—The stove-makers of Peterborough have for a long time had reason to complain of the terrible annoyance to which they have been subjected by the R. R. companies, especially the C. P. R. Company, whose steam whistles are sounded during almost every hour of the day and night, commencing at about three o'clock in the morning and continuing until about twelve o'clock at night.

And now another nuisance has been inflicted upon us, viz.: the steam whistle of the Stove Manufacturing Company.

Now, sir, this Company have, I believe, been exempted from the payment of taxes for at all events two years, and I think the inhabitants of the town might fairly expect that they should be exempted from this additional and unnecessary annoyance. Will our Councillors help us in this matter?

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1885.

THE GLOBE'S TEACHER.

With a great flourish of trumpets the Globe gives to its readers Henry George's new work on "Protection or Free Trade." In its anti-path to the encouragement of Canadian industry, and indeed to any beneficial policy adopted by the chosen administrators of Canadian affairs the Globe welcomes strange allies. While the Globe is attacking protection, and endeavoring at the same time to comfort the manufacturing industries by pretending that they will not suffer under a revenue tariff, its new ally would have no customs or excise duties, and would place the whole burden on the land, a proposition hardly likely to be acceptable to Canadian freeholders. George says:—

"British Free Trade is spurious Free Trade. Great Britain does not really enjoy Free Trade. To say nothing of internal taxes, inconsistent with true Free Trade, she still maintains a system of Customs House officers, coast guards, and baggage searchers, and still collects over a hundred million dollars of her revenues from import duties."

The leading opponent of Canadian industries is never weary of accusing the advocates of the National Policy of forsaking the principles of the Mother Country, but his author says:—
"It is protection that had to be invented. Instead of being invented in the United States, it was in full force in Great Britain long before the United States were thought of. It would be nearer the truth to say that Protection originated in Great Britain, for, if the system did not originate there, it was fully developed there, and it is from that country that it has been derived by us."

Again, the Globe is very fond of tautologizing the advocates of encouragement to Canadian industry with the assertion that they are opposed to modern civilization, and are more "Chinese" than their policy. Its new ally and teacher says:—

"Protection has the weight of general acceptance. A short time ago it was universally accepted by civilized Governments. Great Britain is yet the only considerable nation that has discarded it. While her own colonies, as soon as they have obtained the power, have shown a disposition to revert to it."

When, according to the Globe's own witness, the whole of the rest of the civilized world is opposed to Free Trade, while even that of Great Britain is only "spurious," the advocates of the National Policy cannot feel greatly discouraged by this authority.

But the Globe holds gladly the assistance of this authority because he is opposed to the tariff policy adopted by the people of Canada, though his alternative is a more or less complete confiscation of private property in land.

FULFILLED PREDICTIONS.

The leading Reform journals think that a liberal reward should be offered for "a Tory election prediction of 1878 or 1882 that has been fulfilled in the subsequent history of the country." Conservative predictions on those occasions that manufactured articles would become cheaper under a protective tariff; that capitalists would be encouraged to invest millions in factories and machinery; that on both dates the electors of Canada would favor a large majority of representatives to support the National Policy. These predictions have all been fulfilled. The list might be lengthened greatly, but these specimens of fulfilled predictions may suffice for the present.

CAMPBELLFORD.

CHERRY MARKET.—There were seven factories represented on the cherry market in Campbellford on Wednesday of last week, Seymour West, Royal Maynard, I. L. Standard, Crow Bay and Shawwood, and about one thousand boxes were offered. Two buyers were present, and their highest bid was 7 cents. No sales took place. Cherry growers are still holding back for better prices, and hope to realize more for their produce in future markets.

FALL FARM WORK.—A large acreage in Seymour has been ploughed already this fall, and crops of corn have been put under cover. Farmers are progressing rapidly with their fall work, and with a continuance for a short time longer of weather like that of last week, many of them will finish, and enjoy a season of rest on the farm before the ground. Fall wheat sown two weeks ago is sprouting above the ground, and growing rapidly under the influence of abundant moisture and a warm sun.

R. C. PIERCE.—The picnic held on Thursday in aid of the Roman Catholic Church, in R. C. Pierces grove, proved a marked success. The day was fine and the atmosphere just cool enough to be pleasant. There was an attractive line of prizes for the different athletic events, all of which were hotly contested. The dancing platform was well patronized during the day, and the success of the picnic was due to the generous contributions of the donors. The gross receipts of the picnic were $730.60. To the ladies Misses Downey and O'Malley who canvassed for voters for the gold watch offered the lady collecting the largest amount of money, is due in a large measure the success of the picnic. Miss Downey succeeded in getting the greatest number of votes, and to her the watch was awarded. The grounds were not deserted till after dark. —Herald.

HOT WORK FOR A CRIMINAL.

Desperate Fight of a Michigan Family to Avoid Arrest.

LONIA, Mich., Sept. 22.—Abner Aldrich, a man of 45 years of age, with his wife and two children, one of them a young man of 20, live on a farm eight miles northeast of this city and one mile east of Collins station on the Detroit, Lansing & Northern Railroad. The family have been for years the terror of the neighborhood where they reside. Aldrich has been arrested for assaults and threats of life time out of number, and never without cause. Some time ago a judgment was obtained against him in a justice's court at Portland, but no effort was made to carry out the execution, so it was brought to this city and given to Constable Perry Chapman, with a warning to take him with him and lock him up for himself. He took with him George Bradley and W. Aldrich, of this city, and went there yesterday afternoon. They found in the barn Aldrich and his 20 year old son, who were feeding wheat into some bags. Chapman stepped up to the wagon where Aldrich was and said he was an officer and had an execution. Aldrich caught up an axe from the wagon and raised it to strike, when Chapman covered him with his revolver and at its muzzle compelled him to leave the wagon and still covering him told the man to come out; but before they could do so the young man had got a rifle and opened upon Chapman and the woman was coming with an axe. Young Aldrich fired at Chapman, but missed him. Chapman turned and shot at young Aldrich, who, carrying a repeating Spencer carbine, opened fire from the house. Bradley fell at the third shot, but was helped away by Aldrich. Chapman was unharmed, but feeling himself alone, he retreated. Aldrich was but slightly injured, but Bradley is in a precarious condition. His right arm was amputated late in the afternoon, and he is doing as well as could be expected.

A warrant was issued for the Aldrichs, the two men and the woman, and the sheriff and four officers went out to serve it. After holding the officers off for four hours with rifles, they finally yielded, and at midnight were lodged in jail. They still kept their guns and more trouble was expected. The house where the Aldrichs live is boarded up and the walls pierced for rifle shooting on the plan of the frontier fort, and is nearly as strong. The family are armed with repeating rifles, and they have for years kept off officers after the plan of yesterday.

THE THEATRE OF THE REBELLION.

Kestern Roumelia is a state lying just south of Bulgaria, from which it is divided by the Balkan mountain range. It has an area of 15,500 square miles and a population of 850,000 of whom nearly 600,000 are Bulgars, 171,000 Turks, 40,000 Greeks, and the remainder Syrians, Jews, and Armenians. Philippopolis, the capital, contains about 25,000 inhabitants. Agriculture is the chief industry of the country, wheat, barley, rice and corn being the principal crops. A large amount of wine is also produced, and numerous live stock of all kinds. Woollen cloth is largely manufactured in several places. The State has up to the present formed a part of the Turkish empire. But the treaty of Berlin (July 13, 1878), gave it a local administrative autonomy and a governor-general. The borders were to be fortified by the Porte, but internal order was to be maintained by a local gendarmerie and local militia recruited with regard to the religion of the people; and not even in the border fortresses was the Porte to employ Bulgarian, Circassian or other irregular troops, nor in any event were any Turkish troops to be quartered on the people. The treaty also provided that with the consent of the Powers the Sultan should appoint a Governor-General of Kestern Roumelia, to hold office for five years. The man appointed to that office, who has now been deposed by peaceful revolution, was Gabriel Pasha Cherkesskoff, appointed May 18, 1885, and installed July 8, 1885. Bulgaria, on the other hand, the revolutionary state has annexed itself, was by the same treaty of Berlin made an "autonomous and tributary principality," under the sovereignty of the Sultan, having a Christian government of its own, and confirmed by the Porte with the consent of the Powers, its title being Hereditary. Bulgaria has an area of 24,300 square miles, and a population of more than 2,000,000 of whom 1,400,000 are Bulgars, 400,000 Turks, and the rest Wallachians, Tripolians, Cypriotes, Jews, etc. The Greek religion is the prevailing one, being accepted by three-fourths of the people. Sofia, the capital, has 21,000 inhabitants; Varna, the Black Sea port, 25,000; and Shumla, Ruse, and other cities, 10,000 each. Bulgaria has a considerable national army, a very small navy, and railroad and telegraph lines. Corn is the principal product and manufacture. The country formerly belonged to Hungary, but was seized by the Turks in 1822.

A STAGUWER ACCIDENT.

St. Thomas, Sept. 23.—Mr. Thomas Lettich, science master in the Collegiate Institute, met with an accident to-day while teaching the chemistry class which will prevent him from resuming his duties for some time. He was holding with his hand a rubber bag containing oxygen and hydrogen gas in a tub of water, when through the carelessness of a student the gas became ignited and an explosion occurred. A portion of the bag struck Mr. Lettich in the arm, breaking the large bone and dislocating the wrist joint.

A DREADFUL DISASTER.

St. John, N. B., Sept. 22.—Great gloom prevails in this city to-night over a dreadful disaster at Wallace ledge, near Grand Manan. The steamer Hunabwa, which was wrecked there several weeks ago, was blown off the rocks and sank, taking down, it is believed, twelve or fifteen persons belonging to this city or the neighboring city of Portland. It is possible they were taken off by a schooner, but this is not considered likely, as a severe storm came up during the night and caused the disaster.

CHINESE MURDERERS LYMBED.

LEWISTON, Idaho, Sept. 25.—Five Chinese, who had confessed that they are implicated in the murder and robbery of Mr. Fraser at Pierce City, were taken from jail by citizens on Monday night and hurried to town near by. Mr. Fraser was the pioneer of Southern Idaho. The Chinese murderers mutilated his body horribly.

Dynamite Explosion.
PORT ARTHUR, Sept. 23.—A magazine at Port Arthur containing a large quantity of dynamite and other explosives, blew up this afternoon, giving the town a severe shake-up. The explosion destroyed are said to be worth $20,000, and belonged to Commo & McLennan and Burk Bros. A large quantity of window glass was broken in the town. No one was hurt. The building is supposed to have caught fire from a lamp.

Belonged to a Case of Pure Gold Liver oil with Hypophosphates.
Dr. O. KILLING, of Oakland, Cal., says: "I have used Scott's Emulsion in my own case and found it a most valuable preparation, and have since used it extensively in my practice with surprising results to myself and patients."

affected by the By-law. He would vote against the repeal of the By-law, because the objection that the By-law was indefinite was an indication that the Company might take advantage of that to avoid something. They knew the By-law was illegal, but it was an agreement between man and man in good faith. He felt strongly that it was in the interests of the town.

Councillor McLELLAND—Did you say, Mr. Mayor, if it was not illegal?

The Mayor—Yes, and I considered it an agreement between the Council and the Company. If buildings to the value of $100,000 were built on the site, the exemption would not amount to as much as some towns gave to one industry.

Councillor RUTHERFORD said that he understood that an act of the Legislature was to be passed on Monday to amend and improve the By-law. He did not think anyone who had been rushed through. It had been discussed at different meetings. They might have gone too far in including a large amount of property, but it did not include as much as some thought. He thought the Council should not be in a hurry to pass it.

The Mayor—Yes, and I considered it an agreement between the Council and the Company. If buildings to the value of $100,000 were built on the site, the exemption would not amount to as much as some towns gave to one industry.

Councillor RUTHERFORD said that he understood that an act of the Legislature was to be passed on Monday to amend and improve the By-law. He did not think anyone who had been rushed through. It had been discussed at different meetings. They might have gone too far in including a large amount of property, but it did not include as much as some thought. He thought the Council should not be in a hurry to pass it.

Councillor McLELLAND—Did you say, Mr. Mayor, if it was not illegal?

The Mayor—Yes, and I considered it an agreement between the Council and the Company. If buildings to the value of $100,000 were built on the site, the exemption would not amount to as much as some towns gave to one industry.

ONE CAUSE OF DEPRESSION.

DUBLIN, Sept. 25.—The Chamber of Commerce has replied to the communication of enquiry into the cause of the depression in the iron and steel trade that the depression is due to an increase in the number of mills on the continent and at Chelmsford, and the high tariff imposed on British goods throughout Europe.

MORE WARLIKE.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 25.—The feeling in St. Petersburg regarding the Russian question is becoming more warlike. The sympathy of the masses is strongly with the Bulgarians. It is stated the Czar has telegraphed to the Ministers of War to prepare plans for a campaign, in the event of the opening of hostilities between Bulgaria and Turkey, as he is determined to support Prince Alexander's claims of unity between Bulgaria and Romania. A prominent Russian General, in an interview to-day, when asked if it was true that the Czar seriously intended to support Bulgaria to the extent of going to war with Turkey, replied that Russia would stand by Bulgaria against Turkey, the moment the latter attacked Bulgaria, and added that the Czar is most emphatic in his resolution to support Bulgaria.

PERMANENT.

An Addition to Mr. Torvell's Library—A dress from the Empress.

The Rev. I. Torvell was invited to attend a meeting of the Orangemen in their hall on Friday evening. There was a large number of the brethren present. Mr. Torvell was presented with a collection of twenty-three volumes of books, including political and historical works, by the Orangemen of this district, and with an address. The address, which was read by the Secretary, was as follows:—

Rev. I. Torvell, Pastor of the George Street Methodist Church, Peterborough.

REV. AND DEAR SIR.—We the undersigned members of the Orange Association desire to express on behalf of the membership of the Order, in this town and vicinity, our deep sense of the obligations under which you have placed us.

In addition to a generally friendly attitude toward us, we have to specially thank you for the presenting of two excellent anniversary volumes, and to assure you of our deep sense of the great good they have accomplished in strengthening our faith in the glorious principles, which we, as a body, exist to promote, and in meeting the propagation of the cause of civil and religious liberty.

Your eloquent presentation of the result of your scholarly researches have won our gratitude and in earnest of that gratitude permit us to present to you with these volumes with the hope that they will be a perpetual reminder of the obligations under which you have placed us.

With heartfelt wishes for your success in your ministerial career, with the hope that you may be spared to a long life of usefulness, and with the prayer that the practice of the great truth which you preach so eloquently may earn the reward of a life of endless happiness, we again return our expressions of gratitude and thankfulness and remain, Sir, your obedient servants.

On behalf of the Association, J. E. McWILLIAMS, County Master.

JOHN A. DAVIDSON, Secretary.

Peterborough, 25th September, 1885.

Mr. TORVELL made a valuable reply, in which he thanked the Orangemen for their very kind address and for the handsome present of over twenty volumes of interesting historical and political literature. He felt that it was not without reason that the collection of books he noticed Milman's and Parkman's works. It is said Parkman's style is as charming as that of Macaulay, while Milman's works are of the highest order. The testimonial should stand in his library as a perpetual reminder of their friendship, which he assured the Order was deeply appreciated. It deeply moved him that they should think to do this, especially as he happened not to have the honor of belonging to their organization

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1885.

A FAMILY QUARREL.

This young Liberal has done what naughty children often do. They have caused a family quarrel. Some of the Reform papers, including the Windsor Free Press and Montreal Witness, are displeased with what they did at the convention, and the Ottawa Free Press and Globe defend them. For shame, children! You should not have caused your elders in the family to quarrel.

Perhaps, however, the "youngsters" are not so much at fault as might appear to be the case. If the father tells a child to do one thing and the mother tells it not to do that, but to do something else, the child must displease one or both of them. And the "Young" Liberals were placed in a very similar position. The Reform party is divided, each faction contending for its own opinions or pet hobby, and the young men were, previous to the convention, given contradictory advice from different members of the party. They could not, therefore, please all, and it is more owing to the divisions in the party than to the willfulness of the "youngsters," that the family quarrel has come about. They could not please the Windsor Reformers by demanding the abolition of the Senate without offending the Piston. It was not other members of the Reform party who said that the Senate should not be abolished, and on other questions they were placed in a position just as difficult. If the Reform party wishes to extinguish family quarrels, they must turn their attention to agreeing on a policy and uniting the different factions, instead of hearing and defending the Young Liberals. As, however, the policy of the Conservative party is one that satisfies the country they will have considerable difficulty in agreeing on a different policy that will be acceptable to the people.

THE DOMINION CABINET.

FURTHER changes have been made in the Dominion Cabinet. Sir Alexander Campbell has found that the arduous duties of the head of the Department of Justice and leader of the Senate placed too great a strain upon him, and he has been relieved of a great part of the mental strain by taking the Post Office portfolio, which requires more routine work. His place in the Department of Justice will be filled by Mr. Justice Thompson, a lawyer of marked ability and a man of considerable political training in his own province, where he was Attorney-General and Premier of the Province of Ontario. The Hon. John Gillingham has been appointed Minister of Agriculture, and the Hon. J. H. Pope will give his undivided attention to the Department of Railways and Canals. Mr. Gillingham has been doing good work for the agricultural interests of Ontario, and in the wider sphere of Minister of that Department for the Dominion he will be in a position to do much for the chief industry of Canada. Mr. Pope has administered the affairs of the Railway and Canal Department with ability since the retirement of Sir Charles Tupper, and the country will be pleased to know that he is to remain in charge of that Department. Sir Alexander Campbell is an able administrator, and he will continue to administer the affairs of the Post Office with the same ability and efficiency. The change of the affairs of that department will be a great change, and it is hoped that the Government will be strengthened by the appointment of the Hon. J. H. Pope to the Department of the Interior. With a strong Cabinet in which the people have confidence, and a policy which is entirely in the interests of the country and which is approved by the people, Sir John Macdonald and the Conservative party have little reason to fear that they will be displaced by the confederation of factions which is only united in its desire to secure office.

MURDERER.

NARROW ESCAPE.—Master John Crow, who is engaged at Black's mill, was standing by a dam on Friday, when it was unexpectedly put in motion, and cut both hands and his shoulder. Fortunately it was only a slight cut, nothing serious, but it was a narrow escape from being cut in pieces.

LOCAL WORK.—Some necessary repairs are being made in the local public works. The canal embankment is being filled in with gravel and made secure for the next winter. This embankment has been badly damaged by the action of the paddles drawing on the gravel. The superintendent is to have canal regulations. The raising of the grist mill or the landing at the lock is being replanked, and a new machine too new, for it was in a dangerous condition. The dam is also to be patched up. For some years there has been talk of building a new dam and the department has got so far as having plans prepared. It will soon be put into effect, and a heavy spring freshet will carry it away.

AN INDIAN MYSTERY.

The Love and Griefs of the Red Man Before the White Man Came.

Mr. James J. Farley, an old resident of Threlknap township, writes as follows to the Belleville Intelligencer:—That sanguinary tragedy lately enacted in the township of Huntingdon brings to mind a similar tragedy enacted in the same almost five years since, many years before the whites settled there, and serves to exemplify the aborigines' code of criminal jurisprudence. At that time a band of Mississauga Indians, a branch of the great Chippewa nation, who then held sway from Ottawa in the east to the Great Slave Lake in the far North-west, were camped near Hag Lake, in what is now the township of Huntingdon, busied in fishing, hunting and making maple sugar. They made an excellent example of gunnated sugar, much resembling the best muscovado. They put the sugar in very neatly made birch bark cans holding forty pounds, which they bartered for muskrat and quannam (flour and bread in the Mississauga language). Whilst thus engaged, an Indian two-thirds drunk, went into a wigwam where a maiden of twenty summers was busy preparing their wedding meal, and alone. The Indian raised hold of the maid and attempted to criminally assault her. The maid resisted; they scuffled around the wigwam, and came out with a scuffling knife, which she seized and with one blow drove the knife through the Indian's heart. He fell dead at her feet. The relatives of the Indian then came and carried the corpse out, and laid it on the ground in the open air. The deceased's oldest brother stepped forward and proclaimed himself the avenger of blood, and with a loud voice demanded that the maid's family should follow her up to justice. The next morning, the maid's friends and placed near the corpse, her friends coming. The avenger then came forward, and with a knife in his hand, with a threatening and threatening look, he demanded if the maid had anything to say in defence of her own honor—that her death would be preferable to disgrace in the estimation of her mother and her tribe. The avenger stood as motionless as a stone monument, but with the countenance of a thundercloud, apparently unable to decide what should be done. The maid was about 2 in the afternoon. Their law required that she should decide before he obeyed any call of nature, and before the sun went down. Just as the orb of day was sinking in the west, the avenger stepped forward and with his scuffling knife made an incision across the width of her forehead, just along the roots of the hair to the brow, and the blood began to flow. He then with his knife, split her nose and upper lip to the bone, scattering the parts asunder. He then withdrew. Throughout this painful ordeal the maid stood as unmoved as a green oak stump. The mother then came forward and led her daughter away and tenderly bound up her wounds, which speedily healed, but left an ugly scar. The maid's uncle then came forward and with an unjust sentence had been inflicted on his niece and proclaimed himself her avenger. He then, with a loud voice, demanded that the relatives of the avenger should deliver him to justice. They refused to do so. The maid then immediately, armed for the fray, she said then came forward and commanded that both families should depart; the Council would decide the matter. After hearing the parties, the Council decided that the maid had an undoubted right to slay her assailant if she had no other alternative, but in this case the Indian was drunk, the maid could have broken away from him and run, consequently she was not justified, according to say the Indian. Therefore they would decide that two sentences were just. The drunken maiden then, true to the aboriginal code of law, vowed she would not submit to that decision, but would remain her tribe and her nation, and immediately went through their promised form of renunciation. She then started north and along across through the unbroken forest to the Ottawa river, where she arrived at the mouth of the Mohawk nation were settled. The Mohawk nation, between the Sir Nelson Indians. Between this powerful confederacy and the great Chippewa nation there was an implacable feud that had existed for many centuries, and on this day, she made an appeal to the Mohawk Council for adoption into their tribe. After mature deliberation the request was granted. They went through their promised form of adoption and she became a member of that tribe. She married a young Mohawk, lived happily with him, because the mother of two or three children, but after eight or ten years she became melancholy, and refused to see her husband or her children. She made an appeal to the Mohawk Council for permission to visit her mother. The request was granted, and she was permitted to go. She returned to her mother's place, and she remained there for the rest of her life. The woman proceeded forward to her mother's tent and there remained for her son's family. At the end of the week she started for home by the way she came, the mother and daughter bidding each other an affectionate and lasting farewell, never to meet again until they should meet at the beautiful hunting grounds, many days' journey beyond one another.

THE BROWN COW.

When I was young and used to roam around over the country, gathering watermelons in the dark of the moon, I used to think I could milk anybody's cow, but I do not think so now. I do not milk a cow now unless the sign is right, and it hasn't been right for a good many years. The latest cow I tried to milk was a common cow, born in obscurity; kind of a self-made cow. I remember her brow was low, but she wore her tail high, and she was hangy, oh, so hangy.

I made a commonplace remark to her, one that is said in the very best of society, one that need not have given offence anywhere. I said "so," and she "soed." Then I told her "lik," and she bled. Then I thought she overdid it. She put too much expression in it. Just then I heard something crash through the window of the barn and fall with a dull thumping sound on the outside. The neighbors came to see what it was that caused the noise. They found that I had done it in getting through the window.

I asked the neighbors if the barn was still standing. They said it was. Then I asked if the cow was injured. They said she was not. They said she was all right. I requested them to go in and calm the cow. Little and so if they could get her out of the barn. I am buying all my milk now of a milkmaid. I select a gentle milkmaid who will use kind words and I feel as though I could trust her. Then if he feels as though he could trust me, it is all right.—BUTTER.

POULTRY HINTS.

The value of milk for either young or adult fowls cannot be overestimated. Feed the young milk to your fowls, warm, feed the milk, boiled milk, the potatoes or turnips, and mix this for an early day's feed.

The house where fowls are kept should have a supply of fine gravel and ground oyster shells, to furnish material for the shells of the eggs.

Secure your rows for winter feeding of poultry in the month before the frost sets in, and before severe frost, if possible, for it is injured in quality by being frost bitten.

Give milk feed to poultry in the morning, and the whole grain at night, excepting a little wheat or whole grain of corn placed in the "scratching place" in the forenoon, to furnish employment during the day.

Bone meal and crushed oyster shells may be used very successfully in feeding fowls. Placed by themselves, they will do more of this nature than they naturally require to assist digestion, and to help in forming the shells of eggs.

Feed the table scraps to the chickens instead of throwing them to the pig. They are worth more to the poultry, and everything that falls from the table, such as dry crusts, vegetable parings and cooked meats like are relished by the fowls.

An exchange makes the very sensible remark that in growing food for poultry it should be borne in mind that corn, wheat and oats are always to be purchased, and it is the best, therefore, to grow sorghum, brown sorghum, or millet and sunflower for seed, which yields a variety, but which cannot so readily be produced in the market.

Everyone who has fowls should provide a dust-box. Fine road-dust, and when sand, pulverized limestone, or crushed oyster shells, and with a sprinkling of powdered sulphur, constitutes as good a bath as can be desired. This should always be placed in a sunny exposure of the house, and kept dry and clean, so that the fowls may enjoy its benefits when they choose.

There are many sections of the country where fowls might be kept with advantage and profit. They are a hardy and healthy fowl, requiring but little attention and prepared food, and are quite untroublesome when properly managed. As their numbers are probably decreasing rapidly, then increasing every year, the profit of those who remain in the business is consequently greater, as the scarcity of an article always enhances its value.

When the fowls are young, or when they are very old, they are liable to become diseased, and are among the most delicate of all poultry food, though often recommended as such by high authorities. At best they are little better than food, except that they are in a more compact manner in the fowls' system.

Prof. Parker, organist and choirmaster of St. Paul's Church, will give a grand organ recital in the church on the evening of Thursday, October 2nd.

Fashions.

A very pleasant evening was spent by all who attended the fashions at St. Andrew's Church School House on Friday evening. Notwithstanding the fact that the weather was quite disagreeable, the attendance was good and the fashions quite satisfactory. Mr. J. D. Tully filled the position of chairman in a capable manner. The programme was opened by an instrumental solo by the Misses Leach. Miss Ballantyne followed with a song "Waiting." Then came peaches, cream and other refreshments, after which Miss Stephens sang "The Light House Light." Miss Bagley followed with a solo, and then there was a solo of fancy articles, after which more refreshments, such as cake, coffee, fruit, etc., were partaken of. The Misses Leach again appeared in magnificent costumes, and Miss Bagley followed with a solo. Miss Albertine Leach played the accompaniment for the lady vocalists, and Mr. Charles C. Hampshire accompanied Mr. Impy. The entertainment was much enjoyed by every one, and the performers who took part all acquitted themselves in a creditable manner.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

BASEBALL.

THE UMPIRE.

The Lindsay Post has the following remarks: "The decisions made by the umpire during the recent Lindsay-Peterborough match are claimed by Peterborough to have been unfair to them. It is a trifle singular that the Lindsay Post just the same complaint to make against a Peterborough umpire in a recent match. To end this sort of disputing the umpire should be one who has no interest in either club, and personally a stranger to both. It strikes an experienced party that if the umpire has so much power over the rules, and the rules of the game seem to be an intricate affair, that either the rules should be altered, or the umpire should play the game alone and then make his decision or better still, let the Lindsay Post make the game is played. Either course would be fully as sensible as that now taken—appointing an umpire and then swearing away his honesty and respectability, and accusing him of favoritism."

OF THE FLY.

On Friday the Lions defeated the Philadelphia by 5 to 4, and the Clippers defeated the Maple Leafs by 13 to 9.

"The Review gives in its issue of Friday last a very fair and excellent report of the Lindsay-Peterborough match, that turns the day previous."

ATTENTION.

THE F.A.A.A. SPORTS.

Returned Home.

This morning at 5 o'clock the Prince of Wales Canadian Dragoons (Peterborough cavalry troop) returned home to Peterborough via the C.P.R. The men are all well and enjoyed their camp splendidly. The officers speak in high terms of the expedition in which they were brought from Kingston here, and are proud in their praise of the courteous and obliging way in which they and the troops were used by the officials of the C.P.R. The Peterborough troop formed part of the attacking party in the sham fight, which is described by the press as being a brilliant scene. At three o'clock the troop turned out and paraded the principal streets, which they were disbanded.

New Changes.

At a meeting of the Licensed Victuallers of the town, held on Friday evening, it was decided to inaugurate a scale of prices for those who have heretofore had the privilege of putting their teams and vehicles in the hotel yards free. To-day the following placard is posted up at the entrance of all stabling yards in connection with hotels in Peterborough:—

"NOTICE.—On and after the 26th September, the following rates will be charged: Yard and shed room, 15 cents; stable room, feed extra, 25 cents. Proprietors of hotels will not be responsible for any loss of goods from vehicles, unless properly checked. They also agreed to charge farmers 25 cents for all trips in teams to and from depots, and also to charge 40 cents for meals, instead of 25 cents, as heretofore."

The Market.

There was an unusually large attendance at the market this morning, and the quantity of produce offered was correspondingly plentiful. Onions sold at the rather advanced price of from 40 to 50 cents per bushel. Potatoes were offered in abundance, and had taken at 35 and 70 cents. Apples were offered for sale at 30 cents, with apparently few takers, crab apples brought 25 cents per bushel. An abundance of tomatoes, corn, grapes, etc., were offered for sale at about the usual prices. Carrots, beets and onions readily brought five cents per bushel. There is always a good demand for eggs, and 14c. was asked and received for any quantity. Butter was offered in large quantities. Roll butter sold at 21 and 22 cents, while 18 cents was asked for firkin. Cheese was on sale at 10 cents per pound. Lamb brought 7 for the fore and 8 cents for the hind quarters. The buyers generally seemed satisfied with prices, and in consequence sales were quickly effected.

Centerville Festival.

The South Monaghan Harvest Home Festival, which was held on Friday, proved a grand success in every respect. The attendance was large, the Fire Brigade Band was in attendance, and Mr. John Craig, of Peterborough, entered to the refreshments of all in a highly satisfactory manner. During the afternoon there was a horse race and a football match played on the grounds, which added much to the day's enjoyment. Messrs. T. Dunn, M. Dunn, G. Anderson, Dr. Ogilby, New, Gillett and C. Gillett were all good sportsmen, and in some cases fairly brought down the horse. The Committee of Management desire to express thanks to all who assisted in the festivities. Great credit is due to Messrs. Traggott, Ed. Ball, Sr., T. M. Wilkie, Traggott and Messrs. Ogilby, Wm. Rutherford, John Lightfoot, and others, for the business like manner in which everything was carried out. The South Monaghan Harvest Home Festival was a success, and those who participated in the day's enjoyment do not regret attending it.

GLOBE POLITICS.

With persistent malice the Globe again and again returns to its disgraceful assaults upon Mr. J. C. Jamieson. Over and over again its slanderous charges have been proved to be false, but it shifts its ground and continues the attack by uttering other calumnies, equally without foundation, and evades its own evil conscience.

If the Globe were criticising the policy of colonization companies it would be acting within its rights, and we would not care to lay much stress upon its condemning a system introduced by the Mackenzie-Blake Administration, being well accustomed to such inconsistency. But in its disgraceful slanders of Mr. Jamieson it is actuated by two mean motives, its antipathy to him as a Conservative journalist, and its hope that on account of his marriage to a lady who has a relation in the Dominion Cabinet that some of the dirt flung at him may be smeared on the Mackenzie-Blake Administration. Prominent Reformers are leading members of the Prince Albert Colonization Co., but the Globe holds their secretary solely responsible because he signed documents on their behalf. Possibly these Reformers may have thought that Mr. Jamieson could secure undue favours, but if they dishonestly counted upon this it was only because, like the Globe, they are used to such corruption in their own party. As to his share in the company, Mr. Jamieson bought them from a gentleman who had given value for them in professional services, and sold them again.

It is a dirty business this of the Globe attacking individuals with vile slanders, in the hope that by these falsehoods it may make a point against its political opponents. But in the absence of a policy it descends to such baseness as its only available weapon.

JUDICIAL APPOINTMENTS.

HAVING no valid objection to the appointment of Mr. Morgan as a judge, Reformers are now protesting against his selection because he is said to be related to a member of the House of Commons. It is a new disqualification for the Bench, preventing the professional promotion of any barrister who has any relation chosen by the electors of Canada to represent them in Parliament. The real objection to these critics are the Mr. Morgan has been a Conservative and that he is not one of the Toronto clique. Sir John Macdonald and his colleagues have made a good selection, as they have always done for judicial appointments, with the one exception of Mr. B. J. Blake, of dubious fame in a Peterborough law court.

SUPERSTITION.

Old "Reformers" and Young "Liberals" are now objecting to superannuation. Yet their friends, when in power, used it freely, and long to be able to do so again. As an instance, there was the case of one well known in this locality, Mr. John Leighton, who was superannuated against his will, when he had still many years of good work in him, because his position was worked for one who had done service to the Reform party, as is shown in the record of our courts.

ELEVEN MEN DROWNED.

The Wreck of the Humacao and How it occurred.

Eastport, Me., Sept. 25.—Eleven men were drowned on the wrecked steamer Humacao at Grand Manan on Wednesday, and not twenty, as before reported. The sea began to break over the wreck on Wednesday forenoon, and she then commenced going to pieces. The light-house keeper, McLaughlin, with a spy glass could see the steamer breaking up, but no assistance could be rendered. One of the crew, Jeremiah Daley, a young man 18 years of age, was saved. When the steamer went to pieces the men were thrown into the water, and all grasped fragments of the bridge, and kept off the rocks until the tug boat Dunlop picked him up. The rest either sank or were dashed against the rocks; one had a leg broken, another became insane while struggling in the water, and his companions lashed him to a piece of the wreck, but he was dashed on the rocks and drowned. Most of the men leave large families in Portland and St. John. The names of the drowned so far as learned are James Griffin, James Napier, Robert Johnston, Jan. Clark, Bartholomew Armstrong, Harley Stackhouse and Alexander Scribner.

A Small Rebellion Quelled.

WHITFORD, Me., Sept. 26.—Some half-breed herons, late of Regina, got up a small rebellion last night, and it seemed the notorious Baptiste Sayer was glorified in his former exploits and defying the authorities. However, two policemen visited the scene of the revolt, and took five of the party into custody.

DYING IN THE STREETS.

A Smallpox Patient Escapes to the Street in a Delirious State and Dies There.

Last night about midnight people living in Dalhousie-street, near William, were aroused from their slumbers by cries of help, in a woman's voice. Those living in the neighbourhood saw a man running about the street in his night clothes, and a woman trying to persuade him to return to his home, and crying for assistance. The man was Enoch Adams, until recently employed as a tinmith by the Grand Trunk Railway, and the woman was his wife. It appears he was found to have smallpox on Saturday last, and the patient grew worse, until last night when in a frenzy or delirium, he rushed out of the house and began to run around the streets. The devoted wife, who had alone remained to nurse him, shouted for help, but the neighbors, knowing he had the disease, failed to assist him. She then went to No. 7 Station, but on explaining the matter no one brave enough could be found to render any assistance. A stranger who was passing, however, assisted her to remove her husband to his own door step. The dying man had been lying in the street for nearly an hour, in a blinding storm of rain and wind, and within a few minutes after being placed on the step he ceased to breathe and was taken up stairs. The wife covered the body, and it remained in the hall-way, with the legs projecting into the street, until nearly nine o'clock this morning. About half-past five a neighbour named McKean went to No. 7 station and requested the sergeant in charge to send a man to warn the passers by of their danger. A man was not sent, however, until a quarter past seven, when Officer Brown was stationed at the corner of Dalhousie and William streets, and Officer McCullough at the corner of Dalhousie and Ottawa streets. The officers say they had hard work to keep people from going near the infected house.

Mr. Conroy, residing at No. 165 Dalhousie-street, went to No. 6 Station and requested the police to render some assistance, but the sergeant refused, saying it was not in his district. Mr. Conroy then went in a cab to the Central Station, and reported the case, and asked the sergeant in charge to telephone to the Young Street Station, and direct them to place a guard over the street to keep pedestrians away. The sergeant refused to do this, and told Mr. Conroy the proper place for him to go was to the Health Office. He at once proceeded there, and reported the case, but they told him it had not been reported before, although the police say they did report it to the Health Board and no action was taken of it. Be this as it may no placard had been placed in the house, and nothing had been done by the health authorities to assist the afflicted family.

At an early hour this morning the devoted wife was bending over the remains of her dead husband, while on the other side of the street a crowd of citizens, afraid to approach, were spectators of the melancholy scene. A member of the Board of Health, being spoken to regarding this terrible affair, blamed the police roundly for not immediately notifying the Health authorities by telephone, when assistance would have been rendered. —Montreal Star, September 25.

It is quite possible to make three fish out of two. We had only two herrings on the table the other day, and yet there was one smelt.

Every human soul has the germ of some sin within; and they would open, if they could only find sunshine and free air to expand in.

There is a fortune in store for the milliner who shall invent a bonnet that can be worn in any part of a church and always present its trimmed side to the congregation.

Boy (with feeling): "I'm an orphan and father's broke his leg and is in jail, and mother's in an insane asylum, and if I go home without any money they'll thrash me."

Richter said that no man could live pleasantly or die religiously without a wife. A good many men think Richter will have a good deal to answer for when the books are opened.

Nothing like the Truth-Jock—"Man, Tam, yer an awfu' loser!" Tam—"Deed, Jock, it's no possible for anybody to talk as much as I do without talkin' a wheen loss!"

Prejudices are like the knots in the glass of our windows. They alter the shape of every thing that we choose to look at through them; they make straight things crooked and nothing distinct.

He was All There—First Highlander—"I sat you, Duncan?" Second—"Nae, it's me." First—"Is't ye, Duncan?" Second—"Yea, it was me so whole twice, what else?"

ELEVEN MEN DROWNED.

The Wreck of the Humacao and How it occurred.

Eastport, Me., Sept. 25.—Eleven men were drowned on the wrecked steamer Humacao at Grand Manan on Wednesday, and not twenty, as before reported. The sea began to break over the wreck on Wednesday forenoon, and she then commenced going to pieces. The light-house keeper, McLaughlin, with a spy glass could see the steamer breaking up, but no assistance could be rendered. One of the crew, Jeremiah Daley, a young man 18 years of age, was saved. When the steamer went to pieces the men were thrown into the water, and all grasped fragments of the bridge, and kept off the rocks until the tug boat Dunlop picked him up. The rest either sank or were dashed against the rocks; one had a leg broken, another became insane while struggling in the water, and his companions lashed him to a piece of the wreck, but he was dashed on the rocks and drowned. Most of the men leave large families in Portland and St. John. The names of the drowned so far as learned are James Griffin, James Napier, Robert Johnston, Jan. Clark, Bartholomew Armstrong, Harley Stackhouse and Alexander Scribner.

A Small Rebellion Quelled.

WHITFORD, Me., Sept. 26.—Some half-breed herons, late of Regina, got up a small rebellion last night, and it seemed the notorious Baptiste Sayer was glorified in his former exploits and defying the authorities. However, two policemen visited the scene of the revolt, and took five of the party into custody.

HINTS TO HOUSEKEEPERS.

The warmth of floors is greatly increased by having carpet lining of layers of paper under the carpet.

The juice of half a lemon is to many a delightful addition to cold or warm tea. Of course no milk is used with it.

Have a teaspoonful of common salt dissolved in a little cold water and drunk will instantly relieve heart-burn or dyspepsia.

Dainty sandwiches are prepared as follows: Cut some bread in triangular or round pieces very thin; butter evenly, and cover with layers of cucumber, chicken and ham, seasoning to taste.

Never serve sardines in the tin boxes in which they are packed. Lay them carefully in a pretty majolica or porcelain sardine dish, to be had in every china store, or serve them in any small, flat dish.

It should be known that a small quantity of vinegar will generally destroy immediately an insect that may find its way into the stomach; and a little salad oil will kill an insect that may enter the ear.

TRACING paper may be made by immersing best drawing paper in a bath composed of turpentine and bleached beeswax. A piece of beeswax an inch in diameter dissolved in half a pint of turpentine is said to give good results. The paper should be allowed to dry for two or three days before it is used.

STRASBURY MOUTH-WASH.—Maggot's formula consists of:—Boracic acid, fifteen grains; thymol, eight grains; distilled water, one pint. This not only removes odor of breath, but lessens sensitiveness of the teeth.

THE WINTER PALACE

Years Expended in Completing This Abode of Russian Royalty.

The Winter Palace, although completed by the Empress Elizabeth, was not completed until Peter III. ascended the throne, and the square in front of it was still covered with the shops and huts of the workmen. Heaps of stone, bricks, and rubbish obstructed the approaches to the palace. In order to clear the place Baron Korff, who then filled the post of chief of police at St. Petersburg, proposed to the Emperor to give permission to the poor laborers to carry away these useless materials. The plan pleased the Emperor, and orders were immediately given to carry it out. The Emperor witnessed from his windows the operation, which was completed by the evening. The Emperor on installing himself in his new palace occupied the part looking on the square and the corner of the Millionnaia. This portion of the palace bore the name of the King of Prussia's apartment. The occupation of the palace was accompanied by no extraordinary ceremony. The rooms occupied by Peter had been decorated by the architect Tcheravsky, a pupil of Beethoven, and the flooring and gilded cornices were brought from Italy. Peter's bedroom was in the extreme wing and beside it was his library. Above the entrance door he caused a gallery to be constructed, which turned into his working cabinet and furnished as a sort of study. The Emperor's study the Empress Catherine occupied the room afterward known by the name of the Empress, Marie Feodorovna. The day the court occupied the Winter Palace (7th of April, 1792) was marked by the consecration of the interior of the palace under the name of the Resurrection. Later on, in 1793, on the occasion of an ancient image of Christ being removed to the church, it was consecrated by order of Catherine II. as that of the Saviour. The embellishment of the interior and the furnishing of the palace were continued under Peter, and only completed by Catherine. The total outlay up to the year 1798 was estimated at 2,022,000 rubles, or about $400,000. The principal director of the works in the interior was the celebrated architect, Jean Basky. In 1797 the annex or the annex of the palace destined to be the hermitage was commenced, the architect, Domenico, being intrusted with its execution. The building, which is a quadrangle, extended from the Millionnaia to the quay. Four years later a second building was erected on the plan of the architect Falcon. In 1800 several wings were added, and in 1804 a superb throne was placed in the former. This was the masterpiece of the architect Starov, St. Petersburg House of the Emperor.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES.

Frequent planting on fresh ground is the best preventive of rust in the strawberry.

Onion seed sown now and covered through the winter, will make nice bunch onions next spring.

A severe drought prevails in West Virginia, and the farmers are selling off their cattle, owing to inability to feed them.

The hay crop of New England has turned out better than was expected. Pastures and aftermath will improve under present copious showers.

If cabbage begin to crack their heads, lift them a little with a fork. To cause early and abundant ripening of tomatoes, lift them a little, as above.

There were exported from New York during the week ending August 1, 7,608 packages of butter and 69,007 of cheese, against 18,412 packages of butter and 18,578 of cheese during the corresponding week last season.

Boston is still the leading wool market of the country. The receipts of domestic wool in this market for the past seven weeks aggregate 178,880 bales, exceeding last year's total for the corresponding period by 10,454 bales.

It can be proved by experiments that a good growing crop keeps the soil in much better condition than when nothing is grown upon it, the practice of summer fallowing is likely to be less frequent in the future than in the past. Our great advantage in the proper summer fallowing is the killing of weeds.

Sulphur is a preventive of mildew in grapes if taken in time. The powdered sulphur may be sprinkled on the vines in wet weather, or the vines may be syringed with a solution of copper or sulphate of iron in water. This application during August or September is a good one for any tree liable to mildew.

One of the good effects of low prices for dairy products will be the turning off of many poor cows, never of any value for dairy purposes. Certainly no farmer will be compelled to keep poor cows at present prices of butter and cheese. These low prices will also enable him to buy the best cows at a lower figure for some time to come.

The leading articles of export in farm produce for the last week from Boston, were as follows: forty-two barrels apples, 4971 boxes of bacon, 180 pounds beef, 1444 packages of butter, 4700 boxes cheese, 116,801 bushels corn, 1750 barrels corn meal, 24,600 barrels flour, 20,072 bushels oats, 3280 boxes 300 tierces lard, 600 barrels tallow, 979 packages 84 packages tobacco, 561 bales cotton, 1688 head of cattle, 444 sheep and 478,655 pounds fresh beef.

Were farmers enabled to comprehend the number of horses that are actually worn out on the streets of our cities each year, they would not get the idea very soon that there is any danger of an overproduction of the class of horses that are suited for such work. It should be borne in mind also that the greater part of the horses used for city purposes are of the best classes, and that to supply this demand good stock must be bred.

The Kentish Observer, England, under date of July 22, gives disastrous news from the English hop plantations. Should the vermin continue to increase, the result may prove to be serious. No general disaster has taken place, East Kent seems to have been mostly smitten by the blight. Continental reports continue favorable on hops, though there is an attack of vermin in Belgium, which is not sufficiently important yet to affect the trade.

The practice of shoeing trotters and roadsters with tips instead of full shoes is growing in popular favor, and will undoubtedly come into general use in the near future during the summer months. The trotter Sam Hill, owned in Chicago, which has been badly mixed in his gait, with a tendency to pace, was lately shod with fourounce tips, and the following day made an easy mile in 2:24, going square from wire to wire, a feat which his owner says he never saw him accomplish before.

PORT HOPE.

ACCIDENT.—Our townsman, Mr. John Warrington, was out to Rice Lake on Thursday with an excursion party, and by the way while attempting to get from a row boat to the little steamer, he was squeezed between the boats and fell into the water, and but for the timely aid of Mr. Charles Nixon, the landlord of the Lakeview house, he would have been drowned. As it was he received internal injuries. Dr. Clemons was sent for, who thinks with care no fatal results will follow.

Alfonso XII, King of Spain.

Alfonso Francisco de Asensi de la Concepcion Gregorio, etc., is the eldest son of ex-Queen Isabella II, born Nov. 28, 1857. Few young men out of a Spanish king of 28 years would have so much turmoil crowded into their lives as his. While he was a child, Spain, under his mother's reign, rose to take rank among the great powers of Europe. Just as the internal progress of the country was making the most rapid strides, like a flash a great revolution broke out in 1868, which dethroned the queen, causing her to flee with her little family of five children across to France. In Paris and Vienna Alfonso's studies were prosecuted until 1874, when he entered a military academy in England. In 1870 his mother formally abdicated the throne in his favor. The republican form of government set up at Madrid under Prim, Serrano and others proved unsatisfactory to the people, so on December 28, 1874, Gen. Canovas proclaimed Alfonso King of Spain. The young king was just then in Paris, paying his mother a Christmas holiday visit. He immediately laid aside his school books and prepared to return to Spain. He arrived in Madrid on Jan. 14, 1875, and was most enthusiastically received. One year later he took command of the troops operating against the Carlists, and subdued the insurrection within a month. He was now involved with so much favor that his mother thought it safe to return to Spain, but in less than six months she left Paris in a point because her son was about to marry against her wishes—the old story. In 1878 Alfonso married his cousin, the Princess Alicia, but she died five months later. After seventeen months as a widower, he again married, this time Maria Christina, daughter of the late Archduke Charles Ferdinand, of Austria, by whom he has had two daughters. Some time ago the Queen packed up her trunks and started for her mother's home in Austria. He overtook her before she had crossed the border into France, and a reconciliation was effected.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

The Scotts Act.
Dr. Ford, Returning Officer, is engaged this afternoon in counting the vote cast on Thursday.

New Crossing.
A splendid new crossing has been laid down on the roadway at the corner of Simcoe and George streets. This crossing was badly needed, as the old one has been a bad state for some time.

Good Wood.
The wood that Mr. Oulcutt is bringing in at present is of the finest quality and cannot be beat for the money, 84 per cord delivered.

Turnbull is showing Black Flannel for Mantles, never goods than Scotland has in the right house to leave your order for a Mantle.

The Show Ground.
Presented a busy scene to-day. Hammers and saws were going in all directions and the officials were kept busy in trying to do the impossible and give every exhibitor just the very best place on the whole ground.

Visitors of the Exhibition. should pay a visit to the "Hub" Billiard Parlor (Fancher's old stand). The tables are the best in town, and the balls and cues are pronounced by lovers of the game to be A. L. Mr. Robert Kelly is always in attendance, and will make everyone comfortable who patronize the rooms.

Tally for the Boys.
On Saturday evening an individual opened up a new business on the market square. With a hot-iron coal stove, and a supply of sugar, etc. he produced a supply of taffy in short order and disposed of it to the curious crowd, who had gathered round him, at 5 cents a block.

Farm Stock Sale.
Mr. John P. Galvin, lot five, in the 10th concession of Kanimore, will on Tuesday, Oct. 14th dispose of all his farm stock, implements, household furniture and valuable farm. Mr. Cass, Stapleton will conduct the sale. This will be a good opportunity to buy farm stock, etc., at a bargain.

Ladies, if you want a Peterina Mantle made to order and a neat fit, leave your order at Turnbull's.

The Battery.
The right division of the Durham Field Battery arrived home from camp on Saturday evening, at 5.15. The men all enjoyed their camp very much, and had little or no sickness to speak of in their number. The battery took with them to camp the four guns from Port Hope. To-morrow and Wednesday the annual target practice and dismounting competition take place in Toronto, when more than half the team of this battery will go from Peterborough.

The Exhibition.
There is every indication of a successful exhibition this year in Peterborough. The number of entries is large, and they are still coming in. Everything is busy and bustling down at the grounds, and farmers are constantly running to and fro ascertaining information about stall room and other matters in connection with the exhibition. The weather is apparently going to be all that one could wish for, and, doubtless, everything will pass off pleasantly, and to the satisfaction of all.

McNeil keeps the largest and best assortment of Gent's Furnishings in Peterborough. Call and examine his stock before making your purchases.

A Split in Live Freight.
On Saturday evening there was a lively time and any amount of fun in the vicinity of Messrs. Paterson & Son's tannery. As a wagon full of men with men was proceeding on its way, and the occupants were cracking jokes and spinning funny yarns, the conversation and fun was nipped in the bud for the time being, by one of the wheels coming off and the scattering of the men on all sides. The usual amount of Billingsgate was indulged in, after which the party picked themselves up and took Shank's mare for it.

Don't fail to visit Hall, Innes & Co's, Millinery Opening, Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 29th and 30th.

The Irish Team.
A large photograph of the Irish team of Athletes is on exhibition in the window of Mr. Thon. Kelly's store.

Badger.
Spanish Wines, Portes and Sherries drawn from the wood, at the Parlor Restaurant of W. H. Chamberlain.

Evangelistic Services.
Evangelistic services will be conducted by the Rev. P. McF. McLeod, of Toronto, in the school room of St. Paul's Church on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, beginning at 8 o'clock. The public are cordially invited to attend.

Sowing Grain.
The grain buyers have settled down to work in earnest. No less than seven or eight of them have been in attendance at the market to-day, and every load of grain brought on the square is quickly bought up, and the farmer goes on his way rejoicing. The price paid is 82 cents for wheat and 63 cents for barley.

The famous La Rue Brothers, acrobats and fancy skaters, who are now on their return trip from eastern cities, will be at the Lansdowne roller rink on the evenings of the 29th, 30th and Oct. 1st. The "Boy Wonder," the champion boy skater and acrobat, will be at the same rink on the same evening.

Ladies, if you want a neat Ulster made to order from the latest patterns leave your order at Turnbull's.

Personal.
Messrs. J. E. Robertson and B. D. McTaggart, of Montreal, are registered at the Oriental Hotel. They take part in the P. A. A. sports in the Ashburnham grounds to-day.

The Hamley Bros., Port Hope's well known athletes, are here for the purpose of taking part in the sports.

Mr. J. Gordon Mowat, Secretary of the N. L. T. U., left town for Toronto on Saturday night.

Mr. J. Bates, the bandmaster of the Lindsay band, is in Peterborough at present. He plays with the city band on Saturday evening.

Building Notes.

The stores that are being put in shape in Cox's block, immediately under the Peterborough Business College, will be finished in about ten days. One of the stores will be occupied by Mr. James McCrae, who will start a fine drug store, and the other by Mr. Brishin, who is starting a flour and feed store.

The new terrace being erected by Mr. Geo. A. Cox on Hunter street is fast approaching completion. One of the houses is already occupied, and the others will be completed immediately.

Locks.

I am now receiving Door Locks made in Peterborough, and have no hesitation in saying that they are equal to the goods made by the best makers in the United States. As I intend to keep only these goods in stock in future, I am selling at reductions in prices of 20 to 30 per cent. all the American Locks, Knobs and Door Trimmings that I have on hand to make room for a full line of our home made goods. There are some very fine lines, especially in Mortise Locks, among them, and I would respectfully ask your inspection. Out Nails and Door Hangings are very low in price just now.

Handsome Monuments.

Mr. Thomas Moore has just placed in position a very handsome red granite monument 12 feet high. On the base in large letters the names of Sewers, Hague, Whyte and Crawford is cut. There are seven granite markers with a full inscription on each. The design, which is a very handsome one, is taken from an American pattern, and is the first monument with granite markers that has been put in the cemetery. Mr. Moore is also putting up a fine grey monument in the family lot of Mr. S. Dayell, of Otonabee. This monument, too, is one of splendid design. Mr. Moore is kept busy just now, having many orders ahead. He has two car loads of marble at the station awaiting removal.

Ladies who want a Mantle and have not time to leave their order will find an excellent stock of ready made to choose from at Turnbull's.

Notice of Visit.

I have the pleasure of announcing to the residents of Peterborough and vicinity that Mr. P. H. Morris, formerly of the firm of Lazarus & Morris, and now from the establishment of B. Lazarus, of Montreal, and London, England, will be at my store during the three days on which our Central Exhibition is held, viz., Tuesday and Wednesday, the 29th and 30th Sept., and on Thursday, the 1st of Oct., for the purpose of adjusting the B. Lazarus genuine pebble and other spectacles and eye-glasses for every requirement of the eye. He is especially qualified by his long experience and thorough knowledge of his profession, to give just such spectacles, &c., as are best suited in each case, however difficult, and afford relief where relief is possible. This, added to the acknowledged superiority of the B. Lazarus pebble spectacles and eye-glasses, assures to wearers and others reading aids to sight great advantages not otherwise attainable. Remember dates of visit to my store. JOHN McKIM, chemist and druggist.

Mothers, if you want Handy-made Suits for your boys, take them to Turnbull's; you will be surprised at the quality and style you will get at low prices.

POLICE COURT.

STRONG LANGUAGE.

MONDAY, Sept. 28.—Thomas Cahill (not the Councillor of that name) was charged by Constable Pidgeon with having used insulting and abusive language in a public place on Saturday. He pleaded aggravation, and after some discussion was allowed to go.

NEW MEMBERS.

The Peterborough Fire Brigade Band are continually adding to their numbers. They have now secured the services of a first-class clarinet player, and are negotiating for other players from a distance.

Turnbull's Dress Goods Department is now complete. Ladies who leave their dresses to be made are always pleased with the style and fit.

THE PROBABILITIES.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—North and east winds, generally fair weather, stationary or slightly lower temperatures.

Good coat makers wanted, apply to Andrew McNeil, Tailor and Gent's Furnisher, George street.

BIRD NOT ARRIVE.

Contrary to expectation, the Irish team of athletes who are at present making a tour of this country, did not arrive in Peterborough to-day, as arranged. They were to participate in the P. A. A. sports this afternoon in the Ashburnham grounds. As we go to press the sports are in progress, a full account of which will be given in to-morrow's issue.

SYSTEM.

AT THE LANSDOWNE RINK.

There was a very fair attendance at the Lansdowne Roller Rink on Saturday evening to witness the performance of Miss Jennie Werts, of Rochester, and Mr. Chas. McKinnay, of Rhode Island, on roller skates. Miss Werts, who gave an exhibition in Peterborough some time since, and who made a very favorable impression on the public, again charmed those who were in attendance with her performance, fully sustaining her reputation as one of the best skaters of the day. Mr. McKinnay is a very clever skater. Miss Werts and Mr. McKinnay skated together and they accomplished some very difficult movements with the greatest apparent ease. The City Band were in attendance, and allured the proceedings with music. The same attraction will be presented this evening, when the engagement here will close.

A BUNKER IN COUNTERFEIT MONEY.

BORROW, Sept. 26.—H. W. Norcross, an English Canadian, 38 years old, was arrested yesterday charged with the illegal use of the mails. He is said to be sending forth circulars offering to furnish to those who could hold their tongues "genuine banknotes" on a basis of $20 for $50, $5 for $10, and $15 for $30. He was apprehended while taking from the post office a dozen letters from people in Canada accepting his offers. One of the letters contained $10 in Canadian money.

THE PACIFIC SEAL FISHERIES.

VICTORIA, B.C., Sept. 25.—The seal fishery in the north has been unusually successful, many vessels having arrived here with a good catch. Most of the cargoes are destined for San Francisco. A few are landed here and subsequently shipped to England. The skins are not cured for the market here, and even from San Francisco they are sent to England for that purpose. The Jews enjoy almost a complete monopoly of the trade.

A BAD END.

HALIFAX, N.S., Sept. 26.—The death occurred this morning at the City Hospital, in the saddest manner, of a gentleman who has been among the most talented lawyers of the Province, James Foley. At the time of confederation and previously he was chief editor of the Halifax Chronicle, and the author of some of the most powerful anti-confederate articles which appeared in the Maritime press. As a contributor to magazines he was also well known. Subsequently an affection of the eyesight rendered him unable to prosecute steady work, though up till very recently he was still an occasional contributor to the Chronicle. His knowledge of men and things in Nova Scotia and Canada was unsurpassed. Through delicate loss of sight and personal troubles, he lately fell into a state of despair, and while in the hospital for troubles of the head, he this morning, under temporary aberration, severed his throat with a razor. He was about fifty years of age and unmarried.

A fine range of West of England Pasting good, just opened out at Andrew McNeil's, George street.

Lord Meigand to Resign.
OTTAWA, Sept. 28.—It is understood that Lord Meigand resigns his position of Military Secretary to Lord Lansdowne on the return of the gubernatorial party from the North-West.

Smallpox in Montreal.
MONTREAL, Sept. 27.—There were 23 deaths from smallpox yesterday. Four smallpox cases in the recorder's court yesterday were dismissed, owing to the suspension of the local by-law, under which action was taken by proclamation of the Lieutenant-Governor of Sept. 18.

Surrounded by Indians.
DENVER, Col., Sept. 26.—Cookrell's ranch in the Mogollon range, is surrounded by Indians. The settlers have taken refuge at the ranch and are prepared to resist an attack. Major Drake's company of the 2nd Infantry is within 18 miles of the ranch and no anxiety is felt for the safety of the adjacent settlements.

The Prices of Print Cloth.
FALL RIVER, Mass., Sept. 28.—Fall River manufacturers are considering the practicability of forming a combination to keep up prices of print cloth on the same principle as that by which the prices of coal and oil are maintained. The general opinion is that it cannot be made successful unless the co-operation of manufacturers outside of Fall River is secured.

Discovery of Coal Under a Town.
QU'APPELLA STATION, Sept. 27.—The people here are excited over the discovery of coal within the limits of the town, and they are hard at work showing samples and organizing a company.

SUSPECT OF AN OLD MAN.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 27.—An old man named Royal Clarke shot himself through the head to-day, dying instantly. He left a note to the undertaker giving directions for his burial, and explaining that old age, infirmities, and mismanagement of his private affairs had led to suicide. The note was dated August 10th. He had a son living in Barrie.

Free.

EVANVILLE, Sept. 26.—There were very heavy frosts in Warrick and Spencer counties last night, doing great damage to the tobacco crop. Advice from counties in southern Kentucky report great damage to tobacco.

BIG BEAR'S SENTENCE.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 27.—Big Bear was formally sentenced last night at Regina by Judge Richardson to three years in the penitentiary. Two-by-Two and others of Big Bear's band got two years. Red Eagle and four Sioux were sentenced to three years. Five Cree, who forcibly entered a house north of Broadview and stole a horse, coat, and several oxen from Mr. Wiseman, received three years.

JUMBO'S DEATH.

HARTFORD, Ct., Sept. 26.—A special from Bridgeport to the Sunday Globe gives an interview with one of Barnum's employees, who declares that Jumbo was led to the track at St. Thomas for the express purpose of being killed. Jumbo was suffering from an incurable pulmonary trouble and was becoming worthless, and it was feared that if the public learned this they would become indignant at Barnum for cruelly exhibiting the huge ape, who was almost unfit to walk at all, consequently he was to be killed for advertising purposes in the most tragic manner. An attempt had been made at Montreal, but it had miscarried.

effect that an Italian expedition is being fitted out for the purpose of seizing Tripoli, and has

A GRAND AFTERNOON'S SPORT AT THE ASHURN-

On Monday afternoon there was a splendid attendance of spectators to witness the games and sports of various kinds that were to come off in the grounds of the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association. It was a pleasing feature to notice the large number of the fair sex who were present, and who seemed to enter into the spirit of the sport with as much enthusiasm as the other sex. The afternoon was very warm, but in the excitement and general good feeling that seemingly filled everyone, the hot rays of old Sol were entirely forgotten. The First Brigade

Band were in attendance, and during the afternoon rendered some choice selections of music.

Dr. Geo. Burnham, Hon. R. Hamilton, and Mr. J. M. Irwin acted as judges, and Mr. R. B. Rogers filled the office of starter, while Mr. Hamly, of Port Hope, kept the time. The track was in fine condition,

thanks to the careful attention bestowed on it by Mr. Jas. Norley, who seems to thoroughly understand his business. The visitors were loud in their praise of the grounds generally,

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 29, 1885.

The arrival of the long evening again calls the attention of the public to the issue of a high protective tariff as it affects coal oil. — Brookville Recorder.

Will the Recorder please point out how the "high protective tariff," as it terms it, as framed by the present Dominion Government, makes coal oil dearer than it was during the time of the Mackenzie regime? How much higher is the duty on coal oil now than it was at that time?

TWO OPINIONS

The Reformer not only disapproves matters of policy, but they also sometimes disagree in their estimates of public men. The Globe thus refers to the Hon. J. S. Thompson, the new Minister of Justice.

"Mr. Thompson, who never held very high rank as a politician, even in his own Province, was quite out of public life."

This reference to Mr. Thompson is in keeping with its usual course of belittling and abusing everyone connected with the Conservative Administration, but the Ottawa Free Press entertains a different opinion of Mr. Thompson and gives expression to it in the following words:

"The last card in the shuffle is the appointment of Judge Thompson, of Antigonish, N.S., as Minister of Justice. Against Mr. Thompson personally there is not a word which can be said. He is a man of undoubted honor and probity, a first-class lawyer and will probably make a more competent Minister of Justice than his predecessor. He is an experienced politician, was the leader of the Conservative party in the Nova Scotia legislature."

There is a considerable difference in the opinions expressed in these extracts, as the Free Press pronounces Mr. Thompson "an experienced politician" and a "first-class lawyer." As the Free Press would not be likely to speak so favorably of an opponent unless it had strong reasons for doing so, its estimate of Mr. Thompson's ability and experience is more likely to be correct than that of the Globe.

The Ottawa organ can see nothing good in a Conservative, always ready to find faults from or evil motives in the acts of the Conservative Government, and even allows its party hatred to carry it so far as to cry down its own country because the people have chosen Conservative rulers.

THE NORTH WEST.

That there is a great deal of mineral wealth in the North-West region is shown by the history of the Silver Lake mine, out of which over four million dollars' worth of silver was taken before the bottom literally fell out of the concern. Some of the new mines at Rabbit Mountain and other points on Lake Superior may also turn out well, though just now they are in the speculative stage. Silver and gold are found at various places west of Port Arthur, notably on the Lake of the Woods; but the efforts of the prospectors to induce the world to come to its assistance in its business have not as yet met with success. Still further west, in the Rockies, silver and other valuable ores abound, but they are only to be extracted by means of quartz mills, which require the investment of more capital than the North-West can spare just now. In the Sasatchewan and other streams alluvial gold is found, but it is not yet profitable to mine the business by itself. It is probable that for the present, at least, the attention of capitalists up there will be confined to the production of coal, iron and petroleum. Lignite, as everybody knows, exists in large deposits throughout the region lying west of Moose Jaw. The coal grows harder the further west the miner goes, until at the foot hills it is almost as good as anthracite. A mine has been in operation for some time at Star, near Medicine Hat, a series of horizontal shafts having been run into the base of a large cliff overlooking the Saskatchewan. The other day the railroad built to the Galt mine on the Belly river was opened, the coal there being of a better quality than that at Star, though the longer haul into Winnipeg will, of course, reduce its value at the pit's mouth. The petroleum deposits are found chiefly in the region lying south of the Red Deer above Calgary. In the Athabasca district it comes from the soil and flows on the surface of the land in small streams. The Indians use it as a liniment for sprains and rheumatism, and boil it down into pitch for their boats. At the western extremity of Slave Lake the petroleum spreads itself over the surface of the lake. There is a spring of it in the lake which in winter keeps the water open, forming a large round hole in the ice. It has the ordinary smell of petroleum, is very liquid, and explodes when thrown upon a fire. Similar evidences are found throughout the Athabasca-Mackenzie valley all the way from the Clearwater to the Ramparts, a distance of no less than a thousand miles in a straight line. Some day these vast stores of petroleum will doubtless be used in something the iron ore which abounds on Lakes Winnipeg and Manitoba. In Sweden a process has been discovered for smelting with lignite, but petroleum is destined to be the fuel of the future, and with it and iron lying side by side the North-West has a source of wealth which, if it can out of the geologists' hands, is bound to make her a great country. — Toronto Mail.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

THE GLOBE'S ALLY.

It is this base imitation which the Globe has been trying to impose upon the people of Canada for years, and the same unblinking organ now commends to its readers the views of a logical free trader, who holds that all taxes should be swept away, not merely tariff taxes, but all taxes, direct and indirect, save taxes upon land. The land holding friends of the Globe will find some difficulty in accepting this new gospel of free trade. — Toronto World (Indep. Ref.).

THE N. P.

Not one Grit newspaper in Canada has printed the information that a new rolling mill, fostered by the National Policy, has been started in Hamilton. If it had been started in Toronto, the Globe would have mentioned the fact, its loyalty to the city that supports it not being quite wiped out by its desire to serve its party. A party that is obliged to live upon the suspension of important facts is a pitiful party. — Mitchell Advocate.

THE SCHOOL FOR STATESMEN.

The ablest men in the Government of the Dominion of Canada were formerly journalists. Indeed, a majority of Sir John Macdonald's cabinet were at one time engaged on the press "moulding public opinion." They have since accustomed to hard and arduous work from youth up and thus are quite at home in the chief seat of an executive department. — Chicago Canadian-American.

DEFINITION OF A CRANK.

The crank of everyday affairs is usually the man who does not know that he is a fool and merely suspects that he is a genius. — Louisville Commercial.

A BIG JOB.

The London Advertiser approvingly quotes from the Detroit Free Press a description of the "Canadian Pacific Railway as a good-sized job." Yes, it is a pretty big "job," but not in the sense that the Detroit and London papers use the word. It is a job that would have been too big for any five millions of people less enterprising and energetic than the people of Canada. It is a job that was undertaken and carried out in spite of the opposition of United States jealousy and Canadian obstruction. It is a job emblematic to the territorial integrity and commercial expansion of Canada, and necessary to the settlement of her waste places. It is a job of such a character that the people of Dakota and Montana are seeking connection with it, in order to get relief from the straits of their own railways. There may have been some jobbery about this job, but not one tithe of the jobbery that has accompanied the construction of every line in the country for which the Detroit Free Press speaks. — Toronto World (Indep. Ref.).

CANADIAN GRAND OLD MAN.

Mr. Carling will do well in the Department of Agriculture, and will find more at home in it than amid the thousand and one petty bickerings of the office he now holds. Mr. White will, we think, prove his special adaptability to the work of the interior. Sir A. Caron has already eminently proved himself the right man in the right place. All things considered, Sir John has now, we think, furnished himself with a thoroughly good outfit of fitting men; and the old war horse must breathe more freely than he has done for many a day. The target for every shaft of slander or misrepresentation that the U. O. M. of Canada enters upon the eighth decade of his existence as fresh as paint, and seemingly as careless as ever of what his enemies may say of him. — Toronto World (Indep. Ref.).

WILFUL SLANDER.

The Free Press has in effect apologized to Sir Adolphe Caron for the charges it has made against him; it has made no effort to prove the accusations which it has made against his department. A commission is now sitting, before which our ill-balanced, if not dishonest, neighbour, could, if it were able, make good its charges, but it makes no effort to do so. It prefers to indulge in vague statements and unsupported insinuations. But that line of business is played out. The Free Press must either "put up or shut up." In other words, it must either establish its charges or stand convicted of wilful slander. — The Men of the Week.

IT HAS NO WEIGHT.

The Globe's criticisms of the doings of Sir John are amusing in the ineptitude displayed in finding grounds for attack, no matter what the government does. The appointment of Judge Thompson, once again, is no matter of moment, and showing his superior contempt for them by looking among the judges for a capable man. If Sir John had selected a man at present in the House, of course the Globe would have bellowed over with indignation over the fact that the subsequent tool of Toryism had received the reward for betraying his country. It is no wonder that the opinions of the Globe carry so much weight with the people, even when they are rightly founded. A newspaper which blind-goes its opponents indiscriminately whether their acts are good, bad or indifferent, soon destroys its influence. — Frontier News (Indep.).

THE MOUNDS IN HAMPSHIRE.

Rev. Prof. Bryon, of Winnipeg, has been interviewed regarding the explorations at the mound at St. Andrews. "You spoke of a remarkable object found on Saturday? Yes, it is a curious convoluted instrument of inches long, as heavy as a piece of iron. It is not a trident, as you are trying to make it out. It is a lancehead, a lancehead of iron. It has a laminated structure, and has been covered at one time by a narrow coating like mother-of-pearl. It is not a common lancehead, and it is out to be a lancehead. If this be so, it is a plain proof that these mound builders came from the Gulf of Mexico, or from California, where in a warm climate such bones are found on the sea shore. I have found in the other mounds small shells, Marginella, showing the same thing. But the most interesting thing on this implement, which seems to have been used as a dagger for fighting, or as we do tridents, is that carved out on the narrow part of it is the outline of a human face. Half a dozen others have looked with me at it, and all agree that the outline is complete. You are aware that, on the basis of this kind of the best source of obtaining the appearance of race. Now this is a surprise, like the Tuleton face found in works of ethnology, with which we have been identifying the mound-builders. This is another proof of the Mexican origin of the strange race that probably eight or ten centuries ago pushed its way up the Mississippi and settled our fertile lands."

The Latest Whiskey Game.

A stranger entered a city hotel Wednesday, put a pint bottle on the bar and asked for a pint of "best whiskey." The landlord filled the bottle and charged the stranger 25 cents. This he refused to pay and finally left the bottle also behind him. Pouring the liquor out the bottle was thrown out and branding revealed a sponge well soaked with the liquor. The man's name was evidently to refuse to pay for the whiskey and have the bottle returned to him with "what the sponge would retain; but he was beaten at his own game." — Woodstock Express.

FORESTAY—LETTER FROM THE READER.

Sir,—There is a quiet change about these New England villages, here sitting among, there spreading boldly over, the rolling woods which border this Atlantic coast. Wooden houses, large and small, in endless variety dot hill and dale, interspersed with many an orchard, many a waving grove of pine and oak, many a pleasant road and winding lane, and not a muddy one among them, the sandy sea coast soil is all too dry for that; the rain may fall for three days and then, three hours' sunshine, you may walk where you will dry shod.

There is an air of wealth here, though not of magnificence. There are few farms—great stretches of common or grove include many houses; others, in closer companionship, yet always retain generous garden or paddock space around. But of the industries which maintain them or accumulated the fund which now supports them, very few exist here. Sea captains, retired or active, own many a rich city dweller have erected here many a pleasant residence; here the town-sick summer boarder finds healthy and not expensive retreats; the student may read, row, fish or idle as he lists; and, in fact, of a summer day a vast and busy population are at work doing nothing in boats, on hills, on beaches, or anywhere they fancy.

The small village of Woodshill proper is a picture Western localities never exhibit. Its brightly painted wooden houses, many, oddly enough, covered with shingles instead of siding to their strong stone foundations to their eaves; its rolling surface of greenward, where at every declivity, the wayfarer is aided by steps of massive and time worn granite that the pilgrims might have laid; its great fresh-water ponds for lox, (a contrast to our Toronto mud-bounded reservoirs), faced by a wall of heavy stone; the embanking branches of linden and elm trees overhead on all the roads, sleepily waving in the afternoon breeze; the quietness of all round, as if the sun rose and set ever on placidity alone, and all the interrupted the unvarying stillness was the plash and agitation of the bright sea-waves which roll up into the harbour, gay with pleasure boats, and glitter far away across the sound, through which schooner and steamer, plying between Boston and New York, continually pass, their sails white against the distant sea.

Here, by the way, busy, yet quite as all the rest, but the shore is the establishment provided by the American Government for hatching the spawn of the codfish, and thence re-populating their fast-depleting fisheries. Two large buildings, with immense stone vats for the curing, while spawning, are provided, and employ a diligent staff of professors and assistants. Further on, on the common, is a factory where a valuable manure is made by mingling South Carolina phosphate with the waste of the hatching, from which fish oil has been pressed.

All this country round was occupied long ago by the earliest settlers—the men of the Mayflower period. This is the "Old Colony" of Massachusetts. This rolling land was once so rich, was heavily forested, was cleared, cropped, and re-cropped till its fertility was gone. Long lines of ruinous stone fences, centuries old, recall the period when the soil was worth such careful division. Much of it had long lain idle and barren, the home of a few wandering sheep, in great ranges of wind-swept hills and broad, with its sheltered places, some scanty growth of oak and poplar. Just here was peculiarly barren. Twenty-five years since one gentleman, Mr. Fay, began to plant trees largely, and still more largely to sow their seed broadcast. The waste ground of the commons and groves sprang up in all directions. There are now more than ten thousand acres of pine plantations sown or planted in this vicinity alone, many of them containing trees forty feet in height.

This planting has greatly sheltered and improved the country, and re-settlement—the influx of the class of residents before mentioned, followed fast on the growth of the trees. In one place I was shown what conclusively proved the case of free planting on hills, to hold moisture. "This twenty acres," said one resident, "which, as you see, is high land, now grows pine trees, every spring poured down such dews as filled the gulches around. Now that I have had it for years in groves of pines, the moisture is held in the land, and there are no torrents in spring whatever. The ground is now so fertile, and the soil is so rich, that the result of planting in this district is, in fact, that while here twenty years ago was little but a succession of bleak and barren hills, here is now a rich scenery as my first paragraph described. Now are the plantations of small extent. One gentleman showed me eighty, another one hundred and twenty acres, in one block each, planted by themselves, of rich pine plantations, the trees being between thirty and forty feet in height.

What I want to give my readers an idea of is the ways in which this result was secured. Either the soil was sown broadcast on the rough pasture field, or it was sown in the plough furrows run across the field five feet apart, and covered half an inch, or the small pines were taken less than a foot in height and planted with the space five feet apart each way. These methods have each met with excellent success. The land is a light and rather barren sandy loam, much of the same kind as our poorest Ontario soils. As to the kinds used, they are the Scotch, American, German, and our own native white and red pines. Planting and sowing are each done in early spring.

There is no reason why these methods should not succeed throughout Ontario. Whoever wants a good plantation along the north or west of his lot, or here anywhere in a gully, in field, or hillside—land which gives little return, could not do better than now it with pine seed. It is easily obtained, easily sown, and in a few years the annual thinnings will give all the pine fuel he can use, and stores for many building purposes besides, while as shelter the trees will be invaluable. Words can hardly tell the difference in climate obtainable by a thick pine wood along the north and west of a farm. Of course, if the planter be disposed to purchase young seedlings (which can be had at less than a cent apiece), he may save some year. But many rough places could be much more easily sown than planted.

CENTRAL EXHIBITION!

AN AUSPICIOUS OPENING OF THE INAUGURAL FAIR.

Favored with Royal Weather—A Large Number of Entries—A Fine Exhibition of Live Stock—A Day of Preparation.
On this (Tuesday) morning the sun shone forth with resplendent glory, dispelling the haze and giving the landscape with a rich flood of golden light. It was an auspicious event, happening, as it did, on the morning of the opening day of what is confidently expected to be the first of a long series of central exhibitions held under the auspices of the West Riding Agricultural Society.

The first day of the inaugural exhibition held on the commodious new grounds in the south part of the town, was chiefly spent in making all sorts of preparations. The roads and streets leading to the grounds were strewn along with loads of exhibits of various kinds, from the tender and reaper to the ponderous fat swine and sheep. In the grounds the preparations were being vigorously carried on. Numerous booths had been erected and occupied were busily engaged in putting everything in order. Three large tents, made by the National Manufacturing Company, of Ottawa, were set apart for the horticultural and vegetable, the grain and roots, and the dairy and dairy exhibits respectively. By noon these were filled with a highly ornate show of the different classes of these exhibits. The long extent of stalls were in the afternoon nearly all filled with swine, cattle, sheep and horses, of a superior class. A granary supplied by Mr. J. W. Flavell furnished those exhibitors who had omitted to bring fodder with the necessary grain for the animals, while the pumps supplied by Mr. Forsyth brought up the clear, sparkling water from the wells. During the bustle and hurry in arranging everything, and while the exhibitors were making the best of the respective positions of their animals, the strains from the Bell and Kane organs from the stand provided over by the agents of the companies here, Mr. D. Smart. The judges commenced their work on the grain, produce, and all indoor exhibits at two o'clock. To-morrow is looked forward to as a big day.

MILLINERY AND MANTLES.

Meases, Hall, Innes & Co's. Formal Fall Opening.

Meases, Hall, Innes & Co. inaugurated the fall millinery opening to-day. Their stock is, as usual, complete in every particular. The show room, which is situated on the second floor, is decorated with the latest designs in millinery, mantles, and trimmings in a manner which, to the eye of the connoisseur, exhibits the delicacy of arrangement and good taste of the artists in charge. There is nothing in the display that would suggest "loudness," but, on the contrary, there is everything to suggest quiet modesty combined with the substantial and stylish.

The colors in vogue for this season partake of the sombre. Browns, in gold, olive, mordore and other shades, tans, auburn, cream and mosses green are the leading shades. The four last named and mordore brown, are the newest and most fashionable shades. Brown is a color much worn and white and black will also take prominent places. The trimmings most used are tricotine (a pretty kind of ornament of the gauze tassel), gold and tinsel bird wings, silk Jersey cloth velvet and ribbons. The silk pampas have fallen into disuse and velvet pampas have come to take their place. Alpacas in all colors still hold creditable places in the fashion world.

This firm show an excellent line of mantles and dolmans. The Jersey cloth articles are much in demand, while the Newmarket coats are just as fashionable as ever. The short dolmans, trimmed with fur and fringed with opossum tails, are very neat and attractive. Russian circulars and fur capes are kept in a good assortment. Fur, chamois and feathers are the leading mantle trimmings.

Hats and bonnets occupy the most prominent place in the display, and it may be said with justice that they are well entitled to it. Several tables are covered with trimmed shapes of the latest designs. The horse shoe bonnet, designed by an artist and by the company, is a very pretty little article of apparel. The covering is black velvet. On the crown the form of a horse shoe is executed in triangular outline de luxe prima, while the frontage ornaments are composed of birds and ottoman corded ribbons. The Tam O'Shanter are now out for the use of the ladies. They look somewhat novel in the new form. Children's plush bonnets and woolen hoods have received ample attention, as evidenced by the large and varied stock shown.

The Vera, a French seal brown shape, trimmed with velvet ribbon, and ornamented at the front by a tinselled wing, is pretty and stylish. The Montague is also attractive among the attractive. It is a golden brown felt, trimmed with two shades of golden brown pearl edged ribbon and Lyons' velvet.

Other goods essential to a first class millinery display are in stock, including lace and woolen goods and numerous other complements.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1885.

OBITUARY.

It is with deep sorrow that we chronicle the death of Mrs. Tokar, the wife of Mr. Edward J. Tokar, managing Director of the Review Printing and Publishing Company, which occurred on Monday evening. After a brief but severe illness of one week, caused by inflammation of the lungs, she succumbed to the disease. Mrs. Tokar was a daughter of Mr. W. A. Kellogg, and was only twenty-nine years of age. By her death five children are left without a mother, the youngest being but about two years old. We feel sure that Mr. Tokar and the family will have the sincere sympathy of community in their affliction.

YACHTING.

CONSIDERABLE interest has been felt in Canada in the race in which the yacht Genesta took part. Even in parts of the country where yachting is not a local amusement the success of the English yacht has been applauded and her defeat in the race for the America cup deplored.

The Genesta, although defeated in what might be considered the chief race, has won other races, and although she did not win back for England the trophy which it was hoped she would capture, she will carry home valuable mementos of her tour—the Douglas Cup, the James Gordon Bennett Cup and the Cape May Cup. It seems evident that had the American's relied upon their fleet of pleasure yachts to retain the America Cup, the Genesta would have won it also. It is not certain that the Genesta is the fastest English yacht, but she is one of a group of fast sailers, and it is very probable that, could the matter be tested, it would be found that the average speed of the English yachts is greater than that of the American boats of the same kind. The Puritan, the victor in the race for the America Cup, was sold after the race for about 50 per cent. of her cost, and it is therefore not probable that more vessels of a similar build will be constructed.

Mr. J. D. EDGAR is not obtaining much success in his subscription list to provide funds for legal fees for himself or such as he. This time he may fail in making his political a paying speculation for himself at other people's expense. From the Globe, however, we learn that many Reformers, with a better appreciation of what is required by the party, are sending in their subscriptions to an anonymous fund, the evil purpose of which is betrayed by their dread of their names being known, a repetition in short of the "Pig Push" and such Reform funds.

Applicants for positions as Revising Officers should be careful to note the certificate of character about their delinquency. —Toronto Globe.

JAMES SINGLTON, of Hamilton, has been appointed a Revising Officer. He was appointed judge by the Mackenzie Government. Would the Globe consider that a certificate of character?

THE London Advertiser has a heading "Capital of Wind" over one of its columns. It is not over the editorial columns, as some might suppose it should be.

A Bride's Dowry. Four years ago Ida May Holmes was Miss Whitney, daughter of C. J. Whitney, the well-known theatrical manager and Opera House owner. She married William H. Holmes, a young Canadian from Hamilton. Mr. Holmes was not rich, but Mr. Whitney did not object. He promised a dowry of $50,000 to the bride. The wedding took place in the winter of the same year amid great rejoicing. After a tour in Canada the happy couple went to Chicago. There the groom undertook the management of a music store, a branch of the Detroit Organ Company. At different times Mr. Holmes has imported Mr. Whitney, but so far the dowry has not been paid. It has been reported for some time that the Holmes family were in very poor circumstances. Six weeks ago they left Detroit, where they had been living for some time. This afternoon, failing to make any arrangement, the disappointed husband brought suit in the Superior Court against Mr. Whitney for $50,000 damages. —Chicago Tribune.

A Defective Language. "Harry Ray," a correspondent of the Irish Canadian, tells a good story of One Arrow, one of the Indians lately on trial at Regina. "In the case of One Arrow," he says, "the interpreter was a French half-breed named Morin, who had only an imperfect acquaintance with the English language. There is no word in the Cree language to represent the word crown, even in its literal sense, and Morin translated it as 'the Great Mother's war bonnet with feathers in it,' and went on to state that he and certain other bad men with clubs and guns and knives were trying to look this bonnet off as a translation of the indictment. The poor Indian pleaded to this, and after all was over asked Father Andre who was the bad man who tried to so abuse his Majesty and whether the fellow was drunk. When the good father told him that he was the person charged he uttered an angry whoop, said the whole thing was a lie, that he never saw the Great Mother, never heard she was in the country, and could not, therefore, have done this."

The Tailed Man of Paraguay. If the Rumpo de Medico de Caracas, a journal unconnected by the Lancet, may be believed, the seeming impossibility of a tailed man need no longer prove a stumbling block to the faith of would be evolutionists. In the last issue to head of this print the following paragraph occurs:—"There has just been an interesting discovery in Paraguay of a tribe of Indians furnished with tails. One day a number of workmen belonging to Tacara Yava were engaged in cutting grass, when their mules were attacked by Guanyacana Indians, and some of them killed. The workmen pursued them, and succeeded in capturing a little boy of eight years of years. He was taken to San Francisco Golecho at Posadas, and it was then discovered that he had a tail 10 inches long. The boy says that he has a brother who has a tail as long as his own, and that all the tribe have tails. There are clearly no half measures about the tails, and if boys of eight have them 10 inches long there is no saying what may be the length of the tail of a full grown man. It would have added to the interest of this information if we had been further told how the tails were worn—whether proudly aloft like that of a colley, or in the downcast manner of a cow.—Full Mail Gazette.

A PARKDALE MYSTERY.

A Young Girl Suddenly Disappears—Suspicion of Kidnapping.

Eleven years ago Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McMath, of Parkdale, adopted a little three-year-old English orphan girl and took her to their home. They brought her up as their own child, lavishing on her the greatest care and affection. Their efforts were amply repaid and she grew up, clever at school, bright, affectionate, and obedient, with a contented and happy disposition. Though exceedingly sensitive she was not at all nervous. A week ago Saturday, in the afternoon, Louise, as she was called, returned with her mother and aunt from the depot, where they had been seeing some friends off on the train. As they entered the lawn in front of their house they found a cow belonging to their next neighbor rushing blindly around in a fit and moaning piteously. Louise did not appear at all nervous or excited and did not say much, but she watched the animal till at last death relieved it of its agony. She appeared silent and thoughtful, and went to bed apparently unmoved by what she had seen. Late that night the cow was buried in Mr. McMath's garden, as the neighbor who brought it had no suitable place for it. At the breakfast table the subject of the cow's burial was accidentally mentioned, when to the surprise of all Louise became very much excited, and asked what right the neighbors had to bury the cow there, and said that she could not live in a house where they had a cow buried in the yard. She said she would go and see the landlord, and see if he would not take the cow away. She asked Mr. McMath for the address of Mr. West, the landlord, and Mr. McMath replied that he thought it was No. 173, Adelaide street, little thinking at the time how much importance was attached to his answer. In the evening, after returning from church, her mother advised her to go to bed early, as she had to get up early on Monday morning for her usual lesson. She left the room quietly, as usual, and it was thought she had retired. Mrs. McMath's sister went upstairs five minutes afterwards, and discovered that the girl was not there.

She was not there. About 9 o'clock they became uneasy. Mrs. McMath thought that she had gone into the yard, and that the recollection of the cow had caused her to faint. A thorough search of the premises, however, revealed nothing. Mr. McMath then went out and searched Parkdale thoroughly, walking the streets till after one o'clock, but he could see nor hear nothing of her.

While making enquiries on the following day Mrs. McMath was informed by a neighbor that Louise had been making complaint to him about the cow being buried in the yard, and she had told him she would go and stay in the city till the cow had been removed. They immediately visited all their friends in the city and made enquiries in every possible direction, but found that she had not been to any of their houses. They could not get any clue even as to the direction she had taken.

The girl being a particularly sensitive child they did not wish to make the matter public while there was any hope that she might be found any other way. Consequently nothing was done publicly, though every thing that could be thought of in the way of private search and enquiry was eagerly resorted to, but all without any avail. They wrote to their friends in different parts of the country in case she had left the city, but received no information of her.

On Friday last Mrs. Howard, of Harkhill, told Mrs. McMath that on Sunday evening about nine o'clock she had seen Louise going eastward on Queen street, opposite the Railway Yarns. Mrs. Howard thought it strange to see the child out alone at that hour, but surmised that probably her parents had been at church in the city, and she was going to meet them. She thought no more of it until she heard the child was missing. This was the first clue the parents had as to the direction she had taken.

Then the significance of what she had said at the dinner table when she asked the address of the landlord flashed across the mind of Mr. McMath and he remembered that he had given her the address as No. 173 Adelaide street west.

He hurriedly called a directory and turned over the leaves with trembling fingers. His worst fears were realized. There was no such number. From No. 161 to No. 185 there was only the Upper Canada College grounds. Here then was a partial solution of the mystery. The poor child had started to go to the landlord's. She had not been able to find No. 173, and in her bewilderment and helplessness some evil-disposed persons had kidnapped her. Mr. West's number was 239, but he had moved to the Hamlet for the summer. —Globe.

OLD COLORED PEOPLE.

A Woman Dies at 115 Years—A Negro Slave Child.

A correspondent of the New York Herald writes that the funeral of Mrs. Sarah Jenifer, a colored woman, took place at Washington, D. C., yesterday afternoon. The official certificate given in the case by the physician who attended her stated that she was 115 years of age. She was born in Prince George's county, Md., and was originally a slave, but was given her freedom about 35 years ago. There seems to be no doubt but that she was as old as her physician states. She has resided in this city for a long time, and was known by many of the old inhabitants.

There is a colored man living here who is even older than Mrs. Jenifer. He intended to attend the funeral to-day; but was unable to do so in consequence of an attack of rheumatism. The man in question is named Shadrock Nugent. He resides on M street near Twenty-first street, and has lived in the same house nearly 50 years. Ten years ago, Gen. E. W. Whitaker of the city made a careful investigation into the age of Shadrock Nugent and found that his claim to be 115 years old was correct. He is now, therefore, 125 years of age.

Nugent has been for many years regarded as the best weather prophet we have here. He has always given careful attention to the changes in the weather. He is seldom sick. His eyesight is as good as ever, and for ten years he has not carried a cane until recently, since he has been suffering with rheumatism. He has seen every president that has been in the White House but President Cleveland, though he says as soon as he gets strong enough he will call on him. He says he feels his strength has been failing during the past few years and does not expect to live much longer.

True Friendship. A New York policeman had a chum who was a pickpocket. One day the policeman noticed his chum picking the pocket of a stranger on the bowery.

"Look here, Bill," said the man in blue, "some of these days a policeman will see you working that game and then you will be looked up. Be careful, old boy." —Texas Siftings.

THE METROPOLITAN GROCERY AND PROVISION WAREHOUSE

T. W. ROBINSON, Manager.

Mr. W. A. Ducker, superintendent of the U. P. R. experimental farms, has been in town for a few days past. He has just completed the work on the farms, and is now busy preparing his report, which will be published in the course of a few days. He states that the success of the farms this year has been quite as pronounced as last year, thus placing beyond doubt the thorough adaptability of the land and climate for agricultural purposes. Experiments were made this year at nine points on the line of railway west of Moosejaw, viz., Rush Lake, Swift Current, Maple Creek, Fortis, Dumont, Stair, Tulley and Glendon. All these farms were rented except that at Rush Lake. Wheat, oats, barley and peas were grown on all of them. Seeding began on the 26th of March, about a week earlier than last year, and consequently the grain ripened about that much earlier, all of it being harvested before the end of August. The season generally has been rather dryer than usual, and where they have been favored with more rain the greatest yield has been secured. The general crop was best at Glendon, where Mr. N. F. Williams is in charge. At this point a very fine sample of Red Fife, No. 1, hard was threshed out with a showing of 35 to 35 bushels to the acre. East of Glendon the dry weather caused a shortness in the straw, but the yield would easily go from 20 to 30 bushels over all the farms, the grain being all of good quality. Barley will yield 30 to 30 bushels, and oats 25 to 30 bushels to the acre over all the farms with even a higher average at Glendon. The crop was poorest at Tulley, where the somewhat heavier soil required more rain than elsewhere. Peas did not turn out as well as they should, the reason Mr. Ducker gives being that the seed was not very well covered and sown rather thickly. The luxuriance of the vines and pods, however, showed that peas could easily be made a most prolific crop. There was no loss from frost, except to some of the tender vegetables, such as celeriac, melons, cucumbers, etc. Potatoes are a splendid crop, and should average 200 bushels to the acre of uniformly large and well-shaped tubers. New potatoes were dug in the early part of July. The growth of cabbages and cauliflower in some places. The C.P.R. exhibition car, Mr. Ducker says, will start east about the 10th of next month, samples to be sent to Mr. McTavish, of Winnipeg. —Calgary Tribune.

RARE AUTOGRAPHS

English Monarchs who could only make their mark.

The signature of Richard II., who reigned in the latter part of the fourteenth century, is the earliest autograph of an English king extant. Most of the others simply made their mark. Richard Coeur de Lion, though he made verses, could not set them down in writing.

On the 15th of June, 1215, John Plantagenet, successor of Richard Coeur de Lion, being sorely beset by his barons at a place still called Runnymede, granted and executed the document known as Magna Charta, which was the basis of English liberties. This document, though purporting to be given under the hand and seal of King John, was merely sealed and delivered by him as the seal of a deed. The reason why it was not signed is that King John could not write his name. Magna Charta has been preserved, and is to be seen at the British Museum. Its preservation was in this wise:—An antiquarian, who had business with a tailor in London, went into his shop at the moment when he was about cutting up a large sheet of parchment into measure of his trade. Seeing that the writing was antique, he gave a small sum for it, and on examination found it was one of the duplicates of Magna Charta.

William the Conqueror used a cross as his mark, instead of a signature. One of his sons, who could read and write, had the title been clear, to denote what a good clerk he was.

The signature of Richard II. is the only royal signature down to that of Henry VI., in the middle of the fifteenth century, are very rude. Henry VI. wrote an exceedingly clear, bold and good hand. The letters are upright and well formed, partly in the style of the what is well known as the old English style.

Edward IV. merely signed "R. E." (the initial letters of Rex Edwardus), which are hieroglyphics not at all understood in the present day.

Richard III., the felon hero of one of Shakespeare's best known plays, was an educated man, an encourager of letters and a patron of the then new art of printing which William Caxton had introduced into England. Richard's signature is well out and very legible.

Henry VIII., the Richmond of Shakespeare's play, merely signed the initials H. R., which were both done in a dashing style, without taking the pen off. At that time, some four centuries ago, very few could read or write. Some of the nobles gave large sums of instruction in this accomplishment, and professional scribes who could give that instruction were made much of. Many of them were churchmen or monks, to whom, as scholars, the greatest respect was paid, even by royalty itself.

Each scribe had his own peculiar and uniform style of writing, which the pupils were all taught to imitate, so that no difference could be detected on a manuscript that had taken two or three hands to complete. Queen Elizabeth's signature was embellished or garnished, by two great and complex flourishes over the top and three underneath. Catherine of Aragon, Anne Boleyn (Elizabeth's mother), Mary I., Mary of Scotland, Mary II. (wife of William III.) and Anne wrote very legibly. The signature of Victoria is graceful, even beautiful. Nearly all the royal families of England since the reign of George I. in 1714, have written very legibly.

MISTAKEN IDENTITY.

New Bachelor Narrowly Escaped Punishment for Bigamy.

LONDON, Sept. 28.—The law books are full of cases of mistaken identity, but few instances are more curious than one that has just been terminated. Last spring Miss Dash, while spending a few weeks at Brighton, met Captain James Macdonald, who said he was employed in the New Zealand shipping trade. It was a case of mutual admiration, a proposal, a short engagement and a marriage. The honeymoon was happy and brief, and the gallant captain suddenly disappeared. Three months of disconsolate sorrow elapsed, when one bright morning a friend of the once happy bride recognized in a butcher's smock in the Brighton market the whilom gallant captain. Mrs. Macdonald was informed of this. She visited the market place and recognized her transient husband, but the butcher refused to be identified, and declared that his name was James Malcolm, and though he happened to have been in Brighton at the time of the marriage, he asserted that he was not guilty of marrying Miss Dash, as he had already a wife and children of his own. A lawsuit was commenced. The minister who performed the ceremony, the vergor and the clerk who attested identified the butcher as Captain Macdonald, and Miss Dash was quite sure she was her husband, and pointed out a nose and a missing tooth as special marks of identification. The defendant produced his employer, his market friends, his sister, and several others, to establish the fact that he was not the husband of the plaintiff. Miss Dash, and to this evidence he added that of the landlady of a Brighton hotel, who stated that she knew Captain Macdonald and butcher Malcolm, that they had both been at her hotel at the same time, and that they were separate and distinct individuals. In the face of this evidence the jury disagreed and Mrs. Malcolm is happy and Miss Dash is proportionately disconsolate. It is clearly a remarkable case of mistaken identity, as there is no reason to doubt the good faith of the witnesses on either side.

Tornado Investigations.

A Washington special despatch says:—Officers of the signal corps are investigating the causes of the recent series of tornadoes in Ohio, one of which swept away the town of Washington court house. The have an idea that meteorologists have long entertained wrong ideas on the subject of storms, and among other things the theory advanced by Prof. Ferrel, which has been recognized as the true one, is all wrong. This theory is that the cooling of the atmosphere at a great height causes it to condense and create a vacuum; the air of the lower strata of the atmosphere rushing upward to fill the vacuum, agitates the air near the earth's surface, and brings about the tornado. It is believed that balloons will be necessary to follow up the contemplated investigations. Captive balloons will be employed. The great velocity of the wind sometimes felt at the top of Mount Washington is thought to be due to the fact that the current up the side of the mountain is added to that of the horizontal currents, and an increased momentum is imparted. Should a balloon be anchored to the mountain and allowed to drift away a few thousand feet to where the influence of the earth in the peak would not be felt, opportunity for the testing of Professor Ferrel's theory might be offered. Balloons could be anchored at great heights in various parts of the country, and then a comparison of the data acquired would reveal important results.

Faring Friends.

"Good-bye, my dear friend, I am going to leave you. I am going to Mexico, and I will probably never come back," said an American youth to his friend.

"Will I never see you again?"

"Never."

"I say, do me one last favor. Lend me $35 dollars."

"Oh, yes, don't let me do anything to increase the pain of our parting."—Times & Herald.

TOMB OF THE VANDERBILTS

Visit of the Millionaire to the Hermitian Cemetery at New York, N. Y.

Mr. William H. Vanderbilt, his youngest son, George, and his son-in-law, Mr. H. McK. Trembley, yesterday visited the old Vanderbilt farm in New York, N. Y., and the Hermitian Cemetery, where he viewed the work upon the mausoleum that is in course of construction there. Mr. Furness, the partner of Richard M. Hunt, the architect of the mausoleum, and Mr. Ostrander, the superintendent of the Hermitian Cemetery, were present.

Mr. Vanderbilt inspected the interior of the mausoleum. There are eight different sets of small vaults ranged along the east and west sides. Each set contains nine chambers. Altogether the mausoleum will hold about seventy-two bodies. The vaults are made of solid, thick slabs of Quincy granite, with four sides alike. Each apartment is backed by walls of heavy blocks of granite set in a double wall eight feet thick, and which will be at least fifteen feet under the ground. A great tower or mound will rise up from which will extend high in midair two towers or "lanterns," as the builders term them, that will admit air and light to the tomb. The light will come through glass ten inches thick, which will be protected by massive iron bars sunk deep into thick layers of granite blocks. The air will be introduced through apertures also protected with bars.

In front of the tomb are two hollow columns, golden in pattern. The carving of the figures inside of the tomb is what is known as the "conventional." The figures and designs are of Indian limestone. The first design, which is over the vaults where the bodies of Commodore Vanderbilt and family will lie, represents the "Creation." The arm of God reaches from the heavens and rests directly over the body of a man in an attitude of repose. The next piece of carving represents Paradise, with Adam and Eve surrounded by flowers, shrubs and budding fruit trees. The third carving represents Moses leading down the Ten Commandments to two kneeling figures; the fourth, King David with harp; the fifth, King Solomon and the Queen of Sheba, with the butterfly alighting on the flowers, when the Queen asks the King to detect the true from the artificial flower; the sixth, the Virgin Mary and the infant Jesus; the seventh, the Crucifixion, and the eighth the Ascension.

Tablets extend all around the outer chamber. The inner chamber will contain an altar and rood for the holding of burial services. The tomb is not directly into a hill, and after it is finished will be covered with earth in which trees will be planted. Beneath it a double concrete floor will be laid to keep the upper apartments dry. The mausoleum will cost about $250,000. Work upon it is being rapidly pushed. After the inspection Mr. Vanderbilt and party returned to the city.—New York Herald.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

A Clock Found.

On Tuesday Chief of Police Johnston, was informed by a boy that he and a comrade had found a clock in some bushes near the Protestant House. The Chief proceeded to the place and took possession of the clock, which he took to the police station. It is an old-fashioned timepiece. A woman who lives near the place where it was found saw two men enter the bushes with a parcel, and it is supposed that they deposited it there, but why they did so is a mystery.

A Disturbance in the Opera House.

On Tuesday evening a young man named Wm. McCullough raised a disturbance among the rear seats in the Opera House. It lasted some minutes, but the belligerent bruiser was finally ejected by the proprietor of the Opera House and others. One of the company which was performing at the time thanked the ladies and the men part of the audience for remaining quietly in their seats. It was usual, he said, to secure the presence of a constable, but in enlightened Peterborough they had thought it unnecessary. He assured them, however, that order would be maintained in the future. McCullough appeared in the Police Court this morning on several charges, and justice was dealt out to him.

Are you undressed as to what kind of Mantle or Suit to buy this season? Go to the new and stylish Shawl Rooms on Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 7th and 8th, where all the leading styles will be displayed.

The Landlord Comedy Company.

Mr. Harry Lindley and his company were greeted at Bradburn's Opera House on Tuesday evening with a good sized audience. The play on the boards was the dramatic romance, Isabel. The grim title character was taken in a creditable way by Mr. D. O. Secord. Miss Adelaide Flint made a pretty little English gipsy and Miss Laura Booth, as Cynthia, the emigrant Ziegler, takes her part in a very realistic manner. The comic element was supplied by the character Knochin, the thief, impersonated by Mr. Harry Lindley. His apologies for his business, viz., earning an honest living, called forth much laughter and applause, but none when he said "make up." "The Salvation Army," an incidental, was played at the conclusion of the performance. The engagement continues to-night and to-morrow night. To-night the three act drama, Driven from Home, will be presented, succeeded by the burlesque, Makado, a satirical Social Aot, political, musical and vocal extravaganza.

New Scotch and Canadian Tweeds for fall wear, just arrived at Habington Hall. If you are in want of a stylish Fall Suit or Overcoat, give McNeil a call.

Supposed Incendiarism.

At about one o'clock this morning Mr. Thomas Beavis' storehouse on Bethune street was discovered to be on fire. The alarm was sounded and the firemen turned out promptly, but as the building was a frame one, it burned rapidly and was entirely consumed. A stable owned by Mr. Thos. Bradburn also caught fire and was partially destroyed. It was occupied by Messrs. K. E. Henderson, T. Rush and E. K. Ostrom, each of whom lost by the fire. Other buildings were in imminent danger, but the flames succeeded in confining the flames to the buildings mentioned, the beam being attached to the hydrant at the corner of Charlotte and Aylmer streets. Another line of hose was attached to the hydrant at the Grand Trunk station, but as there was not hose enough on the reel, and the stream was not needed, it was not used. Mr. Beavis had building material, including mashes, doors, etc., stored in his building, and his loss will be about $1,500. Mr. Bradburn also lost building material, glass fronts, etc., and he estimates his loss at the same amount. Neither Mr. Beavis nor Mr. Bradburn had any insurance on the property. The fire is believed to have been the work of an incendiarist.

Paintings.

Mr. G. W. Morgan has an exhibition of works of art in his window. It includes fine oil paintings of scenery by Mr. F. Cashel, horses by Mr. Jas. Palmer and flowers by Mr. W. G. Sabine. Each of the artists executed the work in a skillful manner and the paintings are greatly admired. A fine portrait of Mr. B. Earle, by Raynor, of Toronto, is on exhibition in the window of Messrs. A. L. Davis & Co's store.

Wedding Bells.

Yesterday afternoon between the hours of four and five o'clock, Mr. John Lynch was united in marriage to Miss Jennie Lynch. The joyous event took place at St. Peter's Cathedral, and was performed by the Rev. Father Conway. The bride was very tastefully attired in a dress of stat grey with bonnet to match, relieved by a beautiful contrasting shade of cardinal pink, which costume was also worn by the bridesmaid, Miss Maggie McFadden. Mr. Lynch was ably seconded through the trying ceremony by Mr. L. Lemay. After the marriage the happy couple repaired to the residence of Mrs. J. Lynch, Stewart street, where a large number of friends of the contracting parties extended congratulations and sat down to a sumptuous dinner. The wedding presents were numerous and costly, and included an exceedingly handsome crust from the members of the choir of St. Peter's Cathedral, of which Miss Lynch has been a member for a number of years, accompanied by the following address:—

Peterborough, Sept. 28, 1885.

To Miss Jennie Lynch:—The members of the choir of St. Peter's Cathedral cannot permit this happy day of your life to pass without offering to you their heartfelt congratulations, together with their most fervent prayers, that the new destiny opening before you may be one of unbroken happiness, and that you as well as he whose arms and joys you are henceforth to share, may enjoy all earthly blessings, together with those higher joys which only truly Christian families may hope for. But your past, as well as your future, calls for one word of felicitation. Your constant and arduous labor to fulfill your part worthy of the motive with which we offer them to God, render for your deepest esteem.

Please accept, dear Miss Lynch, this little token of our sincere affection. Its intrinsic value you will find in the souvenir which it will recall of those who have been for so many years co-laborers with you in a holy work.

Hoping that you will not leave us too abruptly, but that you will continue to favor us with your presence as constantly as your new duties will permit you, we beg you to believe us, ever most sincerely yours,

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

BINKLETS.

THE LA RUE AND THE BOY WONDER.

The La Rue brothers, the wonderful acrobatic skaters, and Albert Wells, skater and contortionist, very appropriately christened the "Boy Wonder," opened a three nights engagement at the Lansdowne Rink on Tuesday evening. The La Rue brothers executed some very difficult movements in skating, but their acrobatic performance met with the highest favor with the spectators. Their tumbling was, without doubt, of the highest order, and it fully merited the numerous rounds of applause given. The Boy Wonder is something marvellous. He twists himself up into almost every conceivable shape, and at the same time skates with perfect ease. At times one would almost think he had tied himself into an inextricable knot, as he sails down the rink, with head, arms and one leg all tangled together. The fancy skating movements he executed were numerous, including the spinning on four wheels, two wheels and one wheel. The City Band were in attendance, and rendered a very fine programme of music.

THE FATE.

PERSONAL.

Hamley, the Port Hope professional runner, has decided to leave the path for the rest of the season. He will come out again next year. In conversation with our reporter a day or two ago he stated, in answer to a query as to his late race with Herriman, that he had been fairly beaten by a better man. He assigned no reason for his defeat other than that he was a little too slow. But perhaps it was not his "day" on the track.

Mr. M. Bird left town this morning for Rochester, where he intends to enter into some race. If he can arrange them, Mike has been training down pretty fine during the past summer, and it is quite likely that he will give a good account of himself if he gets any races on.

Just received at Turnbull's (an immense stock of ladies' and children's Cashmere Gloves and Hosiery in all shades and sizes.

POLICE COURT.

DUNK.

WEDNESDAY, Sept. 30.—James Hipburn and Nichol Dods were charged by Constable Fiddigon with having been drunk in a public place. They pleaded guilty, and were fined $2 each, with the alternative of ten days in gaol.

THREE CHARGES.

William McCullough, who had caused a disturbance in the Opera House on Tuesday evening, and was arrested later in the evening by Constable McGinty, was called upon to answer to three charges. Constable McGinty charged him with having been drunk and disorderly, and in that charge he was fined $5 or 30 days in gaol. W. Heister charged him with having disturbed a Salvation Army meeting on Monday evening, and after hearing the evidence, the Magistrate imposed an additional fine of $20 and costs or one month in gaol. The third charge was preferred against him by Thomas Bradburn and was in reference to the disturbance in the Opera House. Another $20 or twenty days in gaol was added. He was committed.

A BILLIARD BALL CASE.
Robert Kelly was charged by T. Darcy with stealing a number of pool balls. Kelly had the billiard room leased, and trouble arising between him and Mr. Darcy on financial questions, he was put out of possession. He carried with him the balls and his arrest followed. A settlement was arranged and the case dropped. Mr. K. E. Stone appeared for the complainant, and Mr. C. W. Savers for Kelly.

Young Bliffins to young lady friend who appreciates his writings—"How did you like my article?" She—"Oh, very much, indeed. It was witty and to the point. I thought 'Blink' (complacently). 'Folk are so slow in grasping a writer's meaning. Have to unroll their heads to get an idea in, you know. I let you see it before it was published because I thought that if you could see the sense of it anybody could.' He wonders why she doesn't show the same keen appreciation of his writings now as she used to do.

FOR SALE

THE SPLENDID MILL PROPERTY

Comprising the Circular Saw, Shingle and Grist Mills at the Village of

YOUNG'S POINT

At the outlet of the Otonabee River from Clear Lake, in the County of Peterborough, will be offered for sale by Public Auction, on Friday, the Ninth day of Oct.

at Three o'clock, p.m., at

CAVANAGH'S HOTEL,

IN PETERBOROUGH.

All these mills are driven by water and are in good working order, and on with the substantial double dwelling house also on the property, be immediately rented for $1200.00.

The water supply of six feet head, is unlimited, and the dam being a Government one, is maintained at its expense.

The situation presents unequalled advantages for the milling business. At the head of river navigation and in close proximity to abundant timber supply, all the expenses, delay and loss of river driving, is avoided, and the manufactured material can be placed on the market before most operators can get their logs to their mills; the adjoining lake affords unlimited safe booming accommodation.

In the centre of a good farming country, a large grazing business is done, and a good market is at hand for the produce of all these mills. The Village of Lakeside, five miles distant on the Midland Division of the Grand Trunk Railway, with which three steamboats communicate daily, affords convenient shipping facilities.

An opportunity will be afforded the purchaser of purchasing a considerable extent of timber limits, convenient to the mills, and also a quantity of logs now at the mill.

There will be a reserved bid. Terms: $5000.00, or upwards to be paid at the time of sale, and the remainder thereof in five annual instalments, with interest at 6 per cent. half yearly, to be secured by mortgage on the premises.

Further particulars and conditions of sale may be had on application to

A Probably Fatal Accident.
BELLVILLE, Sept. 29.—The horses of the Trenton stage were frightened to-day by a bicycle on the road and ran away. Mrs. John Cronan, of this city, was thrown out with such violence that one of her thighs was broken, and she was seriously ruptured. The worst results are feared.

Graves at Cut Knife.
Letters have recently been received from members of C company, who report finding 123 graves near the battle of Cut Knife Creek. The members of C company are still camped on the prairie near Battleford, and anxiously await the order to return home.

Unprecedented Rainfall.
JACKSONVILLE, Fla., September 30.—During the last fifty hours the rainfall in this region has been unprecedented, aggregating over ten inches. There have been washouts on the railroads, and great damage has been done. The rain has now ceased, and the floods are subsiding.

ENGLAND.
In August 56,077 emigrants left the United Kingdom. The majority, 14,802, went to the United States. Canada got 2322, while Australia was the destination of 3071 of them.

A beautiful album containing 1200, accompanied by the most interesting and interesting facts, has been presented to Lord Randolph Churchill by the Conservative Association of Lancashire in honor of his appointment as secretary for India. The memorial statue to the late Gen. Earl will probably be placed on the plateau at the southeast corner of St. George's Hall, Liverpool. The statue erected by subscription in St. Paul's Cathedral, Birmingham, as a memorial to the late Colonel Burnaby, is now completed.

An entertainment called the Harvest Queen was a pretty open air spectacle at an English park. Four triumphal cars decorated with flowers and flags, with the queen and her court, and the ladies were pretty and imposing costumes. The procession moved to the tune "All among the barley," and was followed by a series of pictures for a farmers' festival on this side of the Atlantic.

The arrangements for the American Exhibition to be opened in London on the 1st of May next appear to be making substantial progress. From many points of view the project promises to be of more than ordinary importance. Although in our great international exhibition, foreign countries, says the London News, have each enjoyed an allotted share of space, this will, we believe, be the first attempt on the part of any country to hold an exhibition in London of its own productions on a really representative scale.

The British Islands have had a cold and dry summer. The drought was in some parts seasons. It has greatly complicated the agricultural problem in every way. Cattle food will be very scarce and grain is not to be had on a consequence, the price of cattle and sheep, long dropping, is not falling rapidly. And farm laborers, too, find that most unpleasant results have already followed from the cold dry season. The weeds are killed by the drought and there is little chance that they will spring now. The crops, on light in straw, can easily be carried, and labor is not required.

The late Earl of Dysart was one of the most eccentric of noblemen. Though he had a splendid park near Grantham, and very great, not to say unbounded, wealth, he chose to live in two rooms on the second floor of a house on Norfolk street, Strand, where he allowed nobody to see his face. Indeed, it is said when he wanted a new pair of boots or shoes, the son of St. Crispin who supplied his lordship had to measure his feet outside of his sitting-room door, the noble legs to which they belonged being thrust through the door passage. The entire house of Toller-moche, of which Lord Dysart was the head, is and has long been notorious for its eccentricities. The house which his lordship inhabited is now turned into a hotel, which is called "The Dysart."

Strikes.
BERLIN, September 30.—The Central union of German manufacturers, representing the leaders of the protection party, has sent a petition to Prince Bismarck asking him to inquire into the subject of Bismarckism. The petition is the outcome of the visit of Mr. Mantouf, the American delegate, who was sent to Berlin to inquire into the silver question. Mr. Mantouf has in consequence of orders from time to time been refused to make a report by the German government. Mr. Mantouf's task is to dispel the idea of the most prominent of the continental silver question. He has obtained from the German government the approval of such a committee, and the success upon England's joining in the silver question is considered doubtful. He would

A PARTY OF AGRICULTURISTS.—Much of the constitution of the human body is due to diet of a vegetable nature. Burdock Blood Bitters cures the worst form of Chronic Dyspepsia.

THE CHOLERA.—Possibly the Cholera may not reach our locality this season. Nevertheless, we should take every precaution against it. Dr. Fowler's Natural Wild Strawberry is a sure cure for Cholera, Morsus, Colic, Cramp, Diarrhoea and Dysentery.

LITTLE BROTHERS.—The steam which raised the lid of the bottle led a philosopher to remark that we should now be dragged along by it, at the rate of sixty miles an hour. When Perry David is a philosopher for his medicinal use of his family thirty years ago, neither he nor any other man imagined that it would now be sold in every land, and prove to be the Pain Killer of the world.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Plans for Sale.
A fine little upright piano in good order, $50, at E. J. Hartley's, sole agent for the celebrated Heintzman & Co. piano.

At Antwerp.
The Ontario Canoe Company, of Peterborough, were awarded a silver medal for their exhibit of canoes at the Antwerp Exhibition. The Ontario Consolidated Gold Mining Company received honorable mention at the same exhibition.

Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty four hours commencing from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Light to moderate winds, fine weather, not much change in temperature.

Personal.
Mr. T. Arnold Haultain, of Toronto, is in town, and will remain a few days.

Mr. Brundrett, station agent for the Grand Trunk Railway, has returned from England where he has been spending a couple of months. Mr. Wm. Ward, of Ashburham, left town last night for England.

Journalistic.
Mr. J. B. Tryon has resumed the publication of the Daily Times in Port Hope. The weekly Times has continued to be a newsy and interesting paper, and the daily Times, judging from the copy we have received, will be a paper which the people of Port Hope should take pleasure in supporting. There should be room for a good daily journal in Port Hope, and we expect to see the Times succeed.

Durham Field Battery.
The members of the Durham Field Battery for Peterborough, who took part in the Battery competition at Toronto, have returned. They are somewhat dissatisfied with the results of the shooting, and the daily Times, judging from the copy we have received, will be a paper which the people of Port Hope should take pleasure in supporting. There should be room for a good daily journal in Port Hope, and we expect to see the Times succeed.

A Musical Event.
The grand organ recital to be given in St. Paul's Church on the evening of Thursday, Oct. 8th, by Prof. Parker, the organist and choirmaster of the church, will doubtless be the event of the season in musical circles. The soloists number five, most of whom possess a provincial reputation. Miss Agnes C. Thompson, of Toronto; Miss Cary Swan, of Woodstock, and Mrs. Chambers, of Peterborough, are the sopranos. Mr. T. McClelland, of Woodstock, will be the bass on this occasion, and Mr. Graves, of Peterborough, will be the tenor. The soloists will be supported by a chorus of more than thirty voices. Mr. Parker will contribute organ solo that have not been before given in Peterborough. It will be borne in mind that the music consists entirely of the works of the great composer Handel.

Chit-Chat.
—The Fair is over.
—And the town again wears its usual appearance.

—The Harry Landley Comedy Company closed a three nights enjoyment at Bradburne opera house last night.

—And on the La Rue Bros. and the Boy Wander at the Landowne rink.

—Both performances were well patronized.

—Sheriff Hall returned from the township of Methuen yesterday.

—He went up on official business—the first time since he has occupied the office of Sheriff.

—That speaks well for M. them.

—The Salvation Army disturbance case was again postponed. It will come up to-morrow morning.

—At a meeting of the Lacrosse club held last night it was decided to postpone the Orillia-Peterborough match until after the Provincial Championship competition.

—New Scotch and Canadian Tweeds for fall wear, just arrived at Rathbun Hall. If you are in want of a stylish Fall Suit or Overcoat, give McNeil a call.

CHEESE MARKET.

The Largest Quantity of Cheese Ever offered for Sale in Peterborough.

The regular meeting of the members of the Peterborough cheese market was held on Thursday afternoon. The offer was larger than at any other session of the market since the organization. There were no less a quantity than six thousand nine hundred and thirteen boxes offered for sale, made up as follows:—

on selections. The factorymen decided not to contract at present. Mr. Green, however, bought all of the August cheese, with the exception of Westwood, at 8 1/2 cents per pound. Mr. Wrighton bought the Westwood cheese for 8 1/2. The amount purchased was, Mr. Green, 2,669 boxes, and Mr. Wrighton, 200. The next market will be held two weeks from Thursday.

NOTES.
The cheese factories through the Campbellford section have been cleaned up, the factorymen having contracted with Messrs. Warrington, of Belleville, for nearly the whole season's make.

Mr. Cook, the buyer for this firm, looks as merry as ever. He evidently rejoices in having "scooped" his brother buyers, to use his newspaper term.

Mr. P. E. Bartlett, buyer for Kirkpatrick & O'Connell, who has been suffering from sickness for some time past, has now completely recovered and is on the road again.

IN-MANNERED BOYS.

To the Editor of the Review.
SIR,—I recommend the following letter, which appeared in the Toronto Mail, to the serious consideration of parents and guardians, also school teachers, Sunday school teachers especially, and the clergy.

Your obedient servant,
A SUFFERER.
SIR,—With your permission, I would say a few words on the subject of bad manners, which is so noticeable in our boys, and even in some of our young men. We may all, I doubt not, speak from experience of the frequent annoyance we have been subjected to in various ways by unruly boys. While annoyed, and sometimes shocked, at the ill-behaviour of youth, what an agreeable pleasure we feel when, occasionally, an exceptional case comes our path in the shape of a well-behaved and good-mannered boy. But these occasions are exceedingly rare, yet all the more noticeable on that account; for good manners leave their impressions indelibly upon the minds of observers, and the boy who studiously endeavours to refrain from giving offence by word or action will certainly be both respected and loved by all who come in contact with him.

A very too much common complaint is that boys, whenever rebuked for mischief done, resort to offensive and insulting language, especially if the person who rebukes them be a woman. Quite respectably dressed young fellows set forth with the rudeness of Goliath, and indulge in the foulest language, utterly regardless of the hearers; every passing dog becomes a target for missiles hurled from the hands of these ill-mannered ones, who seem to glory in the howls of the injured animal. Then, every newly painted house, gate or fence is defaced by being scribbled upon, either with lead pencil, chalk, or the burnt and blackened end of a stick; or if none of these articles are available then some painted lettering is brought into requisition and does. To mention with these youths what is caught in the act is to draw a shower of abuse from their lips. And these are not the Arabs of the street, but school-boys who are being daily crammed with so many things that no room is left for even a modicum of good manners. Neither high position nor old age is any protection against the insults emanating from these youthful sons of most respectable parents. Would it not be advantageous to all concerned if one or more of the numerous branches which, through their multiplicity, are but imperfectly taught, were dropped from the list of public school lessons, and more time devoted to the teaching of good manners? It may be said that some of the lessons now taught embrace decorum, which is undoubtedly true, but little of that decorum accompanies the average boy outside of the school room; he leaves it behind him when he does his hat, and he throws a stone at the first dog that crosses his path, and at the owner, too, if he be but a mere inconsiderate.

Yours, &c.,
Toronto, Sept. 28.
M. J. S. S.

LOOKS.
I am now receiving Door Looks made in Peterborough, and have no hesitation in saying that they are equal to the goods made by the best makers in the United States. As I intend to keep only these goods in stock in future, I am selling at reductions in prices of 20 to 30 per cent. all the American looks, knobs and door trimmings that I have on hand to make room for a full line of our home made goods. There are some very fine lines, especially in Mortice Looks, among them, and I would respectfully ask your inspection. Our Nails and Door Hinges are very low in price just now.

SPONTANEOUS COMBUSTION.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE at the Ontario Agricultural Farm.

GEORGE, Sept. 30.—About five o'clock this morning the large barn at the Ontario Government Farm was discovered to be on fire. The city fire brigade was immediately called out, but notwithstanding that the city water works extend to the farm, and the brigade responded promptly to the call, the fire made such headway that before it was got under control the barn, horse stable, sheep pens, blacksmith's shop, and some other outbuildings were completely destroyed. The bull stable, implement shed, and carpenter's shop were the only buildings saved. Fortunately there was no wind, and the cottage was not in danger at any time. There were only five animals in the stable at the time, four of which, the imported Short-horn cow, Barrow Wild Eye, valued at $1,500, a Harford calf, an Aberdeen Foll bull calf, and a Short-horn grade steer, perished in the flames. The fifth, also a Short-horn grade steer, broke loose and rushed from the burning building encircled in flames, but was so badly hurt that it was slaughtered this morning to put it out of its misery. Three large pens, also consumed. Most of the fancy cattle are at the Guelph Exhibition, the rest of the stock being in the fields. Had they been in the barn, nothing could have saved them, as it was impossible to enter the building after the fire was discovered. All the horses were got out, but with great difficulty. The exact quantity of grain in the barn cannot be stated, but so far as can be learned, there were 3,500 bushels of oats, 200 bushels of black wheat, 100 bushels of white, 15 tons of hay, and two tons of oats consumed. A quantity of machinery was also destroyed. The loss is variously estimated to be from $25,000 to $50,000. The property is fully insured in two different companies, but as the Inspector of Insurance at Toronto alone has charge of such matters, the names of the companies and the amounts for which they are liable cannot be learned. Prof. Brown and Mr. Woods were both absent from the city when the fire occurred. The latter returned on the early train this morning, and Mr. Brown, in company with Hon. A. M. Hogg, arrived from Toronto at noon. They are unable to give any further information relating to the insurance. The cause of the fire is a mystery, but is generally believed to be due to spontaneous combustion.

Immense Meteoric Stone.
CLAYVILLE, Va., Oct. 1.—A meteoric stone which recently fell in Jefferson township, appeared like a coal of fire and as large as a barn as it shot toward the earth. When it struck it broke into three pieces. It is grayish in color with a tendency of red in streaks—and is more than 30 feet square. People are flocking to see the wonder in great numbers.

A Reported Murder.
KINGSTON, October 1.—Two young lads brought to the city a very incredible story. They say that while gathering ants on the shore of Cataraqui River they saw an Indian and a squaw go to the water, and there the Indian deliberately cut the throat of the squaw, and twice in the body and hung it into the lake. The squaw viewed the act with calmness. They heard the child moan feebly. The police were informed of the affair and are investigating it.

Montreal's Mayor Arrested.
MONTREAL, Oct. 1.—There were 44 deaths from smallpox yesterday. The sanitary officers attempted to placard a house in Malouine street yesterday afternoon, but had to call for police assistance. A mob collected and the placard torn down and the police and sanitary officers refused to retreat. The chairman of the board of health stated to-day that Mayor Beaudry had been arrested at the instance of Hon. Louis Beaudry for taking forcible possession of the exhibition grounds for a smallpox hospital.

FORESTRY CONGRESS.

The address of the American Forestry Congress, in reviewing the work already accomplished, points to the formation of forestry associations in six states, the appointment of Forestry Commissioners in seven states, the institution of Arbor days in fifteen states and the Canada under the lead of Nebraska, where 5,000,000 trees were planted the last year, the securing of effective fire legislation in Canada, the preparation of important measures for consideration by the National Congress and the work of the Forestry Bureau of the Agricultural Department. There is no subject upon which more practical interest can be profitably expended than that of Forestry, and it is pleasant to note that something is being done to arouse attention in such a worthy cause, which is beginning to become of paramount importance to the American people.

TWO PROBLEMS.

To make the most of one's abilities is the mighty problem that confronts everyone as they approach the conclusion of their "career." Some make a heroic effort to accomplish this, while others dismiss the thought and aimlessly drift away into the current of amusement and money-spending.

To make money with one's hands and brains is another problem that defies neglect. If we dare neglect it for a week or a year it bobs up serenely at the first grocery or meat shop, and next at the tailor's. So that we are compelled, most of us, to work with hand and head and heart for money.

The two problems are interrelated, and interrelated in such a way that to sever them is impossible, and so it comes about periodically that some offer is made or some enterprise is presented, and it remains for us who wish to make the best of ourselves, to decide upon the course we shall take. Horace Greely said, "Get a business education and go west, young man." James A. Garfield said, "Young man, make the most of yourself; be ready when duty or your country calls to obey." And later he said, "Get a business Education, which is more useful than the courses given by Harvard or Yale universities."

In every town during the winter season there are endless varieties of entertainments and amusements arranged for the young and the old. In Peterborough already the forces are massing, and everyone is dictating in what way they shall spend their evenings.

Without hesitation we advise our readers to attend the evening sessions now commencing in the Peterborough Business College. This institution has already made a name that is a credit to the town, and the course given will help one not only to make money, but to make the very best of one's self.

The college has been beautifully fitted up, and lighted with gas and electric light, and has every convenience whereby transactions are made just as real as in the largest warehouses in the country.

"A business education is the best fortune you can have." So says Mr. Sawyer, and he says "it is the only fortune he ever has or ever will accept."

"DANIEL"

SERIOUS EFFECTS

From Stone Throwing A Boy Knocked Senseless.

On Friday evening at about half past six o'clock several boys were playing on the corner of Bethune and Brock streets, near the railway track. All went quietly for a time until the boys' combative qualities began to be aroused by some outsiders.

One of these went up to a lad named Tommy Robinson, who is about fourteen years of age, and in a patronizing way said, "You can beat these two boys, can't you?" Young Robinson replied in the affirmative, and Walter Wesley, one of the two named, a lad of about the same age, resenting the assertion, walked up to Robinson and knocked his hat off. He then ran, seeing that Robinson picked up a stone, Robinson threw the stone, and it struck Wesley on the head. The blow instantly felled the boy to the earth, and streams of blood issued from the wound. Two of the railway hands, Messrs. Bralcy and Pym, who were engaged at their work near by, saw the boy fall and ran to his assistance. They carried him to the residence of Mr. R. B. Lundy, where medical attendance was brought. Dr. King, when he arrived, found that a ragged gash had been made on the side of the head, just behind and about two inches above the boy's right ear. He also found that the skull had been slightly cracked. The sufferer lay senseless for some time. When he recovered consciousness he was removed to his home, corner of McDonnell and Bethune streets.

This morning he is able to be about, and being a sturdy, healthy little fellow, it is likely that he will soon recover from the effects of the blow.

POLICE COURT.

SALVATION ARMY CASE.

The case of Arthur Hyman, charged with disturbing a Salvation Army meeting came up in the Police Court this morning. The defendant, on the case being called, acknowledged having disturbed the meeting, and apologized for having done so, promising better behaviour.

The MAGISTRATE asked if the prosecution would accept the apology.

Mr. C. W. SAWYER, appearing for the prosecution, stated that the prosecutors did not wish to punish the young man severely, but asked merely that a fine be imposed sufficient to teach him a lesson and to serve as a warning to other young men who came to the meetings for the same purpose.

The MAGISTRATE said that the offence the defendant was charged with was a serious one in the eyes of the law. It held that any religious body had a right to hold their meetings in a way most pleasing to them. Anyone who went to any of these meetings for the purpose of raising a disturbance was lost to all sense of shame. But he could imagine that the offence of the prisoner was committed through thoughtlessness, and in consideration of this, together with the fact that his apology had been accepted, he would impose a fine of only $1 and costs.

D. & N. J. H. Irving was charged with having been drunk. He promised better behaviour in the future and was discharged.

S. Martin was charged with being drunk and disorderly. He pleaded guilty and was fined $2 and costs.

A SCRUTINY GRANTED.

The Ball to Cast on the Scott Act Vote to be Rescounted.

An application was made to His Honor Judge Denison at noon to-day to grant a scrutiny of the vote cast in the Scott Act vote on Sept. 24th.

Mr. H. Calcutt is the petitioner, and for him appeared Mr. C. A. Weller and Mr. J. O. Mears. Mr. D. W. Dumble appeared for the Scott Act Association.

His Honor granted a scrutiny, and the re-count will be commenced in the Court House on Thursday, Oct. 15th.

Prof. C. Gordon Richardson was in town to-day. He is of opinion that the vote will be set aside. The principal grounds upon which the validity of the voting will be attacked are, that names were left off the list of voters furnished to Deputy Returning Officers, that polling places were changed, that bribery was practiced, and that the Returning Officer failed to appoint scrutineers.

Prof. Richardson was asked whether by bribery he meant undue influence which amounted to bribery or indirect forms of bribery.

"Direct bribery," he answered. "Ten dollar bills were plentiful."

After the recount, if that is not sufficient for the purposes of the petitioners, the validity of the voting will be attacked, the above grounds being the principal ones.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

THE TURF.

COLONEL T'S DEATH.

Those who saw Mr. A. P. Appleby's fine looking stallion, Colonel T., trotting in the Driving Park on Wednesday last in the stallion competition for the Calcutt cup will regret to learn that he has since succumbed to the effects of congestion of the lungs. For a week previous to the race the horse had been dull and stolid, running a little at the nose, but Mr. Appleby thought it was nothing more serious than a cold and that it would do him no harm to enter him for the contest on Wednesday. But trotting in the heat had the effect of increasing the disease to an alarming extent and the animal was unable the next day to trot the deciding heat with his competitor, Beatty's "Tariff." He grew worse and worse, notwithstanding the efforts of the best veterinary skill, and at last succumbed at five minutes to twelve o'clock on Friday night in the Phelan Hotel stables. He was buried this morning beyond the southern boundary of the town. Colonel T. was purchased by Mr. Appleby last July from Colonel B. Turner, of Pinevale, New York. He cost, including price for shipment to Coburg, the sum of $900. He has only entered in two races, one a three mile contest at Elmira, N. Y., which he won, and the other in the Peterborough Driving Park on Wednesday, Sept. 30th. He has trotted a mile in 2.32 and leaves several colts that can do it in under 2.40. His step brother has a record of 2.22.

LACROSSE.

THE PROVINCIAL CHAMPIONSHIP.

The following paragraph appears in to-day's Mail:—

The Lacrosse Committee of Management have decided that the match for the Provincial Championship of Ontario will be played at Peterborough on Wednesday, Oct. 7. The clubs entitled to compete are the Young Canadians, of Richmond Hill; Athletics, of St. Catharines; Excelsior, of Lancaster, and the Peterborough Club. In the Province of Quebec the match will be played at Montreal, and the clubs to play will be the Montreal Juniors and Victorias, of Valleyfield.

Mr. LeBrun is now in communication with the clubs interested regarding the details of the match, and it is expected that the tournament, if so it may be termed, will be more attractive than anything of the kind ever held in Peterborough.

The Poor Little Ones.

We often see children with red eruptions on face and hands, rough, scaly skin, and often sores on the head. These things indicate a depraved condition of the blood. In the growing season, children have need of pure blood by which to build up strong and healthy bodies. If Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" is given, the blood is cured of its bad elements, and the child's development will be healthy, and as it should be. Merciless attacks, rheumatism, fever, scabs, hip-joint disease or other grave maladies and sufferings are sure to result from neglect and lack of proper attention to such cases.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1885.

OUR EXHIBITION.

NOTWITHSTANDING the many difficulties which those who undertook the initiative steps necessary to the establishment of a permanent annual exhibition in Peterborough at may be made both a benefit and a credit to the town and county, had to contend with, the inaugural one of what its promoters hope will prove to be the first of a long series has been held and been crowned with a success quite equal to the most sanguine expectations of its originators.

Assuming as the directors do, under the circumstances, forced to do, a very considerable financial responsibility, the financial results of this exhibition have very naturally been first in the minds of those interested, and we are glad to say, thanks to a kind Providence, in sending good weather, the exhibition receipts have been sufficient to more than meet the out-go apart from permanent improvements. Had the Association been in a position to provide all the accommodations usual on such occasions and to have correspondingly extended their prize list, the exhibition would have undoubtedly been a much greater success in every way. That, however, was their misfortune, not their fault. But while the financial result was the most important point, there were others which were of almost equal importance, looking to the future. Our readers need scarcely be reminded of the difference of opinion which existed as to the selection of a show ground. That difference of opinion has now practically disappeared and the choice of the majority has been approved. No one who was present on the ground on Wednesday afternoon could be otherwise than convinced that it would have been suicidal, if exhibitions of the extent and character looked for in the near future, are to be held, to have spent a dollar in connection with grounds of a less area than twenty-five to thirty acres. Small as was the attendance, compared with what it may be, and limited as were the variety of exhibits with what they should be, an area of ten acres would have been too small for even this year's requirements. While as matters now stand, every dollar which has been or may hereafter be expended on permanent improvements, will go towards giving us, in the opinion of others as well as ourselves, a ground second to that of no other similar ground in the Province.

Another very satisfactory circumstance connected with this exhibition was that visitors from a distance were pleased, and apparently determined to repeat the visit. No instance of imposition of any kind has come to our notice. The meals supplied and the prices charged by the keepers of the booths were most satisfactory, while we think all our citizens with whom visitors came in contact pursued a course that will do much to lead them to revisit Peterborough, and which, if followed on future occasions, will do much to enhance the popularity of our Exhibition.

Taking all things into consideration we think not only the Directors, but the people of both the town and county have much reason to congratulate themselves upon the result—a result which proves that all that is now wanted, is the hearty co-operation of all to crown this undertaking with a success for beyond that which its most earnest advocates anticipated.

CAMPBELLFORD.

A CANCER REMOVED.—One of our physicians removed a cancer from the breast of a lady residing in Campbellford one day last week. It weighed four pounds. Chloroform was administered during the operation, and nearly half a day was spent in its removal.

CHERRY MARKET.—It was a dull market last week. Eight cheese factories were represented, Seymour West, Stanwood, I. X. L. Standard, Cherry Bay, Royal, Forest and Trent Bridge, and 2,000 boxes were ready to go into other hands. Bleachers, Calders, Cook, Gillard and Bird, of Belleville, were present. They offered 8 cents for the latter part of August make, but it was not accepted. Mr. W. Crook, of Stratford, offered 7 cents. There is an upward tendency in prices.

THE LIGHTNING'S STROKE.—During the heavy storm on Tuesday of last week, the residence of Mr. Wm. Irvine, on Lot 24, in the 10th concession of Seymour, was an object for the lightning's touch. The electric convector seems to have passed down the chimney, as the house was filled with smoke. One of Mr. Irvine's children was so badly prostrated by its near approach that it fell insensible, and remained in that condition for some time. The family thought it was killed, but consciousness was restored, and the child was in no other way injured. The house escaped injury. While the storm was raging, the barn of Mr. Thomas Russell, on Lot 19, in the 4th concession, seemed to have been near the lick of the lightning's course, as it was considerably marked. The stone of the foundation was blackened by the electricity as it burst by fire. About the same time, but further north, near the residence of Mr. John Hay, a tree was shivered to pieces, and a few feet from Mr. Hale's home, standing near the wall, another tree was badly splintered.—Herald.

THE CANADIAN PACIFIC.

Completion of the Road—Regular Season to Commence in May.

The long looked for official information announcing the completion of the Canadian Pacific railway for traffic from all points on the company's line in the east to the end of the track in this province, is now made. Monday, the 5th of October, will be regarded as a red letter day in our history. On that day the Canadian Pacific Railway Company will open for traffic a continuous line from the east to the very heart of British Columbia. The stations along the north shore of the Lake Superior are all named: divisional headquarters have been selected, and every preparation made to meet any demands that are made on the company's facilities for the transportation of freight or passengers by their unrivalled equipment.

The Times is in position to announce that the gap between the Ogishkewick and those in charge of Mr. Ross will be closed in three weeks time at the furthest. The rails will then be laid and the last spike driven between the 14th and the 17th of October. While the occasion will be a memorable one, making a new epoch not only in the history of British Columbia but also in that of Canada, there will be no public celebration. It is not likely that even any of the directors will witness the event. As already stated, his Excellency the Governor-General is coming to this province over the line and should he return that way it is possible advantage will be taken of his presence, and that he will witness the laying of the last rail, and the honour will be upon him of driving the last spike, in the gigantic railway enterprise of modern times. It is understood that many have expressed a wish to be permitted to witness the important event, but the company has wisely decided not to run excursions, or celebrate the event in any public manner.

Although the line will be completed as above stated, it is not intended to open the line west of the Selkirk for traffic till next May. This step is rendered necessary in consequence of the amount of work still to be done in the way of ballasting, erecting water tanks, station buildings, and shops—work in themselves not very costly, yet requiring time. It has also been deemed prudent to study the action of the snow in the Selkirk as least one winter before commencing operations. Interruptions would be certain and it is well to know exactly what has to be provided against. The telegraph service will be connected simultaneously with the track, possibly by the first week in October. The line will be only a temporary one from the Shuswap Lakes to the east crossing of the Columbia. A month or two subsequently will be required to make a permanent line of it. No business over the telegraph line will be accepted by the company till next spring.

It is understood that the Government has notified the company that the Pacific contract, under the superintendence of Mr. Oeder, has been completed. The company's engineer, who came here to report as to whether the line had been constructed in accordance with the plans and specifications, and the general condition of the line had not, when our advice left Montreal, reached that city. If his report be favourable, the line will pass under the control of the Canadian Pacific Company within a short time, possibly about the middle of October.

The company have decided on adopting such a scale of charges as will place the people of this Province on the same footing as those exacted from the public in other sections of Canada, and will be for just cause of complaint. The object of the company is to make such rates as will insure the most perfect development of business along the entire line. It is the determination of the company to build a branch line to the West, commencing at the crossing of the extension of the main line to Coal Harbor and English Bay. The engineers have received instructions to proceed with the location of the line at once; to prepare plans showing the nature and character of the work to be done, in order that construction may be begun at the earliest date possible.

One of the executive officers, whose word can be considered authoritative, still asserts that the whole of Burrard inlet, from Port Moody to English Bay, will be required for terminal purposes before many years. Others who are conversant with the rise and progress of the traffic of transcontinental railways also endorse that belief. The construction of docks, buildings, and other facilities will be proceeded with at the terminus so soon as a few simple matters of detail can be arranged. When these have been begun it will be found that the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, in respect to their terminal facilities, will be in advance of all requirements of traffic, and the works on this coast in keeping with their magnificent buildings in other sections of Canada, and the unrivalled elegance of their rolling stock. By the dawn of the new year, all assertions to the contrary, these will be well advanced.—Victoria (B. C.) Times.

A QUEER COMMUNITY.

A Body of Christians Who Have $75,000,000 to Leave the State.

A letter from Economy, Pa., says:—There has always centred about the sect of Harmonists a halo of interest, because of their peculiarities and exclusive tendencies. The founder of this rich colony, located at the romantically situated place, on the banks of the Beaver River, was George Bay, who was born in Germany in 1770. Believing he had a divine mission, he was charged with a restoration of the religion to its original purity, he founded a colony on the model of the primitive church, with goods and chattels in common. This sect involved him and his followers in trouble with the Government, and compelled him to transplant the community, in 1803, to the United States. They settled first on the Conemaugh Creek in Butler County, where they founded the village of Harmony, and employed themselves in agriculture and manufacture.

By industry and thrift they acquired considerable wealth, and in 1815 they removed their colony to Indiana, where they purchased a body of land upon 27,000 acres of land along the banks of the Wabash river. The settlement of New Harmony was even more prosperous than the first had been, for the climate was not so factious, and in 1824, after numerous councils, they again moved and returned to Pennsylvania, this time locating in Beaver County, on the right bank of the Ohio river, where they purchased 3,500 acres of beautiful and fertile farming lands, and where they soon afterwards laid out the town of Economy. Here is where they are located at present, surrounded by peace and plenty.

They are a strange people, not believing in marriage, but all living together as brothers and sisters, and practicing the strictest morality. In 1822 the question of marriage was the leading one in the community, and about two hundred members withdrew because they favored marriage. But the new colony did not prosper, and after a few years of struggling they sold out and moved to the west, where they are now located equally among all the members. In the meantime the Harmonists were gradually becoming more and more wealthy, until at present they own jointly and in common, lands, stock, bonds and berries, the value of which is estimated at $75,000,000. Besides owning all of Economy and a large part of Beaver, they own an entire county in Dakota, in the valley of the Red river of the north.

Out of their surplus money they built and equipped the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroad, running through a rich and prolific country from Pittsburgh to Youngstown, O., and owned the controlling interest in it until the road was sold to the Vanderbilts. It is said that on this deal alone they realized 75 per cent on their investment, as the road turned out to be the best paying road in the country. It is a masterpiece of industry that at the time the war broke out in 1861 they converted all their bonds and available property into money and buried it, using the treasure afterwards in paying for the building of the railroad. Their investments show that they are not only the best of men, but also the best of business men. They employ over three hundred servants and farm hands, and these, with their families, make quite a village. Everything is owned in common. The grocer, the baker, the butcher and the miller pass by the rounds every day and supply the different families with the necessities, and a few of the luxuries of life. Nothing can be purchased in the village of Economy, and it is probably the only place in the world where a man cannot, even if he desires, spend money. They are extremely liberal and philanthropic, and are constantly performing acts of benevolence. Their houses, which are exactly alike, are of equal distance apart, and a uniform distance from the village street. They are painted pure white and have no ornate doors, it being claimed that if they had these conveniences the women folk would spend too much time looking at and gossiping with passers by.

A good story is related in this connection to the effect that the President of the community a score of years ago imagined that there was too much familiarity between the young men and maidens, and so promulgated a law that no females appearing on the street after dark must carry lanterns; but still the merry-making continued, although no lanterns appeared. This caused an investigation, which developed the fact that the wealthy old gentlemen had neglected to inform that the law against carrying lanterns would be enforced. It is said that the law against carrying lanterns will cause the extermination of the colony in a few years. As to their laws as to marriage, they are not so strict as they are in some of the other sects of the world. They are not so strict as they are in some of the other sects of the world. They are not so strict as they are in some of the other sects of the world.

TERRIBLE TEXAS TRAGEDY.

Four Negroes Atrociously Murdered While Asleep—Brutally Mangled.

GALVESTON, TEXAS, Sept. 30.—An Austin special says a tragedy was enacted there on Sunday night, in which a negro man and three negro women were brutally murdered by having their skulls crushed with an axe. They were servants in the family of W. B. Dunham, editor of the Texas Court Reporter, and occupied a shanty in rear of his premises. The names of the victims are Sam Washington, his wife, known as Grace Vance, Patty Gibson, and Lucinda Boddy. It appears that the assassin entered the room of the sleeping occupants through the window, and before any of them awoke succeeded in striking all four of them on the head with an axe. Seizing Grace Vance, he dragged her through the window, threw her over the fence, then pulled her through the weeds across the vacant lot to a stable seventy-five yards from the shanty, where

HE ENOCHED HER SKINNELEERS.

She must have recovered consciousness, as evidence of a death struggle was abundant. He, however, overpowered her and bestowed her to a jelly with a brick, and apparently while she was struggling between life and death brutally assaulted her. While the deed was committing the horror, Lucinda Boddy, having somewhat recovered from the blow she had received, regained strength sufficient to get up, and lighted a lamp. The assassin seeing the light returned, and sticking his head in the window, cursed the woman and ordered her to get out the light. As seeing him the woman screamed and ran from the building. He leaped through a window, put the light out, and followed and overtook the fleeing woman just as she got to the front gate, where another desperate struggle ensued, during which Mr. Dunham, who was awakened by the woman's screams, threw open his front door, not knowing that murder had been committed, and thinking the disturbance was simply a row, leveled his gun at him without intention of shooting, and ordered them to cease their noise. The woman by a desperate struggle freed herself from the assassin, and running to Mr. Dunham, threw her arms around him and implored his protection, saying the man had

MURDERED EVERYONE IN THE NEARBY.

The murderer fled, and Dunham called the neighbors to assist in catching the murderer, who was in a thick fog of black smoke back of the house. He was followed by several persons, and a number of shots were fired without effect. Grace Vance was dead when found. Sam Washington died in the hospital this morning. Patty Gibson and Lucinda Boddy are in the hospital. There are hopes that Sam will recover, but none for Patty. All the victims were terribly gashed in the head and face. The details of the crime resemble closely those of Mary Hainey and her daughter a few weeks ago, and it is generally believed that the same fiend committed both facts. Intense excitement prevails among the whites and blacks at the repeated crimes in the capital city, which seem to be directed against a white and colored servant. The jury at the inquest, which was a verdict against a negro named Doc Wood. He was captured last night eight miles from the town. He was found on his clothing.

THE SPLENDID

MILL PROPERTY

Comprising the Circular Saw, Shingle and Grist Mills at the Village of YOUNG'S POINT. At the outlet of the Otonabee River from Clear Lake, in the County of Peterborough, will be offered for sale by Public Auction, on Friday, the Ninth day of Oct.

at Three o'clock, p.m., at CAVANAGH'S HOTEL, IN PETERBOROUGH.

All these mills are driven by water and are in good working order, and are with the substantial double dwelling house also on the property, be immediately rented for $1200.00.

The water supply of six feet head, is unlimited, and the dam being a Government one, is maintained at its expense.

The situation presents unequalled advantages for the milling business. At the head of river navigation and in close proximity to abundant timber supply, all the expense, delay and loss of river driving, is avoided, and the manufactured material can be placed on the market before most operators can get their logs to their mills; the adjoining lake affords unlimited and booming accommodation.

In the centre of a good farming country, a large gristing business is done, and a good market is at hand for the product of all these mills. The Village of Lakeside, five miles distant on the Midland Division of the Grand Trunk Railway, with which three convenient shipping facilities.

An opportunity will be afforded the purchaser of purchasing a valuable tract of timber land, convenient to the mills, and also a quantity of logs now at the mill.

There will be a reserved bid. Terms: $5000.00, or upwards to be paid at the time of sale, and the remainder to be paid in five annual instalments, with interest at 6 per cent. half yearly, to be secured by mortgage on the premises.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Plans for Sale.
A fine little upright piano in good order, $30, at E. J. Hartley's, sole agent for the celebrated Heintzman & Co.'s piano.

Personal.
Mr. Bannell Sawyer has placed at the entrance to his Business College on Hunter street a beautiful jam sign, which may well be called the "most sign in town." It reads "The Best start in Life is a Business Education." Mr. Sawyer has now the biggest sign in town and the prettiest sign in town—both executed by the Watsons.

Seriously Ill.
We regret to learn that the Rev. Mr. Ratcliffe, formerly pastor of the Smith Baptist Church, and of late laboring in the Home Mission field in connection with the same church in the County of Haliburton, is seriously ill. The Rev. gentleman was brought to Peterborough on Thursday. Under the treatment of several skilled physicians hopes are entertained of his recovery.

The Market.
There was a large attendance at the market this morning. Wheat brought 36 and 37 cents per bushel; peas, 58 and 60 cents per bushel; and rye, 50 cents per bushel. Barley sold at from 45 to 67 cents per bushel, and a load of two brought 71 and 73 cents per bushel. Potatoes brought 50 cents per bag; apples 50 to 75 cents per bag, and pears, 40 cents per peck. Butter old at 18 and 20 cents per pound, and eggs at 14 and 15 cents per dozen.

See A. Clegg's new designs in Furniture.

For the Indians.
It will be remembered that about two months ago the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of St. Paul's Church sent off a parcel of clothing to the needy Indians in the Northwest. Similar societies throughout the Province also sent in their quota of articles to the headquarters at Toronto. Mrs. Inia, the Secretary of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society here, received an advice stating that all of the packages had been forwarded from Toronto for their destination on Thursday. They go to the district northwest of Moosemin.

Don't fail to visit Turnbull's Grand Dry Goods and Millinery opening on Wednesday and Thursday, October 7th and 8th.

Teachers Institute.
A Teachers Institute for the County and Town of Peterborough will be held in the Central School on Thursday and Friday, the 22nd and 23rd of October. Mr. Coleman, the President, informs us that already a good and lengthy programme, which will be published shortly, has been secured. Besides local, some of Toronto's best educational talent will take part, and it is hoped that the townspeople will evince some interest, and lend some encouragement by largely attending the lectures on popular educational subjects which will be delivered in the evenings.

A fine range of West of England Panting good, just opened out at Andrew McNeill's, George street.

Missionary Work.
The monthly thanksgiving service of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society was held in the school room of St. Paul's Church on Friday afternoon. The President, Mrs. Fairbairn, occupied the chair. After the meeting had been opened with devotional exercises, the meeting was addressed by Mrs. McCre, President of the Woman's Presbyterian Society, Cobourg. The address was a very instructive and all interested in mission work. Mrs. Wallis, President of St. John's Church Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, read a paper bearing on the question, and Mrs. Gilmore, President of the Mission Circle in connection with the Baptist Church, also made a few appropriate remarks. The offering was a large one, nearly $70 having been collected.

New Scotch and Canadian Tweeds for fall wear, just arrived at Hablument Hall. If you are in want of a stylish Fall Suit or Overcoat, give McNeill a call.

Sewing Machine Award.

G. A. Mitchell, Esq., Peterborough:
DEAR SIR.—With reference to the special prize said to have been awarded to the Williams Sewing Machine at the Central Exhibition this week, I beg to say that no "Special prize for sewing machines" was offered by or through the Directors, nor did they appoint any judge or judges to award any such prizes.
Yours,
JOHN CARNEGIE,
President.
October 3rd, 1885.

First Prize Sewing Machine.

To the Editor of the Review.
DEAR SIR.—It is currently rumoured about town that no special prize was awarded for Canadian sewing machines at the Peterborough Central Exhibition, will you kindly give place in your columns to the following letter from Mr. G. Fitzgerald, one of the Directors of the Exhibition, which should finally set at rest the croaking of interested rivals.
Yours truly,
D. SMART.
Peterborough, Oct. 3rd, 1884.

Mr. D. Smart:
DEAR SIR.—In reply to your inquiry, I would say that the special prize given by me at the Central Exhibition for the best Canadian Sewing Machine was awarded by the judges to the Williams Sewing Machine, represented here by you.
Yours truly,
G. FITZGERALD.

The Williams has also taken first prize this fall at Kingston, Belleville, and Antwerp, Belgium, against all competition.

The new Hat Shapes. Lynwood, Corbalea, Lulu Hara and Cupid, will be on sale for the first time at Turnbull's Grand Millinery Opening, Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 7 and 8.

Business Notes.
Mr. E. Bursham has during the past two months built a neat two-store white brick block on Simcoe street, immediately east of the Grand Central Hotel yard. The block is a two story one, substantially built and well finished.

Mr. Wm. Metcalfe will shortly open up a stock of harness and saddlery in the one next to George street, and Dr. Crevier, veterinary surgeon, will occupy the other as an office.

The rejuvenation of the Darcy House block is almost completed, and the result is that two very commodious single stores are nearly ready for occupation.

Mr. Brabson will open out a flour and feed store in the west one, and Mr. James McCreed will conduct a drug store in the other.

Being opened up at Turnbull's, some Handsome Lace Collars, Tinsel Trimmings, Cream and Coffee Laces for his Grand Dry Goods and Millinery Opening on Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

FALL MILLINERY.

Fair, Van Every & Co.'s Display of New Goods.

This fall Messrs. Fair, Van Every & Co. did not hold any formal opening, but by reference to their announcement in the Review it will be seen that they have been for some time ready to receive customers.

The display that this vigorous young firm makes this season, it may be safely said, surpasses all former efforts. The millinery and mantle show rooms are stocked to their utmost capacity with the newest and most fashionable goods from the European, American and Canadian markets. A new feature in this department is the introduction of electric light. The rooms are brilliantly lighted by a lamp placed in the centre of the horsebox, the shape of which is formed of space between the winding stair balustrades. A large cross of evening flowers is one of the features in the decoration of the rooms. It is a really beautiful ornament and serves to show the varied stock which the firm holds in this line. On each side of the room silks, satins and plushes are shown in a very tasteful way. They are shown in full widths, about five feet unfolded, on black background. Each piece is caught up with a bunch of bright hued flowers, or a bird wing of brilliant plumage.

Of hats and bonnets there is a great variety shown off to good advantage on several tables. The French Turban, a high crowned felt, projecting forward, trimmed with black velvet, puffed at the rim, and ornamented with bird wings and ostrich tips, is a neat and pretty style. The Brigand, another high crowned hat, with red velvet covering, old gold ribbon trimming, and ornamentation of red brown tips, also meets with favour. A quiet looking lawn colored hat has not been given any high flown name for a recommendation. It relies on its own merits to find a purchaser. It is a pretty one, a high crown and rolling brim, trimmed with uncut velvet and ornamented with light waving aspen feathers, which nestle comfortably among a profusion of ostrich plumes. The Host Exter has a far more modest appearance than its name would suggest. It, together with the Helmet, the Tam O'Shanter, and several others, take prominent places in the display.

The firm have a choice stock of silk and wool shawls, cashmere shawls, dolmans and mantles, trimmings and materials, including choice lines of brooches and broadens, in the display. They have also a great variety of fur lined dolmans, caulettes, ottomans, etc. Miss Semple, so long and favorably known to the ladies of Peterborough, town and county, has charge of this department.

THE ROLE OF RIEL.

A French-Canadian Paper Discusses the Rebel.

From the first the Liberals, under pretext of defending the cause of the half-breeds, have occupied themselves with only one of those half breeds, and with that one who, according to Saskatchewan missionaries, deserves no sympathy from French-Canadians. They have left the other condemned ones, the poor dupes of Riel, in the shade, and have set him up as "champion" of our religious and national interests. Now see how the Rev. Father Fourmond describes the game played by the "champion."

"I have been very near death, for, if the bullets of the fury of the rebels missed me, still, spottiness, heresy, treason, persecution, fire, pillage were all let loose upon me; one would have thought it the end of the world. Already we have our Antichrist in the person of the famous Riel, against whom we had to combat at the peril of our lives to destroy his baneful influence over our poor people."

"What a man, what hypocrisy, what impiety, both at once! He called himself sent by God, directed by angels from Heaven, who often came to visit him. Veritable angel of darkness he simulated an angel of light. He was a wolf hidden under sheep's clothing to better devour the flock. He seemed to pray a great deal and practised the greatest 'ritualism.' He ate nothing but the blue pills, following the letters of the 'debil.' The 'vices' which he had consigned to a book written in blood by his own hand."

"Revolutionist of the worst kind, he wanted to destroy everything, and if he succeeded, as the angels seemed him, he said, he would, like Mahomet, torn triumphantly, over-run both hemispheres, and push even to Rome to set up a pope of his choice, who would approve of his heresies and his proud dreams."

"Lastly he needed a whole book to recount his perilsous folies, and it is for those folies that Riel poured out the blood of our bravest Christians on the battlefields of Batocha and Frog Lake. It is for this he ruined our Christian families by pillage and fire. It was a horrible consequence of his plans that the blood of the whites and our dear and zealous conferees was spilled, massacred by Indians under his orders. I myself, with three of my conferees and six good sons of our schools were in a state of siege at St. Antoine Mission, after being violently torn from our own missions. During the battle of Batocha, which lasted four days, we found ourselves between the fires of the two armies continually. The bullets which whistled about us riddled our houses and our church."

"One of us, the Rev. Father Moulin, the director of the mission, was badly wounded in the thigh. The Rev. Father LeGoff owed his safety to the devotion of his Christians, who pulled him out of the hands of the assassins."

"Father Fourmond adds that he and his fellow-prisoners, victims of Riel's cruelty, exposed by him to a frightful death, were only delivered by the arrival of General Middleton. We do not reproduce these words again to hurt Riel, but to point out that it is wrong to represent him as persecuting the national and religious causes. Between the windy discourses of our Ronges and the declarations of our missionaries one should not hesitate.—Le Minerve, Montreal."

BOILERS EXPLODE.

Fourteen Men Seriously and three Fatally Injured.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 3.—Shortly after three o'clock this morning a battery of boilers at the Solar Iron Works of Clark & Co., on Thirty-sixth street, exploded with disastrous effect. The night turn had just been relieved by the day force when the explosion occurred, and that portion of the works in the vicinity of the boiler was filled with a cloud of steam. Through the dense mist came shrieks and groans, which told the employees beyond the reach of danger that a frightful calamity had overtaken a number of their fellow-workmen. When the steam had cleared away a rush was made for the spot where the explosion occurred, when it was ascertained that the mud drum of the boilers had exploded and the escaping steam had scalded seventeen men. Closer investigation showed that of this number 14 were badly burned and that three were fatally injured. Of the three who have since died—Thomas Cottle and John Murray. Three or four others are not expected to recover. Severely had the hills along the Allegheny ceased to reverberate the tones of the explosion when frenzied, frightened wives, mothers and children began to rush upon the scene and peer anxiously into the faces of the gasping, dying men, seeking to identify their loved ones, or enquiring in agonized tones if they had escaped. Women half-dressed, others putting on their clothing as they ran, children almost nude and screaming at the top of their voices, crowded and jostled each other in the mad rush for the mill. Arriving there there was a scene for a moment, and then a woman's wail was heard, and another and another, until their was nothing but a discordant chorus of feminine shrieks and groans and cries of anguish. The cries and groans of the perished men would occasionally rise above the women's voices. It was an awful scene, and the physicians who were at this time said they were almost unnerve by the sight and in the presence of so much human suffering, physical and mental. The 14 who were found lying in all positions. Some of them were so far away from the battery that it seemed impossible they could have been struck by the explosion.

The interior of the finishing mill presented a terrible scene of desolation after the accident. The boilers, six in number, form a battery, which is located in the extreme southwest corner of the mills. The mud-drum runs lengthwise under all six boilers. It was the end of this which blew out.

The explosion was caused by mud settling through the covering of the mud drum. Pieces of the drum were picked up which were not more than the thirty-second part of an inch in thickness.

TO BE HANGED.

John Eastbrooke Sentenced for Murdering His Brother and Sister-in-Law.

WELAND, Oct. 3.—John Eastbrooke was placed on trial charged with the murder of his brother, Alexander, and the latter's wife, Leahy, in 1884. The evidence was the same as given at the inquest. At 11 o'clock the jury retired and three-quarters of an hour later came in with a verdict of guilty. On the usual question being put to him the prisoner said he had nothing to say why sentence should not be passed upon him.

The judge pronounced sentence in the following words:—"I have a very solemn duty to perform and can hold out no hope to the prisoner. I advise him to prepare to meet his God. The sentence of the court is that the prisoner, John Eastbrooke, be taken hence to county goal, there confined until the 20th of November, when to be taken to the place of execution within the walls of Weland county goal and hanged by the neck until dead, and may God have mercy on your soul." The prisoner received his sentence without any manifestation of emotion.

BEE HUNTING IN AUSTRALIA.

In Australia the native adopts a very peculiar plan of discovering wild honey. He knows that bees never wander very far from home, seldom more than two miles; and he also knows that when a bee is laden with honey it makes, as nearly as possible, a straight line for home. All that is necessary, then, is to find a bee that is well laden and follow it. But that is more easily said than done. Any boy who has tried to follow the big and gay colored bumble bee to its nest knows how great a task it is. "At that is a mere trifle to following the sober little honey bee, which can be lost, like a dream, against the gay colored bird side."

In order to be followed the bee must have a distinguishing mark that can easily be seen, and with such a badge the Australian provides it. He gums a small circle of white cotton to the bee's back, and thus follows it with comparative ease.

But the question now comes up, how is the cotton to be put upon the bee's back? The gum is quickly found—it is on almost any tree; the cotton grows right at hand. The bee, too, is found in almost any sweet flower, buried head first in the dust pollen, drinking in the nectar, and showing quite plainly whether its honey sac is full or empty. It moves a little in its eager haste to secure the delicious liquid, but per haps a quick dab will fasten the cotton on its back. Do not try it. As the little boy told his mother, the bee is a very "quick flier."

Watch the Australian—and he is a very stupid fellow, too, and does things. He fills his mouth with water, has his snowy tuft of cotton ready gummed, finds his bee, gently drenches it with water spurted from his mouth, picks it up while it is still indignantly shaking itself free from the water which closes its wings, and with a dexterous touch he affixes in an instant the tell tale cotton.

Very much out of patience, no doubt, with the sudden and unexpected rainstorm, the bee rubs off the tiny drops from his wings, tries them, rubs again, and soon—buz! buzz! buzz! away it goes, unconsciously leading destruction and pillage to its happy home.—St. Nicholas for October.

LITTLE BEGINNING.—The steam which raised the lid of the kettle led a phantasmic race to allow it to be man's benefit. No one dreamed that we should now be dragged along by it, at the rate of sixty miles an hour. LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

County Court Term.

The county court term opened to-day, His Honor Judge Denslow presiding. An application for the administration of the John Beavis estate was laid over. No other business was done.

Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Fresh to strong west and north winds; partly cloudy, cold weather, with a few local showers or snow buries.

Try T. FLAHERTY for a nobby, well-made suit of clothes. R. G. Kilpatrick, the boss cutter, is in attendance.

An Electrified Police.

About three months ago one of the residents in the vicinity of St. Paul's Church missed his cat. Thorough search throughout the neighborhood failed to discover the whereabouts of pusey, and the owner concluded that she had departed for parts unknown. On Saturday afternoon the Electric Light Company had occasion to go up into the tower of St. Paul's Church to make some alterations in the position of the wires. There, to his surprise, he found a cat, stark and stiff, lying over the wire. He brought the feline down and on being shown was claimed by the owner as the missing pusey.

Don't fail to visit Turnbull's Grand Dry Goods and Millinery opening on Wednesday and Thursday, October 7th and 8th.

A Spin.

On Saturday afternoon Mr. J. E. McIntyre's two running horses, Nancy Lee and Grey Bird, were hitched to a buggy and taken down to the Driving Park to try a spin against their own time. R. Purcell sat behind the fiers and brought them around the first half mile in 1.07. "Bob" White, Jr., was then handed the lines to see what he could make them do. The result was that they came around in three seconds less, 1.04 being the time. Quite a number of spectators were down, and there were some among them who thought that the pair could do the track in less than a minute if they got warmed up their work.

Grape Vines Rained.

During the past few nights some gang of rascals have been systematically stripping the fruit from the vines of several of the best grape gardens. They seem to have had the best of the gardeners, as they have been down upon when the fruit was ripe. It is annoying in the extreme to those who have spent the several seasons in watching their vines and caring for them to find that during the night they have not only been relieved of their fruit, but the vines themselves have been broken down and almost destroyed. "I tell you what it is," said an indignant grape grower to-day, "if I had seen the pilferers that stole my grapes last night I would have shot them as dead as a knut."

A Palpable Hoax.

On Sunday afternoon the following note was handed to Chief of Police Johnston on George street by a person who stated that it had been found tied to a robin's neck by Johnnie Nethercut:—

PETERBOROUGH, Oct. 4.

Sunday morning.
Anyone finding this please hasten to the quarry where I am lying desperately wounded by robbers.

J. A. MACDONALD.
DEATH RYAN.

Mr. Johnston immediately wired up the information brought in by the robin of the "fool" deed. He concluded that some one was having a "lark," so neither himself nor Constable Pidgeon went out to see Mr. "Jay" A. Macdonald or his fellow "lying desperately." In fact, he did not believe one word regarding the "robin's" business, and concluded that the whole affair was a cock and bull story.

HALL'S FACTORY.

A Storey and a Half Added to the Building—Increased Facilities.

No citizen but can view with satisfaction the onward strides in business which is being made by Mr. G. W. Hall, wholesale biscuit and confectionary manufacturer.

Not many months ago his biscuits were placed in the same class as those manufactured by Christie, Brown & Co., Toronto, Steinson, Auld & Co., Montreal, and other first class makers. And now it can be said that the biscuits turned out for sale from this establishment are equal in quality to the best made in the Dominion.

Another sign of progress has made its appearance during the last week or two. The increasing trade of the establishment demands increased facilities. The demand is being supplied and the building is being increased to nearly double its former size. A storey and a half has been added, and now the establishment is all but four stories in height. The new flats will be utilized to the best advantage. New machinery will be added, and when completely furnished the factory will be able to fully supply the demands of the trade.

It may be said just here that all those who saw Mr. Hall's display of goods at the Central Exhibition were highly delighted with it. But Mr. Hall informs us that, owing to press of business, he had not time to show one-quarter of the goods he manufactured. Seventy-five different kinds of confectionery were exhibited in a very tasteful manner, but the chief of the department says that the factory turns out over five hundred kinds of goods in confectionery. The show of biscuits was not nearly up to what the factory can do. But preparations on a large scale are now being made for an immense exhibit at Christmas. The moulds are being made for kinds of confectionery and biscuits entirely new. The exhibition will be made in the remodeled show room and it will, without doubt, be well worth coming miles to see.

The new Hat Shoppe, Lywood, Carleton Place, will be open for the first time at Turnbull's Grand Millinery Opening, Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 7 and 8.

Electric Light.

The electric light was placed in position in the lecture room of the Business College this afternoon. We understand this is the only college in the country that is thus lighted.

See A. Clegg's new device in Furniture.

St. John's South Ward S.S.

In aid of St. John's South Ward Sunday School, a series of useful and fancy articles will be held on Wednesday, Oct. 7, afternoon and evening, in the empty house next the Charlotte Street Methodist Church. Admission 5 cents, tea, 20 cents.

New Fall and Winter Goods are arriving every day at T. FLAHERTY'S new store on Hunter street. If you are in need of anything in the Gent's Furnishing line, call and examine his stock. Mr. R. G. Kilpatrick is the cutter.

St. Luke's C.E.T.S.

A devotional meeting in connection with the above Temperance Society will be held in St. Luke's church, Ashburnham, to-morrow (Tuesday) evening at 7.30 p.m. An address will be delivered by the Rev. J. Farquhar. The public are heartily invited. The annual meeting of the Society will afterwards take place.

Busy.

The Business College presented a lively appearance to-day. From 9 a.m. till 2 p.m. there was a constant stream of young ladies and gentlemen and parents passing in to register for to-night's work. The course is an admirable one, and we believe very many are going to take advantage of this way of obtaining a new and practical start in life. It is a splendid thing for the town and we hope that all will patronize the college liberally the first year of its existence at least, until it is thoroughly established, when the patronage from abroad will not only support it, but bring much good to the town.

The Cheapest and Best Assorted Stock of Fall and Winter Goods in Peterborough is to be found at T. FLAHERTY'S new Gent's Furnishing store on Hunter street, opposite the Oriental Hotel. R. G. Kilpatrick is engaged as cutter.

Living Wonders.

Mr. Ed. Brown, the Leamdowne Roller-Skating manager, is again to the fore with a greater and in every way more superior attraction than ever for this and to-morrow evenings. He has secured the services of England's greatest living wonder, the Lane Bros. They are the acknowledged kings of all bicyclists and skaters, and give one of the most refined, graceful, scientific and marvellous exhibitions ever witnessed. They have performed throughout Great Britain, France, Belgium, Germany, Austria, Spain, Russia, etc., with unbounded success. Everyone should see this, the best risk entertainment in the world. This extraordinary bicycle entertainment consists of the most wonderful feats ever performed on bicycles. Riding the bicycle in every conceivable way, both single and in combination; astonishing juggling acts whilst riding at full speed with the handle bar removed; marvellous manipulation of balls, flaming torches, bottles, daggers, etc.; the illuminated labyrinth, plate spinning, extraordinary Japanese ring and umbrella tricks and double bat spinning whilst standing on shoulders; acrobatic feats, stooping, leaning over tilting bridges with the other on shoulders; riding three high on one bicycle without handle bar; standing erect on shoulders blindfold and enveloped in a sack; the bicycle going at full speed, and a host of other feats never before attempted.

Being opened up at Turnbull's, some new, some Lane Cellars, Timoci, Fells, Cream and Coffee Loos for his Grand Dry Goods and Millinery Opening on Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

"ANOTHER EXHIBITION."

Recapitulation of a Sermon Preached by the Rev. I. Torvell.

The sermon delivered by the Rev. I. Torvell on Sunday night brought together a large attendance at the George street Methodist Church.

He referred the people to II. Timothy, II., 15 for his text:—

"Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the truth from the word."

After some preliminary remarks the rev. gentleman said that at this season great fairs were being held throughout the length and breadth of the land. A great industrial fair had been held in Toronto and in our own town we had held an exhibition of considerable size and importance. At all of these fairs prizes were earned, won and awarded. While in attendance at our own fair the thought had struck him that this life was a greater exhibition than all of these. It was a huge amphitheatre in which untold millions were competing. But mark the exhibit. It was not the product of men's hands; not the product of the soil, but it was thyself which was to be shown. "Study to show thyself." The exhibit might be divided into two parts—character and conduct. These two conditions made up man's whole being. They were as intimately related as the veins of water flowing to a well and the well itself, as the roots of a tree to the tree itself. "Tell me what is in a man's heart," said the preacher, "and I will tell you what he will do; tell me what his intellect feels, and I will tell you what he will become." In all exhibitions there were prizes to be competed for—so was there in this great exhibition. At our own exhibition he had gone into a ring where cattle were being judged. There were four animals inside the ring. The judge passed from one to the other, and at last arrived at his decision. He presented the prize tickets to one, two and three, but the boy in care of the fourth led him off without a prize. He had stood on the grand stand and had witnessed the trial of speed between those two noble animals. One won the first heat and the other came in slightly ahead in the second, winning the second heat. The third, he had learned, was not contested, for one of the horses had since died. So it was with the world's affairs. Some would win and some would lose. Some received the plaudits of the crowd, and others were cast out into the cold shades of oblivion. But in the exhibition of life there was one prize that all might win; the approval of God. Oh, what a sweetly blessed thing was this! It was as the refreshing dew upon the grass, sparkling and glistening in the sun, like myriads of diamonds. The "well done" of the Lord fell like liquid drops of music upon the winning soul. But in all exhibitions there was also a judge. In the exhibition of life there was one also. One, unlike those of the world, subject to error and mistake but one infallible and unerring and indisputable. Besides being a loving father he was also a God of justice, and could not look with the slightest degree of favor on sin of any kind. From his judgment there was no appeal to any board of directors; His "begone" and "come ye" was final. But it was through the works of Jesus Christ within us that was to enable us to reach out for this grand prize. Jesus was at a lapidary. Give him the gem, however rough, and he could work and polish it so that it would glitter with dazzling brightness. He was as a great sculptor carving out man's character, as a master potter moulding and fashioning men's nature. He urged the people to put their moral and mental faculties, as materials, into the keeping of Jesus Christ, for the closing day of the exhibition was approaching, and on that day each and every one would be called upon to either ascend to triumph to receive his prize, or to sink into outer darkness and oblivion.

POLICE COURT.

A WAIVER CASE.

MONDAY, Oct. 5.—M. Grier charged D. Faucher with the non payment of $63.62, the amount of wages due him for service on the steam yacht Pearl.

Mr. Faucher defended the case, claiming that he did not owe the complainant that sum. The charge was proved and the amount was ordered to be immediately paid.

The "Pearl" Sold.

The steam yacht "Pearl" was sold this afternoon at half past two o'clock in the Ottawa river, just below the Ontario and Quebec railway bridge. The yacht was owned by Mr. D. Faucher, and was sold to satisfy a mortgage held by Mr. Henry Best, amounting to $800. The yacht brought $400, Mr. W. H. Chamberlain being the buyer.

—Oh, the bills, groans the unhappy father.
—The Gas Company are still extending their mains.
—And the Waterworks Company are making good progress in digging the trenches for the new line of mains.

A Young Girl's Terrible Death.

Peterborough, Oct. 3.—A shocking accident occurred here to-day to Miss Alice Heywood. It appears the young lady was going for a pail of water and had to cross some machinery that was used in jerking oil wells, and in doing so her clothes came in contact with a revolving wheel, which completely wound her around, severing her arms from her body. The poor girl lingered for about two hours in intense pain, and then death came to her relief. She was to have been married on Thursday.

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1885.

WE ARE BRITONS.

There are two or three newspapers in Canada which have for some time advocated Canadian independence, principal among them being the Weekly Toronto World and the more staid Montreal Star. The World is giving more attention to the subject at present, it having been encouraged to do so by the outspoken advocacy of independence by some of the delegates to the Young Liberal Convention. It is a pretty subject to dilate upon, so long as it goes no further than talk. It is pleasing to speak of Canada no longer backing in the moonlight of reflected glory, but by a short step attaining to the full splendor of national noonday. Such talk is apt to please the ear of the youthful patriot whose ardour is stronger than his good sense, and to tickle the fancy of the young Canadian who does not pause to consider the solid advantages of our present position. The advocates of independence affect to sneer at sentiment, yet none appeal to sentiment more than they. The loyal Canadian—loyal to the British Empire, of which he is a citizen, as well as to the Dominion in which he lives—does feel bound by sentiment to the old land and the old flag, but he has other reasons for clinging to the connection which has proved so profitable to the many colonies of Britain. Since as well as sentiment urges him to the conclusion that Canada is in a better position as a part of the Great Empire than she would be if she were standing alone.

The principal monetary objection of the independence advocates to British connection is the expense of the Governor-General. But if Canada were entirely independent we would still have to pay a head of the Government, and, further, if he were elected by the people, there would be a large outlay in the election. And that is the only expense that British connection puts upon us, while, if Canada were independent, we would have to meet all the expenditure necessary in maintaining consulates, protecting our commerce and all the other outlays incumbent upon a nation. Even if Canada did not feel the bond of sentiment and loyalty strong enough to bind them to England, the substantial considerations are sufficient to cause them to hold to the union. But when both inclination and interest unite in binding them to the Empire, the few advocates of a radical change will have considerable difficulty in adding to their numbers. As Canada grows the Empire's strength will increase, the great nation will become greater, and we will be still proud to have the flag of Britain floating over our homes.

A Reform paper says that Sir John Macdonald "dare not" hang Louis Riel. It is the Quebec members of the Reform party who say that Riel must not be hung, and the Ontario members of the party are delighted because the wing of the party is trying to cause trouble. Their attitude amounts to saying:—"Talk away, Messrs. David and Laframboise; praise Riel and denounce the English as vigorously as you can. It may cause bad feeling and trouble, we know, but it will embarrass Sir John." Precious rules of our Dominion they would make!

The Brookville Recorder contains the following:—"The Peterborough Review quotes one sentence from a recent editorial in the Recorder, respecting the duty on coal oil, as follows: 'It will have it if it takes the trouble to read our article through.'"

The article did not explain how the tariff adopted by Parliament after the Conservatives returned to power affected the price of coal oil. What we wish the Recorder to explain is, how the present duty has affected the price of the article when it is no higher than it was when Sir Richard Cartwright was the Minister of Finance.

The Queen Attends a Funeral.
The Queen yesterday attended a funeral of James Bowman, Her Majesty's oldest gamekeeper, who met with a fatal accident last week. Yesterday morning Her Majesty, Princess Beatrice, and Princess Frederica of Hannover, drove from Balmoral castle to Bowman's house at Inver, and each of them placed a wreath of hawthorn and everlasting flowers on the coffin. In the afternoon Her Majesty, attended by the Hon. Frederick Fitzroy and the Hon. Harriet Plumptre, met and joined the funeral procession at Inver, and the Queen rose in her carriage as the hearse passed. The party from Balmoral, who walked in the procession all the distance from Inver to Craigmiles churchyard, about four miles, included Gen. Gardiner, Capt. Biggs, and the Hon. A. Yorke. The attendance numbered about 200. —London Daily News.

A Fatal Collision with a Cow.
VICTORIA, B. C., Oct. 5.—A Yale sportsman is a frequent comrade on the Canadian Pacific railway near Kamloops by which one white man and five Chinese were killed and a number wounded. A cow threw the engine from the track. The men were badly mangled.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

IN ENGLAND AS IN CANADA.

There is, however, one point upon which Liberals of every section are agreed. They are determined to resist with all their strength any attempt which may be made to impose upon the country another five or six years of Tory rule. —Leeds (England) Mercury (Laborer).

THEY MUST BE ADVERTISERS.

Is anything the matter with the times? The case of the two leading dry goods houses of Chicago for the two weeks ending last Saturday night were considerably over $1,000,000 a week for each house. In other words, these two Chicago houses alone have sold between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000 worth of dry goods to country merchants within the last fourteen days. The times seem all right. —Chicago Tribune.

THE QUEEN ANNES MUST GO.

There are some specimens of the Neo-Renaissance architecture produced in the present era of construction that will always preserve their quaint beauty; but it will not be many years before the spawn of cheap nonconformity will go under the name of Queen Anne. It will seem to be as inartistic a conventionalism as any of its predecessors. —Pittsburg Dispatch.

ADDING INSULT TO INJURY.

The Winnipeg Free Press is one of the grittiest Grits that ever scratched gravel in the bottom lands of Opposition, but it flouts the late Young Liberal convention in a way that the Independent press has not attempted, nor the Tory press surpassed. It alleges that the delegates have "created a feeling of disappointment" by doing what did not need doing. It was said that they had not done it. The Free Press advises the Young Liberals to "take a protected rest, in the widest sense of that expressive word." Was it not enough that the party wire pullers should have choked off the Independent delegates, and that the majority should have tamely submitted to manipulation, without the organs adding insult to injury? —Toronto World (Indep. Ref.).

THE ELEMENTARY TEACHER.

The work of the elementary teacher is really the most important in the whole range of educational endeavor and it is far too generally underestimated. She lays the foundation, and on that, we need scarcely say, depends the stability of the superstructure. The happy-sounds that she gives to the youthful mind, may last through life. Unless she is able and honest, and wise, she leaves to her successors difficulties with which they can hardly cope. —Missquoi Record.

INCONSISTENT.

The peculiar sort of consistency of which the Grit party have a monopoly was beautifully exemplified in the debate on the Franchise Bill. They hewed in eloquently the points of the Reviving Barri-ter by the Government and moved for their appointment by the Judges. And yet, a few months previously, the same party took from the J. C. as the power of appointing the clerks and justices of the peace, which they had previously enjoyed for many years. The Grits have, on don't, great confidence in the judiciary—when it suits their purposes to say so. —Bellefleur-Intelligencer.

A BLIND STRADDLER.

The Grits are pleased to be facious at the expense of the independent press, which it accuses of being given to an excessive use of the words "however," and "nevertheless," and to "wrenching the straddling." Our alphabetic contemporary is quite pleased with these mild second hand sarcasms, which certainly do reveal a little of the mental gloom of its dry-dock victims. It is unfortunate for the harmony of the party that they should hit the Free Press, Montreal Witness and several other Grit organs, which criticised the mismanagement of the Young Liberal convention, for it was such criticism that caused the chief organ's rage against the independent press. Worse still, the Free Press itself at the same time, within the last month alone it has straddled the salary grab, manhood of the press, commercial union, Canadian independence, the Riel question, in fact every question that has been occupying public attention. From being a brazen head it has become a dough face. —Toronto World (Indep. Ref.).

CONTENTS OF A CATFISH.

Finding the shoes and buttons of a Small Negro Boy.

A correspondent of the Atlanta Constitution, writing from Bartow, Ala., says:—"About ten days ago small negro boy, whose mother lives on the Alabama River, about two miles from this place, was missing. The child was in the habit of playing near the river bank, and it is supposed fell into the river and was drowned; and, as the mother seemed indifferent about the loss, very little search was made for the body. This morning at an early hour some negroes discovered very large catfish playing in the river near the landing at this place, and securing some boats and a seine the monster was soon landed on the bank, where it was quickly surrounded by a group of astonished spectators. The fish was carried to the depot and weighed, tipping the beam at 187 pounds. One of our butchers purchased it from the captors, intending to ship it to Montgomery or Selma for sale. On opening the fish the butcher was horrified to find a pair of small shoes, a hat and what appeared to have been a pair of pants and shirt. While an excited group of citizens were discussing the remarkable find, some suggested that perhaps the fish had swallowed the missing negro boy. The matter was sent for and at once identified the shoes and hat as belonging to the boy that was supposed to have been drowned, and there is no doubt but the fish had swallowed the body and failed to digest the clothing. The missing boy was about 5 years old, but of small stature for that age, and no one who has seen it doubts the fish's ability to swallow a body of that size."

SMALLPOX IN MONTREAL.

One Hundred Deaths on Saturday and Sunday.—The Evening Star reports.

MONTREAL, Oct. 5.—There were rumors to-day of a serious outbreak last evening. Placards were posted at Mile End, which is near the new hospital, reading, "down with typhoid." The Mayor called out again all the volunteer forces and published in the evening papers a card asking all law-abiding citizens to endeavor to prevent a collision with the authorities. These precautions had the desired effect, and everything was quiet. One hundred and seventy-five men of the Victoria Rifles were on duty all night at the new hospital on the exhibition grounds. B. Batters, of Quebec, has been ordered ready for service at Montreal at a moment's notice.

The health office yesterday reported 73 new cases of smallpox, of which 45 were reported. Fifty-nine deaths were reported. The deaths for the week ending Friday night in the city were 321 Monday being the highest with 62. In the districts for the same time the deaths were 80. During the month of September 286 deaths were recorded, of which 817 were in the city, 89 in St. Jean Baptiste, 23 in St. Charles, 1 in St. Gabriel, 16 in St. Henri, 29 in St. Louis, 1 in Maisonneuve and 12 unknown.

A Beautiful Incident.

A poor Arab travelling in the desert met with a spring of clear, sweet, sparkling water. Used as he was to only brackish wells, such water as this appeared to his simple mind worthy of a monarch, and filling his leathern bottle from the spring, he determined to go and present it to the caliph himself.

The poor man travelled a long way before he reached the presence of his sovereign and laid his humble offering at his feet. The caliph did not despise the little gift, brought to him with so much trouble. He ordered some of it to be poured into a cup, drank it, and thanking the Arab with a smile, ordered him to be presented with a reward. The courtiers around pressed forward, eager to taste the wonderful water; but to the surprise of all, the caliph forbade them to touch a single drop.

After the poor Arab had quitted the royal presence with a light and joyful heart, the caliph turned to his courtiers and thus explained his conduct: "During the travels of the Arab, said he, 'the water in his leathern bottle became impure and distasteful. But it was an offering of love, and as such I have received it with pleasure. But I well knew that had I suffered another to partake of it, he would not have concealed his disgust; and therefore I forbade you to touch it. The drink was pure and of a poor man should have been wounded.' —Amor.

He Took the Others.

A gentleman who paid the best price for his provisions, and who liked to live as well as did his neighbors, was once deceived by his purveyor in the age of some poultry he bought. Meeting the dealer a few days afterwards, he walked up to his wagon and inquired:—"Got any geese to-day?" "Oh, yes," said the purveyor, "a fine lot."

"How many have you got?" "A dozen—also ones." The customer turned them over, and then he asked:—"Now, you see, I've got a peck of lot of fellows at my house, as they eat a great deal of poultry. Haven't you got any tough ones?" "Well, yes," said the dealer, picking them over. "There's one, two, three, four, five of 'em."

"Is that all the tough ones you've got?" "Yes, yes; that's all," said the dealer, separating the tough ones from the whole, and handing the buyer, "I'll take the other lot." The purveyor looked thoughtful, and, like most thoughtful people, was silent. —Yonah's Companion.

FOR SALE

THE SPLENDID

MILL PROPERTY

Comprising the Circular Saw, Shingle and Grist Mills at the Village of

YOUNG'S POINT

At the outlet of the Otonabee River from Clear Lake, in the County of Peterborough, will be offered for sale by Public Auction, on Friday, the Ninth day of Oct. at Three o'clock, p.m., at

CAVANAGH'S HOTEL,

IN PETERBOROUGH

All these mills are driven by water and are in good working order, and can with the substantial double dwelling house also on the property, be immediately rented for $1500.00.

The water supply at six feet head, is unlimited, and the dam being a Government one, is maintained at its expense.

The situation presents unequalled advantages for the milling business. At the head of river navigation and in close proximity to abundant timber supply, all the expenses, delay and loss of river driving, is avoided, and the manufactured material can be placed on the market before most operators can get their logs to their mills: the adjoining lake affords unlimited access to shipping facilities.

In the centre of a good farming country, a large gristing business is done, and a good market is at hand for the product of all these mills. The Village of Lakeside, five miles distant on the Midland Division of the Grand Trunk Railway, with which three steamboats communicate daily, affords convenient shipping facilities.

An opportunity will be afforded the purchaser of purchasing a considerable extent of timber limits, convenient to the mills, and also a quantity of logs now at the mill.

There will be a reserved bid. Terms: $6000.00, or upwards to be paid at the time of sale, and the remainder thereof in five annual instalments, with interest at 6 per cent. half yearly, to be secured by mortgage on the premises.

THE WOOD GLANT.

From Alton Bay to Sandwich Dome,
From Mad to Mac river,
For patriarchy of the primal wood,
We sought with vain endeavor.

And then we said: "The glants old
Are lost beyond retrieval,
This glanty glant the glants has spared
Is not the wood primal."

"Look where we will, o'er vale and hill,
How idle are your searches,
For broad gibbed maples, wide limbed oaks,
Centennial pines and birches!

"Their tortured limbs the axe and saw
Have changed to beams and timbers;
They rest in walls, they float on seas,
They rot in sunken vessels.

"This shorn and wasted mountain land
Of underbrush and boulder—
Who thinks to see the full-grown tree
Must live a century older."

At last to see a woodland path,
To open mazes leading,
Revealed the Anakin of place,
Our widest wish exceeding.

Alone, the level and before,
Below, the lake's green islands,
Beyond, in misty distance dim,
The rugged Northern Highlands.

Dark Titan on his Sunset Hill,
Of time and change defiant!
How dwarfed the common woodland seemed, before the old time giant.

What marvel that in simpler days
Of the world's early childhood,
Men crowned with garlands, gift and praise
Some monarch of the wild wood.

That Tyrian maid with flower and song
Danced through the bill grove's spaces,
And hoary-bearded Druids found
In woods their holy places!

With some what of that Pagan awe
With Christian reverence blending,
We saw our pine trees' mighty arms
Above our heads extending.

We heard his needful mystic rune,
Now rising and now dying,
As the leaves of his mighty arms
The oak leaves prophesying.

Was it the half-unconscious mood
Of one apart and mates,
The weariness of unshared power,
The loneliness of greatness?

O dawn and sunset, lend to him
Your beauty and your wonder,
By his awe, sing your summer song
His solemn shadow under.

Play lightly on his slender keys,
O wind of summer, wafting
For him the lines, the sound of seas
On far-off beaches breaking.

And let the eagle and the crow
Roar on his still green branches,
When winds shake down his winter snow
In silver avalanches.

The brave are braver for their cheer,
The strongest need assurance,
The sigh of longing they not less
The lesson of endurance.

—John Greenleaf Whittier.

DISTRICT INTELLIGENCE

FENELON FALLS

THE CANAL.—The dredge which, as mentioned in our last issue, commenced on the morning of the 25th to remove the clay with which the canal had been filled, got it all out in three days, and the lower entrance to the locks is now free from obstruction. The stop-logs above the locks are in place, and the canal now contains about three feet of water, which was let in some days ago. A few men are still employed "redding up," but they will be through in about a week, after which there will be nothing more to do until the lock gates are put in, which is not likely to be done until next spring, and perhaps not then.

MAGISTRATE'S COURT.—On Monday morning a lad named Hagan, about 16 years of age, was arrested on information laid by Mr. H. W. Greene, of the firm of Greene & Ellis, and in the afternoon of the same day he was taken before Messrs. John Abbot and James Dickson, J.P.s, charged with having threatened to burn down his employer's mill. The witnesses were E. C. in Lane and Alexander Parker, both in the employ of Greene & Ellis. Lane deposed that the defendant had made the threats in their hearing, but Hagan told a different story. He said that some months ago he had been engaged by Mr. Greene in Peterborough to work for his firm at $6 a month and board; that when he settled up recently he was only allowed $4 a month, and that upon telling the witnesses, in reply to their enquiries, how he had been treated, one of them said it would serve Greene right to level the mill, and the other had expressed the opinion that he ought to be killed. He (Hagan) had simply endorsed the remarks as well as some rather strong language in disparagement of Mr. Greene, but he had neither threatened to burn the mill nor had any intention of doing so. Lane and Parker, however, declared positively that he had openly made such threats in their presence, and the magistrate finally bound the defendant over to keep the peace, himself in $500 and two sureties in $250 each, or to go to gaol for six months. As he had neither money nor influential friends he was sent next day in charge of Constable Neilson to Lindsay, where he will probably have to serve his time, unless the judge does something for him, or the friends he claims to have at Peterborough become his sureties. —Gazette.

FROM ALL OVER.

THE extension of Latin Monetary Union until January, 1887, is now assured.

NATIONAL PILLS is the favorite purgative and anti-bilious medicine, they are mild and thorough.

ADVICE from Madagascar say the Hovas have surrounded and are shelling Tamatave.

A CRYING EVIL.—Children are often fretful and ill when Worms is the cause. Dr. Low's Worm Syrup safely expels all worms.

ADMIRAL MITCHELL has proclaimed the blockade of all that part of Madagascar south of Tamatave.

Forty Nihilists have been arrested, the majority of whom are connected with the two colleges in Warsaw.

If you wish long life keep your Stomach and Bowels regular. Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters will do it. Safe. A baby may take them. Try one Bottle, 50 cents, all Druggists.

REMARKS of emigration from Germany show a decrease of 80,000 for the past eight months as compared with 1884.

SATURDAY was observed as a holiday in Manchester, in celebration of the passing of the Manchester Ship Canal bill.

WORMS often destroy children, but Freeman's Worm Powders destroy Worms, and expel them from the system.

The total assessment of the city of Kingston for next year is $6,665,440, an increase over that of the current year of $173,436.

KEEP YOUR HOUSE GUARDED.—Keep your house guarded against sudden attacks of Cholera, Dysentery, Diarrhoea, and Cholera infantum. They are liable to come when least expected. The safest, best and reliable remedy is Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

PRINCE JEROME NAPOLEON, having announced his retirement from politics, has started on a voyage around the world.

The manager of the Ontario Cotton Mills Company, of Hamilton, has been committed for trial for defrauding the corporation of a million dollars of water.

SHOULD BE ATTENDED TO.—Much suffering is the result of neglected constipation there is no better regulator of the bowels than Burdock Blood Bitters by its prompt action on the liver and tendency to irregularity is removed and one chief source of ill health prevented.

The Times of Montreal, the only English Gazette in the Province of Quebec, has suspended publication for the lack of funds after twelve months' existence.

A STRANGE DISEASE.—There is scarcely a symptom belonging to chronic complaints but that is common to the poor dyspeptic, and he often looks as if he were dying in the catalogue. Burdock Blood Bitters cures the worst form of Chronic Dyspepsia.

The cotton and cigar manufacturing industries of Montreal are reported to be in an exceedingly flourishing condition, the orders in hand in both lines being greatly in excess of production.

IN MURRAY & LAMMAN'S FLORIDA WATER the most debilitated and nervous can find relief. Used freely in the water of the bath; its effect is almost marvelous, so strengthening and bracing, and without so exquisitely agreeable.

A SENTRY of the Prince of Wales' Rifle, while on duty at the Exhibition buildings, in Montreal on Saturday night accidentally shot a member of the Victoria Rifle, the wounded man dying in the hospital on Sunday morning.

A WANT OF ACTIVITY.—Much of the ill condition of chronic invalids is due to want of activity in a sluggish liver. Burdock Blood Bitters arouses a healthy action of the liver to secrete pure bile, and thus make pure blood which gives perfect health.

THE CHOLERA.—Possibly the Cholera may not reach our locality this season. Nevertheless, we should take every precaution against it. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is a sure cure for Cholera Morbus, Cholera, Cramp, Diarrhoea and Dysentery.

VIGOROUS measures are being adopted to prevent the spread of hog cholera in Essex county, the provincial Government having a veterinary surgeon with instruction to quarantine all infected places, under the Act passed in the last session of Parliament.

LITTLE BEGINNINGS.—The team which raised the lid off the kettle led a phibopio mind to utilize it for man's benefit. No one dreamed that we should now be dragged along by it at the rate of sixty miles an hour. When Perry Davis made a preparation for the medicinal use of his family thirty years ago, neither he nor any other man imagined that it would now be sold in every land, and prove to be the Pain Killer of the world.

Drooping Shoulders.

This is a serious evil. It comprises both appearance and vitality. A drooping figure is not only a familiar expression of weakness or old age, but is, when caused by careless habits, a direct cause of contracted chest and defective breathing. Unless you rid yourself of this crook while at school, you will probably go bent to your grave. There is one good way to cure it. Shoulder braces will not help. One needs, not an artificial substitute, but some means to develop the muscles whose duty it is to hold the head and shoulders erect. I know of but one bull's-eye shot. It is to carry a weight on the head. A sheepskin or other strong bag filled with twenty to thirty pounds of sand is a good weight. When engaged in your morning studies either before or after breakfast, put this bag of sand on your head, hold your head erect, draw your chin close to your neck, and walk slowly into the room, coming back, if you please, every minute or two to your book, or carry the book as you walk. The muscles whose duty it is to hold your head and shoulders erect are hit, not with scolding shot, but with rifle-ball. The bones of the spine and the inter-vertebral substance will soon accommodate themselves to the new attitude. One year of daily practice with the bag, half an hour morning and evening, will give you a noble carriage, without interfering a moment with your studies.

It would be very difficult to put into a paragraph more important instructions than this. Your respiration, voice, and strength of spine, to say nothing of your appearance, will find a new departure in this cure of drooping shoulders.

"El Padre" Cigars.

Universally acknowledged to be the finest 10c cigar manufactured. Don't be persuaded to take other brands. No chemicals or artificial flavorings used.

S. Davis & Sons have moved into their new mammoth factory, the finest of its kind in America. They are the only cigar manufacturers in Canada who manufacture their own cigar boxes and packing cases, which industry gives employment to sixty hands.

Smokers:

Beware of cigars artificially flavored for the purpose of hiding the poor quality of tobacco used in flavored cigars. Insist upon having the old reliable brands—"CABLE" and "EL PADRE."

A trial will convince the most skeptical that S. Davis & Sons' manufacture of cigars are superior in every respect to any in Canada.

Prize medals against the world were awarded to S. Davis & Sons, of Montreal, for their manufacture of cigars, at Paris, 1887, Centennial, 1876, Montreal, 1883-88.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

A Warning.
Those two boys, the one wearing a suit, the other a cap, who last night stole the grapes out of my garden, are requested to come for the remainder, but to take care not to be seen by me. I might be tempted to drive a few grapes through their bodies by means of a revolver.
W. LEECH.

Personal.
We had the pleasure on Monday afternoon of receiving a call from Mr. W. J. Browne, publisher of the Richmond County Democrat, New York State, who was in town visiting his uncle, Mr. Thomas Cahill. Mr. Browne expressed himself as being favorably impressed with what he saw in Peterborough. And, judging from its appearance and surroundings, he thought that the town would soon be a thriving city.

New Fall and Winter Goods arriving every day at T. FLAHERTY'S new store on Hunter street. If you are in need of anything in the Gent's Furnishing line, call and examine his stock. Mr. R. G. Kilpatrick is the cutter.

Books Recollections.
We have received from the publishers, Messrs. J. B. Ogilvie & Co., New York, a copy of a new series of recollections, called "The Recollections and Readings." It has been compiled and prepared by Mrs. Anna Randall-Wheel, and is a very good collection, from which suitable recollections or readings may be obtained for school exhibitions, literary organizations, temperance societies, &c.

Dissolution of Partnership.
As will be seen by an advertisement in another column, Messrs. Hugh Quirk and Wm. V. Todd, who have heretofore carried on the cigar manufacturing business in Peterborough, under the name of Quirk & Co., have, by mutual consent, dissolved partnership. Mr. Todd retiring from the business. Mr. Quirk will carry on the business in the future, and the name of the firm will continue the same. Mr. Quirk intends to push the business with even more vigor than ever. A considerable addition has been made to the number, and the efficiency of staff, each one being an experienced hand. The trade may expect nothing else than articles embodying both first-class materials and a number one workmanship.

The Bookst.
The Fall Assizes opens at the Court House on Thursday next. Mr. Justice O'Connor will be the presiding judge. The list of the cases is as follows:—

JURY CASES.
McCANN vs. FARMSTEAD—An action for false imprisonment.
SHERIDAN vs. FIDON—An action for malpractice.

To-night To-night!
The Lane Brothers will give their last performance in the Lansdowne Roller Rink this evening, when they will give a grand exhibition of schief and trick skating in superb Russian costumes, introducing the most difficult and intricate steps and combined evolutions, London skating club figures, wonderful gyrations through rows of colored lamps, dexterous feats of jugglery on skates, and hundreds of other novel acts. A proof of the genuine and high class nature of the Lane Bros.' entertainment may be found in the fact of their having filled six engagements at the Royal Aquarium, Brighton, Eng., extending over a period of 22 weeks, and during that time performed upwards of 200 times, before the largest and most enthusiastic audiences that ever assembled there. In the past seven years they have given nearly seven thousand public exhibitions at all the best places of amusement in Europe. Go and see them to-night.

PETERBOROUGH STREET RAILWAY.

One of the Directors of the Company says it will be constructed.

While the central exhibition was being held here last week it was the wish among nearly everyone who were compelled to either ride in crowded lumbering buses, or to walk over half a mile in clouds of dust, so as to reach the grounds, that the street railway was in operation.

The company which was formed two years ago, seem to have become alive to the fact that it would be a paying speculation to proceed with the construction of the George street line at least, for while in conversation with one of the directors and one of the officers, it was stated to our reporter that there was every probability of the work's being commenced this fall or next spring. "The capital necessary to build the George street line," said the director, "will not be great, and it will give us an idea as to how a more extended route would pay."

If this action be taken by the Peterborough Street Railway and Transfer Company, it will be more than ever necessary that George street, from the present terminus to the town limit, be opened up. Not only were the thousands of people who attended our recent exhibition put to considerable inconvenience by having to take a roundabout way to the grounds, but all those who attend the various matches, events in the Driving Park, holiday amusements in the park grounds, also feel the inconvenience. The desirability and, we may say, necessity of opening the street has been more than once pointed out, and the longer it is deferred the more it will cost, for the lots now vacant in the space through which the street will run are fast being covered with buildings.

On January 30th, 1885, the first meeting of the company was held in Mr. Henry Rush's office. Mr. R. A. Morrow was elected President; Mr. W. B. Ferguson, Secretary; and Messrs. Henry Read (formerly Secretary of the Midland Railway), Henry Rush and R. P. Boucher, Directors. The capital stock of the company is one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000), divided into 1,000 shares at $100 each. Twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) of the capital stock has been now subscribed subject to call.

In answer to an enquiry as to how the railway would be run, the director stated that horses would be exclusively used, that is, of course, if the scheme is carried out. The cable system would be too expensive and steam engines would not answer the purpose as well as horses.

FAIRWEATHER & CO'S MILLINERY.

The First Day of the Opening—The Rooms Luxuriant With the Latest Novelties.

The old established firm, Fairweather & Co., held their fall opening to-day, and as may be expected, the show of millinery, mantles, etc., was not behind that at any similar event held by the firm.

This season the millinery department in charge of Miss Crowland, of Toronto, and she, together with her assistants, has decorated the rooms in a most pleasing and artistic manner. The products of the looms of England, France and the United States are caught up in folds with deep hued flowers of the Orient, the gaudiness and audacity of the tropics, or the delicate tints of northern climes.

Mirrors sloping here and there almost concealed in the richness of velvets, plushes and laces, duplicate the lovely scene. Tables on which a forest of hats and bonnets are arranged on high stands, in every style, from the pet little hat for the mist to the staid, quiet looking one for the matron, are standing in the centre of the room. Cases of silver and glass contain special lines of millinery.

The show this fall abounds in all the latest designs of trimming, in ribbons, silks, satins, feathers, wings, etc., etc.

The mantle department is not the least. An extra fine line of mantle and dolman cloths, of different kinds, is shown, together with a large assortment of ready made articles.

TRY T. FLAHERTY for a baby, well-made suit of clothes. K. G. Kilpatrick, the best cutter, is in attendance.

RINKLETS.

AN EXHIBITION.

The Lane Bros. opened a two night's engagement at the Lansdowne Roller Rink on Monday evening. At nine o'clock they made their appearance on the floor attired in their beautiful Russian suits, and gave a good exhibition of roller skating and juggling, lasting about half an hour. They then retired to prepare for the bicycle exhibition. After about fifteen minutes' intermission they again came on the floor in a different costume, and went through a series of difficult and astonishing movements on the bicycle, consisting of riding the machine at full speed, jumping off and on, taking off the handle bars, standing on the seat, and similar movements. They placed a number of lanterns on the floor and rode in and out amongst them, brought the bicycle to a stand and stood on the wheel on each side of the seat and kept two burning sponges spinning on a stick. They then introduced the Japanese ring and umbrella; the double hat trick, and the juggling with knives, balls, fans, bottles, plates, etc., were all of a number one order. The Lane Bros.' engagement closes here this evening, and all who admire bicycling and juggling should go to the rink to-night. Mr. Brown, the manager, announced that he intended to hold a carnival in the rink shortly, before the season closes.

LACROSSE.

THE PROVINCIAL CHAMPIONSHIP.

The match for the Provincial Championship will be played between the Young Canadians, of Richmond Hill, and the Peterboroughs, in the Driving Park grounds to-morrow. The Young Canadians are a first-class provincial team. They have proved themselves to be able to excel the Excelsiors, of Brampton, who defeated our own team last summer. This is the first match of the kind that has ever been played in Peterborough, and no doubt it will draw a large attendance.

The following are the names and positions of those who will compose the team:—

THE TURF.

A RUMOR CORRECTED.

A rumor has been abroad during the past few days to the effect that the death of Colonel T. Mr. A. P. Appleby's stallion, was caused through the negligence of the veterinary attendance. To correct this rumor Mr. Appleby states that he was perfectly satisfied that Dr. Crovier did all in his power to save the animal, and that neither unrelenting attention or care was lacking. He says that the horse was suffering from bronchitis for two weeks before the race, and that speeding him in the hot sun brought on an attack of congestion of the lungs which it was impossible for the best veterinary skill to conquer.

FOOTBALL.

THE COMING MATCH.

The Peterboroughs are in steady practice for the match with the Toronto on Saturday for the association cup. The Toronto have held the cup for two years and if they succeed in defeating their opponents this season they will become owners of it. The Peterboroughs are now a stronger team than ever they were. They are not heavier but they are a great deal faster. They have good "backing" this year, and a marked improvement has been made in the forwards. Above all they have on a number one captain in Percy Myles and it is expected that the Toronto will be given a good game on Saturday.

POLICE COURT.

BEAVIS vs. GRAND TRUNK.

TUESDAY, Oct. 5.—Thomas Beavis brought an action against the Grand Trunk Railway Company for blocking the entrance to his yard. The case was adjourned for further evidence.

Reviving the Thumb Signature.

In medieval times, when one of the fashionable follies was neglect of education, rulers and other gentlemen, instead of making their mark or endeavoring to sign their names, dipped one of their thumbs in ink, and blotted their mark on documents in that way. In some respects it marks the distinction between the signatures even better than the writing employed by civilized people, since the latter may be perfectly imitated, and the thumb imprint cannot be counterfeited. On account of the difficulties which it places in the way of deception, it is probable that the thumb system will be taken advantage of by the new custom house official so as to make it impossible for a return certificate to be used by any Chinese except the one to whom it is regularly issued. No two thumb signatures are alike. Even the imprint of one's right thumb does not correspond with that of the left, and when the two are laid together no Mongol can palm himself off for the real holder of a certificate. The complete difference between the arrangement of the grain of various thumbs has been demonstrated in enlarged photographs of such signatures taken by Taber. The lines of the grain are all that are left on the paper. The photographs were shown to Miss Superintendent Lewin, and he wrote to Secretary Manning advising the adoption of the plan they offered with regard to making Chinese certificates. If this be done, the description of a passing Chinaman, which, as has been found, applies in most or all particulars to other Mongrels, cannot be mistaken.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Encouragement for Bull Boys.

How discouraging it is for a boy of moderate abilities, who aims to do his best, to be told that others accomplish much earlier. That he can only do by hard study in the best days of his youth! Still, as a writer on this subject points out, such a boy has no cause to relax his efforts.

Sir Isaac Newton was pronounced a dunce in his early school days. One day, the "bright boy" of the school gave him a kick which caused him severe pain. The insult stung young Newton to the quick, and he resolved to make himself felt and respected by improved scholarship. He applied himself resolutely to study, and ere long stood in his class above the boy who had kicked him, and ultimately became the first scholar in the school.

Oliver Goldsmith was the butt of ridicule at school. He made no progress in the exact studies, but liked history and Latin poetry. He was a sore trial to his ambitious mother, who made fruitless efforts to quicken his wit by sharp words.

His relatives, teachers and schoolmates all told him that he was a fool, which verdict he did not dispute, but took good-humouredly. And yet by close application he made up for his youthful dullness and became famous. Sir Walter Scott was a dull boy, and when attending the University at Edinburgh went by the name of "The Great Blockhead." But he wasted no time on trifles, and, pursuing a course of study that he loved, was persevering and methodical. His knowledge increased, until it lay like a great volume in his mind. When he began to make use of that knowledge, society gave him his other name, "The Great Magician."

Adam Clark, the great commentator on the Bible, was pronounced by his father to be a "grievous dunce," and Dr. Chalmers was pronounced by his teacher to be an incurable one. Teachers are apt to become impatient over dull boys, and predict of them that they will never come to anything. Such uncalculated prophecies ought to discourage no scholar who tries to do well.

It is a dull boy feels an inspiration stirring within to know something worthy in literature, science or art, let him set his face as a flint toward his object; let him be patient, hopeful and self-reliant, unmoved by laughter and undiscouraged by evil prophecies, ever looking to God for a blessing of his honest efforts, and he will succeed.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty four hours ending from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Light to moderate winds, fair weather, stationary or slightly higher temperatures.

No Oil Wells.

The Ottawa Citizen gives Peterborough credit with having oil wells, and publishes an account of an accident which occurred at one of the wells. The name of the place should have been Petrol. In the words of the country merchant, "Peterborough is out of oil wells, but it has everything else."

Orders from the Country.

Our agent at Coburg sends us a case of books to bind with the following instructions:—"Coburg, Oct. 1st, 1885, "Peterborough Review."

"DEAR SIR,—I send you to-day by freight 6 volumes of Pictorial Canada to be bound. You will please send back as soon as bound, and oblige, yours etc."

New Fall and Winter Goods arriving every day at T. FLAHERTY'S new store on Hunter street. If you are in need of anything in the Gent's Furnishings line, call and examine his stock. Mr. R. G. Kilpatrick is the cutter.

Kicked by a Horse.

This morning while a nine-year-old son of Mr. George Adair, of the Township of Emily, was driving a team of horses from the watering trough, one of them kicked the lad in the forehead, inflicting a very severe wound. The forehead was broken in, but the brain was not much injured. It is quite likely that the little fellow will speedily recover. Dr. Kincaid attended.

The Market.

The market was fairly well attended this morning. The volume of grain of different kinds coming in is considerably on the increase. This morning spring wheat brought from 80 to 90 cts. per bushel; fall wheat from 74 to 86 cents per bushel; barley from 45 to 75 cents, oats from 30 to 32 cents; rye 50 cents; and peas 60 to 62 cents per bushel. Potatoes brought 50 cents per bushel; turnips 30 cents per bushel; and apples from 90 to 95 cents per bushel. Butter sold at 18 and 20 cents, and eggs at 13 and 14 cents per dozen.

The new Hat Shapes, Lywood, Carholson, Lute Mora and Capid, will be on sale for the first time at T. FLAHERTY'S Grand Millinery Opening, Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 7 and 8.

Curling and Skating Company.

The annual meeting of the shareholders in the Peterborough Skating and Curling Company was held on Tuesday evening in the rink parlour. There were present Mr. W. G. Ferguson, President, in the chair, Mr. C. McGill, Secretary, and Messrs. R. P. Boucher, R. S. Davidson, Wm. Manson, J. E. Hammond, E. B. Edwards, and Robt. Fair. The annual report and financial statement was read by the Secretary and was adopted without discussion. The finances of the Company are in a good condition. The receipts for the year were $1,068.74 and the expenditure $1,071.83 leaving a balance of $36.91 in the treasury. The election of Directors then took place. Messrs. W. G. Ferguson, A. Hall, R. S. Davidson, R. P. Boucher, and C. McGill were re-elected. At a meeting of the Directors held immediately after, Messrs. W. G. Ferguson and C. McGill were re-appointed to fill the positions of President and Secretary respectively. Mr. McGill informs us that the rink will be opened for ice skating as soon as the season warrants it.

Challenges Superiority.

One of the articles in which the large factories of the United States excel in producing is that of handsome buggies and carriages of all descriptions. The buggies produced are not only handsome and well made, but they sell at a price, as was evidenced by the sale of American buggies held here a few years ago. But Canadian manufacturers have been making steady strides forward, and in a way some of them can turn out articles that challenge the superiority of the best American make. We have in our own town a fine set of the products of which the proprietors have every reason to be proud. The firm we refer to is Messrs. Porter Bros. Their goods shown at the Central Exhibition commanded the admiration of all, but were especially the hard case New York photo, the subject of much comment. This handsome vehicle Messrs. Porter Bros. have disposed of to Mr. Jas. Stevenson at the low price of $1200. It is really a beauty. It is fitted with the most durable and substantial gearing; a fine top (which is, by the way, from Messrs. Porter Bros. carriage top factory), and the trimming and finishing cannot be excelled. The shafts are particularly well trimmed, the tag holders being of polished leather, extending each way three inches, and the shafts, from the silver-tipped ends to a distance of three feet down, being covered with the same material. Messrs. Porter Bros. are certainly turning out some very fine vehicles.

A STEADY PROGRESSION

IN THE AFFAIRS OF THE PETERBOROUGH REAL ESTATE INVESTMENT COMPANY.

The President's Report at the Seventh Annual Meeting is very satisfactory to the shareholders. The Members of the Investment Committee Receive Salaries.

The seventh annual meeting of the Peterborough Real Estate Investment Company was held in the Company's offices on Water street on Tuesday afternoon.

There were present, Major-Gen. Hamilton, in the chair, John Walton, Vice-President, C. McGill, Sec. Treas., and Messrs. A. P. Pousette, H. J. Levee, the Rev. Vincent Clements, Geo. A. Cox, T. G. Hazlett, A. C. Dunlop, and Wm. Walsh.

Mr. A. P. Pousette, one of the managers, read the minutes of the last meeting. They were confirmed.

SEVENTH ANNUAL REPORT.

The President then read the annual report as follows:—

In presenting their seventh annual report, the Directors are pleased to be able to state that the last fiscal year of the Company's existence has given further evidence of its prosperity and the favor with which it is looked upon by the business public.

At 31st May, 1884 the investment account stood at $358,986.96 (£176,504.48) and at 31st May, 1885, at $1,151,216.82 (£236,501.84) showing an increase of $792,229.86 (£240,047.36) and the surplus balance on account of the income by the sum of £40,021 ($193,628.67) and now stands at the sum of £155,567 ($757,130.07).

The rate of dividend has been maintained, and a further provision for same and all expenses, the sum of $3,000, as has been added to the Reserve Fund and $200.00 carried forward.

Payments of interest during the year have come in satisfactorily and sufficient reduction have been made on principal to indicate the satisfactory nature of the Company's investments.

Last month the Directors had the pleasure of a visit from Mr. Wm. Finlayson, of the firm of Finlayson & Auld, the Company's chief agent in Great Britain. After making an investigation of the management of the Company, he expressed his entire satisfaction with the manner in which the business had been managed.

Mr. Finlayson's previous visit to Peterborough had been of great advantage to the Company in the placing of its debentures, and the Directors have no doubt the report, which his recent inspection will enable him to make will still further add to the favor in which the Company is already held in the Glasgow money market.

The usual statements, certified by the auditors, are appended.

F. M. HAULTAIN, President.

Company, while these other companies were showing a decline of six per cent. This circumstance, alone, showed very conclusively the preference that was given to the Peterborough Real Estate Investment Company.

LECTION OF DIRECTORS.

The following were nominated as members for the directors:—Major-Gen. Hamilton, John Walton, Geo. A. Cox, Richard Hall, J. H. LeVeve, A. P. Pousette, A. C. Dunlop, and T. G. Hazlett. This being the requisite number they were declared by the President to be elected.

THE AUDITORS.

Mr. V. CLEMENTS moved.—That the auditors be re-appointed. In doing this motion, he said that he did not think that better men, nor men to whom could be placed a larger confidence, could be appointed to the position than those who had been in the habit of auditing their books. When the names of Messrs. C. D. Macdonald and E. Pearce had been attached to any document as auditors, he had always felt quite satisfied that the accounts were correct. As a simple stockholder he might here say that it was with the greatest satisfaction that he had heard the annual report read. Of course the report of the directors had been heard the report read before, but this was the first opportunity that he had heard its reading. But more especially would he be satisfied with that part of it which announced that there was now a reserve fund of $3,000. As an old direct of the company he had always held that the directors should be able to show a reserve fund, even if it were to be done at the expense of lowering the rate. He was not favorable to raising the rate, but was rather of the opinion that the rate should be kept down, so as to be concurrent with that of other companies. As a stockholder he was very much gratified at the state of affairs. Indeed he found it very difficult to get the same rate as that declared by the company for his private funds. He felt gratified that the directors had been in a position to declare such a large dividend.

Mr. WALSH seconded the motion and the auditors were duly appointed.

VOTES OF THANKS.

THE PRESIDENT moved, seconded by Mr. H. J. LeVeve.—That the thanks of the shareholders be tendered to our chief agents in Great Britain, Messrs. Finlayson & Auld, and also to the Scottish Board of R. & L. Carried.

The Rev. V. CLEMENTS paid a high compliment to the management of the Company. He was sure that if the whole equity was searched over by a body of men could not be found in whom the shareholders could place so implicit confidence in regard to the safe and satisfactory management of their interests. He presented the Directors the thanks of the shareholders for the manner in which they had conducted the affairs of the Company during the past twelve months.

Mr. LeVeve thought that the Investment Committee were the deserving ones, and he thought the present time a fitting opportunity to vote each of the four members of that committee a salary.

Mr. LeVeve moved, seconded by Mr. Wm. WALSH.—That as a slight recognition of the numerous duties of the members of the Investment Committee they each be voted a salary of $100 a year.—Carried.

The meeting then adjourned.

Just received at Turnbull's an immense stock of India and children's Cashmere gloves and Hosiery in all shades and sizes.

POLICE COURT.

BREACH OF THE LIQUOR ACT.

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 7.—Elizabeth Fee was charged by Inspector Leary with having committed a breach of the Liquor Act, by having sold liquor on Sunday, the 4th October.

The defendant pleaded guilty and was fined $20 and costs.

Edward Tutto, grocer, was charged by Inspector Leary with having sold liquor without license. He denied the charge.

Inspector Leary said that he had no direct evidence and requested that the case be dismissed, which was accordingly done.

Temperature.

On Tuesday night the temperature, as recorded by the Rev. V. Clements's self-registering thermometer, was 23°, or 9° of frost.

The Protestant Home.

The ladies of the Peterborough Protestant Home beg to acknowledge the following donations for September:—Mrs. Wallis, basket of apples and bag of potatoes; Mr. Edwards, bag of apples.

Acknowledgement.

Mrs. Beck wishes to acknowledge the receipt from Mrs. M. Dunford and Miss Wright of a sum between $30 and $40, the proceeds of the entertainment held in St. John's Sunday school room, in aid of the playground of the Young Girls' Friendly Society.

A Very Valuable Animal.

QUEBEC, Oct. 6.—Amongst the 700 valuable imported cattle now in quarantine at Levis is one cow valued at $15,000.

Smallest in Guelph.

GUELPH, Oct. 6.—Guelph has had its first case of smallpox. The wife of Rev. J. C. Smith showed slight symptoms yesterday, and was accordingly treated therefor. The lady has only lately returned from a visit.

Truce declared.

On the first of the month Jim Murry, an Austin landlord, called on Hester A. Ginnis for his rent.

"Mr. Murry, I don't think you ought to charge me rent now, for the month for the rent of the room. When I pay the water rent right into the room through the roof, it leaks."

"What! There is running water in the premises? You will have to pay five dollars extra for that. How I can have you enjoying the water privilege at my expense?"

Lines suggested by Reading "A Poor Man's Complaint" in Monday's Review.

"A laboring man" "With meat in his pan" "Rejoice with water pails" "Should prouder feel" "Than those who read" "Where water's vanity allure."

"None may, 'tis true, "Their barley brew, "And think their homes in cheer; "But how, O friend, "Such ways must tend "To waste, dark and dear."

The rich, you think, "May goblet drink, "Of brandy, ale and wine; "But O, my friend, "Have you the ditch "Their sleeping place in time."

No! Man of toil, "Is not disposed "Thy sacred, precious home; "And brandy 'twill, "For death doth in them foam."

"None out, all hall!" "To the good old pair "Of laughing water pails "Drink there, and then "No longer man, nor freer!"

With brain and hand "Unfettered stand, "Then let the scarce yield pain: "Lash down the bowl, "And ponder good "Of gladness you shall gain."

Hill carried off the New York gold medal, which has been completed for during the last nineteen years. To-day the "Association" match is being finished.

MILLINERY.

A Continuation of the opening days—

Creditable Displays all round.

Measures J. C. Turnbull, James Alexander and Miss E. Delaney held their openings on Wednesday and Thursday. The weather was cool and favorable on the first day, but on the second the threatening weather kept the ladies show rooms look particularly attractive this season. Miss Delaney has purchased her stock, to a great extent, in the New York market.

She has personally selected it, and her customers and the public generally, interested in millinery, can rest satisfied that they will find the latest fashions in hats, bonnets, mantles, and costumes, and in all the latest designs in latest designs in hats and bonnets, ornaments.

A tree of rich plumes stands in the center,

overhung with sparkling aigrettes and tinsel ornaments. Further down on the same side another high case contains birds and birds' wings of all descriptions. A novelty in this case is a hat—

the Huxford. It is one of the latest fashions of the American market. The shape is high, with the brim of a downward slope. The color is slate, and the trimming a simple long sweep of silver tinsel gauze, and a bird. Between the two cases a fashion of ribbons, gloves, etc.,

stretch. Miss Delaney has brought with her from New York two of the newest lines for mantles. The one is plush and the other is velvet and brocade with satin background.

Jersey cloth, with As ratchet trimming, is also a new feature. In hats there is a large display.

The "Glencairn" is a most elegant and pretty hat. It is a light brown velvet, trimmed with dark brown plush, and ornamented by a young parrot. The "Thalia" is a very pretty one.

It is a slate-colored, high crown shape, with rolling brim, trimmed with silver tinsel, relied by two bright upright scarlet wings.

In the ready-made mantles there is a good assortment, and the children's wear department has been in no way forgotten.

MR. J. C. TURNBULL

opens out his stock of millinery in different premises this fall. Heretofore he has found it very difficult to find room for his stock in the old show room. He has secured the store on Simcoe street, just in the rear of his George street store, and has fitted it up in a handsome style. In this store the millinery and mantles are shown.

The new room gives not only more space, but more light and the milliner, Miss Jones, has

HUNTING A THIEF.

A Detective's Trip Around the World—Mexico to Canada via England.

To travel 15,000 miles and expend about $10,000, and all for the purpose of securing one man, with the vague chance of recovering a few hundred dollars of stolen money, seems like "going through a great deal to get very little," as the girl said when she learned the alphabet. But that is what Detective H. G. Julian has just done in the employ of the Bank of Montreal.

The man who was "wanted" was James Robinson, a shoe manufacturer of St. John, N. B. He was charged with swindling the Bank of Montreal, through one of its branches at St. John, out of $40,000 by means of forged promissory notes, and he had run away. The story of Robinson's escape from St. John on May 6th last, his flight in a schooner which he had chartered to bring him to New York, his wandering through the United States and Mexico, and his capture in the city of Mexico, has been briefly told in the newspaper, but it is a detailed account of his adventures and narrow escapes from shipwreck and arrest were written in words like a romance.

The directors of the Bank of Montreal knew well that to send a detective after the fugitive would cost very much more than his capture would bring. Most banks of the country would have declined to "throw good money after bad," and would have judiciously set to work to hush the matter up by paying the news paper reporters to disavow anything about the matter. But the directors of the Bank of Montreal determined to follow the thief to the ends of the earth and to bring him to punishment if it took the whole of their capital to do so. The only man who could do this was the Canadian agent of the Pinkerton Detective Bureau, on his costly journey, but they freely threw away another thousand dollars as a reward for information leading to Robinson's capture.

When the Pinkertons learned through one of their correspondents that Robinson was in the city of Mexico, it was necessary to do some diplomatic work to follow the thief to the ends of the earth and to bring him to punishment if it took the whole of their capital to do so. The only man who could do this was the Canadian agent of the Pinkerton Detective Bureau, on his costly journey, but they freely threw away another thousand dollars as a reward for information leading to Robinson's capture.

There is no extradition treaty between the United States and Mexico, and Robinson could not be arrested as a fugitive. But it happens that the Mexicans are, for political reasons, anxious to conciliate the United States, and so Robinson was sent out a suit which was of great service, and so Robinson was arrested on a convenient pretext. He was a prisoner for a few days, but he was able to get the broad daylight between him and his friends by going to Australia.

When Mr. Julian arrived in Mexico there was a telegram from the Governor-General of Canada, Lord Salisbury, the Prime Minister of Great Britain, and the English Minister in Mexico, the Mexican Government, the result of which was that the "perpetual fugitive" was surrendered to the detective. But a whole month had been consumed in the negotiations, and in the meantime Robinson was in a Mexican prison, where the prisoners are treated like brutes, he had nearly died from his sufferings.

It is a curious fact that Robinson's direct line back to Canada would have been through the United States, and traveled about 4,000 miles in his journey there and back. But the route at St. John was the only one that was open, and he was going from the Herd office to St. John in order to get across the Bay of Fundy.

But the detective set down and planned out his route around the world, and this is the route by which he brought his prisoner back.

The voyage from St. John to St. Paul, Mexico, was made on the royal mail steamer for Havana, then they sailed to Port-au-Prince, Hayti, and thence to Port Royal, Jamaica. They stayed there three days, and Robinson nearly died. He was from a cold climate, and Port-au-Prince and Port Royal are the two hottest places on earth, and it was the most miserable time of his life. On the 6th of the present month he reached St. Paul, Hayti, and he found that he had found a means of escape. From St. Paul he sailed for St. John, and he reached St. John on the 10th of the present month.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Sale of Furniture.

As the Rev. N. Clark is leaving Lakefield, a sale of his household furniture and effects will be held at the Manse, Lakefield, on Friday, Oct. 16th, beginning at 12 o'clock noon.

Who is Not?

The Kingston News of Wednesday contains the following:—"Nicholas Clark, the man who was found bleeding to death on the street a couple of weeks ago and placed in the hospital, is contrary to expectation, recovering. He hails from Peterborough."

The Market.

The local grain buyers had a little fun, and the farmers who sold the wheat considerable profit, on the market this afternoon. The buyers present commenced bidding against one another, and for a time things were pretty hot. Spring wheat ran up to 92 cents per bushel, and as much as 90 cents a bushel was paid for fall wheat. There was nothing in the foreign markets, however, to warrant this rise.

Concert for the Protestant Home.

The above named institution being in want of means the ladies of the Committee have sanctioned the giving of a concert to augment the funds. Mr. B. B. Brown has kindly given the Opera House for the occasion. The programme, which will appear in a few days, will contain well-known Peterborough names; and anyone desiring to help our oldest charitable institution, and at the same time encouraging local talent, can do so by being present at the concert on Thursday evening, Oct. 22nd.

A Large Consignment.

On Thursday Messrs. Ostrom & Ostrom received a large consignment of canned fruit from the Bay of Quinte Canning Co.'s factory. Messrs. Ostrom & Ostrom have appointed the agents for Central Ontario of this well known factory last summer, and since that time have been sending them, with other goods, all through the Midland district, from Napanee to Oshawa, and from Belleville to Owen Sound. The trade in Peterborough finds it convenient as well as profitable to have the agency established here, for not only do they have less trouble in laying in their stock, but they buy the goods without having to pay anything out for freight.

A Flourishing House.

The Dry Goods Firm, Messrs. T. Dolan & Co., show in their handsome establishment, corner of George and Hunter streets, an extra heavy stock of ready made clothing. This line has been a specialty with the firm, ever since it had an existence, but this fall, it is as to say, the stock is heavier and more varied than ever it was. The lines run in regular gradations, from that suitable for a boy of four years of age to the regular men's size, and from that suitable for heavy, rough wear to that which cannot fail to please the most fastidious. Another great point in this year's showing is, that the stock is all new, no old goods being carried over. The specialties in the dry goods department are the dress goods and mantle cloths, in both lines heavy importations having been made from London and Manchester, England.

A Rare Treat.

The citizens of Peterborough and vicinity are to be congratulated upon the treat in store for them. The unrivalled Tolmansen Quartette Club, consisting of two sisters and four brothers, the family of the late Dr. Walden, of Germany, aided by Maggie Hart, the Queen of Scottish song, and Miss McGarry, Scotch-Irish, considered the best public reader in the Dominion, will give one of their musical and literary evenings in the Bradburn Opera House on Tuesday evening, Oct. 13th. The programme is most varied, and gives assurance of being the most attractive ever presented to a Peterborough audience.

The Telmansen Company's audience is never disappointed, but always from the first piece to the last listens with eager attention to the perfect execution of some of the master pieces of the greatest musicians, while their rendering of Scotch and Irish airs calls forth a perfect hurricane of applause."—Oshawa Daily Herald.

The Carling Club.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Carling Club was held in the rink parlour on Thursday evening. The attendance was large, composed of both old members of the club and the young blood, anxious to win laurels on the ice field. The Secretary-Treasurer read the annual report of the Club, showing that it was in a satisfactory financial condition. The election of officers resulted as follows:—

PATRON—Judge Dennison.
PATRONESSE—Mrs. Dennison.
PRESIDENT—Dr. Boucher.
VICE-PRESIDENT—Mr. Geo. Dunford.
SEC. TREAS.—Mr. O. McGill.
REPRESENTATIVE MEMBERS—Messrs. T. P. Abbott and J. H. Burnham.
MANAGING COMMITTEE—Messrs. W. G. Ferguson, Adam Hall, A. McNell and C. McGill.
SENIOR SKIPS—Messrs. T. P. Atwill, Geo. Dunford, Dr. Boucher, A. McNell, A. Hall, Geo. Brown and T. Rutherford.
JUNIOR SKIPS—Messrs. Geo. Fitzgerald, A. St. A. Smith, D. Cameron and R. M. Hamilton.
Messrs. John Lodge and J. H. Burnham were elected honorary members.

THE ORGAN RECITAL.

Given by Mr. J. S. Parker Successful in Every Respect.

The Handel organ recital given in St. Paul's Church on Thursday evening by Mr. J. S. Parker, assisted by his well trained choir and a number of soloists, was in every respect a success.

The large auditorium of the church was well filled with the music loving people of the town, and the choir gallery by thirty vocalists. The recital commenced with the rendition by Mr. Parker of an overture from the Messiah, after which Mr. Craven, of Peterborough, gave a recitative solo, "Comfort Ye," followed by an aria, "Every Valley," both being taken from the Messiah. The aria was followed by a chorus, which was excellently rendered by the choir. Mr. Parker then gave an organ solo taken from one of the great composer's early oratorios, "Il Trionfo Del Tempo." Miss May Swan, of Woodstock, then sang the first soprano solo of the evening, "Angels Ever Bright and Fair," from Theodora. Miss Swan also sang another solo in the second part of the programme, "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth," together with taking the soprano in a duet from the oratorio, "Judas Macabaeus," with Mr. McClellan, of Woodstock. Miss Swan has a clear, strong, ringing soprano voice. Her vocal execution was very good, though not highly embellished. Altogether Miss Swan created quite a favorable impression. Miss Logan's recitative solo and aria from the Messiah came next—"Then Shall the Eyes," and "He Shall Feed His Flock."

Mrs. Agnes Carlett Thompson, of Toronto, contributed three solos during the recital, two in the first part, "Come unto Him," and "How Beautiful are the Feet," and one in the second part, "From Mighty, Mighty Kings." The first two are from the Messiah, and the third from Judas Macabaeus. Mrs. Thompson has a sweet, smooth, "velvety" soprano. She attacks her top notes in a very easy and graceful way and in the solos taken, exhibited perfect control over her voice.

Mr. T. McClellan, of Woodstock, gave two bass solos, one, "Arm, Arm, Ye Brave," in the first part, and the other, "Honor and Arms," in the second. Mr. McClellan has a powerful voice, which, with proper care, gives promise of developing into something that will give him considerably more than a local reputation.

Mrs. Chambers was in her best voice on Thursday evening when she sang "But Thou Didst Not Leave," from the Messiah. Her usually clear voice seemed to be purer than ever. Her admirers were rather disappointed when they found she was down for only one solo on the programme.

Miss Haultain opened the second part by singing "Behold the Virgin," a contralto recitative solo, followed by an aria, "O Thou that Tellest," the choir taking the chorus in a very vigorous and fine-hued manner.

Mrs. R. H. Dennison sang, "Wait Hark, Angel," from Jephtha. In this selection Mrs. Dennison had ample scope to display her full, rich soprano voice.

The recital was closed by the rendition of the grand Hallelujah chorus on the organ by Mr. Parker.

Both those who contributed their respective parts in the recital, those who attended, and above all the giver of the recital, have every reason to feel gratified with it. Mr. Parker deserves particular credit for the efficient way in which he trained those who took part in the choruses, for they performed the duties imposed upon them in a very finished style.

At Turnbull's they make a special effort to have on stock everything in the Millinery and Mantle line that is serviceable and fashionable.

A Stone Robber Contends.

El Paso, Oct. 7.—The young highwayman who held up the San Angelo stage a few days ago was arrested yesterday. He confessed his guilt, and says he had no money he was obliged to rob somebody. He attacked the stage, thinking the United States Government stand the loss better than any individual.

As the weather gets colder we natural begin to think about our fall attire. Turnbull's has made ample provision to have hats and overcoats for all who may favor him with a call at prices to correspond with the time.

A Sample of Western Justice.

GREEN RIVER, Wyo., Oct. 7.—The Grand Jury reported no bill against the sixteen persons arrested in connection with the Chicago riot at Rock Springs. It is rumored that the case will be taken into the United States court.

Turnbull's New Millinery Showroom are now open. Intending purchasers should call and see the grand display of Millinery and Mantle Goods.

A Doctor Killed by a Watchman.

SHREVEPORT, Ky., Oct. 7.—Dr. William Jones, a prominent physician, was shot and killed yesterday by Alexander Smithson, watchman of Tennessee river bridge. The two had been drinking, and were riding together, when with out warning Smithson shot the doctor.

A Methodist Settlement in Africa.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—An unofficial report has reached the United States Minister at Lisbon that fifty persons from this country—men, women and children—under the care of a bishop, recently landed on the west coast of Africa in an utterly destitute condition and became at once a charge on the local government of Bequaqua for food and shelter. They were Methodist missionaries visiting Africa to instruct natives in Christianity, agriculture, and the mechanical arts. A tract of land was granted them on which to make a permanent settlement.

Some Interesting Items Regarding the Organization.

We take the following items, which will no doubt be found of interest, from the October number of the Association Notes, the organ of the Young Men's Christian Association of this town:—

DISTRICT CONFERENCE.

A letter lately received from Mr. Cole tells us that the Provincial Executive are arranging to have a District Conference of the Association at Port Hope, during the first week in November. The district extends from Toronto to Gananoque. As this territory includes ten Associations there should be a good meeting. We hope a number of our workers will make arrangements to go. The expenses will be very little, as the distance is so small. Further particulars will be made known as received. Apply to the Secretary for any information.

COMMITTEES FOR 1886-6.

The following sub-committees were appointed at the meeting of the Executive on October 5th. We trust that much good, honest work will be done by them; work that will be used by God in the extension of His kingdom:—

FINANCE COMMITTEE—D. B. Gardner, Chairman; W. W. Johnston, J. W. Flavell, Dr. Fife, J. C. Turnbull, J. W. Bennett, M. Cummings, W. F. Hilliard.
LITURGICAL COMMITTEE—I. Richardson, Chairman; H. Rossiter, Jno. S. Hall, M. Carlon, M. Cummings, W. Beattie, Bannell Sawyer, R. Holland.

LECTURE AND ENTERTAINMENT COMMITTEE—B. Sawyer, Chairman; G. M. Rogie, Sheriff Hall, Dr. Fife, D. B. Gardner, and W. W. Johnston.

RECEPTION COMMITTEE—W. F. Hilliard, Chairman; G. M. Rogie, J. W. Bennett, F. Browncombe, A. D. Russell, W. A. King, Albert Turner, F. O. Warden, Chas. N. Brown, Geo. J. Early, Wash Irwin, T. P. Distin, J. H. Stephens, Jr., A. W. Jones.

MEMBERS' MEETING.

A pleasant time may be expected on Monday, 9th November, when our next members' meeting will be held. Mr. Gardner will prepare a paper on some topic likely to call forth discussion; the Entertainment Committee are to arrange for music and readings, and refreshments will be served. New members will be introduced to the society. The Executive Committee have pledged themselves to attend in full strength, and make the evening as social and pleasant as possible. Don't forget the date, don't make any other engagement for that night.

A NEW DEPARTURE.

The School for Christian Workers, at Springfield, Mass., opened on the 9th September with very encouraging prospects. Students were in attendance from Canada, New England, the Middle, Southern and Western States. One department of this institution is devoted entirely to the practical training of laymen for the secretariat, and it offers a valuable opportunity for those who desire to thoroughly qualify themselves for this office. It is in no sense a lay college where men are trained for preaching, nor does it attempt in any way the work of a Theological Seminary. Among the special lecturers are, D. L. Moody, Rev. J. H. Vincent, D.D., (Vice President), Rev. G. F. Pentecost, D.D., and Rev. A. J. Gordon, D.D. The tuition is free, and board can be secured upon very reasonable terms. For particulars apply to J. T. Bowne, 33 Clarendon St., Springfield, Mass.

THE REV. F. H. WALLACE will take charge of this class on Tuesday, 20th October. We hope that every former member will be present, and that there will be, in a dition, a number of new students. We would like to have, and believe we shall have an attendance of from 75 to 100 young men during the present season.

TOWN MEN'S MEETING.

Every member should endeavor to be present at one or other of the young men's meetings, and also to bring with him some one else. The meetings have generally been very profitable in the past, and there is no reason why they should not be more so in the future. As the cold weather comes on, and the outside attractions decrease, let each do what lies in his power to make these meetings a great blessing.

NOTES.

WEEK OF PRAYER for young men November 9th to 16th. Special meetings will be held, particulars of which will be given in November Notes.

FAITHFULNESS on the part of workers has a great deal to do with success. When you are appointed to take part in a meeting, will you be faithful? If your name appears on one of the committees, will you faithfully attend its meetings, and do your share of the work?

HOW MANY young men are going to be benefited by the Association this season? In other words, as the Association is composed of individuals, to how many are you going to be a means of blessing?

One of the leading styles of costume to be had at Turnbull's, is a Jersey coat trimmed with a deeper shade of pink or flannel velvet, made up on the premises, which may be copied but not equalled.

Outside man's mission.

SUTTON, Que., Oct. 7.—Last night between eight and nine o'clock, a man named Smith, who resided about two miles south of this village, on the place where Horrocks hung himself last fall, went to the barn to feed his horse. Not returning, his wife went out to look for him, and, entering the barn, found his lantern near the door, by the light of which she saw her husband hanging by the neck, dead. She ran to a neighbour for help, and when help arrived she had cut the body down and sat on the floor with her husband's head in her lap. Doubtless she had not been considered of sound mind for several years. He is the third suicide on the place in eight years.

THE AUTUMN ASSIZES.

THE FIRST CASE CONCLUDED A VERDICT FOR THE PLAINTIFF.

The Grand Jury return a True Bill against George Tanager—They also Make Their Presentment—Sheridan vs. Figueo.

The Court commenced actual business at about two o'clock on Thursday. The first case on the docket was called, but the counsel not being ready to proceed, the next case was called. The counsel here, too, were not in readiness. The third case was then called.

CLEGG vs. GRAND TRUNK—An action for damages brought by Mrs. Clegg against the Grand Trunk Railway. In June, 1884, John Clegg, a son of the plaintiff, was a brakeman in the employ of the Grand Trunk Railway Company. Some shunting was being done in the Grand Trunk yard, Peterborough, and Clegg was engaged in uncoupling the cars. The pin he found to be difficult to remove. He stepped backward with the moving car and in doing so his heel was caught in a frog. He could not move it and was run over by the car. Subsequently he died from the effects of the injuries received.

The counsel for the plaintiff contended that the Grand Trunk was liable, as the frog was not blocked.

The Grand Trunk counsel, in their defense, maintained that the brakeman accepted the position knowing what dangers were to be encountered, and that they were not liable. The jury returned a verdict for $1,000 damages. Blackstock and Sowers for the plaintiff, and Nesbitt, Toronto, and Stewart, Belleville, for the defendants.

At about three o'clock the Grand Jury brought in a true bill in the case of George Tanager, charged with having committed an assault upon the County Judge.

This morning the case Sheridan vs. Figueo, a malpractice action, was taken up. It has occupied the attention of the Court all day.

At half past ten o'clock the Grand Jury brought in the presentment as follows:—

To the Hon. Mr. Justice O'Connor.
The Grand Jurors of Her Majesty the Queen desire to make their presentment and to add their own congratulations to those of your Lordship, on the freedom of the county from crime, as shown by the fact of there having been only one criminal charge to deal with.

That in regard to your Lordship's reference to the confinement of lunatics in the common wall, the jury have to congratulate the county that the Ontario Government are taking as rapid steps as possible to provide additional accommodation for this unfortunate class, and are glad to be able to express the hope that before long the inmates now in the goal will be removed to a proper place of confinement.

The jurors have examined the goal and premises and find them clean and in excellent order throughout. The jury would ask your Lordship to take into consideration the case of the prisoner now confined in the goal about 116 days for want of a warrant to keep the peace, and make such suggestions as in your wisdom you may deem proper.

In conclusion the Grand Jury would offer their congratulations to your Lordship on your elevation to the Bench, and to welcome you to our first appearance, in a judicial capacity, in this county, and to express the hope that you may long be spared to fulfil the duties of the high position you occupy.

Grand Jury Room, THUR. DAY, Peterborough, Oct. 8, 1886. FOREMAN.

His Lordship replied briefly, thanking the Grand Jurors for their expressions of congratulations, and stated that he would enquire into the case referred to.

From T. H. Thornton, advising the Council that on account of the town's disapproving him in supplying materials for the overhauling of the Smith street bridge, he could not do it for less than one hundred dollars additional.—Read.

From John McPherson calling attention to the siding that has been laid down by the Grand Trunk Railway on Bethune street between Wells and Dalhousie. He did not know whether any authority had been given to the company to lay the track. It was injuring his property.—Finance Committee.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Explosives.

The Council have sat on the dynamite traffic which has been at different times carried on through Peterborough. The Town Clerk has been instructed to prepare a by-law, agreeing with the statutes, prohibiting the passage through, or introduction into, the town of any dangerous explosives.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh south-west and south-east winds, fine warmer weather.

Smith Street Bridge.

The residents of the north end of the town have experienced considerable inconvenience for the last couple of months on account of the Smith street bridge being closed. To them it appeared more tantalizing because there was no effort put forth to repair the bridge. But the contractor is not to blame, as he was not furnished by the Town Council with the materials to go on with the job. However, the matter has been referred to a committee with power to act, and it is quite likely that the work will be commenced immediately.

Y. M. C. A.

The Young Men's meeting held in the Y. M. C. A. Rooms to-night will be conducted by Mr. T. Bannell Sawyers.

The open air meetings have been discontinued and the Young Men's meeting resumed on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The male choir in connection with the Sunday Night Sing Service is being added to. This is the only meeting of the Association open to all. The others are for young men only.

The Cantata of "Daniel."

There is an enormous impression prevailing respecting the invitations to take part in the coming Cantata of Daniel. It is not intended to confine the participation in its production to those only who have received these invitations, but a cordial welcome will be given to all those who will assist and who have been overlooked up to the present. The Committee sincerely trust that no one will consider that any importance specially attaches itself to those printed invitations over a general one to all music loving citizens, as it was and is the intention of the Lodge that all such should take part.

Mantles made to order in any style of goods at a limited price and a perfect fit every time at Turnbull's.

Peterborough Boat Club.

A meeting of the members of the P. B. C. will be held at the office of Messrs. Hutton & Wood on Wednesday evening, Oct. 14th, at half past seven o'clock, for the purpose of considering the affairs of the club. Owing to the outlay consequent on sending crews to compete at different regattas the finances of the club for some years past have been crippled, and unless something is done to put it on a solid financial basis there is danger of the club going to pieces. It would be a great pity to see this occur, and we hope that the members present and past will make it a point to attend any place the club in the position it should occupy financially.

The Churches.

The following is a list of services in the several churches for to-morrow:—
St. Peter's Cathedral—At St. Peter's Cathedral, Roman Catholic, there will be three masses celebrated, the first at 7 a.m., the second at 8 a.m., and the third at 10.30 a.m. Vespers at 7 p.m.

St. John's.—The regular services at St. John's Church of England, Holy Communion at 8.30 a.m.; Morning Prayer, Litany and sermon at 11 a.m. Evening Prayer with sermon at 7 p.m.

St. Luke's.—The regular services at St. Luke's Church will be conducted by the rector, the Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, as follows: Morning Prayer and Litany with sermon at 11 a.m., and Evening Prayer with sermon at 7 p.m.

St. Paul's.—The Rev. E. F. Torrance, M. A., will conduct the services at 11 a.m. His subject will be, "Give us this day our daily bread." In the evening he will preach on "The Cities of Refuge."

St. Andrew's.—The pulpit of St. Andrew's Church, Presbyterian, will be occupied, both morning and evening, by the Rev. A. Bell, when the usual services will be conducted.

Methodist Church, George street.—The regular divine service will be conducted at 11 a.m. by the Rev. I. Tovey. In the evening at 7 o'clock the Rev. F. H. Wallace will conduct the service.

Methodist Church, Charlotte street.—In the morning at 11 o'clock the Rev. F. H. Wallace will occupy the pulpit. The service at 7 p.m. will be conducted by the Rev. I. Tovey.

Methodist Church, Mark street, Ashburnham.—The usual services will be conducted in the morning at 11 o'clock, and in the evening at 7 o'clock.

Baptist Church, Murray street.—In the morning at 11 o'clock the Rev. A. H. Munro, pastor, will occupy the pulpit. His subject will be, "Evidences." In the evening, at 7 o'clock, he will preach on "The Tenth for the Season."

THE FAIR AT LAKEFIELD

ANNUAL EXHIBITION OF THE SMITH, ENNISMORE AND LAKEFIELD SOCIETY.

A Successful Show—Fine Weather, a Large Number of Entries and a Very Large Attendance—The Prize List.

The annual exhibition of the Smith, Ennismore and Lakefield Agricultural Society was held at Lakefield on Thursday and Friday of this week. The weather on the first day was not favorable, but in the evening a number visited the hall. On the second day the weather was fine. A number of people went up from Peterborough on that day.

The show of horses was very fair, the number of entries not being small, and some of the animals shown were fine beasts. The teams exhibited—both the heavier and the carriage horses—were good looking animals, and the single horses—carriage and saddle—and the other portions of the equine exhibit were worth seeing. A novelty was a small Russian pony ridden by a son of Mr. R. C. Strickland.

The exhibit of cattle was a good one, being equal to or perhaps better than at the show last year. Messrs. R. C. Strickland, Hugh David and John Garbutt and others showed really fine thoroughbred cattle, and the grade stock comprised some good animals.

Of sheep there was a good exhibit, and the show of pigs was fair. Mr. Thos. E. Bell was the principal exhibitor of poultry, he having twenty-one pairs on exhibition, and that, together with the fine birds shown by others, combined to make a good show.

Of grain there were fine samples of wheat, barley, peas, oats and rye shown, and the butter—both skinned and table—was good, while there was a keen competition for first place for factory cheese.

The fruit and vegetable exhibit was a fine one. Many specimens of the various kinds of fruit were tempting, and the display of vegetables was comprehensive, and comprised large and fine looking samples.

The show of farming implements was not large, and the domestic manufacturer's exhibit did not require a great deal of space. The interest in the latter department seems to be decreasing, yet there were tasty and good articles displayed that proved that the factories did not monopolize all the manufacturing business.

The display of ladies' work was about up to the average in the number of articles shown, and the exhibit included many fine pieces of work.

Mr. D. Smart was present with musical instruments and the New Williams and Domestic sewing machines, and Mr. G. A. Mitchell proclaimed the good qualities of the Wheeler Wilson sewing machines.

The attendance of spectators on the second day was very large. When the horses were shown the course was lined for a long distance with a dense throng, and all afternoon numbers were entering the hall to view the display made in the inside department.

The Society is to be congratulated on the success of this exhibition, and the village and neighborhood on the orderliness of the large crowd of people who attended it.

The prize list is left over until Monday.

Mothers with boys, and boys who buy clothing for themselves, will find bargains in Ready Made Clothing at Turnbull's. He keeps an shoddy goods but reliable All Wool Canadian Tweeds and Worsted.

A New Street.

Another new street is, if the mandates of the Town Council be carried out, to be opened out. Last spring the corporation men opened a gravel pit in the north end of the town and narrowed through from the street to a lot belonging to Mr. Hilliard. This decreased the value of the property considerably and to make reparation for the injury the Council promised to open up a street through the lot to be called Sperry street. Up to date nothing has been done, but it is to be hoped that the matter will be attended to at the earliest convenience.

Free Vaccinations.

It has been decided at, it may be considered, an opportune time, to have a series of free vaccination operations performed. Drs. Kincaid and Clarke, Town Physician and Medical Health Officer, respectively, have been instructed to confer and appoint places and times for holding the operations in the different wards. To-day the officers are arranging the details, and as soon as arrangements are completed the announcements will be made as to where and at what time they may be conducted on this very important question. Those who do not feel able to pay the fee (25 cents) will not be required to do so.

As the weather gets colder we naturally begin to think about our fall clothing. Turnbull has made ample provision to have suits and overcoats for all who may favor him with a call at prices corresponding with the times.

The Nichols Hospital.

A conference between the physicians and the Board of Trustees of the Nichols Hospital was held on Friday, with a view to making arrangements for the opening of the hospital at an early date. On account, however, of nearly all the doctors being detained in a witness in a case at the Assizes, no conference was held. But the members of the Board of Trustees, Messrs. Richard Hall, E. B. Davidson, A. P. Pownette, Geo. A. Cox, J. Stratton, John McClelland, Wm. Manson and W. J. Flavell, drove out to the hospital to inspect the premises. They were much pleased with the appearance of the place and its surroundings. In answer to a query by the reporter of the Review, one of the Trustees gave it as his opinion that the hospital would be formally opened in the course of a week or ten days.

A Bridal Procession.

New officers of the Saved Army are to arrive on the 7.45 Grand Trunk train this evening to take charge of the Peterborough station. The officers were married recently—this week—and the members of the Army will meet them at the station and escort them to the Army hall, where a meeting will be held. Army meetings will be held in the Opera House to-morrow afternoon and evening.

One of the leading styles of Cotonette to be had at Turnbull's is a Jersey cloth trimmed with a deeper shade of plush or velvet, made up on the premises, which may be copied but not antedated.

PRISON AND PRISONERS.

SOME INTERESTING ITEMS REGARDING THE COUNTY GAOL.

Inspector Christie Reports Favorably of It—The Sheriff's Annual Statement—Fewer Prisoners Committed this Year than there was last Year.

Sheriff Hall has completed his annual statement, and by his permission we publish some of the items contained in his certified report.

On the evening of September 30, there were fourteen men, one woman, no boys and no girls, confined in the gaol, and during the whole year one hundred and twenty commitments have been made. This compares favourably with last year's report, which shows that there were one hundred and forty commitments made during the year. This shows a very gratifying decrease in crime. The prisoners, all who were well able to work, have had very profitable employment during the past summer. Their services have been turned to good account in making improvements in the Park. This is the first time here that gaol labor has been profitably utilized in the summer.

During the year no prisoners have escaped. Four insane persons are confined. Two were committed this year and two were committed last year. Owing to a lack of room in the Provincial asylums three insane persons have to be kept in the gaol, as well in other places as in Peterborough. The lowest term of imprisonment during the year was two days, committed on the ground of being the offence for which the commitment was made. The longest term of imprisonment meted out was seven years, the offender being afterwards removed to the Penitentiary. The offences were as follows:

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

FOOTBALL.

The Football Club opened the season to-day under rather annoying circumstances. The members of the club have been training down for the last three weeks, and one and all anticipated a good, hot, stirring match with the Toronto today. But uncertainty does not dwell in baseball circles alone; in fact, all clubs are subject to disappointment. The Secretary of the club to-day received a telegram to the effect that the Toronto could not get a team together, and that consequently they would not be here. The Mail explains as follows:—

"The Toronto Football Club were obliged to forfeit their match with Peterborough to-day in the first round of the Association Cup, owing to their inability to scrape together any kind of a team. Of the names published in yesterday's edition as going to Peterborough, thirteen in all and two others together chosen only ten were found to be able to go; this left five more men wanting. The three men who through press of business found it impossible to leave the city were Bethune, Beck, Torrance, quarter-back, and Hime, one of the forwards. The secretary and match committee did their best to fill up their place, but had to at the last moment succumb to the inevitable by telegraphing to Peterborough their forfeit."

THE ASSIZES.

Tanner Sentenced for Having Assaulted Judge Denison.—The only case taken up at the court on Thursday was that of Sheridan vs. Pigeon. The trial commenced at the opening of the court and the judge charged the jury at shortly after six o'clock. The following is a summary of the case.

SHERIDAN VS. PIGEON.—An action for malpractice. Miss Sheridan fell from a stepladder ten feet high, dislocated the left shoulder and fractured the left arm. Dr. Pigeon attended her, and she alleged that through his negligence she had not recovered the full use of her arm. She brought suit to recover $2,000 damages. The medical evidence showed that the defendant had used proper care and skill, but the jury were of opinion that the defendant had made a mistake in not calling in another surgeon, but not willfully or through intention, and found a verdict for $400. A motion will be made in terms to set aside the verdict.—Messrs. W. Newbi & R. E. Wood for defendant; Messrs. E. B. Davis and S. M. Mason for plaintiff.

QUEEN VS. TANNER.—This afternoon George Tanner was placed on trial charged with having assaulted His Honor Judge Denison. He pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to two months in gaol and fined $100. In default of payment of the fine six months is to be added to the term of imprisonment.

To-day the case of McCann vs. Pennevan, for malicious prosecution proceeds.

VACCINATION.
THERE is no reason why the people of Peterborough should be alarmed because smallpox is prevalent in Montreal or because a few persons have been attacked by this disease in other places, but there is a wide difference between unnecessary uneasiness and prudent precaution. The smallpox might not be brought to Peterborough—in fact it is probable it will not—yet it is possible that the disease might appear at any time, and when such a danger is liable to make its appearance in the town it is a duty every citizen owes to himself and to his neighbors to take all the precautionary measures that he can in order to keep away the disease, or prevent it spreading if it should be brought here. He would be an unworthy citizen who, if an enemy were invading this country and attacking his home, did not load his gun, and the smallpox is an invincible enemy. At the same time, the cost of having a family vaccinated is an outlay that may, especially at this season of the year, do not feel disposed to incur, and the Town Council took a commendable step when it authorized the Medical Health Officer and the Town Physician to vaccinate at the expense of the corporation persons who came to them for that purpose.

It is satisfactory to learn, on the authority of the Medical Health Officer, that the town is in a good sanitary condition. This is as it should be, and the Board of Health and its officers should continue the work they have been engaged in of improving its condition in that regard. A healthy town is necessary for a prosperous and happy community, and cleanliness will do a great deal to prevent disease. Vaccination has been proven to be an effective preventive of smallpox, and although there are those who still strenuously oppose the theory of Jenner, it was shown quite recently in the next county east of Peterborough that when the disease prevailed there many more unvaccinated persons were smitten and died, therefore, that many will take advantage of the opportunity offered by the Town Council to arm themselves against attacks from smallpox.

The Globe, which a good Tory regards with nearly as much horror as a good Christian regards the writings of a pronounced infidel—Peterborough Daily Review.

The Gazette's metaphor is not inapt. To compare the Globe, which upholds the Socialist Henry George, and makes its columns a vehicle for disseminating his views, and also defends the writings of Voltaire and Tom Paine by abusing the Toronto Customs authorities for seizing the works of these writers, to the writings of a pronounced infidel, is wonderfully appropriate, and it is proper that either a good Christian or a good Tory should regard such a paper with horror.

The Brockville Recorder, which stated that now, when the long evenings were coming on, people would have a chance to discover "the beauties of a high protective tariff," now acknowledges that the duty has not raised the price of coal oil. It is, however, to the "high test." Well, if the Recorder believes that the people should not be guarded against using a poor and dangerous article, it has a right to say so, but it should not have tried to deceive its readers by its misleading reference to the tariff. The acknowledgment that the tariff does not affect the price comes late, but is better late than not at all.

At Tarabell's they make a special effort to have on stock everything in the Millinery and Mantle line that is fashionable and fashionable.

HASTINGS.
A MEMBER OF G. COMPANY.—Samuel Bell, one of the volunteers from this village, returned on Wednesday from London, where he had been laid up for over two months in the hospital, with injuries received at Clarks Crossing during the rebellion. Sam has lost the use of one ear and has other injuries of a serious character, which doubtless will incapacitate him for a long time.—Observer.

"DANIEL"

MANY YEARS A HERMIT.
The Curious Man on The Blue Mountains of Pennsylvania.

The Blue Mountains, which separate Berks and Schuylkill counties, overlook for miles a rich farming, iron and coal producing country. The scenery is beautiful and even grand. Away up on the topmost point lives Matthias Berger, one of the strangest characters in all Pennsylvania. He is famous the country around as the "Blue Mountain Hermit." For twenty-nine years, from choice rather than from force of circumstances, he has lived the life of a recluse. His story is a strange one, but many farmers in the valleys and not a few citizens of Reading can vouch for its accuracy. A long ride up a winding path and a scramble on foot, through brush and briars brings the visitor to a clearing, in the midst of which stands a low hut, of very small proportions, hardly more than eight feet high. Not a sound is to be heard the stillness of the mountain. The door is no more than two feet wide and four feet high. A knock at this low entrance and the hermit stands before the visitor.

Matthias Berger is seventy-two years of age, and about five feet four inches in height. His head is covered with straggling tufts of silver hair, combed smoothly down. His face is clean shaven and his general attire, although rough, is neat. He lives in a room about eight feet in diameter, for the hut is circular in shape, and constructed on the framework of a chestnut pole, placed obliquely in the ground and in a circle. These all cap at the top. The space between them is filled up with leaves and plastered with mountain clay. The walls are thick, and are like a strong defence against winter's cold or summer's sun. Inside everything is of the most primitive manufacture. Upon a peg driven into the wall are laid boards, and upon the shelf thus made the hermit keeps his few household necessities. He stands in the centre, and beneath this, is a hole in the ground, are stored potatoes and other eatables. There are quilts and blankets for covering, and the cushion upon which the hermit rests his head is filled with straw. He entertains an aversion to feathers and says they give him the headache. Light is admitted into the place by small slits, not more than three feet square. Very frequently in winter time he sees no fire for three or four months and even longer, but he manages to pass his time with his own thoughts and thrives on them. Nearly forty years ago he came to America, from Germany; strong, active, and in prime of life. Just in what particular place he formerly lived no one knows. He does not like to talk about his past life, and the story of his life is a mystery. He is a man of a very peculiar nature, and his complete isolation for his fellow men for nearly a third of a century there still cases of refinement and gentleness, which speak of better days. The first known of him was in Reading, where he remained but a short while and then drifted to the Blue mountains to the spot where the present one stands. Then a hunter found the hut. He lived in an unbroken solitude and his only companions were the multitude of snakes that crawled through the undergrowth.

The old hermit is not entirely alone. A dog and a family of two cats and kittens give him all the company he wants. An old rifle hangs on the wall and a sturdy trusty companion which has done him good service in the past. These mountains were formerly filled with wild animals, and he can tell many stories of his encounters with them.

"I remember," he said, "when this entire mountain was one entire wilderness. Wildcatters and gamesters were as plenty as briars. Just before the war I shot a fine buck and carried out two or three skins down his back fully twelve inches long. That was done about twenty-five years ago. These are the marks of a wildcat. I was coming through the woods one day when I saw two or three like straws of the brown to ward me from me overhead. I knew that they were those of a wildcat. Before I had time to set away the jumped and landed on my back, having claws deep into my flesh. I threw myself on the ground, and while she was tearing my hands and arms with her sharp claws I whipped out my knife and cut her in the neck and she died. I have killed hundreds of cats in this section. They killed many farmers' sheep, and the County Commissioners have offered a dollar reward for every cat killed. I have a dollar I earn that way. All the deer that I ever killed must have wandered away from their grazing grounds, for they were almost starved to death. I remember perfectly all the last two I shot. They came bleating in front of me and I killed them both before they could escape. In winter time I have some sport in trapping and shooting wild turkeys. When the snow is on the ground, I put a little food on the ground outside, and they come and eat it like chickens. They are as tame as dogs at that time. If I want to catch them alive, I make a little corn in some bread, and they become stupidly drunk. They fall over, and I can easily capture them. A ducking in a pail of water brings them around all right."

Matthias Berger is one of those strange characters one meets only once in a lifetime. He thinks that men who can solve the mysteries of life and death are possessed of the devil, and while he has heard of the telegraph and telephone he does not want to have anything to do with them, as they are part of the machinery of the devil. He knows nothing of a great world beyond him, filled with life and activity, and of the struggles of men to gain riches and power. All these are nothing to him. He has no idea that men are getting too smart from too much reading, and will therefore not touch a newspaper. He shies his visit or warmly by the hand when he left, remarking that it would be a pity to see another four months before he would look upon a human face again.—Philadelphia Times.

NORWOOD.
A GAYLING AT THE EXHIBITION.—Through the exertions of the indefatigable secretary of the East Riding Agricultural Society, W. E. Norwood, Esq., a Gayling gun, similar to the one which mowed down the rebels at Gettysburg and other battlefields in the Northwest, and which shoots one thousand two hundred shots a minute, will be on exhibition in Norwood on Wednesday next, the last day of the East Riding exhibition. This gun was one of the principal features of the International Exhibition at Toronto, a few weeks ago, and thousands of people flocked to see it. This will be a grand opportunity for the people of this section who were unable to visit the Toronto Exhibition to view this terribly destructive engine of modern warfare. A competent gentleman accompanied the gun and will explain its workings and fire black cartridge from it. This gun has been imported at a large expense expressly to give the Canadian people an opportunity of acquiring a practical knowledge of its powers and of its mode of working, and is the only one which will be exhibited, and the only one in Canada save those in use in the Northwest. Come and see it. Independent of the gun, the exhibition this year promises to be one of the best ever held in East Peterborough.—Register.

GENERAL CABLE NEWS.
FOOTPADS IN CHICAGO.
Chicago, Oct. 10.—Footpads are again becoming numerous. Citizens are frequently assaulted and robbed at night.

CROWNED WITH SUCCESS.
CONSTANTINOPLE, October 10.—Sir Henry Drummond Wolff's mission has been crowned with success. His understanding with the Porte on Egyptian affairs is complete, and an imperial ukase will shortly be issued sanctioning an arrangement, the principal points of which are as follows: Turkey appoints six commissioners, two for finance, two for military organization, and two for general administration; England, on her side, will appoint a similar number. When the labors of these men have been placed on a satisfactory footing British occupation will cease.

THE UNION NOT RECOGNIZED.
CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 10.—The report that Turkey had recognized Bulgarian Union is premature. The matter rests in the hands of the Powers.

REGENT OF BRUNSWICK.
BERLIN, Oct. 10.—Prince Albrecht of Prussia, has been appointed regent of the Duchy of Brunswick. The Duke of Cumberland has protested against the appointment, on the ground that he is heir to the dukedom.

EARTHQUAKE SHOCK.
LITCHFIELD, Va., Oct. 10.—A slight earthquake shock was felt here last night.

A LEGACY FOR PRINCE VICTOR.
PARIS, Oct. 10.—The widow of an Imperialist official has left a legacy of $30,000 to Prince Victor Napoleon.

EXPECTED TO UNITE.
PARIS, Oct. 10.—President Grevy's secretary said yesterday that the President believes the Republicans will unite and form a compact majority. The President does not intend to stir the Orangists unless they break the law.

WITHDRAWING TROOPS.
PARIS, Oct. 10.—It is stated as a result of the elections, G. A. Clapton, Minister of War, has instructed Gen. De Courcy, Commander in Turin, to confine the French occupation to the forts on the Red River Delta, and to return the remainder of the troops to France.

A WARM ATTACHMENT.
VIENNA, Oct. 10.—It is rumored that there is a warm attachment between Prince Alexander and the second daughter of the German Crown Prince. It is said the latter and his wife favor the marriage, but that Bismarck strongly objects.

THE PLAGUE OF SMALLPOX.
Fifty Deaths From the Disease in Montreal.

MONTREAL, Oct. 9.—The mortality by the smallpox in the city and suburbs yesterday was 50, and the new cases reported were sixty-one. The number of patients in the civil hospital is one hundred and sixty-five. The new hospital in the exhibition buildings will be formally dedicated to-morrow morning to the purpose intended. Mr. Faure will officiate at the section for Roman Catholicism.

QUEST.—O. T. 9.—An isolated case building on the Charlesburg road, just across the Dorchester bridge, has been selected by the health committee for the purpose of smallpox hospital and quarantine. No better building for the purpose could be chosen, as it is altogether isolated.

Two sisters from Montreal had to stay over at Murray Bay, stricken down with the loathsome disease.

A whole family, fleeing from the epidemic at Montreal, are reported to have only got as far as Halls Bay when the scourge broke out among them.

A sailor who arrived here from Montreal yesterday to join a ship from that port after remaining in the river police station a good part of the day was taken ill in the afternoon and conveyed to the marine hospital suffering from smallpox.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 9.—Dr. Carroll, of the state board of health, to-day telegraphed to local health commissioners at Niagara Falls and Buffalo Bridge not to allow anyone to cross into this state without showing indications of recent vaccination.

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 9.—Two cases of small pox have been discovered here.

INDIANS SENTENCED TO DEATH.
The Murder of Payne and Fremont to Hang.

BATTLEFORD, N. W. T., Oct. 9.—The trial of the Indians charged with the murder of Payne and Fremont has been concluded, both being found guilty on the clearest evidence. Judge Rueland, in passing the death sentence, ordered them to be hanged on the 27th of November, the day on which the unfortunate men previously condemned will meet their fate.

The three councillors who signed the celebrated Poudre-maker letter were sentenced to two years each in the penitentiary.

The murderer of Dill was placed on trial today and the case will probably be concluded before the court rises, though as the evidence is expected to be voluminous, there being a number of witnesses, it may have to go over to a new "C" company, Infantry School, leaves for home on Saturday.

AN ARISTOCRATIC CROCK.
Elegant Appearance of "Clutch" Donegan on His Arrival at Kingston.

KINGSTON, Ont. October 10.—"Clutch" Donegan, who was sentenced to seven years in the Penitentiary for the robbery of Goldstein's fancy store in Quebec, arrived here yesterday. He is elegantly attired in a plush hat, and had the hands, which should have been through handcuffs, covered with kid gloves. He stopped at a hotel to drink at the bar and then got ready for his new boarding house. In order to put persons of the sort as to who he was, he enquired from the cabman if he knew what time the train would leave for the West. He said he was going to the penitentiary, but would have to wait to catch the express. This is his first conviction in ten years. He is claimed as one of the finest crooks in Canada.

HON. THOMAS WHITE.
Bitterly Experienced by the Minister in Reaching Prince Albert.

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 10.—A letter was received this morning from Hon. Thomas White, dated Yorkton, Oct. 5, stating that he had decided to abandon his Prince Albert trip. He had lost the trail in consequence of the prairie fire, and lay down one night with only a buffalo robe over the party, to find five inches of snow in the morning, and the party within one mile of a place they desired to reach. A telegram received to-day, however, says Mr. White has left Fort Qu'Appelle for Prince Albert.

The Peterborough Review Printing and Publishing Co. desires to thank the Fire Brigade for its prompt and efficient services in extinguishing the fire at the Review office before it had obtained headway, and also to offer its acknowledgments to neighbors and others who aided in removing property out of reach of damage.

The Gelling.
The people of Peterborough now have an opportunity which may be the last of seeing the wonderful Gelling gun, similar to the one which did such good service in the North-west rebellion. It will be exhibited on the market square to-day from 2 p.m. till 10 p.m., and to-morrow until 10 p.m. Capt. Casey, of the Prince of Wales Canadian Dragoons, is in charge of the gun, and will thoroughly explain its working to those interested. Admission 15 cents, ladies 10 cents.

Big Cheese Shipment.
On Friday last Mr. Benjamin Green, of this town, made the largest cheese shipment that has been made in this section for some time. He sent two car loads from Lindsay, three car loads from Peterborough and one car load from Campbellton, to the order of the firm he represents, Mr. D. G. McBean, Lancaster, Ont. The cheese was shipped to Montreal, where it will be distributed to different parts. The price paid averages 8 cents per pound, and there being twenty five thousand pounds to the car, it makes just $12,000 that was paid out by Mr. McBean last Friday.

Manicure made to order in any style of goods at a limited price and a perfect fit every time at Turnbull's.

The Contents of "Daniel."
There is an erroneous impression prevailing respecting the invitation to take part in the coming Contents of Daniel. It is not intended to confine the participation in its production to those only who have received these invitations, but a cordial welcome will be given to all those who will assist and who have been overlooked up to the present. The Committee sincerely trust that no one will consider that any importance specially attaches itself to these printed invitations over a general one to all music loving citizens, as it was and is the intention of the Lodge that all such should take part.

The Bold Hunters.
A party of 13 hunters numbering six, with a full kit of guns, rifle, ammunition, and a well stocked commissariat department, went north this morning to spend a couple of weeks deer shooting. They go back to the northern extremity with D. & B. and will carry on their operations in the townships of Anson and Chatham. The names of those who have joined the expedition are: Messrs. J. J. Laidy, Harry Wain, R. A. Morrow, Wm. E. Glush, Geo. B. Sproule, and A. Mowry. On Thursday they will be followed by Messrs. D. Cameron, Geo. Fitzgerald, Samuel Clark, A. Blais, T. Rutherford, Harry Matthews, H. Evans and M. O'Brien.

Dufferin Literary Club.
The first annual meeting of the Dufferin Literary Club was held in their room at the Mechanics Institute a few evenings ago. Mr. J. D. McMillan, President of the Club, occupied the chair. He thanked the members of the Club for the honor they had conferred upon him last year by electing him their President. He had, though conscious of many defects, filled the office to the best of his ability, and had in every way tried to foster and further the interests of the society. He then retired from the Presidency. The election of officers was proceeded with as follows:—
HONORARY PRESIDENT—Mr. D. W. Dumble (re-elected).
PRESIDENT—Mr. J. H. Long.
VICE PRESIDENT—Mr. S. R. Armstrong.
SECRETARY—Mr. E. A. Park.
GENERAL COMMITTEE—Messrs. A. Stevenson, A. Clegg, and the officers of the Club.

GEORGE TANNER SENTENCED.

A Very Pathetic Scene in Court—The Prisoner Sees Like a Child.

As will have been seen in the report of the Amice in Saturday's Review, George Tanner received punishment at the hands of Mr. Justice O'Connor for the assault committed upon Judge Dennistoun last summer.

The prisoner was arraigned at the reopening of the court, after lunch, at about half past one o'clock. He was brought into court and placed before the lawyer's table. The Clerk of the Court then read the indictment as follows: "The Juries of our Lady the Queen upon their oath present that George Tanner, on the 25th day of June, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five, at the village of Lakefield, in the said County of Peterborough, in and upon Robert Dennistoun, Esq., Judge of the County Court, in the peace of God and our said Lady the Queen then being, did make an assault upon him, the said Robert Dennistoun, then and there did beat, wound and ill-treat and other wrongs to the said Robert Dennistoun did then and there and to great damage of the said Robert Dennistoun, and against the peace of our Lady the Queen, her crown and dignity."

The prisoner seemed to be greatly depressed at the reading of the indictment. When asked for his plea he answered with only an inarticulate sound. His counsel, Mr. A. P. Poussette, then put in the plea of guilty.

After about a minute's pause Mr. C. A. Weller, Crown Attorney, moved for the sentence of the Court.

Mr. Poussette asked permission of His Lordship to present a petition in favor of the prisoner, which had been signed by a large number of respectable citizens, but His Lordship replied that he could not allow the petition to be read in open court, but that he would look at it himself.

Mr. Poussette addressed the Court on behalf of the prisoner. From the constant communication that had passed between himself and the prisoner since the assault had been committed he was in a position to say that the prisoner had bitterly repented having committed the rash act, and he felt that the prisoner had suffered more from remorse than had many a hardened criminal in serving out a long term of imprisonment. He asked His Lordship to impose as light a punishment as possible consistent with the dignity of the law.

His Lordship then addressed the prisoner. Tanner, he said, it is most unfortunate that a man of your age and apparent respectability, a man whose good character was vouched for by so many good citizens, should appear in Court charged with such a serious offence. It was of the greatest importance that judges should be protected that they might exercise free judgment without fear or expectation of reward. This was especially the case with judges of the County Court, who, from the nature of their duties, were compelled to travel by themselves to hold Division Courts throughout the county and were open at any time to such assaults as the present. In all his sixty years' experience in the Canadian courts of law he had never heard of such a case as this. He understood that at a sitting of a Division Court at Lakefield, the prisoner had a case, in which Judge Dennistoun, in the exercise of his judgment, thought proper to find a verdict against him. After the court was over the judge was passing along the street, when the prisoner deliberately, and without warning, strode up to him and knocked him down. He looked upon the assault as a dastardly one, a cowardly one, and one which would have been more excusable had it been committed on a woman. For some moments the prisoner had been silent, but here he burst into a flood of tears. His Lordship continuing said that from the nature of his office it would be impossible for Judge Dennistoun to take the part of a pug list and to defend himself against such an attack; he was wholly at the mercy of the prisoner. He had not known Judge Dennistoun previous to his present visit, but from his brief acquaintance he would take Judge Dennistoun to be a most benevolent gentleman. He was older than the prisoner and therefore it was most cowardly of the prisoner to attack him in the way which he had. Here again the prisoner wept and sobbed violently.

But from the fact of the prisoner's having pleaded guilty showed that at least he acknowledged the offence and his present action in court showed that he was sorry for it. Had the prisoner been found guilty on being tried he had made up his mind to subject the prisoner to a severe penalty—a term in Penitentiary, and a heavy pecuniary punishment; but inasmuch as a largely signed petition in his favor had been presented in his behalf and in view of what had been said in his favor he had come to the conclusion to inflict as small a punishment upon him as he considered consistent with the upholding of the majesty of the law. He then sentenced the prisoner to two months imprisonment in the common goal at hard labor and imposed a fine of $100. In default of the fine being paid within the said two months, to further term of six months, or until such time as the fine be paid.

Personal.
Prof. G. W. Hotchkiss, of Springfield town and upper tier fame, is in Peterborough at the Grand Central Hotel, and will remain here until after Wednesday. Those sufferers who wish to take a vacation of his thirty years' experience should call upon him.

Mr. Charles Stapleton's Sale.
Mr. Charles Stapleton's land, stock and implement sale at the repository, Simcoe street, on Saturday, was taken in all, very successful. The Cartwright farm (85 acres), in the Township of Smith, was sold to Mr. Christopher Leary for the sum of $2,375. Mr. Leary subsequently sold the farm to Mr. Frank Bell, of Smith, at a good margin on the price for which he bought it. Twenty head of cattle brought good prices and also five head of horses well. A lot of farm implements sold off well also. Baggies sold a little slow and dull.

A Fire.
At a few minutes past twelve o'clock to-day a fire broke out in the gable roof which covers the flat roof of the Review office. The alarm was given and the firemen responded so promptly to the call that in less than five minutes two streams of water at eighty pounds pressure were playing on the flames. One line of hose was run up the stairway leading to the Review office newsroom, and the other was carried through the Times office. Both streams were brought to bear immediately on the blaze. The fire was extinguished in about ten minutes. The fire, it appears, was caused by sparks from one of the four chimneys immediately south of this gable roof falling on the shingles. A hole was burned through and the inside of the gable was all in flames when the water was brought to bear on it. The loss will be light, consisting of goods injured by water and injury to the roof. The first credit cannot be given to the prompt and business like manner in which the firemen worked.

A LIGHT SENTENCE.

The Receiver of the Stamp Stolen From the Peterborough Post Office.

The Buffalo Courier, speaking of the Rayner trial there, which took place recently, says that before Judge Hammond in the Court of Sessions the case of Andrew J. Rayner came up some what unexpected by Rayner's appearing in court and withdrawing his former plea of not guilty, under the three indictments of receiving stolen property, and pleading guilty. Mr. Pullestop, his lawyer, made a long speech, in which he said that Rayner had already spent $10,000 in defence on the charges and was comparatively a poor man. Two letters addressed to the court were read, one being signed by Matthew Sweetnam, post office inspector, and Joseph E. Rodgers, a detective in the office of the Attorney General of Ontario, and the other from L. D. Raymond, both containing endorsement and recommendations therein contained endorsed by the Crown prosecuting counsel in the case of "Clutch" Donohue, sentenced by the Welland court a few days ago to seven years' imprisonment for burglary, the results of which were received and bought by Rayner.

In their communications to the Court of Sessions of Erie county, Messrs. Sweetnam and Rodgers state that they had official charge of the matter of the Peterborough post office robbery, of the robbery of James Trotter's jewellery store at Galt, and also of the robbery of the stores of A. Goldstein & Son and Amyt Froese (Quebec) at John, known as "Clutch" Donohue, with others, who were connected with the commission of said robberies; and that it was discovered that Rayner bought some of the goods stolen by Donohue; that Rayner delivered up all the stolen property not sold by him, and reimbursed the Canadian Post office Department and the stores mentioned with a sufficient sum of money to make good any losses that may have occurred by the sale of the property not returned; that Rayner voluntarily made a full statement of his dealings with Donohue, and acted as a witness in the trial of "Clutch" from September 30th to October 2nd, when Donohue was convicted; that the statements of Rayner were of great assistance and benefit to the Crown officer, and they respectfully ask the court to exercise all reasonable clemency toward said Rayner in case of his conviction. The communication of L. D. Raymond, County Crown Attorney and clerk of the peace at Welland, also certified that Rayner voluntarily attended court during the trial of Donohue, testified, and rendered valuable assistance on behalf of the Crown. He also certified that there are no indictments or criminal charges pending in the Court of Oyer and Terminer for Welland county.

These communications doubtless had weight with the court, for, after a long consultation with the side justices, Judge Hammond fined Rayner $400 on the three indictments, $250 being in the jewellery indictments, $100 on the pipes and $50 on the postage stamps. Rayner paid his fine and is now a free man again.

POLICE COURT.

DICKIN.

MONDAY, Oct. 11.—John Lee Ellis, an old sailor, was charged by P. C. Pidgeon with having been drunk and disorderly.

The old man pleaded guilty to the charge. He urged, however, that he was on his way to visit friends in Hamilton, and that stopping off here he had met some friends, partaken of too much grog, and had tumbled over to leeward, and he would not have appeared in the court this morning.

The Magistrate gave some wholesome advice to the prisoner and let him go, which action John thought to be very lenient.

D. & P.

Geo. Wright was charged by P. C. McGinty with having been drunk and disorderly in a public place.

The defendant pleaded guilty and was fined $2 or ten days in goal. The town was produced.

THE ASSIZES.

The Case of McCann vs. Prevost—A Verdict for the Plaintiff.

The case of McCann vs. Prevost lasted during the whole of Saturday, the jury returning at about six o'clock. The particulars of the case are as follows:—

McCANN vs. PREVOST.—An action for damages for libel and slander. In May last the plaintiff paid a quantity of timber to the defendant, and according to receipt measurement it amounted to five hundred and sixty feet. The defendant, buying it, subjected it to measurement by a practical man. He paid the plaintiff $30 down, and when it was measured by a practical man there proved to be only $30 worth. The plaintiff paid the defendant back $15. The defendant accepted this $15, and stated he would not take the timber as it did not go 14 inches string measurement, when the plaintiff had given him to believe it would. Also he stated that if he did not receive from the plaintiff $30 and $5 for his trouble, he would prosecute him criminally. The plaintiff refused to accede to the demand, asserting that the timber now belonged to the defendant, and that the defendant had received all he was entitled to according to agreement. The defendant then re-accepted the plaintiff for having received $50 from him under false pretence. The plaintiff was re-committed for trial, but in June session the Grand Jury returned no bill, which acquitted the plaintiff. The plaintiff also charged the defendant with having made use of slanderous words to the effect that the plaintiff had received money from the defendant under false pretences. The plaintiff through his solicitor, Mr. C. W. Cavers, and the defendant by malicious practice and for slander. The counsel for the plaintiff contended that the defendant was taking the purpose of obtaining the balance of the $50 and not for the purpose of furthering the ends of justice, and also that there was no ground for taking the said criminal proceedings. The counsel for the defense maintained that there was reasonable and probable cause for taking such action, and also that there was no slanderous reports circulated by the defendant. The jury brought in a verdict of $200 in respect of the malicious prosecution action and $25 damages for the slander. On these findings the judge directed that judgment entered against the defendant for $225 damages and cost of suit.

U. T. Blacklock and C. W. Savers counsel for the plaintiff, and C. A. Weller and J. O'Meara, counsel for the defendant.

TRADE DEPRESSION.

Members of the Royal Commission to Visit Canada and the United States.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—The Royal Commission of enquiry into the cases of depression of British trade has decided to send three of its members to the United States and Canada. These gentlemen are to investigate the condition of American industries, and to seek for suggestions obtained from American experience for remedying the stagnant condition of trade in Great Britain. One of the special commissioners will probably be Mr. Samuel Storer, the Radical member for Sunderland, and the partner of Mr. Andrew Carnegie, of Pittsburgh, in the ownership of a group of English Radical newspapers. The politicians see in this an effort to lead up to a protective tariff, and it must be admitted that the continuous losses in late years by English manufacturers are compelling them to listen to the arguments of the fair traders.—Mail.

THE TALLEST TREE IN THE WORLD.

"Here are the extremes of plant life," said a botanist, holding a microscopic slide in one hand and a picture of a great tree in the other. "This is a diatom, one of the smallest vegetable organisms, invisible to the naked eye, while this," flourishing the picture, "is the largest tree as to height in the world."

"One of the sequoia!"
"No," was the reply. "Uncle Sam has done pretty well with trees, but when it comes to height the British lion takes the belt, as the laudist trees are found in the Australian dominion. This picture is a photograph of one found by a traveller in the Black Range of New Guinea, and it is estimated at 500 ft. from the ground to the topmost branch. Think of it a moment," continued the speaker. "Five hundred feet means a good deal. It would dwarf the Barthold statue. Trinity would look like a telegraph pole compared to it, the Brooklyn bridge would be nowhere. Strasbourg Cathedral would be 5 ft. below the birds' nests on the top branches, and if the giant was placed by the side of the pyramid of Cheops, the leaves of the encephalium would be still 25 ft. above it. That's the kind of trees they have in Australia, and they are undoubtedly the largest on the globe, though it is claimed that the California specimens are more impressive from their greater bulk. The gum trees, as the Australians call them, are a comparatively modern discovery, and for a long time it was impossible to approach them, but now roads are broken, and travellers can ride directly to the foot of several. One of the first known, a Kauri eucalyptus (Eucalyptus globulus) of botanists, was discovered in a glen of the Warren River, Western Australia. When found by a party of riders, it was prostrate upon the ground, and four riders almost took fire or trunk, that was estimated at 400 ft. in length. Another species, E. amagdalina, measured by Doyle in the gloomy forest of Dandenong, was found to be 320 ft. long, while another, now growing on the Black Spur, ten miles from Healesville, is 480 feet high. These measurements, you see, are far ahead of the California trees, one of the largest, the Libinia is known as 'The Father of the Forest,' only measuring 335 feet, and being 110 feet in circumference at the base. The one called 'The Mother of the Forest' measures 320 feet in height, with a circumference at the base of 90 feet. When they felled the famous 'Traveller' in 1883, and by the way, every man that had a hand in it ought to have been sent to Dry Tortugas, it took five or six men nearly a month to bring it to the ground, and they had all kinds of tools to work with, pump engines, wedges, and everything you could think of."—Tender.

RIEL AND THE BOUGES.

The Brockville Recorder wishes to enlighten us on the Riel question, as well as on the question of coal oil and the tariff. It says—

"The Peterborough Review asserts it is the Quebec R. formers who say Riel must be hung on the 18th of September. It is because the Quebec R. formers object that Sir John has spared his life. The Premier is not in the habit of being influenced by his opponents in such matters."

As it happens, the Premier has not been influenced in the matter by the ravings of the Quebec R. formers or other members of the Reform party who have been striving to make politics capital out of the unfortunate occurrences in the Northwest and the fate of the rebel leader, or by any one else. The Government has allowed the law to take its course, without interferences, and that is the course we believe they will pursue to the end, despite the efforts of the Quebec R. formers to coerce them by threats. Riel was not hung on September 18th because his case is still before the courts, and Sir John has not "spared his life."

Does the Recorder mean to insinuate that the Quebec R. formers have not demanded that Riel's life be spared? If it does, how does it explain the meetings held under the direction of Mr. L. O. D. vid, and the utterances of Mr. David, Mr. Laframboise (Mr. Mackenzie's Minister of Justice), Mr. Laurier (premier), and the Quebec section of the party and others? When Riel's counsel was appointed, the Globe took care to point out that they were "ardent Liberals," and Mr. Blake himself made a long speech in which he condemned the authorities and attempted to show cause for the rebellion. The Quebec R. formers are striving to stir up the people of that Province in Riel's favor, and the Ontario R. formers have not a word to say against their action, but even go so far as to give them assistance, because they hope it will embarrass the Government and assist the party politically. Men who stoop to such actions should not, and we believe will not, be trusted by the people, but will be condemned by them instead.

A TERRIBLE WARNING.

STATISTICS frequently contain lessons and warnings, if people would only learn and heed them. Such is the case with the coal statistics. It will be noticed by those who read them that the number of temperate persons committed to the County prison last year was 70, and the number of temperate persons 50, the majority of the disciples of Bacchus being 20. Is there not a lesson to be drawn from these figures? If anyone believes there is not, let the doubter ask the Rev. B. K. Keeler. It will also be noticed that the number of unmarried persons committed to Quebec Jail last year was 72, and the number of married persons 48, the majority of the believers in the adage regarding "single blessedness" being 24. Four more single persons than temperate persons! Is there not a terrible warning in these figures? If anyone believes that there is not, let the doubter ask Mr. John A. Hartley.

THE Belleville organ of the Reformers is after the Deputy Minister of the Interior with a sharp stick. It says that he took a holiday tour, and pretended that he was inspecting ordinance lands that his expenses might be paid, but the Ontario believes that "it is doubtful if Mr. Burgess could tell anything about these lands." What a very dishonest person Mr. Burgess must be! And what very bad and foolish people the Reformers must be to appoint such a man to so important an office!

ARCTIC EXPLORATION.

The Question Discussed by Explorers—Lieut. Danenhower and his critics.

ANNAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 10.—The United States Naval Institute, composed of officers of the Navy, discussed at the Naval Academy last night Lieut. Danenhower's paper on North Polar Exploration, in which he takes the ground that there is no continent yet undiscovered in the North Polar Basin, and the only lands yet unknown are some small islands and groups of islands, and the scientific knowledge yet to be obtained is not worth the loss of life and treasure that will be required for future expeditions. Chief Engineer Geo. W. Melville writes that he agrees that the work of the explorers of the past has been well done, but he does not agree with Lieut. Danenhower, either in his selection of route toward the pole or his statement that because of the hardships endured or the loss of life and treasure, the research should be abandoned. He says that Francis J. Cook's Land has two essential features recommending it as a base for an advance toward the pole. Lieut. Danenhower writes that he has no objection to deny the merits of the essay, but the tendency of the paper is particularly unfortunate, and he regrets that it emanated from an officer of the service. Prof. H. Rind, of Norway, supports Lieut. Danenhower in his theory of islands and groups of islands in the polar basin, and believes that further Arctic research is not worth its cost.

Found with His Throat Cut.

PASQUET, Oct. 10.—Erasmus Huntington, father of J. S. Huntington, proprietor of the River House of this place, was found at 4 o'clock this afternoon in bed with his throat cut. Deceased had been deranged in mind for some time past. His attendant only left the room for a few minutes. The man evidently committed suicide with a penknife which he used for cutting tobacco, and which was the only instrument near him. He was 70 years of age.

THE HARVEST IN THE STATES.

On the Whole a Very Favorable Report Except in Potatoes.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The crop report of the department of agriculture states that the average condition of cotton has fallen from 87.8 pt. 1 to 78. The corn crop has met with very little injury from frost and will yield slightly above the average. Present indications point to a yield of 2 1/2 bushels per acre, the bush the country. The returns from wheat are on a basis of the yield per acre for the area harvested. The average is about 10 1/2 bushels. It is only 9 bushels on the area sown, which was nearly forty millions. The average yield of oats will be nearly 28 bushels per acre, inuring a crop in excess of six hundred million bushels. The average is 10 bushels, nearly 2 bushels more of the yield of 1884. The average yield of barley will be about 22 bushels per acre. The condition of potatoes has seriously declined on an acre of the prevalent one of rot in New York, Michigan and elsewhere. The decline from September 1st was 11 points.

A TERRIFIC EXPLOSION.

Flood Rock Blows into Millions and Millions—Becomes a Merely A Name.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Flood Rock was successfully blown up at 11:14 o'clock this morning. The explosion was but slightly felt on the shore. The water and a portion of a big wooden pier were thrown into the air to the height of several hundred feet. Fully 100,000 people lined the shore. Mary Newton, seven years old, daughter of General Newton, touched a button that set free the electric current at 11:14 a. m., and in less than a second the grandaval of water told that General Newton's years of work had been successfully accomplished. The rock was crushed into a million fragments. It was Mary Newton who, when a very baby, touched off the first Holyoke explosion. The shock was felt only slightly on the Astoria shore and the noise resembled a far distant subterranean thunder. A tremendous volume of water rose to a height of 150 or 200 feet, masses of white foam, showing in the sunlight, presenting the appearance of a fantastic city lifted bodily upon a solid basis of water. For six seconds it trembled about, and then sank back into the river, upon which a yellow sulphurous glow rested for a moment after. Four instantaneous photographs were taken by officers of a corps of engineers from the same point at Astoria. As far as it was possible to judge from the position and appearance of the wreck, the explosion was an entire success.

THE ESQUIMO.

Wonderful Stories by Lieut. Schwabach of their Power to Stand Cold.

The amount of cold these northern nomads can endure, however, borders on the phenomenal. I have seen the little babies, two and three years old, play, perfectly naked, for hours at a time on the reindeer robes of the bed in the igloo, the temperature, as I have said, being constantly below freezing, and in the fall I have seen them naked, playing and splashing in a pond of water, long pieces of ice forming on the quiet places. I once saw an Esquimau baby boy taken from his mother's bosom, and naked, made to stand on the snow until he found his reindeer skin clothing from the sleds, a fairly strong wind, sufficient to drift the loose snow along with it, blowing at the time, the thermometer minus 28 degrees, the only indication it had being found a sled loaded about three feet high, around and over which the wind poured. I exposed this one must take a march in his long and see the length of the drag by, a time that a not unconscious writer might readily put down a five or ten minutes. And I have known a naked man, surprised asleep in his igloo by a pack bear, boldly grab his gun and pursue him any 200 or 300 yards in the snow, with the thermometer 15° to 20° below zero and falling. These Esquimaux rub slushy snow, dip it in water, on the bottom of the runners of their sleds, and the open palms of the hands, until it freezes into a solid ice, the thermometer being from zero to 70° below when I have known it to be done. I have seen an Esquimau traveler throw himself on the snow and put his feet for half an hour, the thermometer 71° below zero, or 100° below freezing, and probably doing a hard work with unglazed hands. The Esquimaux Esquimaux, who seldom build over the snow, use the native lamp in their igloos, in the coldest weather of winter, in which their cold chills some houses with only thin under-arrangements on the Esquimaux's account, and the outer wall with their fur toward and resting against the body, the heat from their bare bodies across their breasts, clothing all the while pleasantly about various matters, thermometer often being below zero; in fact, the only warmth the snow has is that given off by their bodies. I have known one of these Esquimaux to take an undesired reminder that he had been so long in water to remove the hair, which was frozen stiff as a plate of butter from the same against his naked body, and no only hold it there till it was thawed out, but until he was perfectly dry so as to use it for a drum-head (the low tone) in their peculiar savage rites. In fact, I might say that I have been naked myself in a temperature of minus 80° degrees, he short time took to undress, roll my reindeer goat in a bundle for a pillow and crawl into my sleeping bag; but the Esquimaux pack more of the character of a small boy going to a baseball match than one sawing wood.

A Street Car Incident.

As the well filled seven o'clock street car from New Edinburgh last evening reached Sussex street, it was boarded by a distinguished looking lady, who politely declined a seat offered her by one of the passengers, and stood in the doorway of the car. Among the passengers were two favorite street musicians, who, with an orchestra business, disengaged "The Blue Danube Waltz," and "The No Name (Pick-up) Galop." The occupants of the car were more amused than edified, and the majority of them, recognizing the lady, occasionally glanced in her direction to see how she appreciated the music, apparently imagining that it would be disagreeable to her. When one of the little chips passed her around the lady gave him a silver dollar, with the encouraging remark, "And now, little man, give us another tune," which he and his partner proceeded to do with a vigor born of well rewarded effort. The incident created no little amusement, and as the car reached Sparks street and the lady alighted from the platform without ringing the bell, and while the car was in motion, the conductor remarked: "That's the kind of a woman I like: give me Lady Macbeth for a passenger every time."

BOWING SEEDS FOR FUTURE FORESTS.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—Many of your readers, no doubt, who have not at present the time for planting may yet intend in a year or two to give their farms the benefit of some wind-breaks and plantations. When really they will be obliged to go to the forest for young trees, a matter of considerable labor, or to buy of the nurserymen one of considerable expense. Let me suggest that instead of this, if they sow the tree seed, they will by the time they need them have on hand as many thousands of young trees as they desire, with far better roots than the forest seedlings, and in a position much more handy for transplanting to their ultimate stations. This has been a pretty good seed year, and this month is the time for gathering the following seeds: Hard Maple, Ash, leaved Maple, or as it is now called Manitoba Maple, Sweetgum, Norway Spruce, English and Native Spruce, Blackwood, Buckthorn, Hawthorn, Locust, Oak, Hickories, Walnuts and Butternuts, Beech, Chestnuts, Pines and other evergreens. Of these, such as have a pulpy covering will need bruising with a hoe or macerating through the hands, the pulpy matter then washed off and the seeds partially dried, when mixing with sand will facilitate the sowing process. The rest should be kept in a cool dry place till they can be sown. They should be sown in light rich soil, but if obliged to use clay soil covering the seed with sand does well. It is well to cover the seed twice the depth of itself and tread it firmly down, then cover all with about two inches of leaves, straw, corn-stalks or strawy manure. They must be sown in rows, and success in the spring, this if of a fertilizing nature, can be relied between the rows and keep weeds down and the soil moist; if too bulky remove it altogether. Next summer from a small bed thus treated you will obtain thousands of plants of any variety you have sown, and these transplanted the next season will be fine young trees.

Yours, &c.

Floods in Mexico.
 CITY OF MEXICO, Oct. 10.—Continued rains made regular railway traffic impossible. Passengers and mails on the Central Railway are still delayed. The officials of the Central Road say that as fast as they have made repairs the waters have swept them away. There can be no permanent improvement till it stops raining in the interior. The rain in this city has several times within a week flooded the streets, making travel, except for cabs, impossible. There has been no such downpouring of rain here for years. The weather is decidedly cold. The low lands about the city are flooded, and near Guadalupe there is a regular lake. The loss to the farmers in the flooded districts in the interior will be heavy. A number of lives have been lost in the rural villages by the bursting of the reservoirs.

A Great Calf Case.
 What has been known for years in Iowa as the great "Jones County Calf Case" has at last been concluded. It arose through the theft 11 years ago of four calves, valued at $25, and has been in the courts ever since. The plaintiff had been accused of the theft by the Anti-Horse Thief Association, and was tried twice and acquitted. He then and seven members of the association in a malicious prosecution, and the case was held five years. The verdict was in favor of $3,000 to $7,500. This time the jury has awarded $7,000 damages, and costs, which amount to over $20,000. Several prosperous farmers have been rendered bankrupt by the suit.

TORONTO NEWS.

Frightful Death—Base Ball—Archbishop Lynch (Lynch Law)—Free Meeting.

ARCHBISHOP LYNCH.—Archbishop Lynch has been a month indisposed for the past few days. He is at present confined to his room, and unable to go to New York to assist at the funeral of Cardinal McChesney. Bishop O'Mahony will attend the obsequies, which are to take place in St. Patrick's Cathedral on Thursday next.

MEETING OF THE TORONTO BARRELL CLUB.

A meeting of the shareholders of the Toronto Barrell Club was held at the R. C. H. House yesterday. A financial statement for the past season was read. It showed that the total receipts were $11,067.44, and the expenditure $10,433.30, leaving a favorable balance of $634.14. The capital stock is intact, which is more than any other Canadian baseball club. It was resolved that the decision of the Canadian Judiciary Committee gives the Club the first place in the Canadian League and the Toronto second place, while London comes third. A meeting of the new directors will be held at the R. C. H. House, when the president will be elected. Messrs. Ham-burger and Smith were appointed to confer with the New York State League to see if arrangements cannot be made to form an International League.

ROBERT WALKER'S WILL.—The will of the late Robert Walker, formerly of the Golden Lion, was not read for probate yesterday. It is dated February 1st 1883. The testator leaves an estate valued at about a quarter of a million dollars made up of real estate in Toronto, Hamilton, and London, bank and other stocks and cash. Bequests are made to his grandchildren: Harriet Ann Walker in property and money valued at $35,000; to his nephew and niece, $2,000; Mathew Church Superintendent of Minister Fund, $1,000; trustees of Carlton St. Methodist Church, towards the redemption of the debt, $500; C. H. S. Church, p. or fund, $100; and $100 each to the Boys' Home, Girls' Home, Magdalen Asylum, and House of Industry. The balance of the estate is divided between his four surviving children, Joseph W. Walker, Robert Irving Walker, Frederick Walker Walker, and Catherine Tuckersbury, share and share alike. The executors are Robert Irving Walker, Thomas Thompson, and Daniel McLean.

CANADIAN PRESS ASSOCIATION.—A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Canadian Press Association was held yesterday afternoon at the R. C. H. House. The President, Mr. A. Davidson, of Guelph, in the chair. There were present Messrs. W. R. Chinn, Bowmanville, Secretary of the Association; G. R. Pattullo, Woodstock; M. P. Daudas, G. R. Brantford; H. H. Hough, Toronto; E. J. B. Fosse, Kingston; and G. B. Robinson, Toronto. It was decided to appoint a committee to consider the law of libel. The following were appointed as members of the committee: Messrs. A. Davidson, G. R. Pattullo, Woodstock; J. R. Trayer, Port Hope; W. Watt, Brantford; James Somerville, M. P. Daudas, and Kins, Berlin. The remainder of the session was devoted to routine business, which kept the members engaged most of the afternoon.

MONTREAL NEWS.

Effect of Quarantine Arrangements at Quebec—Drowning Accidents—C. P. E. Earnings.

QUARANTINE ARRANGEMENTS.—Dr. Kauch, Secretary of the State of Illinois Board of Health, has returned here from Quebec, where he was examining the arrangements there for quarantine of foreign ships coming to the St. Lawrence with a view of preventing the introduction of cholera from Europe next summer. He has already made similar visits to all the Atlantic ports. The facilities for establishing a quarantine port as the capital are admirable, and the doctor thinks in fact he believes they are better than at any other place, but the arrangements are defective, and unless they are reorganized he will report to have all communication by this route with Europe cut off. He approves of what has been done here to meet the smallpox, and says if vaccination and isolation in the new hospitals are carried out the disease can be exterminated before the winter sets in, as was done in one hundred and twenty places in the State of Illinois in 1882. The doctor made very highly the precautions taken by the health authorities of Ontario to prevent the introduction of the disease in that direction.

THE MEDICAL RESTRICTION ACT.—Mr. Justice Johnston has issued an order brought by the College of Physicians and Surgeons of this province against T. J. Chiv, a practicing as a doctor without a license. The court in giving judgment said that it was only proved that the defendant had sold several bottles of medicine, which he had a perfect right to do. There was no consideration, a fair doubt whether the defendant meant to pass himself off as a doctor, and merely to vend under his drugstore because that is what he made by another, or even by himself, in France, a country where he could truly call himself a doctor. He did not interpret that Act as applying to such cases, and did not think it was in the interests of the public to have such restrictions placed on the sale of medicine as would result from the success of such a case as this. He therefore dismissed both actions with costs.

STEAMSHIP OFFICER DROWNED.—James Cotter, second officer of the steamship Brockway, lying at the wharf here, fell off the bow yesterday, and was killed. An inquest was held today, and a verdict of accidental death returned.

ANOTHER DROWNING ACCIDENT.—A young man of St. Catharines was killed on the canal bank last evening and fell into the water. When taken out life was extinct.

C. P. R. TRAFFIC RECEIPTS.—The earnings of the Canadian Pacific Railway for the week ending October 7th amounted to $180,000; for the corresponding week last year they were $185,000 an increase for 1885 of $15,000. The number of miles of railway now in operation is 3,064.

HAMILTON NEWS.

Three of the Rudden Family Die of Smallpox—The Court House in Danger.

DEATH FROM SMALLPOX.—Corollia Redden, one of the unfortunate smallpox victims, died yesterday, and another elder brother and sister died today. The undertaker who has the contract for removing all bodies from the hospital refused to have anything to do with the bodies, and the Health Board were obliged to seek outside parties to remove the remains. The other members of the Rudden family, who are all down with the disease, are very low. The doctor in attendance has very little hope of their recovery, and says the disease is of the most virulent type in its worst form. Lyons, who has charge of the city cemetery, refused to bury the Redden's bodies, etc.

NEW COURT HOUSE REPORTED URGENT.—At a meeting of the Gaol and Court House Committee the safety of the Court House was discussed at some length. Letters were read from Messrs. Wheeler and Harkness, who have made a thorough examination of the building. From their evidence it would appear that the structure is in very bad shape. The walls are sinking in several places, and the drains underneath are in very bad repair. It is said that if things are allowed to go on as at present the front of the building is likely to fall down in a very few years. It was suggested that a thoroughly competent architect from some outside city be employed to investigate and report on the matter.

DID NOT LIKE THE ALTERNATIVE.—Dr. Elliott, one of the Ontario Medical Health officers, who has been deputed by the Local Government to prevent unvaccinated persons from Quebec Province entering Ontario by the C.P.R., yesterday on a train put the usual interrogatory to a Minister of the Crown, who refused to say whether he had been vaccinated or not, and wanted to know what he (Dr. Elliott) had to do with the people of Quebec Province in regard to vaccination. The doctor politely refused his authority and stated the conditions of admission to the two weeks' quarantine in an Ontario hospital. The Minister was amused, and stated that he had been vaccinated, and would have a certificate sent to the doctor. On the latter condition he was allowed to proceed.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Refreshment to Port Hoppers.

The Port Hope Times says:—
“The Port Hope Council are going to decorate the fishermen of the town with handsome bays. Everything in Peterborough has an air of distinction about it that is highly refreshing.”

Sale of Jersey Stock.

Mr. Stapleton will sell at his sale yard, on Simcoe street, a Thoroughbred Jersey Bull and a number of Grade Jersey Cows, two-year-olds and yearlings. This will be a splendid chance to get cows of this famous breed. For family purposes the grades are equal to the pure bred stock. Terms, six months' credit.

Daniel.

Notwithstanding the very disagreeable state of the weather, quite a large number of ladies and gentlemen turned out to the usual weekly practice of the cantata, “Daniel,” and we would judge from the well known ability of many who are to take part and from the vigor with which the choruses were rendered and the beauty of both music and words, the cantata will be a success. At all events we are given to understand that the Oddfellows will spare neither time nor expense to make this cantata the most brilliant entertainment our citizens have yet witnessed or listened to.

Tarball's New Millinery Showrooms are now open. Intending purchasers should call and see the grand display of Millinery and Mantle Goods.

A Bee.

The Directors of the West Riding Agricultural Society having received many offers of assistance, have decided to have a “bee” on Monday, the 19th inst., for the purpose of leveling the present inequalities in the surface of their show ground. As a goodly number of teams, ploughs and scrapers will be required to accomplish the work in a single day it is to be hoped that the farmers of the surrounding townships will show their sympathy with this undertaking by freely coming along with a team and either a plough and scraper or a good load of manure, and a good coating of grass secured before the time for another exhibition comes round. Should the Monday prove wet, the “bee” will take place on the following day.

An Explosion.

At a few minutes past twelve o'clock to-day, while engine No. 618 was drawing out the noon train to Port Hope on the Grand Trunk Railway, an accident occurred which, at first sight, was thought to be of a serious character. The train had just left the Buthene street depot about thirty yards behind when a loud report and a deafening crash of steam told that the boiler had exploded. The steam rose in large volumes, and for a time quite hid the stream of boiling water that ran into the gutters at the side of the street. The passengers who were on the train, and also the trainmen were somewhat alarmed at first, but when the steam cleared away it was found that no other damage had been sustained, other than that of one of the stay bolts of the boiler having been blown out. Number 618 was replaced by an other engine, and the train, together with the disabled engine, sped to Port Hope.

Don't Forget.

The evening of Songs, Readings and the rendering of the Kindergarten and Finger Exercises by the children, to be held in the George street Methodist Church on Thursday evening, Oct. 15th. Admission 10c. Doors open at 7.30.

Personal.

Mr. Benjamin Ostrom, an old Peterborough boy, now of New Orleans, La., U.S.A., is in town renewing old acquaintances. B-o has done well since he crossed the line, and is now manager of the New Orleans branch of the celebrated drug house of J. J. & Co., Atwood & Co. We may remark that Mr. Ostrom brings Mrs. Ostrom with him.

The Market.

Owing to the disagreeable weather the attendance this morning was rather small. The grain buyers, however, had their hands full in ticketing off all the loads of wheat and barley that drove on to the square continuously from morning till late in the afternoon. These were the only two kinds that were offered in any bulk. Wheat, spring, brought 84 and 85 cents, and fall wheat from 85 to 90 cents per bushel. A few loads of peas and oats sold at nominal prices. Barley ranged in price, according to the grade, from 45 to 71 cents per bushel. Potatoes stood at 55 cents per bag; apples at from 60 to 70 cents per bag; butter at 21 cents per pound, and eggs at 14 cents per dozen. No fowl was offered.

One of the leading styles of Costumes to be had at Tarball's is a Jersey cloth trimmed with a deeper shade of pink or tinsel velvet, made up on the premises, which may be copied but not excelled.

Peterborough Boating Club.

A very important meeting of the members of the P. B. C. is to be held this evening at the office of Messrs. Hutton & Wood, Mr. Wood being the President of the Club. Though the Club is by no means insolvent, having valuable property far more than sufficient to meet all demands, yet its current finances have been greatly crippled by the expense of sending crews to compete in distant regattas. It is held therefore to be very possible to make such arrangements as will remove present difficulties and save the Club from going to pieces. The Peterborough Boating Club has won a good record in contests against the best amateur oarsmen of Canada, and it would be a great pity to see it disbanded. The P. B. C. is in fact a canoe club, and to the majority of its members is chiefly of interest in that branch. Peterborough being the very home and centre of canoeing and canoe building, it would be preposterous for it to let its canoe club dwindle away, while other localities are coming to the front. There should be a good attendance at half-past seven this evening, and a determination among the members to look existing difficulties in the face, when they will soon disappear. Now then, all together!

A Jake on Geo. Tate Blackstock.

Mr. Geo. Tate Blackstock, of Toronto, the power of whose eloquence and argument at the bar is both acknowledged and admired, appeared as counsel for the plaintiff at the Lindsey Post. Sir—I would like to take up a little of your valuable space for the purpose of informing the public in general, or rather those who are in the habit of driving on the public roads, and farmers in particular, that a bicycle has a right to half the road, which the majority seem to be in ignorance of. We will always dismount when a horse gets frightened and is driven by a woman or a fool, as the woman is not strong enough, and the fool is not smart enough to control a frightened horse. But we stick up for our rights, and if any man or woman on the road will take our full half and make him take his half. As we have had considerable trouble so far we hope you or many readers will see this and abide by it, as heavy damages can be claimed for injuring machine or rider.

The Teigmans.

The musical and literary entertainment given by the Teigmans family assisted by Miss Maggie Barr and Miss McGarry was decidedly successful in point of talent displayed, and fairly successful from a financial point of view. The entertainment opened with a violin overture, Gloria in Excelsis, from Mr. Tate's Twelfth Mass, given by the Teigmans. The performance exhibited the effects of good training and careful rehearsal, inasmuch as the ensemble was almost faultless. In the course of the evening's entertainment both Mr. Oscar Teigmans and his little sister Dorette, gave violin solos. Both were well applauded, especially the little girl, who seemed to almost charm the audience. Mr. Teigmans' bowing was admirable. Miss Maggie Barr was down for several solos on the programme. Her Scotch air was particularly well sung. Her rendition of the “Land o' the Leal” and “Bonnie Dore” called forth loud applause. Miss Barr has proved herself to be successful in what few public singers have succeeded in—she has caught the exact expression fitting to the class of songs. She sang the two airs mentioned with a sustained pathos, and well defined intonation that few could help admiring and applauding. Miss McGarry numbers 5 and 11 on the programme with recitations. Mr. J. S. Parker played Miss Barr's accompaniments on the piano in a most artistic and finished style.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

BASEBALL.

THE LEAGUE AND THE AMERICAN ASSOCIATION. Last year upon conclusion of the championship season the American Association pennant winner, the Metropolitan Club, was very anxious to try conclusions with Providence, the League victor, and was accommodated. The result was not at all to the liking of the Mets, nor flattering to the American Association, as it gave a chance for invidious comparisons. Undeterred by the fate of the Mets, however, the St. Louis American Club has concluded to have a try at the Chicago giants, and to that end Messrs. Spaulding and Van der Ahe have just concluded an interesting arrangement for a series of games between the Chicago and St. Louis Browns to decide the championship of the United States, and at the same time to give the players of the two clubs a substantial benefit. Each club puts in $500, and the players of the club winning the majority of the series of seven or nine games to have a purse of $1,000. The first game will be played in Chicago on Oct. 15th. The entire gate receipts will be given to the home players. The same clubs play in St. Louis on Oct. 16th, when the St. Louis players will take the proceeds. Games will then be played in Cincinnati, Louisville, Philadelphia, Washington, Indianapolis and other cities, weather permitting.

FOOTBALL.

THE ONTARIO CHAMPIONSHIP.

The Peterboroughs and Ottawas play here on Saturday afternoon next. The Peterboroughs were first drawn against the Toronto and the Ottawas were drawn against the Kingston. The Toronto allowed their chances for the Association cup and the championship to be defeated by default and the Kingston have done the same with the Ottawas. The match on Saturday is to decide which of the teams, the Ottawas or the Peterboroughs, is to play for the cup at Toronto with the victors in the Hamilton-London match. The Ottawas are the strongest team the Peterboroughs will have to contend with, and if they succeed in winning the match on Saturday their prospects for the cup are bright.

THE BICYCLE.

THE WHEELMAN'S CLAIM.

The following letter appears in the Lindsey Post:—
Sir—I would like to take up a little of your valuable space for the purpose of informing the public in general, or rather those who are in the habit of driving on the public roads, and farmers in particular, that a bicycle has a right to half the road, which the majority seem to be in ignorance of. We will always dismount when a horse gets frightened and is driven by a woman or a fool, as the woman is not strong enough, and the fool is not smart enough to control a frightened horse. But we stick up for our rights, and if any man or woman on the road will take our full half and make him take his half. As we have had considerable trouble so far we hope you or many readers will see this and abide by it, as heavy damages can be claimed for injuring machine or rider.

Yours, etc.,
BICYCLIST.

A fine range of West of England Pasting good, just opened out at Andrew McNeil's, George street.

Coming.

In speaking of the acting of Mr. Lindsey, who will appear in Peterborough on the evening of to-morrow and Friday, supported by an excellent company, the Salt Lake Herald says:—“We cannot but compliment Mr. Lindsey on his Hamlet, and are free to admit that he surprised us, as we believe he did most of his friends and admirers. The gentleman is always a careful and correct actor, and never fails to carefully and truthfully perform the characters assumed by him; but we were not prepared to witness so excellent a presentation of the melancholy Dane as he gave last night. His receding, motion, voice and gesture were all good, and without flattery, we think his playing of the part throughout would compare favorably with that of some of the actors who make of Hamlet a specialty.”

Chit-chat.

—Newwood Fall, Fair to-day.
—The Galling gun and Prof. Reid are both on hand.
—Quite a number went down on the noon C. P. R. train.
—Among the passengers was a good representation of insurance agents.
—The Scott Act recount will take place to-morrow.
—And on the same day Dr. Kincaid and Clarke commence operations in the South Ward.
—There were no cases at the Police Court this morning.
—Tom Beavis, Esq., Local License Inspector, etc., will soon be on the beat.
—He has been ordered by the Council to label all licensed carter's with numbered badges.
—At the carter's expense.
—The Assizes closed last evening.
—Even His Lordship, Mr. Justice O'Connor is guilty of perpetrating puns.
—Mr. W. H. Law, of the Central Bridge Works, was giving evidence in the Reynolds-Roxburgh case, when the counsel for the defence rose to question a statement that had been made.
—“What?” said His Lordship, “do you question the veracity of the Law? Why, I'm here to uphold the law.”

Prairie Fire.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 13.—Destructive prairie fires are raging west of this city. Two men, whose names are unknown, together with a number of horses and cattle, were burned to death yesterday.

As the weather gets colder we naturally begin to think about our fall clothing. Tarball has made ample provision to have suits and overcoats for all who may favor him with a call at prices that correspond with the times.

REPUBLICAN VICTORY IN OHIO.

J. B. Foraker Elected Governor Over Handley by a Substantial Plurality.

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 13.—The election in Ohio to-day was for state and county offices, for 37 senators and 110 representatives of the general assembly, and upon four amendments to the constitution. There are 2017 voting precincts in the state. A comparison of the votes for governor is made on the vote of 1883, when Governor Handley was elected by a plurality of 12,529 over J. B. Foraker. Both are candidates again. The latest return gives a net republican gain of 4,888 for 344 wards and precincts. If this average is kept up it ensures Foraker's election. The chairman of the Central republican committee estimates Foraker's plurality at 18,500 in the state.

Hanging Stockmen.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 13.—The police authorities were mysteriously busy all yesterday afternoon and evening. Commissioner Rosenthal and Chief of Police Cleary held many street conferences and examined a number of firms. The affidavit taken, it is understood, charges a notorious woman of the city, Be tie Russell, with enticing young girls in other places for immoral purposes. A warrant was issued for the women's arrest, but she escaped. Starting disclosures are expected.

Blowing up Well Gets. has been a laborious and costly work, but the results of the effort. Obstructions in any important channel means disaster. Obstructions in the organs of the human body bring inevitable disease. They must be cleared away, or physical wreck will follow. Keep the liver in order and the pure blood courses through the body, buoying health, strength and life; let it be clogged and the channels are clogged with impurities, which result in disease and death. No other medicine equals Dr. Pierce's “Golden Medical Discovery” for scouring out the liver and purifying the blood.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.

The London Directors Make Their Annual Report.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—The report of the directors of the Grand Trunk Railway Company, which has just been issued, shows a decline in the earnings, due mainly to the war of rates between the great trunk line railways, and also partly due to the competition in the provinces of Ontario and Quebec. The directors, however, take a sanguine view of the situation, and consider that there is no reason for doubting that the Company will at length emerge from the difficulties which now beset it, and regain the position it occupied two years ago. There is to be a debit balance carried forward of $48,000.

AN ELEVATOR ACCIDENT.

A Montreal Boy Falls Sixty-Five Feet and May Live.

MONTREAL, Oct. 13.—A 10-year-old boy named John Smith was in the co-op of a store this afternoon on a message from his employer. Having delivered his message he was about to proceed down stairs when he noticed the hoist. He stepped on the platform and pulled the rope. Unfortunately it was the wrong signal and instead of going down, as he expected, it ascended. Seeing his danger he attempted to jump off, and in doing so he caught on the side of the elevator and he fell to the basement, a distance of 75 feet. He was picked up unconscious and taken to the Notre Dame hospital, where it was found his left arm was broken and that he had sustained several other injuries to the legs and body. His head was also cut in several places. The doctors do not as yet know yet whether the injuries will prove fatal or not.

THE OHIO ELECTIONS.

The Returns in a Chaotic Shape The Legislature Republican.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Oct. 14.—The counting of the city and county returns is yet in a chaotic shape. One district partially counted by the judges last night has not been touched since. In another precinct, the box has not yet been opened, because one of the judges holding a key cannot be found. In one precinct the judges found 200 more ballots cast than the whole number of registered voters. A committee of 100 business men to-night resolved to prosecute every one who was suspected of frauds. One merchant offered $50,000 towards a fund for this purpose. Foraker's majority is between 15,000 and 20,000, and the Republicans have a majority of about 5 to 10 on a joint ballot.

Estimates made here on the legislative, excluding Hamilton county, gave the Republicans 17 senators and 60 representatives. The legislature is composed of 37 senators and 110 representatives, of which 74 would be a majority on a joint ballot. This would make the legislature Republicans without Hamilton county.

Smile in Luther Township.

ARTHUR, Oct. 14.—Martin Reinhart, a pump maker at Damascus in the township of Luther, committed suicide this morning by hanging himself in the stable. Life was extinct when the body was found. No cause is known for the act. He leaves a wife and a numerous small family. Crozier Johnston decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

Man and Teenager.

TEB, N.Y., Oct. 14.—John H. Teemer, the oarsman, arrived to night and will immediately commence training for his race with Hansen at Pleasant Island, Oct. 26th. Everything indicates that the postponed double scull race between Cusley and Courtney and Hansen and Lee will take place to-morrow. There is little or no betting.

Items of Volunteering Scrip.

OTTAWA, Oct. 14.—Up to the present time 732 land warrants and scrips have been issued by the department of the Interior to volunteers who served in the Northwest. The corps who have received them are the sharpshooters of the Governor-General's Foot Guards, the Montreal artillery, and the Midland battalion.

Canadian Pacific Air Line.

OTTAWA, October 14.—Several railway contractors are leaving Ottawa for Montreal to look over work on the proposed Canadian Pacific Air line from Smith's Falls to Leaside. It is rumored here that the construction of this work will be shortly commenced.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA.

ENGLAND.

Two hundred public houses in London were watched between the hours of twelve and twelve on a recent Saturday night, for the purpose of seeing how many persons entered them. The count showed that they were visited by 38,000 persons—men, women and children—during the three hours.

A son of the Duke of Westminster is not the only English aristocrat who owns hansom cabs that are used by the public daily in London. His horses are of fine stock, and the cabs contain the latest improvements—a lamp to read by at night, a place for an umbrella, a looking glass and many other conveniences.

A scheme for low water dock at Cardiff, England, for the Atlantic trade is being promoted. The acreage is three hundred and fifty, and the estimated cost a million and a half pounds.

London is much amused at the appearance in shops of a photograph of Mr. and Mrs. Langtry, taken shortly after their marriage. It makes them appear much handsomer than he and she are of a "social star." Another photograph shows Mrs. Langtry at the age of eighteen, looking like a country girl in her Sunday clothes.

The Marquis of Lorne, the Queen's son-in-law, is the Liberal adviser on a secret post office at Halifax last evening, described the full details of the scheme for local government reform, with a view to the compulsory taking of land for allotments.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT REFORM.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—Sir Charles Philips, speaking at Halifax last evening, described the full details of the scheme for local government reform, with a view to the compulsory taking of land for allotments.

RAS LOULA WOUNDED.

MARSAWAH, Oct. 14.—Two Italian doctors have been sent to attend Ras Aloula, the Abyssinian commander, who was wounded in a recent battle with the Arabs.

GERMAN ACQUISITIONS IN AFRICA.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—It is reported that the Sultan of Zanzibar has ceded Ras Salama to the German acquisition.

POOR PEACE PROSPECTS.

LONDON, October 14.—The hopes entertained last night of a peaceful settlement of the Roumelia question have been shattered this morning by the receipt of a dispatch from Constantinople stating that the conference has formally declared that the Porte has disavowed the Bulgarian Roumelia union. Further news is awaited with considerable anxiety.

A DISAGREEMENT.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—Lord Randolph Churchill, the Marquis of Salisbury and the Earl of Dufferin disagree in regard to the measures necessary to prevent a British influence in Upper Burma. Mr. Gladstone's government sent Lord Dufferin orders to estimate the French influence in Burma. Lord Salisbury is satisfied with the assurances of the French that they have no design on Burma. It is thought probable that Lord Dufferin will be recalled from India.

THE CONFERENCE.

CONSTANTINOPLE, October 14.—The conference on the Roumelia question has embodied a collective note, which is being prepared by Count Corti, the Italian ambassador, to be presented to the Porte. The note states that the Porte to recognize the union of Roumelia and Bulgaria and opposes a further violation of the Berlin treaty. It is reported that Bismarck is ready to accept the circular of the Porte, and approves of the immediate taking of a measure by Turkey unless Serbia and Greece accept the situation.

A Receptive Habit.

The habit of writing and reading late in the day and far into the night, says the "Lancet," "for the sake of quiet," is one of the most mischievous to which a man of mind can addict himself. The feeling of tranquility which comes over the busy and active man about 10.30 or 11 o'clock ought not to be regarded as an inopportune work it is in fact a lowering vitality consequent on the exhaustion of the physical system. Nature wants and calls for physiological rest. Instead of complying with her reasonable demand the night workman hails the feeling of mental quietude, mistakes it for clearness and accuracy and while the judicious organism with the will until it goes on working. What is the result? Immediately the accomplishment of a task fairly well but not half so well as he had been performed with the rigor of a refreshed brain, he is weaker in health for proper sleep. Re-motely, or later on, comes the penalty to be paid for unnatural exertion—that is, energy wrung from exhausted or weary nerve centres under pressure. This penalty takes the form of "neurasthenia," perhaps sleeplessness, almost certainly some loss or depreciation of function in one or more of the organs of nutrition. To relieve these maladies springing from this unexhausted case of much torpor, the suffering man is advised to the use of stimulants, possibly alcoholic, or it may be simply tea or coffee. The sequel need not be followed. Night work during student-life and in after years is the fruitful cause of much torpor, the suffering man is advised to the use of stimulants, possibly alcoholic, or it may be simply tea or coffee. The sequel need not be followed. WASTING OUR PROPERTY.

As Mr. Pades for very doubtful motives, and in pursuance of a very wasteful policy, is sacrificing the property of the people of Ontario by selling their timber lands in a very unfavorable state of the market, this maladministration and misappropriation is being severely criticised. The Reform organs find it impossible to offer any reasonable excuse for this waste of the Provincial real estate, and, therefore, they are endeavouring to effect a diversion by asserting that the Conservatives are actuated merely by envy of the party in power, and by claiming that the friends of their critics did the same when in office.

There is one very material and obvious difference between the proceedings of the two administrations in this respect. When the Sandfield Macdonald Government sold land or timber they invested the proceeds and applied only the interest to current expenditure, preserving in this way our capital intact, and merely converting it from one shape into another. When the Mowat Administration sells our land or timber it does not invest the proceeds, but applies them to meeting current expenditure, thus eating up our property and living not upon revenue but upon capital.

There is a wide difference between the two policies. If one of our farmers sold an outlying portion of his farm and invested the money he would be no poorer, and might have made a wise choice. But if he spent the money thus received on his current expenses he would be manifestly poorer at the end of the year, and would be pursuing a course that would threaten bankruptcy, and this is precisely what Mr. Mowat and his colleagues are doing.

There are other questions, such as the policy of stripping our country of timber instead of conserving our forests, and the expediency of forcing sales in an unfavorable market with a tendency to low prices. In every aspect the action of the Mowat Administration is indefensible.

A Reform contemporary begins an editorial in this way: "The so who have had reason to complain of the frequent changes in the regulations affecting our schools." Goodness! Is not the organ afraid of being read out of the party for acknowledging that the Mowat Government has given "reason to complain." While it was acknowledging its errors, why did it not go further and condemn the school book deal? But that is not all. It says that a stop will be put to such changes, and that "this will be a boon and shows Mr. Ross to be a true Conservative." Exactly. It was the Reform principles that gave the reasons for complaint, and if a boon is conferred it will be owing to the guidance of Conservative principles. It would be well for the Province if Mr. Ross and his colleagues were true Conservatives in all things, but as they are not, the electorate would do well to replace them by men who are.

The Globe describes the Canadian judges as "lick spittles" and the smaller fry among the Reform journals are imitating this example.

THE NEW BY-LAW

Relating to the Exemption of the Dickson Company's Property

The following is a copy of the new By-law relating to the exemption of the Dickson Company's property from taxation on Mill street:—

BY-LAW NUMBER —

A By-law to exempt from taxation certain manufacturing establishments:

Whereas, by the Act of the Parliament of the Province of Ontario, passed in the first year of Her Majesty's reign, Chapter 32, Section 8, it is enacted that every municipal council, shall, by a two-thirds vote of the members thereof, have the power of exempting any manufacturing establishment in whole or in part from taxation, for any period not longer than ten years;

And whereas, the Dickson Company of Peterborough, Limited, are now erecting a new building upon their railway between Hunter street and London street in the Town of Peterborough, to be used as a manufacturing establishment, and are also about to erect other new buildings upon said railway, to be used as manufacturing establishments, and it is desirable to encourage such manufacturing establishments by exempting the same from taxation under the authority of such statute;

The corporation of the Town of Peterborough, by the municipal council thereof, by a two-thirds vote of the members thereof, therefore enact as follows:—

1. The said building so being erected as aforesaid, to be used for a manufacturing establishment, and the manufacturing establishment to be erected thereon, and all machinery used in connection therewith, shall be and the same are hereby exempted from taxation for the period of ten years from the date of the passing of this by-law.

2. Seen other buildings as may be erected by the said Company on their water privilege and railway in the Town of Peterborough to be used for manufacturing establishments, and the machinery used in connection therewith, shall be and the same are hereby exempted from taxation for the period of ten years from the date of the passing of this by-law.

3. By-law No. 406 is hereby repealed.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

A NICE LITTLE GAME.

But it has now been discovered that if the candidates who favor prohibition is a Tory the rules don't apply. Some (Tory) prohibitionists have asked if they ought to support Professor Foster against a Reformer who is opposed to prohibition. Certainly not! cry the prohibitionists. Grit shreds. Professor Foster is a Tory. He voted to sustain Sir John Macdonald. A Reformer vote for Professor Foster! Perish the thought! No indeed. The rule is this: When a Reformer is a prohibitionist, and his Conservative competitor is an anti, all the Conservative prohibitionists must vote on their temperance principles. But when the Conservative candidate is a prohibitionist, and his Reform competitor is an anti, and every man sticks to his principal party. O, it is a beautiful little game—beautiful. —Hamilton Spectator.

THE REBEL PRESS.

It is remarkable what dislike some Reform journals have for Gen. Middleton. But those Reform journals do not sympathize with the rebels O, dear no! Not a bit of it. Still it is wonderful how they hate General Middleton, who put down the rebellion, and the Government which sent him and the Minister of Militia who lent orders to him, and the railway which carried the troops, and the contractors who supplied provisions and forage. It is a mere accident the Reform journals dislike and abuse everybody who had a hand in putting down the rebellion. But it is unjust to charge them with entertaining sympathy for the rebels. O, certainly! —Hamilton Spectator.

APPROVES OF COUNTY JUDGES

The appointment of Judge Sinclair as revising barrister for the county of Westmorland, under the Dominion Franchise bill, by the Dominion Government, is to be commended, and if the precedent thus laid down is rigidly followed, the chief objection to the Franchise Act will be removed. The appointment of judges who have a reputation to maintain will mean that the voters lists will be framed in the interest of neither party. —Perry Sound Star (Reform).

MECHANIC IMMIGRANTS.

Out of each 100 adult immigrants landed at Quebec from 1874 to 1878 inclusive, 24 were mechanics. Of each 100 adults landed since that time 84 were mechanics. The present Government has reduced the proportion of mechanics from about a quarter to about one-fifth. And in the face of that fact Reform journals have the assurance to assert that the present Government is encouraging the immigration of mechanics. —Hamilton Spectator.

A SERIOUS CHARGE.

When the rebellion broke out a caucus of the Reform members was held. At this caucus it was resolved that a policy of obstruction should be pursued until the rebellion was over. To the credit of Mr. Blake and Sir Richard Cartwright they were opposed to the course, but were overborne by Messrs. Mills, Patterson, Caw, Charlton, the party breaking away after these say-soes and dragging the nominal leaders behind them. The bad upstart policy was followed out and the rebels pocketed their $500 extra allowance. Young Liberals remember the dying words of a king and statesman and bard and prophet, how he recounts what Jehovah said to him: "He that ruleth over men must be just, ruling in the fear of God. And he shall be as the light of the morning, without cloud, as the tender grass springeth out of the earth by the clear shining after rain." Such is the divine description of what a statesman, a politician, should be. Compare that with the certainly, crassness, and treacherous conduct of the caucus of Reform members, and on the threshold of your political life pause, choose well, choose wisely, because you can really choose but once. —Kings Leader.

AT IT AGAIN.

The Toronto, Canada, Globe exercises a vivid imagination, upon which it too frequently draws for its alleged facts. When it says: "In the United States and Britain not one American or Briton in 10,000 can tell whether Toronto is within five or five hundred miles of Montreal," it may possibly be correct as to Englishmen, as ignorance of American geography is proverbial in England; but the geography of Canada is as thoroughly known in the United States, and is as systematically taught in all our public schools as in Canada itself. There are probably but few of the people of the United States, at least in the Northern States, who do not have about as accurate notions of the map of Canada as the average Canadians do. There are no other people in the world so thoroughly and generally posted in geography as are the people of the United States, and no other schools in the world where geography is made so important a part of common education. The Toronto Globe belittles the importance of its own city and Montreal, and of its own country, by supposing that friendly neighbors as intelligent as are the people of the United States are not acquainted with the two greatest of Canadian cities. —Detroit Post.

THEORY AND PRACTICE.

An Opponent of vaccination Protecting himself.

MONTREAL, Oct. 13.—The only physician who has been a determined and active opponent of vaccination in this city for years past, and who has been writing and circulating pamphlets to deter people from resorting to it even since the epidemic broke out, Dr. R. Alexander Ross, having just visited Toronto, he left here last night by the Grand Trunk, and was shortly after interviewed by the Medical Inspector of Ontario, who asked him as to his destination. "Toronto," was the reply, and putting his hand in his pocket the doctor drew out his card which he presented to his conferrer.

"Have you been vaccinated?" continued the inspecting doctor.

"I have," answered Dr. Ross.

"Have you a certificate to that effect?" persisted the other.

"No," replied Dr. Ross. "I have not, but surely that is not necessary. Among professional men a practitioner's word should be sufficient."

A negative from the Ontario officer was the response. Dr. Ross made further appeal, but vainly. "I could not do it," was the reply. "The board is no respecter of persons. You must either show your arm or produce a satisfactory certificate of vaccination."

Rising from his seat, Dr. Ross stamped up and down the table, ejaculating: "You are making a special case against me. The Ontario medical men put me in a false position. I am a full-fledged doctor, and finally the anti-vaccination physician was prevailed upon to retire into one of the compartments, where he took off his coat, rolled up his sleeve, and exhibited three perfect vaccination marks, the latest of which was evidently comparatively fresh, and had, according to the doctor himself, been performed within the last twelve months.

A full journal, in referring to the episode in the railway car, alludes to it under the head of "Theory and Practice" in the following terms:—

"Dr. Ross during the past few months has been actively engaged in the city in arousing a feeling against vaccination. After the respectable city papers had refused to publish anti-vaccination letters from him, he published circulars containing flimsy pictures of diseases caused by vaccination, etc., at his own expense, and scattered them through the city. He also published the Anti-Vaccinator, a journal devoted to the same kind of argument. His opposition to vaccination has existed for years back, or in other words, long previous to the time when he must have vaccinated himself to escape smallpox." The exposure has caused a veritable sensation here. —West.

HE GOT VACCINATED.

How an Anti-Vaccinating Doctor Went Back on His Theory.

MONTREAL, Oct. 13.—A man with his face all covered with smallpox pustules entered the office of a well known anti-vaccinating doctor yesterday, and catching hold of him by the shoulders, looked him steady in the face, exclaiming: "Look at me! This is what you have brought hundreds like me to, curse you!" The proceeding so scared the anti-vaccinator that he rushed out of his office, and forgetting his theorizing, ran to the nearest medical man for a vaccine point, and got disinfected and vaccinated.

CHURCH OPENING.—The new church at the Zion appointment was opened for worship on Sunday, Oct. 4. The church is a neat structure, with heating accommodation for about two hundred persons. It will be bricked over in the spring. The dedication service was conducted by the Rev. Dr. Bredin, President of the Conference, in the morning at 10.30 o'clock. In the afternoon at 2.30 another service was held, conducted by Rev. Mr. McAmmond, of Lakefield, and in the evening Dr. Bredin again preached at 6.30 o'clock. At each of these services the church was crowded and the speakers were listened to with rapt attention.

TEA MEETING.—On the following Monday a tea meeting was held. Tea was served in the old church, after which a programme, consisting of speeches and music, was carried out in the new church. The chair was occupied by Mr. A. R. Kidd, Reeve of Dummer, who performed his duties in an efficient manner. Speeches were delivered by the Rev. F. McAmmond, Ashburnham, the Rev. I. Tovel, Peterborough, and the Rev. Mr. McFarlane, Lakefield. Excellent music was furnished by the W. row choir under the leadership of Mr. T. Choate. At the close of the meeting, voices of thanks were tendered the chairman, the choir, the ladies, and the building committee. After the national anthem was sung, the benediction was pronounced by the Rev. I. Tovel.

A SOCIAL.—On Tuesday evening a social was held. After tea had been disposed of a lecture on "Ireland and Irishmen" was delivered in the church by the Rev. Dr. Bredin. The lecturer kept his audience spell-bound for over an hour by his brief but interesting history of the Irish race and his witty exemplification of the Irish character.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate winds between south and south-west; fair weather; higher temperatures.

Removal.

Mr. E. B. Edwards has removed his law office to Cox's block, George street, above the telegraph office. He has secured the rooms to the right at the head of the stairs, formerly occupied by Mr. A. White of the Midland, and latterly by Mr. Macdonald.

Finger Cut.

On Tuesday afternoon Miss Kate R. Bines, an employee of the Brodie Woolen Mills, had her main finger caught in some machinery. The top of it was taken off, but fortunately the other fingers were uninjured. Dr. Pierce attended and under his care the patient is doing well.

The Opera House.

Mill Property Sold.

Messrs. Pomeroy & Rogers have sold by private sale the Young's Point mill property to Mr. C. Young, of A. A. Barnham, for the sum of $12,000. The property consists of a shingle mill, a saw mill and a grist mill. The mills are driven by a six foot head of water and are situated in a very desirable location. There is also a considerable quantity of land in the property and a comfortable dwelling.

Peterborough Boating Club.

A meeting of the members of the P. B. C. was held on Wednesday evening at the office of Messrs. Hutton & Wood, with the President, Mr. R. E. Wood, in the chair. The finances and general position of the club were discussed, and it was resolved to adjourn till an early date, to be fixed hereafter. One suggestion was that a separate rowing club should be organized to take over the boats, and steps are being taken to ascertain if this idea can be carried out.

George Street Extension.

A report to the effect that the owners of the property, through which the proposed George street extension is to run, have decided to open up the extension to the town limit has been in circulation. This is not the case. A few years ago three owners of these properties agreed, with the exception of one property owner, to give a full right of way if the town would open up the street. The offer was not accepted then and now these property owners say that if the town wish to open up the street further south it will have to buy the right of way.

A General Invitation.

As will be seen by an advertisement in another column, the preliminary steps to organize a Philharmonic Society in Peterborough will be taken on Monday evening next. The meeting will be held in Mr. J. S. Parker's parlour, over Hartley's music store, at a quarter after eight o'clock. Mr. Parker and Mr. C. C. Hampshire have prepared a programme for the evening's work, which will be presented to the meeting. The invitation is a general one, all music loving people being requested to attend. It is to be hoped that a large number will be present.

The Mayorality.

We are glad to learn that in response to several of our townpeople who have interviewed him on the subject Mr. Jas. Stevenson has consented reluctantly to be a candidate for the Mayorality.

Cheese.

In the report of the last week's cheese market, which was published in the Review, Westwood was credited with selling its offer for 8 1/2 cents. Westwood sold 200 boxes of August and 125 boxes of September cheese to Mr. W. H. Wrighton for 8 1/2 cents per pound. The same buyer bought 132 boxes of August cheese from South Dummer for 8 1/2 cents per pound.

To Whom It May Concern.

Mr. Halcoun painted the roof of our office with Allen's Patent Fire and Waterproof Paint and we have much pleasure in recommending it to parties having leaky roofs. Our office was leaking in several places and now it has, after a day and night's rain, not leaked a drop. W. PATTERSON & SON, J. P. HALCOUN, Agent, Grand Central Hotel.

Mantles and Dresses are being turned out with a promptness which shows that Miss Johnston, with her large staff of expert hands, is prepared to execute all orders with neatness and despatch. Fair, Van Every & Co's large and excellent selection of Dress and Mantle Materials are giving perfect satisfaction. Their large and varied stock is very attractive, an evidence that they have the business wisdom to provide what the people wish.

The Wrong Object.

Last Friday afternoon a rather queer accident happened at the gravel pit on the Canadian Pacific Railway a few miles out of town. A gravel train came up to the pit and the conductor, Mr. John Wilson, proceeded to block it. He was holding the block while a train had the end of the mail brought it down on Mr. Wilson's index finger, instead of on the block. The finger was badly smashed, and the bone was fractured. Mr. Wilson came to town, and going to Dr. Pidgeon's surgery, had the wound set successfully attended to.

A Useful Book.

Mr. Ernest E. Hilton is at present in town for the purpose of introducing a new and valuable work, "Gask's Compendium of Facts and Encyclopaedia." The book is a very useful one for ambitious young men who wish to secure a store of knowledge in one work, and is valuable for business men. In addition to statistics on a variety of subjects, it contains a treatise on Canadian commercial law, a large biographical dictionary, dictionary of synonyms, foreign phrases, laws of etiquette, quotations, etc. The work is one that will commend itself, and there should be little trouble in securing for it a ready sale.

A fine range of West of England Panting goods, just opened out at Andrew McNally's, George street.

The New Steps.

The limestone for the new steps that are to lead down from the Court House to the Horticultural Gardens is now on the ground, quarried and dressed, and ready to be put together. The steps, according to the plans prepared by Mr. J. E. Belcher, are to be eleven in all, six in the upper flight and five in the lower flight. A stone platform four feet wide will be constructed at the top of the fifth step in the upper flight. Both flights will have hand-rails coping, which will terminate at the bottom in sturdy little columns two feet six inches high and fifteen inches square. The steps will be eight feet long and eighteen inches broad. Mr. Jas. Bogue has the contract of carrying out the plans, and no doubt he will do it in a manner that will in no degree lessen his high reputation in this class of work. The work will cost about $200. The stone was brought from the Warsaw quarry.

Bonnets, Hats and Feathers.

Miss Armstrong on George street, next door to Salisbury's Bookstore, has been noted by the ladies for keeping a select stock of just such lines of millinery as are both serviceable and fashionable and her selections this season are in keeping with her usual judicious care. Ladies will find that among the new bonnets for Autumn wear are those of Princess shade, or rolling brim across the front, curving to points at each side, which are faced with velvet. Three shapes will be found much more becoming to full faces than the flat, or sun's cap. But a small sweet face always appears to more advantage in the latter. Dark red or crimson is still mingled with navy blue, in hat or bonnet trimmings, and very beautiful velvet flowers combining the two shades have been imported for the season. Capotes are still much rolled over at the edge, and a round crown, which is often covered with head-stuffs. Large aigrettes composed of flowers and ribbons are also worn on bonnets, and are placed a little to the left on the top of the frame. Hats are shown in Louis XV, and Louis XVI shapes, which are trimmed most voluminously with feathers, flowers, and ribbons. Small trapezoid of velvet, or of the stuff of which the dress is made, are arranged upon frames and trimmed with wings or breasts of birds. Beards are also mingled with the trimmings of hats, this being the era of glittering decorations of every imaginable device. Miss Armstrong will be pleased to show ladies her stock.

Mr. Neil keeps the largest and best assortment of Great Furnishings in Peterborough. Call and examine his stock before making your purchases.

Scott Act Re-Count.

The preliminary steps toward the Scott Act re-count took place in the Court House this forenoon, His Honor Judge Denison presiding. Messrs. C. A. Waller and J. O. Mearns acted for the complainants, and Mr. D. W. Dumble appeared for the defendants. Dr. Ford, the Returning Officer, was examined by Messrs. Waller and O'Meara as to whether he had carried out all the obligations imposed upon him as Returning Officer.

IRELAND.

The Earl of Egmont, who was urged by his Churchtown tenantry to reduce the rents, decided to do so, but will give time to those who lost money in the Munster Bank.
Lady Carnarvon and Lady Wainiford Herbert are rigorously prosecuting their study of Irish, a professor of that language attending regularly at the Vice-regal Lodge, Dublin, to give them instruction in it.
The Board of Guardians, in Dublin, want to reduce the number of workhouses in Ireland from 163 to 75. This desire arises partly from economical grounds, as well as the ill-effects which has attended the rearing of children in workhouses. Most of them drift into the criminal class.

A tragic occurrence is reported from Tipperary. On Sept. 19th, at a place called Stallies, near Nenagh, a young farmer named J. A. Ryan had an altercation with a man named O'Brien, whom he called a spy. The latter is stated to have gone home in a rage, and having procured a fowling piece, fired at Ryan, fatally wounding him in the side.

One French agent of a property owner, who has considerable property near Mill-street, Cork, attended there the other day to collect rents. He was met by nearly 70 tenants, who declared their inability to pay their rents and demanded a reduction. The agent said a notice had been found by the police calling upon the tenants not to pay their rents, and that was the explanation of their action and set the low price of produce. He called upon them to meet their engagements, but the tenants left in a body, declaring they would not pay until a reduction had been made.

A peculiar fatal accident occurred at the village of Carrigallen, when a young man named Woods was putting his place in order for his approaching marriage. Beside the house was a large tree that was torn up by the roots by last year's storm, but was not quite detached. Woods employed a man named Kane to cut the tree, and while the latter was engaged in doing so Woods stood by the roots of the tree, to which several tons of earth was attached. When the tree was cut through the weight of the roots was so great that in a moment the stump of the tree assumed a perpendicular position, completely burying Woods beneath the earth and the roots, while Kane escaped death by a hair's breadth. In an instant the alarm was raised, and the roots of the tree and the earth were heaved away and shovelled before the body was extricated. The body of the unfortunate man presented a dreadful appearance.

THE ORIGIN OF VACCINATION.

Rem. occ. testis.—Placuit.

"Where are you going, my pretty milkmaid?" To see Dr. Jenner, the milkmaid said; "I have such a cough, and I'll bother me so, I promised Jack Robin for sure that I'd go. For a draught from the doctor to-day." And she nodded her head with so saucy a smile that to one would think, who was looking at the while, That she heeded the doctor's pills or his plaster. That she would swear that she did, if you asked her, That sunny bright morning in May.

Ab! how little she thought, that unthinking young lass! While her little pink feet went strid o'er the grass. If Jack Robin had not been so true to his fancy, As to fear the least whisper of harm to his Nanny. The great loss 'twould have been to us all! But so it has proved such a number of times As I have not the space to recount in my rhyme. Great events have beginnings so small.

Well! to keep by my milkmaid (as long as I can), When she courted her best to the medical man, (And had told (heaven bless her) how badly she felt, With such pointing red lips, and such ruddy good health As no doctor could hope to improve: She sat down to await his compounding her pill. And their chat led along to the terrible ill That the smallpox was threatening to prove.

Doctor Jenner looked grave, when she mentioned the matter: He thought it too bad for so careless a chatter; But saucy young Nanny had nothing to dread, "But few of the milk maids would get it," she said. "For their hands had been sore from the cows, And altho' it was horrid to milk when the beast had her bag broken out, it was a craft, at least, To keep the smallpox from the house."

I hope Dr. Jenner that morning in May, When he finished her pills and then sent her away, Remembered enough of the lag and the stuff Not to give her a dose for a cow; For his mind went far off From the girl and her cough. But what does it matter just now? For her simple words, while she waited, Oh! think with how much they were freighted, When Jenner's quick mind they awakened, to find How science could conquer the foe. And gave every nation that blessed vaccination That takes out the sting from the blow. —Medico, in Leonard's Medical Journal.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1885.

THE REFORM ORGAN AND RELI.

THE Globe is becoming bolder on the question of whether Louis Riel should or should not be executed. It still hesitates to say plainly whether he deserves death, but it gives expression to other language that cannot be mistaken. For instance, in the same article in which it states that "his crimes may deserve death," it declares that "the execution of Riel, if he is executed," will "add another to the long list of these heinous crimes which are already crying aloud for vengeance."

Is not that a ludd opinion? Just look at it. Riel's crimes may deserve death, the Globe seems to be in doubt whether rebellion is treason and whether a traitor should die, but if he deserves the extreme penalty of the law, though he may deserve it, the execution will be "a crime." Not only will it be a crime, but in the Globe's opinion it will "call for vengeance." Of course, when the Globe believes that, it would assist the avengers in obtaining revenge.

There is another point that should be remembered. Riel is in the hands of the Courts. His case has yet to be finally decided by the Courts. What do the people think of the chief organ of the Reform party breathing such threats of vengeance if a case before the Courts is not decided in a particular way? The law courts should not be influenced by any other considerations than those of law and evidence, and such attempts to influence them by threats should be condemned by all fair-minded men who desire justice done in all cases.

THE ONTARIO ACCOUNTS.

In some remarks on the Conservative demand for a Provincial auditor, the Globe says: "In the Public Accounts Committee, the utmost industry of the Opposition has failed to show that a dollar of the public money has ever been misapplied."

The Globe omits to state that the Government, having a majority on the Public Accounts Committee, deliberately stifles investigation. Systematic neglect to form a quorum, refusal to allow witnesses, the adoption of short hours and similar devices, are adopted by the Reform members to baffle enquiry, so that even such investigation as is permitted is years in arrears. And the supporters of Mr. Mowat deliberately refuse information, declining for instance even to give the names of those who send and receive telegrams for which the people of Ontario have to pay a heavy bill.

And in spite of these obstacles, the Opposition has shown that many dollars of the public money have been grossly misapplied.

John Sanfield Macdonald was a Liberal as everyone knows, and yet the Tories of Ontario seek to obtain office on the plea that they are the natural heirs and successors to his political credit.—Western Free Press.

If John Sanfield Macdonald was a Liberal, what were the men who opposed him? Can the Reformers be the heirs of his political credit when they opposed that credit? Is Mr. Blake the political heir of the man whose defeat he brought about by trickery and by bargaining with his supporters? "Speak now."

PROF. MICHAEL DRAGAMANOFF is the name of a Russian writer of prominence. As the Professor did much of his writing outside of his native country, it might be surmised that he wanted to drag a mac-off a certain Imperial throne.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

THE SCHOOL BOOK MONOPOLY.

HEAR, George says smartly: "When it comes to what they want to buy all protective measures are free traders." No necessarily so, but, in a similar sense, when it comes to what they want to sell all free traders are protectionists. Even Mr. Nelson of the Globe seeks protection against competition for his school books.—Toronto World.

WHICH WILL THEY SEND.

As the Canadian Pacific Railway Company proposes to sell its debentures in Germany, a German edition of Mr. Blake's speech, showing that the new will never pay, will probably be sent to the Reform organization to the Fatherland to kindle of help the company. But then, of course, the company can offset this speech by a German edition to Mr. Blake's other speech, proving that the company is getting the road for nothing and that it will cost millions.—Toronto World.

CARDINAL McCLOSKEY'S FUNERAL.

Sermon by Archbishop Gibbons. A Touching Tribute.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The funeral of Cardinal McCloskey took place this afternoon. The sermon was preached by Archbishop Gibbons of Baltimore. Who briefly sketched the Cardinal's life and touched upon a few salient features in his long and eventful career. He said the venerated Cardinal had left at his death two great monuments of his zeal and two great legacies: his love, the Catholic protection and this cathedral. After spending half a century in the service of the ministry he had given down to his biographical memory a stain upon his mental character.

The Women's Medical College at Kingston was formally opened on Monday afternoon.

KINGSTON NEWS.

A Dismal Fire—Aquel of a Victim Pay Accident—A Wreck.

A FIRE.—During Wednesday night a disastrous fire occurred in the Hickey Block, corner of Wellington and Princess streets. The fire began in Henderson's photographic gallery, sadly wrecking the place, and spread to the adjoining quarters. With great difficulty the firemen saved the premises from destruction. H. Henderson is the heaviest sufferer. He loses valuable negatives and effects, and places his loss at $2,500, insured for $10,000; T. Henderson & Co., $10,000 loss on paper, etc., no insurance; A. M. Black, jewellery, considerable damage by water, insurance $800; Mills Bros., furniture, a temporary building, heavy damage by water, and loss of goods by thieves, insured for $4,000; Felix Shaw, dry goods, house damaged by a flow of water, loss about $10,000, insured for $16,000. The buildings were covered by insurance.

BLINDNESS NO BAR TO MARRIAGE.—Last Christmas Day, M. Galvin, a wealthy merchant of Campbellford, and his betrothed, Miss Dalton, went for a drive. A runaway occurred, and Miss Dalton was terribly injured. After weeks of suffering she recovered, but with permanent blindness. Her lover was constant and attentive, and on Wednesday she was married in this city. The bride has recovered her spirits, and her affliction is not noticeable, as her eyes are open and appear in a healthy state.

WHAT A SCRUTINY DISCLOSED.—A scrutiny of the Scott Act voters' list, received from Ottawa, and compared with the lists held by returning officers, discloses the fact that considerable rascality was perpetrated. Many cases of citizens voting twice, and impersonations, have been discovered. The temperance party claim that had the election been thorough the Act would have passed. It is probable that prosecutions will follow and the persons and double voters punished.

THE WRECKED ADVENTURE.—The crew of the large Adventure were saved. As the vessel went down the Galop Rapids a yawl was launched, and the crew, with the captain's wife, were taken ashore. Captain Everett remained in a dock in the hope of grounding the craft. While throwing out a line the captain was pulled into the current and carried down the river. He kept above water and was picked up a mile and a half down by the Dakota crew in an exhausted state. Several times he was nearly drowned. The large adventure lies in 45 feet of water.

A PENSION LOST.—The Imperial pension of Henry, of "A" Battery, who was sent to Europe for nine months for striking his superior, has been struck off the rolls.

OTONABEE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

OTONABEE COUNCIL MEETING.—Council met pursuant to adjournment. All the members present. Minutes of last meeting read and confirmed. James Barry was allowed to commute his statute labor for three years, the work to be done on the allowance for road between 13th and 14th concessions, opposite lot No. 17, and he was authorized to expend ten dollars in improving said road. The clerk was directed to notify Cornelius Driscoll to remove his fence off said road. Martin Kinnally was allowed two days statute labor for work on road opposite his place. A by-law to levy and collect certain rates on the assessed property of the township, also on the assessed property of the several school sections for the current year, received its final reading and was passed. The treasurer was directed to pay the following sums, viz.: To John Quinlan for gravel, $3; Alexander Drummond for gravel, $2.25; James McNeill, Jr., for gravel, $1.18; John Anderson for gravel, $3.04, also for gravel, $1.15; Christopher Henson for gravel, $12.40; Richard E. Hurst for damage drawing gravel through field, $2; J. Conroy for gravel and damage, $6.50; J. Craig for mining scraper, 50 cents; Robert Hargrave for gravel, $4.30; Jan. F. Shan for gravel, $2.60; James Drummond for gravel, $4. Council adjourned until Monday, 19th October.

PORT HOPE.

CARRIER PUNISH.—The agent of the American Express Company here received a box on Saturday from Stratford, containing four carrier pigeons, with instructions to let them fly at noon the next day, Sunday, which he did. It was a strange and interesting sight to watch the manœuvre of the birds when they got loose; they flew straight up to a great height, made a circle two or three times, and then started for home, over a hillside and fifty miles distant. Mr. Paterson received a postal card on Tuesday, stating that "one of the blue birds arrived home at noon Monday, with the express card around its neck; weather very cloudy; others not arrived yet."—Times.

THE WHITE ANT.

The animal which we are in search of, and which I venture to think equal to all the necessities of the case, is the termite or white ant. It is a small insect with a bluish yellowish white body and a somewhat large thorax, oblong shaped, and colored a disagreeable dirty brown. The flabby, tallow-like body makes this insect sufficiently repulsive, but it is for quite another reason that the white ant is the most abused all living vermin in warm countries. The termite lives almost exclusively upon wood; and the moment a tree is cut or a log sawed for any economical purpose this insect is upon its track. (One may never see the insect, possibly, in the flesh, for it lives under ground, but its ravages confront the eye every turn. You build your house, perhaps, and for a few months fancy you have pitched upon the one solitary site in the country where there are no white ants. But one day suddenly the door post totters, and hither and thither come down together with a crash. You look at a section of the wrecked timbers and discover that the whole inside is eaten clean away. The apparently solid logs of which the rest of the house is built are now mere cylinders of bark and through the thickness of them you could push your little finger. Furniture, tables, chairs, chests of drawers, everything made of wood is inevitably attacked, and in a single night a strong trunk is often riddled through and through and is turned into matchwood. There is no limit in fact to the depredations of these insects, and they will eat books, or leather, or cloth, or anything, and in many parts of Africa I believe if a man lay down to sleep with a wooden leg, it would be a heap of sawdust in the morning. No much feared is the insect now that no one in certain parts of India and Africa ever attempts to travel with such a thing as a wooden trunk. In the Tanganyika plateau I have camped on ground which was as hard as adamant, and as innocent of white ants as the pavement of St. Paul's, and awoke next morning to find a stout wooden box almost knee deep in pieces. Leather portmanteaux shared the same fate, and the only substances which seem to defy the marauders are iron and tin.

The Board of Canadian Underwriters at Wednesday's meeting refused to make any change in the insurance rates in Kingston until that city changed its method of taxing the company's business. The same decision was made in the case of Ottawa for a similar reason, and the danger menacing the city from the threatened lumber piles.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Grapes by the Ton.

Over one hundred baskets of choice grapes just received and for sale cheap by the basket at Lord's Confectionary Store.

Dufferin Literary Club.

The first regular meeting of the Dufferin Literary Society will be held this evening at 8 o'clock in the Mechanics' Institute rooms. A large attendance is requested, as important business will come up for discussion.

Sale of Jersey Stock to-morrow.

Mr. Stapleton will sell at his sale yard, on Simcoe street, a Thoroughbred Jersey Bull and a number of Grade Jersey Cows, two-year-olds and yearlings. This will be a splendid chance to get cows of this famous breed. For family purposes the grades are equal to the pure bred stock. Terms, six months' credit.

Boxing Match.

Two young men of Peterborough, who aspired to the championship of the town in the boxing line, decided to test their skill, and, having chosen a referee, met this forenoon. In the presence of a number of sports they commenced the combat, Marquis of Queensbury rules. The first round went to the credit of the smaller of the two, but they appeared to be about equal, and after punching each other for half an hour were willing to "cry quits." The referee decided the match a draw.

Caught in Time.

This morning at about nine o'clock the delivery wagon belonging to Brichen's new flour and feed store was standing in front of a house on Water street. The horse was left untied while the young man who was driving went into the house to deliver some packages. The horse took advantage of the driver's absence and started off around the corner at Brock street at a brisk gallop. Several persons at the Postoffice ran out into the street to stop the animal. Among them was Mr. John Brydon, and he, displaying more alacrity than one would think he could possess, ran up and caught the horse. Nothing was injured.

Entertainment.

The entertainment given in the George Street Methodist Church on Thursday evening, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society, was very successful. The entertainment opened with a Kindergarten song by the children entitled "Good Evening," followed by a solo, "Gather Them In," by Mr. L. E. Horning. Mr. Coleman then read two pieces entitled, "The Snake in School" and "Maud Miller." The reading was followed by two quartettes and more songs from the children. The second part was opened with a solo by Mr. Galletly, followed by a duet by Messrs Mills and Butcher, and another song by the children. Miss Clarke then recited in her well-known style "There is No Sect in Heaven." A chant entitled "The Queen" was well rendered by Messrs Galletly, Horning, Hill, Scott, and Misses Butcher and Walls. The entertainment closed with another song entitled "Good-bye" by the children. It was a good performance, the different pieces being well rendered and deserving the highest praise.

Severely Injured.

On Wednesday evening Mr. James Watson, valuator for the Peterborough Real Estate Investment Company, was a passenger on the Grand Trunk Railway train going eastward from Port Hope to Belleville. Mr. Watson wished to get off at Trenton. On being informed, however, that the train was a through express, he concluded to go on to Belleville and come back to Trenton the next day. A few minutes after the conductor thought the train stopped at a diamond for a few minutes. This diamond was near Trenton and Mr. Watson at once decided to get off. It was dark and the train was still in motion when Mr. Watson stepped off. But the ground was further from the steps than he had anticipated, and the result was he fell very heavily to the ground. His right temple and right cheek were badly bruised and both sides of his body were effected by the fall. The fall rendered him insensible for some hours—in fact he did not regain consciousness till the next day at ten o'clock. He was taken to Trenton, where Dr. Day attended him. He has since come home and is under the care of Dr. Fife. The bruises on the head are very severe, and it is not yet known whether he will recover from the effects or not.

Best Act.

The result of the examination of Dr. Ford, the Returning Officer of the Scott Act Campaign, before His Honor Judge Denison, on Thursday, showed that there were irregularities in the voting in Ashburnham. He had also received printed copies of the Voters' Lists of the Town of Peterborough from Mr. George E. Williams, which the sender said, were subdivided so as to suit the divisions of the town, made by the Sheriff. He had compared these with those sent to him by the Clerk of the Peace, and found them, as far as he compared them, to be correct. Afterwards he found that there was a difference of right names in the two lists, the greater number of names being on those sent by the Clerk of the Peace. Dr. Ford also stated that he had left the ballot boxes in Mr. J. W. Flavell's store subsequent to his counting the votes. The case was adjourned for one week, when some of the deputy returning officers will be examined.

A QUESTION FOR THE FASHION EDITOR.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I see quite a number of dudes in our town wearing a kind of drab cloth covering over a part of their would-be sensible undershirts. If there is any benefit in the so-called coverings will you please let the public know, as the working man the hood carter's feet are of just as much value to them as the dollar bill sentry is to him or his heirs. If you will give us full particulars as to the virtues of such wearing apparel, you would confer a favour on the shoe dealers and the public in general.

Yours truly,
E. C. HILL.

Peterborough, Oct. 16, 1886.

A LESSON IN FORESTRY.

Those who are trying to save the forests that clothe and protect the soil around the sources of our great water sources find their strongest arguments in the experience of European countries, where governments are striving by careful cultivation and at great cost to make good the losses caused by the recklessness, selfishness or ignorance of past generations. They are also able to argue effectively from evidence procured at home. Men who know small streams have dried up and disappeared after the removal of standing timber on comparatively small areas around their headwaters can easily understand the changes in the streams that are fed from the Adirondacks have been caused by the reckless cutting of forests on the Adirondack slopes. The movement for the preservation of the Hudson is supported by proofs taken directly from the history and condition of that stream as well as by the great body of evidence relating to this subject which is furnished from all parts of the world.

The engineers of the Water Department of Philadelphia have recently discovered how seriously the Schuylkill has been affected by the destruction of forests around its headwaters. For two years they have been engaged in a careful examination of all possible sources from which that city can obtain a supply of water. The stream flows through a thickly settled valley, and is in fact a great sewer. Its water is not fit to drink. The engineers desire to provide for a supply of about 310,000,000 gallons a day—the quantity that will be needed 30 or 40 years hence. They have discovered that even if the Schuylkill waters were wholesome it would be impossible to secure enough of it to supply the city in the near future, because the minimum flow is decreasing. In fact, the stream at low stage now furnishes very little more water than the city will require 30 years hence.

Sixty years ago the Schuylkill's summer flow was estimated at 900,000,000 a day. Successive measurements made from time to time within the last 60 years showed a gradual diminution until it was determined in 1874 that the minimum flow was only 250,000,000 gallons. In the course of time, the city's growth about it had not been checked and if water should be taken from no other source, Philadelphia will be pumping up the entire river during the summer months.

The remarkable diminution has been caused by cutting off the forests around the headwaters of the stream. As Colonel Ludlow, the chief engineer of the Philadelphia water department said not long ago at a meeting of the Franklin Institute: "The destruction of the forests has to a great extent deprived the river of that power of conservation which is given by woodland, whereby the rainfall is held back and checked, as it were, in its passage to the stream, and the flow is more nearly equalized and prevented from dashing down and passing out. The rainfall rapidly descends to the stream, causing freshets which sweep down the valley, and in time of drought the river shrinks to a very low level because there is no 'sponge' around its sources to retain moisture."

These facts concerning the Schuylkill have been discovered as the result of topographical and hydrographic surveys carefully made by the engineers who have been studying a problem whose solution will be a matter of great importance to 1,000,000 of people.—Lumberman's Gazette.

Soldier White Deceased.

MONTREAL, Oct. 16.—The coroner held an inquest last evening on the body of Henry Jackson, who about a week ago in a fit of despondency threw himself under the wheel of an approaching engine on the wharf and who died yesterday from the injuries which he then received. He had been out from the old country about three months and had been unable to obtain work. A verdict of suicide while in a state of despondency was returned.

A Counterfeiters' Gang Broken Up.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 15.—Government Agent Sweeney and three deputies to-night brought here four more of the gang of counterfeiters who have been operating in the northwestern counties for a long time. The arrests have broken up the gang. In all states of the eleven western Pennsylvania have been captured.

OUR FORESTS SACRIFICED.

SPEAKING of the results of the proceedings of the Forestry Congress recently held at Boston the Globe says:—

"Proportionally the want and demand are not much less in Canada, and we shall be foolish in not doing our best to preserve what is left of our forest."

This is sound sense, and yet the Globe is foolish or dishonest enough to support the Mowat Administration in its effort to exhaust instead of preserving what is left of our forests by selling timber lands so as to make it the interest of the purchasers to strip them of their forest growth at an early date. And this is done when the market is so unsatisfactory that there can only be a very poor return for this sacrifice of the property of the people of Ontario.

The wise policy, as the Globe says on this occasion, would be to preserve what is left of our forests. The English policy is that adopted by the Mowat Administration and supported by the Globe, of sacrificing what is left of our forests to obtain money at any cost for current expenditure. The spendthrift owner of a life interest could be prevented by the courts from thus wasting the property in his hands only for a time.

WORK OF FICTION.

The Globe is publishing a number of serial romances, and the one appearing at present in its columns is entitled "The Canadian Pacific." It is a work of fiction that does credit to the imagination of its anonymous author. To show how highly imaginative it is we may quote one specimen. It is stated that the doctor for a season in British Columbia made by McDonald and Charlebois was more than $200,000 lower than that of Ouderdonk & Co., to whom the contract was awarded. The plain, unadorned truth is that when the officers of the Department made figures on the schedule prices on which payments were to be made it was found that the tender of Ouderdonk & Co. was very considerably lower than all the others, including that of McDonald & Charlebois, which was also shut out by there being no valid deposit by them at the required time. Thus hundreds of thousands of dollars were saved to the country by the vigilance of the Department.

There are many other episodes in this work of fiction that are equally imaginative, showing that the author has to an extraordinary degree one of the chief requisites for a successful romance.

BOBCAYOGON.

FALLEN REPORT.—Idle gossip has reported that smallpox is in the village. This is not true. There are a few cases of typhoid fever, but no other move.

LOW WATER.—The water in the lakes is lower at present than at any time this season. Jack's Rock appeared above water, last week, for the first time.

LEO BROKEN.—Mr. Chas. McMillan, the well known counsellor of Harvey, met with a serious accident on Monday. He was at work on his farm drawing some logs. The lumberer swung a log rather sharply on a stump and the end of the log struck Mr. McMillan with such force on the neck that he was knocked down below the neck. It is a bad break and will probably be some time in setting.—Independent.

ONIONS.

FOOT CRIBBED.—On Monday last Mr. Henry Bradley, section man on the Midland, had his foot badly crushed by a horse loaded with ties passing over it. He will be laid up for some time.

THE SHOW.—We are pleased to state that the family and Overseas Fall Show on Friday last was one of the best held for many years, and reflects great credit on the Directors and Secretary for their untiring efforts in bringing the exhibition to such a high standard. We hope that next fall we may be able to say that the show was equal to either Lindsay or Peterborough.

WHO STOLE THE DUNGS?—On Saturday night the Salvation Army barracks in this village was entered and the two drums taken out and carried to a pine grove north of the Midland Link railway track.

Nasty afternoon! The birds both went out, but the shells were left in good condition.—Herald.

COBBER.

ACCIDENT.—On Saturday evening as Mr. J. H. Pegulley, blacksmith, was forging a piece of iron in his shop, the hammer rebounded from the anvil and struck him above the right eye, inflicting an ugly cut.

ADDITION TO CAR WORKS.—Mr. Croxson is making a large addition to his carpenter and cabinet shop, and will put in six or seven new machines. This is rendered necessary for the turning out of sleepers, which the Coburg works have been making in such an artistic manner, and which have received much commendation wherever they have been seen.

A NEAT IDEA.—Mr. James Clarke, of the C. P. & M. Railway machine shop, has just completed a very neat little engine, about two feet long, and having a tank and a half boiler, for Mr. Mackenzie's yacht. The engine is mounted on a pretty stand, designed by Mr. Clarke, and finished in oak and walnut, with brass trimmings, in a most neat and artistic manner by Mr. J. A. Gordon. The little piece of ordnance is quite an ornament.—Standard-Star.

MARRYING HIS MOTHER.

How it Was Done in the West by a Chamberlain Minister.

The Clay county News give a somewhat jocose account of a wedding which took place in Spencer in that country recently. It is thus recited:—

On Thursday evening the 29th September, the house of Mr. David Painter was the scene of a gay festivity. It appears that our highly respected townsman, Mr. P. W. Runyan, has found for some time past a romantic attraction in the person of the vivacious widow Taylor the mother of Mrs. D. Painter. This continued on Tuesday in matrimony. The eldest son of the bride, the Rev. Ernest M. Taylor, M.A., a Methodist minister from the Montreal suburban village of Champlain Canton, was present to perform as he did that "a man may marry his mother," the prayer book to the contrary notwithstanding. This was done with regard to "due form and ceremony," the rite being inflamed, and with the extra aid of the Rev. R. A. Coats, Free Will Baptist Minister of this city. Early in the evening the house was filled with about thirty wedding guests. After the service the congratulations were presented and the usual salutatory attention paid to the happy pair. This part of the programme was carried out with as great an exactitude and zeal as if the days of "aunt Lang" were "the days of auld lang syne." So youthful did the pair appear throughout the evening that it was received with surprise when the state-ment was made that Mr. and Mrs. Runyan at last birthday were each sixty years of age. It was observed that they did not act "like sixty." The difference in the age of the pair is less than four months.

A large number of presents are mentioned as having been shown, of which the happy bride was the recipient. The Rev. Mr. Taylor passed through Montreal on his return to Champlain on Friday, and enjoyed the occasion very much.

The Rev. Mr. Taylor is one of the very few men whose lot it has been to marry his mother to another man. A minister does not do that often.

GHOSTS AS WITNESSES.

Spirits Who Have appeared to Confound Malefactors.

It is not pretty only that, but have played a part in the conviction of murderers. Several instances are on record in which men have been hanged on the testimony of the supposed spirits of the departed; but the accounts of these cases, as given by old writers, are generally vague in regard to names, dates and localities.

In 1632 a woman called Anna Walker was murdered in the west of England, and her ghost appeared to James Graham and told him that two men, named Walker and Sharp, had killed her and had hid her body in a coal pit. Walker and Sharp were found and executed, and the two men who had been denounced by the ghost were tried at Durham, convicted and executed, but they protested their innocence to the last.

On Jan. 10, 1754, Duncan Terig and A. B. Macdonald, were tried in Edinburgh for murder, the chief evidence against them being Alexander MacPherson, who stated that the ghost of the murdered man had appeared to him and told him the story of the crime, informing where the body should be found. In this case the ghost's description of the place where the body lay was so confused that the locality could not be identified, and the prisoners were acquitted. The most suspicious case, however, was that at Warwick in 1771. The account is an old magazine of the period states that a man dreamed that a neighbor of his appeared to him with stab wounds on his body and told him that he had been murdered by a certain person. That person was accordingly tried for murder at the Warwick assizes, and the jury was about to convict him when Lord Chief Justice Raymond, before whom the case was tried, interrupted and ordered the trial to be stopped, which he did three times with effect. Whereupon the judge gave the jury a lecture upon the folly of credulity, and told them that he very much suspected that the man who said he had seen the ghost, was himself the murderer, which was afterwards proved to be the case, and that man was hanged.

THE COWBOY.

How he Completes Contributions from his generous Donors.

Mexican Jack, a cowboy well known in the west, and who lately has exhibited feats of horsemanship to the astonishment of the good people of Brandon, arrived in Maple Creek last week in charge of a carload of young cattle belonging to Mr. K. E. McGregor, of Brandon. The youngest of cattle from the west, and has made a fine lot quite lively in Maple Creek. The western cowboy, of whom so much has been said and written, turns out to be a remarkably quiet and good natured man, but if anyone thinks he can "run" on him with impunity, why he is mistaken, that's all. This was evinced at a half-breed dance in Maple Creek a few nights ago. It seems as though he had some liquor and began a quarrel with some of the boys. Sides were taken and as the breed outnumbered the cowboys they expected an easy victory. The cowboys, however, had their shooting irons with them and gave an exhibition of how close they could shoot to a man's head without hitting him. The cow was squealed almost immediately and the dance was over. Before the breaking up of the party one of the cowboys started to take up a collection for the musician. His companions responded at once, but one of the other party refused. The shouting iron was again called into requisition, the alleged stranger blantly refused him. "Put in half a dollar, stranger," the request was obeyed with alacrity, and the collection passed on, not meeting another refusal on his round.—Calgary Herald.

HINDER.

LEMBERING OPERATIONS.—We learn that Mr. Irwin & Gordon are putting in sufficient hands this winter to clean out most if not all the pine timber now left in the English Lead Company's line of land. Mr. Irwin has arrived this week with a strong force of men to commence this season's operations for the Dickson Lumber Company. The expectation is to make a very early start. Mr. Irwin has also a large number of men in the woods here this season, while our friend F. H. Ball expects to make a start in the west. Mr. Irwin's Saddle & Co. Algonquin the lumbering operations in this vicinity promise great activity this winter.—Echo.

A Whale and a Thresher Fight.

The following are extracts from a private letter from a Connecticut gentleman to a friend in this city:—

"SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept., 1885.
"My son's voyage from here to Victoria, British Columbia, was more than usually pleasant, as the George W. Elder sometimes known as the 'Riding Horse,' from the fact that she will roll at all times and under any circumstances kept an even keel all the three days."

"The only feature of interest was the very uncommon number of whales which for two days surrounded the ship. It seemed that there was a conversation of whales met for some busy purpose, and they were not only disposed to display their dimensions, but to show us some other characteristics, they have in common with all great things. We also saw some of those fights which the whale has with the thresher, a fish with long, sharp jaws and keen teeth, who fastens himself into the mouth of the whale and then beats him with his long drawn-out body resembling a tail, until the poor monster is worn out in his efforts to shake him off, and gives up the fight. Then the thresher leisurely sails out his tongue and despoils for pastime."

"The blow given by this thresher could be heard two miles, and the whale made the sound in his vain efforts to shake off the monster. He would dive, but it was of no use, as the thresher could stay under water any length of time, while the whale must come to the surface to breathe. The last we could see through the glass the thresher was pounding and the whale rolling, pounding the water with his flukes and sometimes throwing his huge body almost entirely out of the water."—Hartford Times.

INGENIOUS WOOD CARVERS.

The Swiss peasantry are the greatest wood carvers in the world. They carve out of wood, with wonderful ingenuity, anything from a simple paper knife to an elaborate piece of architecture in miniature. Aside from wood carving and some other mechanical operations, they are not good for anything, being very simple people; but they have a genius for carving, and have a natural skill for copying from nature. Their floral pieces are regarded as masterpieces, and serve as models for young sculptors. It is only necessary to furnish them with a photographic design of what is wanted. Most dealers who import Swiss carvings do this, although the peasantry themselves produce numberless things without the aid of any suggestions.

They carve out of wood almost every kind of fancy articles, such as nutcrackers, inkstands, jewellery cases, cuckoo clocks, ladies' work-boxes, and a large number of other things too numerous to mention. The tools they use are very simple, the carving being done by hand. The articles they carve are ingeniously ornamented with leaves and flowers, and some of their designs are extremely odd; they are, however, always artistic. Here, for instance, is a piece of carving in the shape of nutcracker. It is a life-like representation of a bear on the launch. Of course, it is made more for ornament than use, but its artistic merit is worthy of careful study. The Swiss have a knack of turning the most simple article into a real work of art. They have a good rack, a very simple form of bookholder for the library table, having two side pieces on a sliding base; yet see how beautifully the side pieces are carved, showing in bold relief a double rose surrounded with a mass of leaves and vines.

One advantage the Swiss have in the wood which they use. This is remarkably fine, and free from knots, and a tool cuts it as easily across as with the grain. The kind mostly used is known to the trade as peachwood, which it closely resembles in every respect. Another kind of wood which is largely used is called satinwood.

The art of the Swiss in carving wood first attracted attention about 50 years ago. It was not, however, until years afterwards that it was turned to account in a commercial point of view, and even then the sales of Swiss carvings were restricted to tourists in the summer season, who made their purchases through the intermediary of hotel porters. Hence the trade was for a long time very small and unremunerative. But in the course of time local capitalists took the matter in hand, opened workshops, and began an export trade. The business of wood carving now finds employment for several hundred persons. In fact, in one establishment three hundred persons of both sexes are employed.

Each artisan employed in the workshops has his or her specialty, the chance of which is left to individual taste. Some have an aptitude for and excel in the modelling of groups of animals; others prefer to carve various fancy articles with floral patterns, and some build miniature churches. The latter is one of the most popular articles of Swiss handicraft. As usually made, it is composed of different parts, each carved by a different person, and the stones hold them on and the deep roof are prominent features. This roof is so constructed that it can be raised like a lid; the part inside is made of wood, and is covered with plush, and is intended as a receptacle for jewels. A movable partition divides this also from the first story, which contains a musical box. The price of the articles ranges from $2 to $8.

Few people make a specialty of Swiss carvings, the reason being the fact that it is very limited owing to inability to turn out the goods fast enough by hand. Besides, the rare bits of carving are made by the peasants at their homes in the Alps, who work only in the winter season. In the summer they are occupied in tilling the soil and tending their herds of goats on the hillsides, a pursuit they love so much that no amount of money could entice them from it.—Timber Trades Journal.

The Water of the Mediterranean.

A chemical examination of water brought up from great depths in the Mediterranean proved, as suspected, that the deep sea water is more salty than at the surface, though nothing can be found to show the existence of a bed of salt at the bottom to produce such extra saturation; in fact strata of water of less density. Thus it appears that the water current, carried by the surface evaporation, the cause of the circulation being due, it is believed, to hydrostatic action purely. That is, the water of the Mediterranean is continually losing by evaporation a larger amount than is returned to it by rains or rivers, and consequently, the inflow from the Atlantic must take place to keep up the level. If this inflow consisted of fresh water, the total quantity of salt in the Mediterranean would remain the same, and the density, therefore, would undergo no change; but, as the upper current of the water brings in a certain quantity of salt in addition to that which the Mediterranean basin previously contained, the density of this water is increased, and a column of it reaching to any given depth becomes heavier than a corresponding column of Atlantic water, the excess of downward pressure consequently displacing the lower portion of the column of water, which will flow outward as an under current.

The Duke's Liberator.

When the Duke of Edinburgh, the newly appointed manager proposed paying the pickers at the rate of a shilling a basket. This offer created an uproar, and the people proceeded in a body to the royal mansion to see the duke, who came out and heard their grievance. His royal highness asked at what rate his next neighbor paid his pickers. He was informed one shilling and three pence per basket. "Well," said the duke, "I will give you one shilling and sixpence. The crowd roared and shouted cheers and an after-ward went to Adagio singing 'God Save the Queen.'"

THE REFORM REACTION.

The boasted Reform reaction is manifested, if at all, in a most singular manner. It has been claimed to be especially vigorous in the Maritime Provinces, and we have just had an opportunity of judging of its strength. The Hon. Mr. Thompson, the new Minister of Justice for the Dominion, offered himself as a candidate to the electors of Antigonish, N.S. Through the constituency was Reform and had just been represented by a Reformer, the friends of that party dared not place a candidate of their own in the field, but gave their support to an "Independent Conservative," whose success, as they claimed, would be a condemnation of the Macdonald Administration. And what was the result? In spite of the asserted reaction, in spite of Reform support, and of whatever Conservative votes were given to an independent local Conservative, a Reform majority of over three hundred was converted into a Conservative majority of over two hundred, a Conservative gain of more than five hundred votes. The Conservative Administration and the Conservative party could stand a large amount of this sort of reaction. The fact is that this asserted Reform reaction is a mere impudent pretence.

UNITED STATES ADVOCATES.

We now have some information, given to us upon authority, of the kind of reciprocity it is for which the Reformers are clamouring. The United States imposes a high duty upon importations of Canadian coal; Canada imposes a less duty upon importations of United States coal. The Globe and its imitators ask Canada to adopt a policy from the United States free, while the duty on Canadian coal is still exacted by the United States. As there must be some reason for this inequitable discrimination of United States interests by Canadian journals, two persons have been sent forth by the Globe and its satellites. They aver that the United States does not impose a duty on Canadian coal (afterwards explained to be anthracite coal); and that our coal was made free by the United States in 1863. These are both false pretences to bluster up an unpatriotic advocacy. A high duty is collected on all the Canadian coal imported into the United States. No Canadian coal, either anthracite or otherwise, was made free by the United States in 1863.

The Peterborough Review makes an attack upon the Reformers for appointing Mr. Burgess Deputy Minister of the Interior. It happens that he was not appointed by the Reformers, but by Sir John A. Macdonald.—Brookville Recorder.

It happens, too, that the Review did not say that the Reformers appointed Mr. Burgess Deputy Minister of the Interior. What the Review said was correct. Neither did we attack Mr. Burgess or his appointment, but the Belleville Ontario attacked him and drew attention to the fact that he was appointed to office by the Reformers.

THE TEACHERS' CONVENTION.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR,—Your Examiner contemporary would like to know who the teacher is that wrote misrepresenting the Board of Education to the Hon. G. W. Ross.

The writer had neither object nor intention to misrepresent the Board.

At the last regular meeting of the Board a motion was passed to fine a teacher who was absent from his duties without permission of the Chairman.

I was informed that the Board intended to include within the scope of this motion any of its teachers who might attend a convention of the Peterborough Teachers' Association proposed to be held in town this month; also that the Board would not grant any part of the Central School to the Association for such convention.

I obtained official information that such absence was included in the scope of the motion, and that the Board would not grant the use of the property for such purpose.

I wrote the letter with the consent and advice of the President, and in the capacity of Secretary of the Association, asking the services of the Minister of Education for the benefit of the executive.

If such is an "atrocious crime," as it seems to be by the "pious idea" of your contemporary, he has the necessary information, so that his benevolent (?) intentions so well suggested may be honourably executed.

If there was any misrepresentation of the Board by me, I apologise to them for such inadvertent mistake, and am glad to have been given this opportunity by your kind contemporary.

Thanking you for your kindness in allowing me space in the Review,
I remain, yours truly,
WM. BEATTIE.
Sec'y Peterborough Teachers' Association, Peterborough, Oct. 17, 1885.

Accused of Murder.

St. Peterburg, Oct. 18.—Mironovitch and his supposed accomplice Brack, charged with the murder of a German girl named Sarah Becker, were acquitted to day. The trial, which was the second one, has lasted ten days, and created a great deal of interest owing to the peculiar circumstances surrounding the case. The first trial resulted, December 17th, 1884, in the acquittal of Mironovitch and Brack to Siberia and the acquittal of Catherine Samsonov, who was charged with complicity. On December 24, 1884, a Frenchman confessed that it was he who murdered Sarah Becker, and not the condemned men. This confession was declared to be a fraud, but the authorities thought his confession of sufficient importance to order a new trial.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

The Pacific Province Declared to be one of the Finest in the Dominion.

A representative of the Mail called on Rev. Mr. Owen (formerly pastor of Scarborough) yesterday for the purpose of obtaining his views on the Chinese and other questions affecting British Columbia. The rev. gentleman has spent many years in that country, and can speak authoritatively on the subject. He has just returned from that country, having left Victoria a week ago last Monday, making the journey of over three thousand miles in six days and fourteen hours. In speaking of the C.P.R. he said it was sure to do a large share of the trade of China and Japan, besides opening up British Columbia to the enterprising emigrants from England and Canada. The climate is one of the most salubrious in the world. Last winter, for instance, was said to be the warmest since 1861, yet cold and all as it was, from a Canadian's point of view, he only wore an overcoat five days during the whole of last winter. The summers are delightful, and when to this is added the resources of the country in forests, minerals, and fisheries, it will prove a paradise to the enterprising westerner of the east, to whom the C.P.R. promises every facility for getting there. Its route of pine and cedar are unsurpassed, while untold mineral wealth lies buried in its bowels, and only requires industry and enterprise to develop it. The Chinese, however, are, in the opinion of this gentleman,

A CURSE TO THE COUNTRY.

They are moral lepers, whose existence in the country is but keeping it back. A careful calculation as shown that three Chinese are equal to one white man in the way of labour, and that in ordinary work, such as is required on railway construction, three Chinese will do the work of two white men. By employing Chinese labour the contractor saves the Chinese a considerable sum of money, and the Chinese, in turn, are able to rid themselves of them. This of course is a point in the contractor's favour, but as far as the country is concerned it is a loss. The Chinese are not law-abiding and their habits of life are so different to those of the whites that they cannot live together. What is to become of them when the railway work is finished is a question, he said, that will soon present itself, and must be solved one way or another. If the whites are to have the country they must have the whole of it and the Chinese must therefore go. A large number of them are employed as domestic servants at from $15 to $40 and even $50 per month. But this is because it is impossible to get female servants. People put up with them in the hope that with the influx of immigration they will gradually be able to rid themselves of them. The Indians are already beginning to compete with the Chinese in the labour market, and as the latter spend their money on whisky and the like, the people prefer them to the Chinese. With the completion of the C.P.R. Mr. Owen thinks that the influx of enterprising eastern immigrants will gradually push the Chinese out. "Then," said he, "the country will be prosperous. It has a magnificent future before it, but to secure all the benefits derivable from Caucasian immigration the Chinese must be gradually got out." So much, therefore, for the Chinese—"they must go." It is a mistake, he thinks, for Canadians.

TO SEEK THEIR FORTUNES.

In the Western States of the American Union. On the same train on which Mr. Owen came west were two families, one from Ontario and the other from Illinois. They had gone to Oregon to seek their fortunes, and after a trial of four years one of them remarked that the life of a farmer was not what they had expected. In British Columbia, however, the case is different. There the farmer will for many years to come have a market for his products almost at his own door. To-day the average price for the following articles is:—Oats, $25 to $30 per ton; peas, $22 to $25 per ton; potatoes, $1 to $1.50 per hundred pounds; hay, $12 to $17 per ton; cowhairs (white), $6 to $7 per hundred; calves $7 to $9 per hundred; beef $6 to $7 per hundred; and $4 to $6.25 per cwt. The settlement duties are very favourable to the bona fide settler. To the man of the same name there is no place where he is so certain of success as British Columbia. A few years of honest industry and he will own his own farm; with the certain of a rich return from his harvest and a remunerative market close at hand. As regards game Mr. Owen says one would require to be there to realise what a paradise this country is for the hunter, fisherman, and sportsman, and best of all, to be found throughout the length and breadth of it. The rivers teem with the very finest fish, and when to all this is added a beautiful climate, he said, and very juicy loam, "What more can a man wish for?" The soil generally speaking varies from a deep black vegetable loam to a light brown loamy earth. There is abundance of fuel for growing purposes. In the forests are found cedar, pine, fir, maple, hemlock, birch, poplar, willow, elder and cottonwood. Then there is an almost inexhaustible supply of coal and minerals. Mr. Owen believes that British Columbia is destined to be one of the finest Provinces of this grand Dominion.—Toronto Mail.

DEAD AND A DEFAULTER.

The Late Treasurer of Brimington Found to be a Crooked Man.

BRIMINGTON, Oct. 16.—A few weeks ago this town suffered the loss by death of an old and respected resident, Alexander Armour, who had occupied various positions of trust and carried on business here for the past thirty years. The deceased gentleman was highly respected and was considered to be a man of irreproachable character. For three years previous to his death he had held the office of Treasurer of the town. On the position of Treasurer becoming vacant, auditors were appointed to audit the books and settle up the accounts to prepare for a new incumbent. The examination was far from satisfactory, having led to the discovery that the books had been falsified systematically, and over $1100 which has been received has not been accounted for. One entry of $4000 was made twice, while money which should have been entered as having been received by the treasurer had been omitted. The auditors have notified the board of the delinquency of the books, that they will be held responsible for the same. Mr. Armour was a man of considerable energy, and bearing a good reputation, he was interested in the town. Among those from whom he secured money to loan were Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. Beatty, Nathaniel Hunter, and J. Hunter. From the last named, and after receiving money he would inform his customers that he had no difficulty in finding borrowers and would hand their promissory notes for the amounts purporting to be required by some respectable person residing in the locality. In this way he came into possession of about $6,000 for which he never accounted. The notes have been found to be fictitious, and, of course, are of no use to the holders, who will lose all as they have no sureties to fall back upon. Among the names figured are those of William Hunter, Samuel Meach, William Porter, William Wilby and Patrick Short. The money cannot be collected as Armour has left no estate behind.

WEDDING GUESTS POISONED.

Fourteen Under Treatment, and all the Doctors of Brimington Busy.

HONOLULU, Pa., Oct. 16.—A decided sensation was produced here last night by the discovery that a dozen or more guests at a well wedding had been poisoned by some food that was furnished by a Scranton caterer for the wedding breakfast. At noon Tuesday Miss Hattie Weston, daughter of a leading merchant here, was married to H. S. Batlin, a partner in the Coopers' Gas Company of Chicago. The couple left on the afternoon train and had hardly been rid of the depot when it was noticed that the guests began to depart with uneasy haste. They were afflicted with intense pain in the abdominal region, that increased rapidly that some of them had found time to make their adieux properly. At their homes physicians were summoned, and found it necessary to treat for mineral poisoning. Either lobster salad or ice cream absorbed some compound of lead from cake in which it was brought from Scranton, and serious results are anticipated in some cases. At 5 o'clock last night fourteen persons were under treatment, and all the doctors in the town were busy. Speculation is rife as to how the bride and groom fared.

A JUDICIAL MYSTERY.

An Outline of the Mysterious Brighton Bigamy Case.

An old Bailey jury has been fairly baffled in the Brighton matrimonial case, which resolved itself into a mere question of identity. A trial, in which the prosecution and defence were evenly balanced, has, indeed, rarely compiled a judge. Some have sought to elevate into the region of romance an affair mainly remarkable for the imprudence of the prosecutor and the rashness of the offender, whoever he be. But for the possibility—which the evidence revealed—of a woman mistaking the man she marries, the case would have taken rank among the most commonplace charges.

The extraordinary story of the evidence, can be told in a few words. A young lady named Dash, while walking with her mother on the parade at Brighton, on the Sunday proceeding Good Friday, is accosted by a man giving the name of Captain Macdonald, and claiming to have met her at a ball. The lady fails to recognize the mysterious stranger, and leaves her mother's protection. The driver suffices to bring about an engagement, and the following Saturday witnesses the marriage of Miss Dash and the self-declared captain. The ceremony is performed by a priest of the parish where the bride and groom reside. The witnesses are equally deceived. The witnesses, however, are not deceived. The witnesses, however, are not deceived. The witnesses, however, are not deceived.

Planned for the prosecution, made not a little of such coincidences as that the ship Macdonald named as the one with which he was connected proved to be the identical vessel which brought a cargo of mutton from the Antipodes for a former master of the accused; that four o'clock in the morning, the hour at which Macdonald had to join his ship, was the time Macdonald had to be the most exacting of a tailor's agent; that Macdonald had procured a wedding ring similar to the one presented to Miss Dash. The evidence for the defence appeared equally strong, amounting to the admission of a still more startling coincidence. The evidence for the defence appeared equally strong, amounting to the admission of a still more startling coincidence.

What is more, Macdonald ordered a champagne wedding breakfast, while Macdonald is said to be a strict teetotalist, and his acquaintances who were rather hazy as to dates, deposed to meeting Macdonald at Worthing, with a Brighton lady, about the time Macdonald and Miss Dash had placed a ring on her finger. The evidence for the defence appeared equally strong, amounting to the admission of a still more startling coincidence. The evidence for the defence appeared equally strong, amounting to the admission of a still more startling coincidence.

A Canadian Accommodated. Osborn closed his place of business in Trenton, a few miles from Detroit, and started for his boarding house. Before he reached home some unknown assassin came up behind and shot him dead in the street, the bullet entering the back of his neck and severing the jugular vein. Osborn was about 30 years old, unmarried and had lived in Trenton during the past five years. His nearest relatives are said to reside in St. Thomas, Ont.

His Baby in a Box.

DURHAM, Ont., Oct. 16.—A shabby discovery was made at Durham, this county, last evening. Some children fishing in a pond dragged up a box, which contained the remains of nine prematurely born babies. The box had been left in a vacant lot, and had been recently washed by the spring which furnished the pond with water. Suspicion points to a doctor who removed to Nebraska two years ago who had been suspected of being a mal-practitioner.

Fatal Burning of a Railway Bridge.

BRIMINGTON, Va., Oct. 15.—The Troy and Boston railroad bridge, at the state line was burned to-day. While attempting to save the bridge two members of the N. & B. Brimington fire department, Jas. Wardell and W. Burk, were instantly killed by falling timbers, and a third, a prominent business man, was fatally injured.

An Overlooked Gun.

HALFINGTON, Pa., Oct. 16.—By the explosion of an overlooked gun in the hands of Edward Barclay here this afternoon, Robert Fletcher, a companion, was instantly killed. Barclay's gun was blown off, and Thomas Scott, another companion was so seriously injured that he will die.

DISTRICT INTELLIGENCE

LINDSAY.

THE LOCK.—A large quantity of the timber to be used in re-building the lock at Lindsay has been delivered and is placed on the vacant lot corner of Lindsay and Wellington streets.

The material is of excellent quality and should make a lock as substantial as it is possible to build of wood. Mr. T. Walters is finishing up a truck of work elsewhere, but will shortly get at the lock with a strong force. The steam dredge has been brought up and the derrick on it will be used in handling the material to be taken out and the new going in.

ACTION FOR DAMAGES.—A large stone placed by the street repairs at the corner of King and Lindsay streets, in the east ward, was the cause of a runaway accident last Sunday morning.

Mrs. John McCallum, of Dundas, accompanied by two sisters, were turning the corner when the horse which they were driving shied at the stone, upsetting the buggy and throwing the occupants out on the road. Mrs. McCallum, besides being knocked in-aside, was badly shaken up and received several severe bruises on the shoulder. She was taken into the house of Mr. Johnston and afterwards removed to her home in Dundas. The other occupants of the buggy, with the exception of a few scratches, were uninjured. Mr. McCallum has, we understand, instructed Mr. F. D. Moore to bring an action against the town for heavy damages.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—Mr. Spratt, of the enterprising firm of Spratt & Killen, met with a very serious accident while driving to the country on Monday evening. It seems Mr. Spratt was in a buggy, passing where his cow pasture, and started by a single buggy horse the driver of which asked a gentleman near by to start his dog after the cow, but the canine went for Mr. Spratt's horse which kicked at the dog, but unfortunately struck Mr. Spratt below the knee effecting a complete fracture of both bones as well as badly bruising and cutting the flesh. It will be several weeks before our estimable citizen will be himself again. At present his condition is as favorable as can be expected. —Warrior.

Turkey's Military Situation—Understanding

Between Greece and the Porte.

CONSTANTINOPLE, October 19.—The Minister of War has presented a report upon the military situation, showing that there are 20,000 men under arms. He recommends that, in addition, all reserves shall be called out. The expenditure up to the present is estimated at 25,000,000 for the increased mobilization and maintenance of the army. To put an army into the field and keep it there for six months would require, according to the report, 25,000,000. The Porte is on the eve of concluding a loan with a financial syndicate.

An understanding undoubtedly exists with

Greece of such a character as to leave the Porte

free from apprehension as to Macedonia in case there is a war with Bulgaria, and no great power intervenes to prevent the restoration of the status quo ante. The Sultan is much inclined to settle the matter with Prince Alexander, but neither the military party here nor Russia will allow this. Should the old form of administration be restored in Eastern Roumelia,

Alexo Pasha would probably return as Governor.

Lord Salisbury's position continues to give great offence here. The Turks consider it a distinct invitation to the other provinces to revolt. Sir Henry Drummond Wolff's mission, and the appointment of Egyptian commissioners have given rise to much discussion.

METHODIST MISSIONS.

The Session of the Board closed on Saturday—Grants to Missions.

HALIFAX, N.S., Oct. 19.—The closing session of the Methodist Board of General Missions was held on Saturday afternoon. A long resolution was adopted recommending that city missions be undertaken by the city churches after the same style as at Halifax and Victoria, B. C., rather than be thrown on the General Board for support. The work of the portioning mission grants was completed, and made up as follows:—

A CONUNDRUM FOR REFORMERS: If the Reform reaction continues to increase in force at its present rate, as evidenced in East Durham, Cardwell and Antigonish, how long will it take for the Reform party to secure office?

The Globe becomes fierce when discussing the Antigonish election. It makes use of such expressions as "his own base level," "betrayed his trust," "infamous plot," "Canadian Me-phistopheles," &c. The Reform candidate was defeated in Antigonish, which accounts for this furious outburst.

NOVA SCOTIA electors chose Mr. McInnes as a fitting man to represent them in the Canadian House of Commons, and the Globe thought him all that was excellent. Sir John Macdonald has chosen Mr. McInnes as a fitting man for the Bench, and the Globe finds out that he is base, venal and contemptible. How is it that the Globe has such a mortal antipathy to judges?

ONE would almost be led to think, to hear Reformers talk, that Canada had reciprocity in trade with the United States when their party was in office. But there was no reciprocity treaty in force then and they were unable to negotiate one, but they allowed the United States to export its products into Canada free while they exacted heavy duties from Canadian importations into that country. Canada had enough of that.

CONSISTENT BUT GHOULISH.

The Globe claims to be consistent as to the fate of Riel. Its consistency consists in its diabolical endeavor to look upon the question of the life or death of this wretched man, only as a means of attacking a political opponent and of exciting sectional feelings to the prejudice of the Dominion. According to the Globe it would be a crime for Sir John Macdonald to allow Riel to be executed, and a crime for Sir John Macdonald to prevent Riel from being executed. According to the Globe Ontario should call for vengeance if Riel is not executed, and Quebec should call for vengeance if Riel is executed. The Globe is consistent and ghoulish.

RIEL AGAIN.

The Brockville Recorder says:—"It seems rather remarkable that the Peterborough Review should be so hard on the Lower Canada Liberals in connection with Riel's case. Had Sir John not been such a hypocrite, when he spoke in the town where the Review is published, and had he dealt with Riel as he deserved after the first rebellion, instead of paying him to leave the country, his case would have given very little trouble to anyone now."

The Reform press and speakers have labored hard to prove that Sir John Macdonald was not sincere when he said he wished he could secure Riel's arrest, but they have failed to do so. The circumstances, which have been explained again and again, show that Sir John did what was best in the interest of the country—that he considered the peace and welfare of the country when he took the action he did and not the safety of Riel. This must be understood despite the efforts of Opposition organs to mislead. But if Mr. Mackenzie or Mr. Blake had had Riel arrested in 1874 when he was in Ottawa and inside the Parliament buildings, or if the Reformers had not dealt so leniently with him, and put it out of the power of the authorities to keep him out of the country, his case would have given very little trouble to anyone now.

DISPOSING OF OUR TIMBER.

The Globe of yesterday, in an article referring to a recent meeting of the Forestry Congress at Boston, and the discussion there about the rapid using up of the timber supply in the United States, goes on to say:—

"Proportionally the waste and demand are not much less in Canada, and we shall be foolish indeed if we do not use our best endeavors to preserve what is left of our forests."

The Globe in its lucid intervals occasionally comes out with a startling truth, and on this occasion in connection with the reckless squandering of our timber resources it hits the nail on the head. "Foolish indeed" to keep on disposing of our timber as we have been doing without a thought for the future: but how does the Globe present anxiety for the preservation of our forests fit in with its defending the Ontario Government in going on recklessly disposing of our timber, not because the demands of the lumbering industry make the plucking of further limits on the market necessary, but to get in way to keep up the rate of expenditure to which they have brought the affairs of the Province? The Opposition have long been pointing out the necessity of doing just what the Globe now urges, and have time after time made motions on the subject. That of 1883 was as follows:—

"The revenues of the Province being to a large extent derived from its timber, the supply of which is rapidly decreasing, the public interests demand that greater care should be taken for the preservation of it, and that it should be provided by law that no additional territory should be placed under license without the consent of the people's representatives in the House."

But the Mowat Government evidently did not care much about whether our timber resources were being diminished or not, so long as they could get money out of them for their present purposes, and so they voted the motion down. Now we notice they are calling an auction in the latter part of this month, and going to sell off another large tract of our timber. The action given is that there is great danger from forest fires, and it is better to sell the timber before a fire destroys it. Of course it has nothing to do with the necessity of the Government feeling of selling timber to replenish the treasury, oh, no! But the facts look very much that way. It has long been a favorite device of the Ontario Government, when their expenditure was running up beyond their revenue, to bag another timber sale, and then make the Province believe that their management was splendid, because they had funds in hand. Since Confederation, we have disposed of nearly eight and a half million dollars worth of the timber capital of the country, but instead of treating the proceeds as any sensible man would in his own business, as a capital only to be used for expenditure on capital account, we have been putting it into the general fund and paying it out to meet our ordinary current expenses. Even with that, we have lately got so that we do not always make ends meet, and have taken a borrowing money by the sale of annuities to meet our annual obligations to railways. Pursuing such a system, we will find ourselves in trouble when our revenue from lands and timber ceases, as it will by and by. We think the people of the Province will agree with the Opposition, that we ought to do cautiously, and be very careful of disposing of our capital in the shape of timber.—Ottawa Sound Times.

"RULE BRITANNIA"

The Launch of an Addition to the Royal Navy of England.

A large gathering of spectators assembled in the dockyard at Chatham to witness the launch of Her Majesty's ship Severn. This vessel, when completed, will be one of the most important additions which have been made to the royal navy. The Severn is an unarmored fast steel cruiser, belonging to the class of the twin screw protected corvette, which includes the Thames and the Mersey. She is a more powerful vessel than the cruisers of the Leander type, and possesses greater steam power. The principle followed in her construction has been that of the water-tight hull, and the main object which the designers have had in view is to guard as much as possible the boilers, engines and masts from danger.

The Severn has been about two years in the course of construction, and is estimated in cost at £1,600,000. If the anticipations of her designers are realized, it is believed she will turn out to be one of the fastest cruisers in the service. Her principal dimensions are as follows: Length between the perpendiculars, 300 feet; extreme breadth, 46 feet; mean draught of water, 17 feet 11 inches; load displacement, 3,000 tons. Her armament will consist of two 8-inch breech-loading guns, one 9-pounder and field gun, one 7-pounder boat and field gun, and 12-inch Nordenfolt guns, and two 46-inch Gardner guns. She will carry Whitehead torpedoes, and discharge them above and below water on either broadside. Although the hull is unarmored, the vessel is provided with a nine-inch thick armor-plate deck plating two inches thick, and three inches of the same on slopes. She will be fitted with horizontal compound engines of 5,000 indicated horse power, made by Messrs. Humphreys, Tennant & Co. of Deptford. There are two propellers, and the vessel is estimated to attain a speed of 17½ knots per hour. The authorized complement of her coal bunkers is 300 tons, and accommodation is provided for 300 officers and men.

Three o'clock was the hour fixed for the proceedings to begin. As the hour approached a large staff of workmen made all preparations for christening ceremony, which was performed by Miss Daisy Watson, daughter of Admiral Watson, C. B., admiral superintendent of the dockyard. Prayers having been read by the Rev. Mr. Dawson, a signal was given by the chief constructor, in response to which Miss Watson moved the lever holding the ropes. As the last support was knocked away a pause of a minute or two occurred, during which the vessel remained at rest on the stocks. There was momentary bustle and a flicker of excitement; but presently the vessel, obeying the slight pressure which had been applied to it, began to move from the fastenings which had retained it so long, and amid a storm of enthusiastic cheers slid swiftly into the Medway. As the Severn slid fairly out of the slip the cheers were again renewed; the royal standard, the Union Jack, and the admiralty flag were hoisted on board the cruiser, and the band of the Royal Marines brought the proceedings to a close by playing "Rule, Britannia."

It is expected that the Severn will be ready for her first commission in a few months.—London Times.

"JOSEPH BILLINGS"

Sketch of the Life of the "Altimira" Man.

Henry W. Shaw, better known as "Joe Billings," died on Wednesday, the 14th inst., at Monterey, Cal. He was born in Lancashire, Mass., in 1818, and the record of the first forty years of his life is a long medley of misadventures and of failures. It was a rough preparation, possibly, for the poor Richard philosophy of men and things which he made him known. He went to school until he was 14, and then struck into the West to fight for himself. It is said that at one time he attended Hamilton College. In different parts of the West he had frequent changes of residence, he was keeper of a country store, a farmer, a cattle driver, an Ohio river steamboat man, an auctioneer, a teacher and a banker. In 1849 he chanced to find himself in California, but fortune did not strike him there, even. He had married when he was twenty-seven, and it is said that it was a desire to educate his two girls which brought East, and located him in Philadelphia, in this State. He followed the business of an auctioneer and dealer in real estate. Struck by the humor and the versatility of his remarks at a dinner, the editor of a local paper proposed to him to write. He had never written a word for printing, up to that time, he was then forty years old. But he tried, and soon after got in the way of having something in regular every week. Then he sold a short article to a Boston paper for $1.50. A humor, such as it was, attracted little attention, however, until he began to write, a double he said to have taken from Artemus Ward. His liberties with the language increased until he got into a regular system of spelling, partly phonetic, partly without rhyme or reason. He has been named as a common place philosopher than a funny man, though his sayings have almost always brought a smile, when really only sharp. Not long after his start a New York weekly newspaper gave him $100 a week for a half column of his matter. He has worked his sayings over in all the different ways, written, lectured, printed books, and issued an annual "alligator." He has made considerable money, more than anyone else could, starting in the same line at the present time. There was a cheap vein about him which showed itself prominently in his personality. He enjoyed notoriety for its own sake, and perhaps thought it part of his trade.—Utica Herald.

SIR PETER LUMDEN.

How He Gained Valuable Information Disguised as a Holy Man.

One of the members of the English legation at Washington furnishes some interesting gossip regarding General Sir Peter Lumden, of whom the papers speak daily by reason of his relation to the Anglo-Russian boundary question in Central Asia.

"From his youth," said this gentleman, "Lumden has been a man of war. He first saw it in the service of the East India Company, and distinguished himself as a young officer in the terrible meeting of 1857. Having a talent for Hindustani dialects he studied them patiently and carefully. In this way he acquired a knowledge of the sentiments and character of the rank and file of the Indian army, so that his service to the country has been simply invaluable. When Sir Frederick Roberts was on his way to Cashgar a few years ago it was of the utmost consequence that he should have some accurate knowledge of the route, and the forces likely to oppose him in the mountain passes. This information Sir Peter Lumden, in his own way, gave him. He had been in the afternoon of the fourth day when a fakir, or holy man, suddenly appeared, riding furiously down the mountain side, and wanted to pass the sentinel, who was a grim old Highlander. The sacred man was an extraordinary looking creature, and the reverence of the sentinel, as he appeared to European eyes. He was almost naked, the only garment he wore being a pair of dirty trousers made of goat skin. His hair nearly reached to his waist as it hung down his shoulders and back, and the lean, bony arms were covered with a paste made of sandal wood ashes mixed with castor oil, a decoration of peculiar sanctity and a powerful smell. A nosegay of sandal wood, consisting of ninety-nine beads, completed the equipment of this wonderful object."

"The man dismounted from his beast, whose heaving flanks told of hard riding, and in a dialect of Pushtoo or Afghan, asked to see the head of the sentinel. He was not under order, and said motioned him back. Just then General Roberts came out, and keeping a wary eye on his visitor, asked him in Hindustani what he wanted. The visitor, in barbarous jargon, made the general understand that he desired an interview. When they were alone, the fakir said, 'Don't you know me?' It was Lumden, whose disguise, dirt, wig and all, had been so complete as to be even unsuspected by a man whose intimate friend he had been for ten years."

"Knowing how superstitious the Afghans are Lumden had selected a disguise they would not readily question, for they are mortally afraid of offending those holy men, whose superior sanctity is by a degree of holiness that is appalling to the civilized mind. He knew the dialect of the class he represented perfectly, and his religious stick in trade in quotations from the Koran, so whenever he approached an Afghan encampment he did not feel at all out of place. 'Fah allah Mahomed رسول الله,' the mystic words of the faithful, and, though questioned pretty sharply once or twice, his identity was never suspected. The information he obtained was of the highest importance, and he was able to give a large grant of money, amounting to about $100,000. This is the man on whose report and judgment, above all others, rest the chances of a war that may change the entire map of central Asia."—Washington Letter.

Fond of It.

Edward H. Johnson, President of the Edison Isolated Company, has a residence that fairly bristles with electricity. Not satisfied with telephone, fire-racket, burglar alarms at every window, and 100 electric lights glowing from a single switch, he has had his place radiant with a luminous impetuosity of radiance, a centre-piece above the parlor glow with colored flames, a dozen electric clocks in as many rooms, run by electricity to tick simultaneously and never stray apart, an electric elevator indicating at all times the height in the basement or the weather outside, I forget which, and various other electric surprises. When he comes home from the club at midnight, pulls off his boots softly, and opens the front door, that act turns on the electricity at the head of the stairs so that he is not left in the dark, and from his bed he can touch a button that lights or extinguishes the lamp in any room in the house. Johnson is nicely fixed.—Chicago Tribune.

A Ship Burned at Sea.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 17.—Captain Treves, of the Steamship Baltimore, reported that on the 3rd inst at 11 at night while in latitude 50.50, longitude 17.40 west he passed a ship on fire. He estimated all second hand, and saw his whistle many times, but could discover no sign of any person on board in the vicinity. The ship was a mass of fire to the water's edge. She evidently carried cotton or wool.

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 20, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

To Farmers.
The farmers should read Mr. T. Hurley's advertisement in this paper.

Prepare for Winter.
Gentlemen will find a large range of Wearing Apparel at the "Golden Lion," Overcoats, Persian Lamb Caps, Scotch Caps, Shirts and Drawers, Rock Mitts, Gloves, etc. Tailoring done with neatness and despatch, from a large selection of Overcoating, Scotch Tweeds, Worsted, &c. Go to FAIR, VAN EYRE & CO. for your outfit.

Opened.
Mr. Brislin's new flour and feed store, on Hunter street, is now opened out, and is meeting with liberal patronage. Mr. Brislin has a neatly arranged place of business, situated centrally, and he carries a stock capable of supplying either large or small orders. The store is well lighted, both during the day and at night, and other appointments are equally complete. Those patronizing the store will find every effort put forth to oblige, and will find also that their orders will be promptly attended to.

Journalistic.
The Elgin Hawkeye is the name of a new paper which has made its appearance in Aylmer. The publisher is Mr. Arthur G. Mortimer, who was for a time connected with the press in Peterborough. The first number of the Hawkeye is a creditable paper, fairly well printed and easy. Particular attention is paid to local affairs, and the columns devoted to such matters furnish interesting reading for the people of Aylmer and vicinity or those interested in that section. The Hawkeye is a paper that should receive support, and we wish the publisher success in his enterprise.

A New Drug Store.
Hunter street will, if it keeps on at its present rate, soon rival George street in commercial importance. No fewer than five new stores have been opened out during the past two months. The last one is that of Mr. J. Nugent's drug store. The premises are situated in Lyne's block, opposite the Oriental Hotel. The store has a fine plate glass front, is conveniently shelved, appropriately decorated, and is lighted by electricity. Mr. Nugent comes from Fenelon Falls, and recently from Lindsay. We welcome him to our town, and wish him success.

A Strong Testimony.
A Methodist Minister of Philadelphia writes to Mr. Harry Miner in regard to the drama, Silver King, as follows:—
"I witnessed the performance of The Silver King last night, and I cannot refrain from expressing to you this morning my opinion, as to the value of the moral lesson taught by the character of Wilfrid Deaver. Indeed, it was worth a hundred sermons, showing how easily the downward path is trodden, and to what misery and suffering it inevitably leads. It seems to me impossible for any one, who closely observes your admirable performances, not to feel that its effect is a powerful one for good, and as a great moral lesson is without a companion. It is a stage such as you represent that can shake hands in brotherly love with the church to which I belong, and I bid you God speed in your good work."

Personal.
Mr. Geo. McCumb, one of Peterborough's pioneer citizens, has gone to St. Cloud, Minn. to visit relatives.

Mr. Fredrick Denmark left for Ashkooos, Iowa, this morning.

Mr. J. Ryan, of Douro, took the Grand Trunk and connections this morning for the many south. His destination is St. Louis.

Mr. J. Fife, of Otonabee, has gone on a visit to Boston.

Mr. J. C. Collins, and his brother, of Ennismore, have crossed the lines for East Baginaw, Mich.

Messrs. Fowler, of Monaghan, are on a visit to Dobbington, County of Bruce, Ont.

We are glad to know that Mr. E. Earl has decided to organize his ladies' class in the critical reading of English for the fall and winter term, a preliminary meeting having been called for that purpose to meet at the Young Men's Christian Association room on Tuesday week.

The Orillon Probat contains the following reference to a former citizen of Peterborough:—
"Mr. Thomas Fortye was entertained at a supper at the Grand Central Hotel, and presented with a gold pin, on the eve of his departure from Orillon. Mr. J. D. Tuckwell occupied the chair."

ASHBURNHAM NOTES.

Some Domestic Episodes—The Building Record—Other Pencil Points.

Our quiet and rather sombre faced village has been all in a flutter of excitement during the past week or so, and the gossipers have had enough material furnished them to keep their voluble tongues wagging for a month. A man going under the name of John Counter came here about two years ago. He obtained work in Curtis' backyard and has since worked on steadily. He was well liked by those with whom he was acquainted. About six months ago John got tired of living in single blessedness and took to himself a wife—an Otonabee young lady being the chosen one. A little house was furnished and all went on lovely until a few days ago. In fact, it seems that John had been buckled to another fair one, and the bright looking little woman had come to look for her lord. When she arrived and made inquiries she was surprised to find that the object of her search had departed, together with his No. 2 and the house furnishings, for parts unknown. From what the little woman says it appeared that she had been wedded to the departed about twelve years ago in the town of Stratford. She had a respectable standing in society, her father being a merchant in the place. Subsequently they removed to Brockville, where her husband left her, about two years ago, to look for work. He had corresponded with her regularly, and had sent money home to keep the house. She was tired of her lonely life and sought his companionship once more, with the foregoing disappointing result.

THE SCALES TURNED.
And the flutter caused by the recent scandal had scarcely subsided when another whirl is heard. The course of domestic relations in a family residing on Dryad terrace ran anything but smooth last week. On Friday evening the matron summarily put an end to all discussion by abruptly leaving the house, leaving her husband to take charge of the six vigorous young children.

CORNER LOAFERS.
Your town is not the only place that is pestered with corner loafers. We, in Ashburnham, are blessed (!) with a good share of the most pronounced corner loafers. They vary somewhat in both age and size, but the most numerous of the class are between the ages of sixteen and twenty. These young roughs delight to infest the corners of our leading streets, indulging in profanity and insulting every lady who passes. (Unstable Craig should see after the matter.)

AN OVERHAULING.
Messrs. Hazlett and Cox, owners of the Otonabee Mills, have a gang of men at work at present cleaning out the old raceway, repairing flumes, and making repairs in general. The Otonabee Mills will be closed for several days as will also Wand's planing mill and Mr. Fadden's furniture factory. The improvements consist of new sluices being put in the centre of the dam, new head gate at the head of the race, a new trunk conduit to McEadden's furniture factory, and new waterwheels at the flouring mills. The outlay will be considerable.

ASHBURNHAM.
A fine range of West of England Paving good, just opened out at Andrew McNell's, George street.

A Perfect Run in the Millinery and Dress-making Department of the Golden Lion.
Orders are going in rapidly. Mantles and Dresses are being turned out with a promptness which shows that Miss Johnston, with her large staff of expert hands, is prepared to execute all orders with neatness and despatch. Fair, VanEvery & Co's large and excellent selection of Dress and Mantle Materials are giving perfect satisfaction. Their large and varied stock is very attractive, an evidence that they have the business wisdom to provide what the people wish.

Philharmonic Society.
A meeting of the music loving people of the town was held on Monday evening in the rooms of Mr. J. S. Parker. The business before the meeting was the arranging of preliminaries for carrying on a Philharmonic Society. There were about thirty or more ladies and gentlemen present. After the ways and means had been discussed at considerable length, it was decided to elect Messrs. Parker and Hampshire, organists respectively of St. Paul's and St. John's churches, as directors of the Society, they to assume all responsibilities. It was also decided that the fee for gentlemen be $1.50 and that the fee for ladies be $1.00. The first rehearsal will be held on the evening of Thursday, October 29th. The work to be taken in hand is "The Widow of May," by Steiner. (Clare, etc., will next be undertaken. It is expected that there will be a commencement made with sixty voices in the chorus.)

Protestant Home Concert.
The following very attractive programme has been prepared for the concert to be given in Bradburn's Opera House on Thursday evening, October 22, in aid of the Protestant Home:—

FIRST PART.
1. Overture. Peterborough Orchestra.
2. Chorus, Let the Hills and Valleys Resound. Stephen St. Paul's Choir.
